Fall Overcoats And the New Suits for Fall

You'll see the difference. Very little change in style; cut almost the same as last year. The cloth change is more marked. Many patterns on the order of fancy—some would say loud. The more conservative seem to be sought for.

Most Decided Change in Price—Lower than last year. We expect to clothe more thousands than last year for less money. The preparations exceed anything we've heretofore done.

The $10 Fall Overcoats and Suits have all the appearance of what was formerly $20 and almost as good in quality.

Yes, $7.50 for substantial all-wool Suits for fall and winter are equal to those sold last year for $12.00.

A SERIOUS FIRE.

Crandon, Wis., Sept. 23.—The building owned by Miss Lucy Bliss, used as a storehouse by the Geographical society of Wisconsin, was struck by lightning yesterday afternoon. The building was burned with contents, including nearly 7000 volumes. There is no insurance.

GUESSING

No One Knows What Durrant's Defense Will Try to Prove.

Belief That a Surprise Will Be Sprung Before Long.

Defense's Cross Examination Believed to Be Only a Bluff.

San Francisco, Sept. 23.—Thirty-seven witnesses, not counting the silent ones, which point forever to the murder of Blanche Lamont, have given their testimony in the nine weeks that have elapsed since the commencement of the Durrant trial. Half a score more will take the stand for the prosecution during the present week. The district attorney is sanguine that he can put in his case not later than Wednesday evening, and in anticipation of this the attorneys for the accused are putting the finishing touches on their opening statement and will be ready to prevent it when called upon.

The defense, it is stated, will be a surprise, simple enough in construction, but entirely different from anything from which any person is conceived to have gathered from the long-drawn-out cross-examinations. These, it is contended, were merely in the nature of gigantic bluffs to conceal the real purpose of the defense, continued on in the hope that little details might be fished out that could be used in favor of the prisoner; behind it all lurked the real plan ready to be sprung on the prosecution when the time came, and that time will have arrived when Mr. Duprey is ready to make his statement for Durrant to the jury.

In short, semi-official utterances have it that Mr. Duprey will state that neither himself nor his colleagues have ever entertained the idea of disputing the testimony of Mrs. Mary Vogel and the three normal school girls, to the effect that Durrant joined Blanche Lamont at Clay and Powell streets at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of April 3 last. He will admit that the young woman and the medical student got on the car together and rode in the direction of Market street. Upon the arrival of the two, however, at Market and Powell they separated, Miss Lamont going in one direction, Theodore Durrant in another, bent upon keeping an engagement with Mrs. Rosalind Holland.

ANOTHER CHALLENGE.

C. D. Rose After the America's Cup.

London, Sept. 23.—J. M. Soper, the yacht designer, came to London today and had a conference with Charles Day Rose regarding the details of the yacht with which it is proposed to challenge for the America's cup. It was agreed to communicate with the secretary of the Royal Victoria Yacht club, which will cable to the New York Yacht club as follows with formal challenge, mail challenge will read:

"On behalf of the Royal Victoria Yacht club and in the name of C. D. Rose, a member, the challenge is to sail a series of matches for the America's cup against any yacht or vessel built in the United States. Challenger's owner, C. D. Rose, name of yacht, 'The Distant Shore;' length at load water line, 89 feet; rig cutter; the challenge will be absolutely unconditional."

ROOSEVELT'S VIEWS.

Editor Ottendorfer Thinks They Are Quite Extreme.

Berlin, Sept. 23.—Oswald Ottendorfer, proprietor of the New York Staats Zeitung, will sail for home on Thursday on board the Hamburg-American line steamer Normannia. Mr. Ottendorfer is much improved in health by his visit to Germany.

In an interview today, Mr. Ottendorfer said that what he denominated as the extreme view of Police Commissioner Roosevelt on the excise question were giving offense to a large percentage of the good citizens of New York and that their enforcement by the police department is making possible the return to power of the corrupt element in municipal affairs at the next election.

ENDED BY A BULLET.

Athol, Mass., Sept. 23.—R. W. Engle, of this town, who committed suicide by shooting himself in the head yesterday, deserted his wife here a few weeks ago and left Athol with Miss Katie Barry, an attractive girl of 17. Nothing was heard of the two until the news of his suicide reached here today. A telegram signed by W. W. Holton, of this place, was found on Engle's body, but Mr. Holton refuses to state the nature of his correspondence with the suicide. Engle had been employed at the Bates Bros.' wallet factory here for several years.

DROWNED IN SWITZERLAND.

London, Sept. 23.—A special dispatch received from Geneva, Switzerland, today reports that a steamer ran into and sunk a row boat there last evening, drowning seven persons.

DREW ON HIS IMAGINATION.

Henry Curtis Spalding was rather astonished at the portion of Mr. Harris' open letter to Mr. Buck in which he sought to drag the Minnesota Canal company into the present election. "Mr. Harris," said Mr. Spalding today, "must have drawn upon his imagination for his facts, and I am led to wonder whether all the advocates of purchase are not doing the same thing."

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM.

Methodists of Chicago are Hustling for It.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The Chicago Methodist ministers who have undertaken to secure through the pope greater religious freedom for the Protestants of Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia have, in response to circular letters, received encouragement from Justin McCarthy, Algernon Charles Swinburne, and the historian, W. E. H. Lecky. The letters are as follows:

"73 Eaton terrace, London, S. W., England.—Dear Sir: I have read your letter, just received, with great interest. I feel no doubt whatever that the influence of the pope will be exercised in securing for Protestants in the South American republics the same liberty of conscience that is enjoyed by Roman Catholic citizens of your country. I need hardly say that your purpose has my fullest and most cordial sympathy. I thank you much for your kindly words with regard to myself and my writing. Very truly yours, Justin McCarthy."

"The Pines, Putney Hill, London, S. W., England.—Dear Sir: I am no less honored than gratified by your expressed wish for my opinion on so practically grave a question as that on which you ask for it. I can only say that it seems to me a somewhat wanton waste of time to apply directly or indirectly to cardinal or pope for any relaxation or modification of the most monstrous claims ever put forward by the church. Force and force alone could obtain even a show of justice, decency or fair play from the ministers and agents of a religion which has never yielded one jot of its atrocious pretensions except under sheer compulsion of absolute necessity. Yours most sincerely, Algernon Charles Swinburne."

"Vosbergen, Guilderland.—Dear Sir: I wish you all success in you efforts to obtain repeal of the laws about Protestant marriages which exist in some of the South American states, but I shall be much surprised if you obtain any real help from the Vatican. Such laws were once general in Roman Catholic countries. They were always inspired or suggested by the priests and they were only abolished when the political power of the church was restricted or overthrown. Yours faithfully, W. E. H. Lecky."

WANTS A HUSBAND.

A Chinaman's Offer Regarding His Daughter.

San Jose, Cal., Sept. 23.—Hip Sing Lee, a wealthy Chinese merchant of this city, offers a half interest in his extensive merchandise business and $5000 in cash to any reputable young American who will marry his daughter, Moi Lee. Hip Sing Lee is the wealthiest Chinese in this valley and his fortune is estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000. He conducts a general merchandise store, with a lottery game on the side, in this city and has a branch store in Watsonville, Santa Cruz and Salinas.

Lee has become thoroughly Americanized, and as he is getting old, it is his wish to see his daughter happily married to some good American who will look after and care for his business and wealth. Lee's wife died about a year ago, and as several attempts have been made to kidnap Moi, he is afraid that if Moi does not marry soon the highbinders may succeed in abducting her.

THE ENGLISH ATHLETES.

London, Sept. 23.—The Pall Mall Gazette comments as follows on the result of the athletic contests on Saturday: There is little doubt that America would have won even had all our best men been available. Under no circumstances could we have beaten the New Yorkers. Every Englishman who is possessed of any sporting feeling will be glad to express admiration for the excellence of the American athletes. All the other afternoon papers comment in a similar spirit, making no excuses for the defeat of the London athletes.

FIRE IN HOT SPRINGS, ARK.

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 23.—A fire early this morning destroyed the Pacific hotel on Central avenue, the Crescent house adjoining, the Valley livery stables, the Jewish synagogue and five cottages in the rear of the Pacific hotel, involving a loss of $50,000 which was only partly insured. The fire caught in the hotel, very mysteriously, the building being unoccupied except by a watchman in charge of the furniture. The guests in the Crescent house escaped, but all their personal effects and the house furniture were destroyed.

THE DUKE'S JOURNEY.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 23.—The duke of Marlborough came here yesterday in the private car of Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk road. He registered at the hotel as from New York. This summer done, the duke began a trip over the Grand Trunk. He will go to Boston and back to New York.

PROFESSOR HENRY'S OPPORTUNITY.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 23.—It is reported that Professor W. A. Henry, dean of the Wisconsin college of agriculture has been tendered the position of director of the experiment station at Geneva, N. Y. This is regarded as the foremost institution of its kind in this country, and friends of the Wisconsin agricultural college are alarmed lest the inducements may prove so great that he will accept. Professor Henry has gone East, and it is said he will look over the situation before taking any definite action.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

Milwaukee, Sept. 23.—A special to the Wisconsin from Spring Green, Wis., says: Two children of Emery Slauson, living two miles west of Arena, were burned to death in their home. The father was at Dodgeville with a load of melons and the mother, having occasion to go for a pail of water, a mile away, locked her two children in a room. The house took fire during her absence.

SUMMER HOTEL BURNED.

Milwaukee, Sept. 23.—East Troy, Wis.: Hotel Beulah, on the shore of Lake Beulah, was destroyed by fire during a terrible storm last evening. Four guests made their escape without injury, but lost from $40 to $60 in valuables each. The loss is $30,000 with partial insurance. It is supposed that a street lamp was blown against the porch of the building.

FITNESS

Civil Service System Extended to Include the Consular Offices.

Hereafter Vacancies Will Be Filled By Promotions In Certain Grades.

The Presidential Appointees Must Also Be Examined As to Fitness.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The president, by an executive order issued today, but dated Sept. 20, has extended the civil service system in a modified form to all consular officers whose compensation directly or through fees ranges from $1000 to $2500. This will include about one-half of the total number of consuls who receive more than $1000. This change has been gained by reviving, in substance, an old order of 1873. Vacancies in the service will be filled hereafter by transfer or promotion, by appointment of qualified persons formerly in the employ of the state department, and by appointment of persons selected by the president after passing a competitive examination. The order reads:

"Executive Mansion, Sept. 20, 1895.—It being of real importance that the consuls and commercial agents of the United States shall possess the proper qualifications for their respective positions, to be ascertained either through a satisfactory record of previous actual service under the department of state, or through an appropriate examination, it is hereby ordered that any vacancy in a consulate or commercial agency now or hereafter existing, the salary of which is not more than $2500 nor less than $1000, or the compensation of which is derived from official fees, exclusive of notarial and other unofficial receipts, does not exceed $2500 nor fall below $1000, shall be filled:

"(A.) By a transfer or promotion from some other position under the department of state, of a character tending to qualify the incumbent for the position to be filled; or

"(B.) By the appointment of a person not under the department of state, but having previously served thereunder to its satisfaction in a capacity tending to qualify him for the position to be filled; or

"(C.) By the appointment of a person who, having furnished the customary evidence of character, responsibility and capacity, and being thereupon selected by the president for examination, is found, upon such examination, to be qualified for the position.

"For the purpose of this order notarial and unofficial fees shall not be regarded, but the compensation of a consulate or commercial agency shall be ascertained, if the office is salaried, by reference to the last preceding appropriation act, and if the office is not salaried, by the returns of official fees for the last preceding fiscal year. The examination hereinbefore provided for shall be by a board of three persons designated by the secretary of state, who shall also prescribe the subjects to which such examination shall relate, and the general mode of conducting the same by the board. A vacancy in a consulate will be filled at discretion only when a suitable appointment cannot be made in any of the modes indicated in the second paragraph of this order.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

Assembling at Syracuse for State Convention.

Syracuse, Sept. 23.—There were no more delegates to the state convention in town today than the few which had arrived up to midnight. This afternoon, however, they will begin to arrive and by night the hotel corridors will be crowded. Naturally with so few politicians present there is not much to be gleaned as to party policy, either in the matter of contests or disposition of the excise question. It is understood that the Albany delegation have put forward as their candidate for state treasurer Ex-Senator Norton Chase, of Albany. It is stated upon excellent authority that this particular office has been promised to the Albany delegation and that any man they name will be nominated.

Ex-Mayor Gilroy, and few other Tammany leaders, who are here, are extremely conservative this morning, and they are not inclined to state what attitude they will take in the contest of the Grace or Fairchild Democracy for representation. They are, however, loud in their protests that harmony will prevail and that all contests will be settled amicably prior to the opening session of the convention.

The question of representation of factions became a trifle more tangled in the minds of those present today when Corporation Counsel Francis M. Scott of New York, arrived. Mr. Scott was asked: "What relative representation do you think the state Democracy is entitled to?"

"Why, a full one, of course. We shall demand the seating of our delegations."

"What will you accept as the lowest representation?"

"Well, I'm not prepared to say. You see we are willing, for harmony's sake, to make concessions on the state ticket, but we want it distinctly understood that any deal we make here is not to bind us to Tammany in any way on local issues in New York county. If we get in we will support with all our might the state ticket, but we do not combine Tammany with New York. Mr. Danforth is here to boom the candidacy of D. L. Dow for state treasurer, and has opened headquarters in the Yates house.

FEAR A DYNAMITE PLOT.

Constantinople, Sept. 23.—Great precautions have been adopted for the protection of the palace of the sublime porte, owing to the discovery of a Macedonian plot to blow up the buildings with dynamite.

GOLD FOR CANADA.

New York, Sept. 23.—The sum of $175,000 gold was withdrawn from the sub-treasury today for shipment to Canada. Of this amount $100,000 was taken by the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

DEEPER WATERWAYS.

Many Delegates Have Already Arrived in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—Many prominent members of the International Deep Waterways association have already arrived in the city to attend the annual convention which commences tomorrow afternoon. Hon. James Fisher, of Manitoba, a member of the provincial parliament and an ardent advocate of the deep waterways and reciprocity, in speaking of the deep water canal agitation, said: "We raise about 60,000,000 bushels of grain annually in Manitoba and about half of that amount in wheat. The cost of taking our wheat from Manitoba to the sea is equal to half the selling price. We have on this continent the finest body of inland waters in the world, and I believe that there should be built such deep waterways as will enable us to freely enjoy our advantages. I believe that the two great nations should unite in constructing these waterways, which will be of immense benefit to both countries."

"What provision would you have in regard to the control of the canal?"

"The canal should be free from tolls for both nations and should be jointly controlled by the United States and Canada.

Executive Secretary Flower and chairman of the committee on arrangements, says that representatives of manufacturing, marine, commercial or transportation interests of any kind which have been overlooked, may consider themselves invited and participate in the convention of the association on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. He suggests that members of the association, delegates and invited guests, may all participate on terms of equality. Also, that wherever interested persons or bodies have been overlooked, it has been because of inability to attend to all the details of so widespread an enterprise.

HALF RATERS RACE.

American and English Boats Sail This Afternoon.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 23.—Before 10 o'clock the hopes of the anxious were raised by the appearance of a ripple coming over the sound from the northwest and the prospect of a race loomed up into quite respectable proportions. If this breeze holds, the yachts will probably start as on Saturday on a run of three miles out before the wind from the Center island buoy. The course will be the same, three miles out and back and repeat, making a total of twelve miles.

The preliminary signal was given at 12:30, the preparatory signal at 12:40 and the starting signal at 12:45. The Ethelwynne got over the line first and started away on the line before the wind. The Spruce IV followed in eight seconds later. Both set spinnakers immediately. The English boat succeeded in blanketing the Yankee and at 1:05 she had run by the Ethelwynne. The course is northeast by east and the wind is blowing five miles an hour.

The run out was a remarkably close and interesting race as seen from the club house. The Ethelwynne overhauled her opponents and the yachts stood on almost even terms for a long time. This was more noteworthy because the Spruce did such fast work off the wind on Saturday. Who rounded the outer mark first could not be seen perfectly from the club house, but it looked like the Spruce. After rounding they stood on the starboard tack for the Long Island shore and the Ethelwynne appeared to gain very much when both were close hauled on the first tack for home.

Coming out from behind Lloyd's neck the Ethelwynne was the first to appear, both on the port tack. The Ethelwynne stood out further from shore than her antagonist and came about first at 2:15. The Spruce followed suit, and when both headed back for Lloyd's point the Ethelwynne was well ahead. The Ethelwynne came about again at 2:20 and stood off shore. The Spruce made a long board in under Lloyd's neck. When she came about and headed off shore she was unable to cross the Ethelwynne's bow. On the contrary she passed an eighth of a mile behind the Ethelwynne's stern. This was at 2:23.

The Ethelwynne displayed excellent windward work and continued to gain on the English boat. At 2:38 she led, it was estimated by two-thirds of a mile. They were then both on the port tack and would probably make the first round in three more tacks.

The Ethelwynne went on the port tack and was still on that tack when she disappeared from the view of the observers on the club house roof, behind the point of Center island. It seemed to be evident, however, that she would have to tack a couple of times more before she could round, but she did not. The Spruce came about to starboard at 2:47 and headed for shore. At this period the Ethelwynne had fully maintained her lead. At 2:02 the Spruce went about for the mark.

The official time of rounding the first outer mark was: Ethelwynne, 1:39:40; Spruce, 1:39:57. The Ethelwynne was first by seventeen seconds on the first run before the wind which had freshened to about ten knots an hour.

Good housewives never disagree as to superiority of Dr. Price's baking powder.

THE BOARD VICTORIOUS.

Decision Given in the Elevator Fight at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The Chicago board of trade was victorious today in its fight on the grain elevator men, the state railway and warehouse commission declaring that the licenses of all elevator owners dealing in grain through their own warehouses shall be revoked. The fight has been a long and bitter one, as the warehouse owners had stubbornly resisted the attempts to compel them to cease buying and selling grain.

The matter was referred to the railway and warehouse commission, the long deferred decision being rendered today. The elevator people declared that they would at once apply for injunctions restraining the revoking of their licenses and the war will probably be continued in the courts. The following elevator licenses were ordered revoked: The Seaverns, South Chicago, Santa Fe, Rock Island, Central elevators, Chicago National and Chicago & Pacific. The cases against Armour and A. C. Davis were held over.

ROB KNEEBS EXPELLED.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 23.—Rob Kneebs, the noted American horseman, who was arrested in Germany for alleged "ringing" of horses there, has received notice that he has been expelled from the American Trotting association. The expulsion is the result of the trouble in Germany. Kneebs said today that he would protest the decision of the board. Kneebs has a large number of horses entered in the Sioux City fair races and has been driving on the association tracks all summer.

TREASURY CONDITION.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $182,744,353; gold reserve, $95,821,490.

CUBANS

Possibility That Mr. Olney May Decide to Recognize the Insurgents.

Up to the Present They Have Not Applied For Recognition.

Rumor That Mike De Young Has the Vice-Presidential Fever.

Washington, Sept. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sympathizers with the Cuban insurgents are still wondering whether this administration will make a diplomatic move before the assembling of the Republican congress which, it is believed, will most surely gain some political thunder by the introduction of a joint resolution placing the administration in an unenviable light in handling this question. Up to the present time it is a fact, however, that the insurgents have not applied to the United States for recognition. Information came to the United States from Cuba indicating that a provisional government will soon be organized. Some of the most distinguished insurgent leaders on the island will then urge the advisability of placing before the United States government a request for recognition. Until that time it is, as is well known, impossible for Mr. Olney to move further in this matter.

* * *

The general opinion still prevails that Mr. Olney is friendly to the Cuban cause but being a good lawyer is not disposed to act hastily. It is understood that he now fears that there are some secret treaties between Spain and other foreign powers which might entangle the United States in a great deal of trouble if great caution is not used in dealing with the Cuban question.

* * *

Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson has had a new honor thrust upon him. A postoffice in Virginia has been named Adlai. It is probably not known in Illinois that Mr. Stevenson has been thus honored and there is a possibility that he is not aware of it himself.

* * *

A new rumor is brought from the Pacific coast that Michael H. DeYoung, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, has the vice presidential fever. Those who claim to know his desires assert that if an Eastern man is selected to head the national Republican ticket in 1896 Mr. DeYoung will make a great fight to capture second place on the ticket. It is said he will have not only the backing of the Pacific coast states, but a good many of those east of the Rocky mountains in the event that his boom is properly handled. The shrewd editor-politician, however, is doing his best to keep his desires in this direction from being made public at so early a date as to injure his cause. Having twice been defeated for senator in California, the distinguished editor is looking higher and now prefers to preside over the senate rather than to become a member of it.

* * *

It is believed here that Gen. Henderson, of Illinois, who is a candidate for clerk of the next house of representatives, will be defeated unless he shows more strength that he is said to possess at this time. His strongest competitor is ex-Representative McDowell, of Pennsylvania. It is asserted that a combination has been formed which will control enough votes to give McDowell the clerkship. Unless Gen. Henderson can break this combine, if one exists, he will be defeated without doubt.

SILVER LEADERS.

Holding a Meeting of Importance in Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 23.—The meeting of the Democratic silver leaders called to put in practical shape the conclusions of the conference held in Washington last month is in session here today. There are present Senator Jones, of Arkansas; W. H. Hinrichsen, Illinois; Governor Stone, Missouri; Hon. Casey Young, of Memphis, and several others of less note. Senator Turpie, of Indiana, is the principal absentee, being detained at home.

The chief object of this meeting is to appoint chairmen for the different states who are to organize the silver forces with a view of capturing the state delegations to the national Democratic convention. The leaders here seem hopeful of accomplishing this result, particularly Mr. Hinrichsen. He says the Democracy of the South and the doubtful states of the West are for free silver and will vote for it in the next election. He reiterates his former declarations as to the policy and purposes of the administration. He says: "Cleveland would bring on a war with Spain about Cuba and eventually with England. This would give him an excuse to call for a big issue of bonds and rivet the gold standard on the country, and would, besides, clear the way for a third term."

A CONTRABAND CARGO.

Washington, Sept. 23.—A telegram received from United States Marshal Carroll, of Wilmington, states that an examination of the libelled steamer Commodore at Southport, N. C., discloses the fact that the boxes consigned to Charles Raymond and said to contain machinery did in fact contain ammunition, small cannon, rifles, cartridges, shells and Cuban machetes.

PASTEUR NOT DYING.

Paris, Sept. 23.—The report on Saturday that Professor Pasteur is dying is untrue. He is in feeble health, and the paralysis is the same that he has suffered from for some time.

BONDS

R. S. Munger Claims That Building Bonds Could Not be Sold.

Some Letters From Leading Bond Buyers Which He Has Received.

They Mostly Say That Bonds for Building Would be Undesirable.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It does not seem possible that anyone would favor the building of a new and competing waterworks plant in this city, unless they were satisfied that money could be raised on the bonds issued for that purpose. Would it not be almost criminal to imperil the best interests of this city by voting to build a plant if bonds to build with could not be sold? With a view to satisfying myself on this subject I addressed the following letter to several large bond-buying houses. Will you kindly print the correspondence given herewith?

I do not think you can question the fairness of my letter of inquiry, and the replies ought to be conclusive evidence that building bonds in this case are unsalable. The only sure, safe and certain road to municipal ownership seems to lie by the path of purchase. Yours truly,

R. S. Munger.

Duluth, Sept. 21.

MR. MUNGER'S LETTER OF INQUIRY.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 12, 1895.—Dear Sir: The Duluth Gas and Water company has made a proposition to the city to sell its plant for a fixed sum. There has developed an opposition to the purchase on the part of some who think the city could build an independent plant and put it in operation at considerable less cost. If the city buys they will issue bonds to refund the outstanding bonds of the company and $850,000 additional for extensions. If they build, the city will still have to issue and realize on bonds to build with. Will you kindly inform me whether in your opinion the bonds to build a competing plant could be readily placed, the proposed new plant having no revenue at the outset, and paralleling (outside of such new extensions as might be needed) the old plant. The company's franchise has a further life of eighteen years, and it is to be expected they will make every fight possible to protect their property against a new plant. The old plant enjoys a revenue in excess of the amount required to pay operating expenses and interest on their bonded indebtedness, which is $1,808,000. Under present conditions the city is compelled to pay the company about $30,000 or $40,000 per annum for hydrant rentals and other services. The courts have held the city is still liable for these hydrant rentals during the life of the franchise, so that if the city should build it would still have to bear this burden. I write from the standpoint of a citizen desirous of doing that which will most surely and certainly, and with the least delay and expense, bring about municipal ownership. Will you favor me with a prompt reply and oblige, yours truly.

R. S. Munger, Duluth, Minn.
Dear Sir: Answering yours of Sept. 12, we have to say that undertakings of the kind you mention are a little difficult in New York at present. R. S. Munger, Esq., Duluth, Minn.
Dear Sir: Your favor of Sept. 12 to our New York office has been referred to us for answer. In the past the city of Duluth has stood high in financial circles, but for the past year or more, since the friction has arisen between the city and the water and gas company, conservative investors have not been inclined to look with favor upon Duluth investments.

We question whether our investors would be willing to take hold of the bonds mentioned by you. With best respects, yours very truly.

New York, Sept. 16, 1895.
R. S. Munger, Duluth, Minn.
Dear Sir: Your letter of Sept. 12 is received and contents noted.

We are not sufficiently acquainted with the value of the bonds of the city of Duluth, or of the circumstances of the case presented by you, to enable us to give you a positive opinion in regard to the matter, but we might say, on general principles, that any bonds which are issued for the purpose of building a competing plant would be less readily salable than bonds issued to pay for the property of a water company already in existence and operating profitably. Yours very truly,
Vermilye & Co.

Blair & Co., bankers,
33 Wall street.
New York, Sept. 16, 1895.
R. S. Munger, Duluth, Minn.
Dear Sir: Your valued favor of the 12th inst., asking whether, in our opinion, bonds to build a competing water plant could be readily placed ,is at hand and duly noted.

Without venturing an opinion on the salability of bonds issued to build a new plant, we are frank to say that bonds issued to purchase the present works will sell to much better advantage and be much more eagerly sought.

It seems to us of doubtful expediency for the city to build a competing plant and thus invite an attack on its credit and enter upon a prolonged and, perhaps, expensive warfare with the present company. The quickest and probably in the end the most profitable way for the city to acquire its own waterworks is to purchase the present plant.

In giving this opinion, we assume that the present waterworks can be purchased at a fair valuation, and if this can be done, there is no doubt in our minds of the advisability of acquiring control in this manner. We remain, dear sir, yours faithfully,
Blair & Co.

R. S. Munger, Esq., Duluth, Minn.
Dear Sir: Your letter of the 12th inst., addressed to our Boston house, has been referred to us for reply. Our experience has been that conservative capitalists and investors—and most capitalists and investors are conservative—look with disfavor upon such an attack on vested interests as is implied by the construction, or an attempt at construction, by a city of a water plant to compete with a similar plant already in operation under an agreement with the city still in force. Of course circumstances alter cases, and just what view of the hypothetical case you mention would be taken by others we cannot say. As for ourselves, we do not think we should care to consider the purchase of bonds issued as you indicate for the construction of a competing plant. Yours truly,
N. W. Harris & Co.

HE ADVOCATES PURCHASE.

Col. Gridley Urges Purchase of the Water Plant.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am a member of the executive committee of the tax league. I was appointed to that position against my earnest remonstrance, and assumed the duties of a member of that committee with much reluctance. At the first meeting of the committee, some ten days ago, it was ascertained that I was the only member of the committee favoring the purchase of the water plant. Mr. La Vaque, Mr. Silvey, Mr. Congdon, Mr. Jefferson, Mr. Jenswold and Mr. Phelps, the other six members, favoring the idea of building a new plant. At that meeting I was absent on account of sickness. A resolution was passed at that meeting appointing Mr. Congdon, Mr. Silvey and Mr. La Vaque a committee to get facts about the water plant, and to make a report the purpose of which was to advise the voters of the city regarding the subject matter. A special committee was appointed, and devoted four days of careful work and study to the investigation of the subject. When they got through their investigation it was found that every one of them had changed their views and were strongly in favor of the purchase of the present plant. It is true that they refrained from expressing in direct terms their views upon the subject, but their conclusions could lead to no other result from the fact that they clearly say that it is an impossibility to build a new competing plant at this time, and if it should be attempted that it would devolve a heavy burden on the tax payers, if anything in that line could be done. Mr. Phelps, Mr. Jenswold and Mr. Jefferson were opposed to the report as it was first read. When, to satisfy them, the report was modified to some extent with the understanding that it should be published as the report of the committee of seven. On the resolution to adopt the report it was adopted unanimously, that is, there were no votes against it, the three last named gentlemen not voting. I commend to the serious consideration of all voters who haven't time to make a thorough investigation of the subject the fact that three of our most prominent citizens entering upon this investigation very much prejudiced against the purchase have come to the conclusion that the city could not build a new plant, and now favor the purchase of the existing plant.

It is generally admitted by our people that sooner or later we must purchase the existing plant. Can we ever have a better opportunity than now? By the payment of city orders of $48,000 we can now enter into the possession of this plant, and get the avails from it, subject to the payment of the outstanding bonds of the company. I believe that the city can issue 5½ per cent thirty year bonds, and exchange them for the old bonds. And in that event the city will be in possession of the plant, and receive the water rents therefrom, and can go on with the extensions and give employment to labor and insure us a pure supply of water. At the end of about two years time the city will have the right to have the question of the value of the gas plant referred to impartial referees to appraise the value, and with the right to take the plant on such terms. This looks to me as the business way to solve the matter, and as the only way that promises any results, which we all want, and as insuring to the city the purchase of the plant at a fair price. The difference between 3½ per cent on $1,808,000 for thirty years, and 5 per cent interest, which would be the least we could place bonds with which to build, should properly be taken from the price of the present plant when getting at the question of actual cost to the city. This last being a saving to the city of $813,600, which taken from the $1,808,000 would mean an actual cost to the city of the present plant of only $994,400, and the plant is certainly worth that amount of money. Three and a half per cent interest on these bonds, which will be a first lien on the entire plant, backed by the credit of the city, will be bonds that I think could be floated at any time in the bond market, and I have no doubt that they will be readily accepted by the persons holding the old bonds in exchange for the bonds they now hold.

To purchase then means city ownership, immediate extensions, pure water and an ample supply. Let us purchase.

E. C. Gridley.

MR. KEATING ESTIMATES

Rejoinder to Mr. Allen Made By "Fair Play."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am greatly pleased to see that Mr. Allen, in a communication to The Herald, at last admits that he has discovered the fact that Mr. Keating made more than one estimate as to the cost of the construction of a water plant in Duluth, and the fact that he lost his temper in his reply proves perhaps that he was forced into an acknowledgment. Mr. Allen charges that every thing said of the second Keating estimate is false, and then proceeds to admit that the statement made concerning it was correct.

In my former letter I stated, not what Mr. Allen alleges, but the following very simple fact, that Mr. Keating to order told the council that the water plant of the gas and water company, with thirty-six miles of main, could be duplicated for about $720,000, and that later when asked for an estimate to be used as the basis for actual work he reported that a system of fourteen miles would cost $880,000, a rate much higher per mile than now asked by the company.

It is this very plain state of affairs that Mr. Allen entirely ignored in his reply, and yet the question evaded was the only one at issue. When a lawyer evades obvious facts and contents himself with general denials and abuse, it is generally understood that he has a very poor case. If, as he states, Mr. Allen considers the second Keating estimate so fine an argument for his side of the case, I would like to ask him why it has been kept so long and so carefully in the dark, why he did not refer to it before being forced to do so, and if he considers the suppressing of so important a matter in the discussion of the water question good faith with the public.

CHANGE OF FIRM.

ATTENTION, VOTERS!

To the Voters of the City of Duluth.

The issues to be presented to the people at the forthcoming waterworks election are of so vital importance, and of a character so fraught with the future weal or woe of Duluth and its citizens, that we most earnestly urge upon business men, upon the taxpayer, upon the home owner and upon every voter the importance of giving them the most careful and deliberate consideration.

We desire to call your attention to a few of the reasons which govern our opinion in thus publicly announcing our determination to support by all the means in our power the proposition to purchase the present plant as being the safest, the most certain and the most economical proposition of the two submitted, and as the only method by which action of any kind looking toward municipal ownership of the water plant will be taken.

1. We must vote either (a) to purchase; or (b) to build, or (c) to do nothing at all.

2. We have long agitated this question with the unvarying result that the obstruction of the will of the people to buy, by those who are determined that the city shall not build or buy, have deprived the people of pure water, adequate fire protection and the many necessary extensions of service which are wanted at once and which are absolutely necessary.

3. The sewerage system consists of sewers in each street and each alley. A new water system, if built, must be constructed in either street or alley. Wherever blasting is necessary for such system the whole sewerage system would be ruined.

4. If we vote to build, past experience shows nothing whatever can be done in years.

5. It would be a public calamity to vote against doing anything, and to vote to build with the unsurmountable obstacles in the way which now exist, means the same thing as doing nothing.

6 In case of purchase, all necessary extensions can be made at once to outlying districts, Woodland, West Duluth, Duluth Heights, Fond du Lac, New Duluth, and the hill top, and be giving them the water service and fire protection they are justly entitled to. The property above Fourth street especially stands in imperative need of these extensions

7. The vote to purchase solves at once the puzzling question what to do with the unemployed of this city. There will be immediate labor for all in the necessary work of extending the system.

8 A vote to build is positively certain to deprive our laboring men of this work for years to come. Bond buyers will not furnish money in any sum, at any rate of interest, to build a new plant competing as it must disastrously with the existing system.

9. The price is not so high as some would have us think, and all the advantages to be gained by purchase more than compensate for whatever excess the price asked may contain. The principal objectors on this score are non-resident taxpayers whose property is already benefited by the water system. The city acquires a plant which is self supporting and there would not be an increase of a single dollar in taxes.

10. The new plant would cost more than many of us think. The amount given as the cost of the new plant are mainly street rumors. All the estimates so far furnished are estimates gotten up with the express intention of defeating the proposition to purchase.

11. The old plant pays its own way, the water rates being sufficient to more than pay all expenses and interest charges.

12. If we vote to build there is no question but that bonds issued for the express purpose of building a plant to compete with the present plant, would be unsalable in any market, and the fact of their being offered for sale for such a purpose would affect disastrously the credit of the city of Duluth in all the money markets of the world. This is not a mere opinion, the best authorities declaring such bonds unsalable, because the putting in of a competing plant savors of repudiation of a prior contract made with the city, and the inference would be fair that a municipality which repudiated its valid contract with a corporation might repudiate a financial contract. We are confronted with the further impediment of no revenue from a plant for years to come, of increased taxes to pay interest on the bonds and operating expenses of a new plant without any revenue whatever at the time of its completion.

13. There are 2500 or more connections with the existing plant which have cost the individuals about $300,000. Under such circumstances they would hardly be persuaded to make new connections with a new plant. A careful estimate of the cost of building a supplementary plant based on the estimate of Engineer Keating made in 1892, is $884,320 or about $65,000 per mile, there being fourteen miles in the proposed supplementary system. This estimate if correct (assuming it as a basis) it would cost to parallel the present system of 35 miles at the same rate per mile that Mr. Keating gives for the supplementary system, $2 275,000.

14. Two plants in existence engaged in ruinous competition means great loss to everybody.

15. It has been charged that the mains in the business and residence portions of the city are too small to give adequate fire protection. Against this the facts are that Duluth mains are larger in the same districts than in other cities much larger, notably St. Paul and Kansas City.

16. By the express terms of the franchise given to the present company by the city it is provided that at the expiration of its term the city "shall buy" the old plant at a fair valuation or extend the franchise for 20 years longer. This is mandatory and enters the question as an issue very much alive.

17. We believe that under purchase, the income would more than double within the next five years as compared with present revenues, and that material reductions in that event would be made.

18. It is contended that because the gas mains are laid in the same trenches with the water mains in the old system that a hardship would be worked to the city. We find nothing objectionable in the existing facts which are that the gas mains are laid above and to one side of the water mains and access can be had to the latter at all times without difficulty. This objection, however, we regard as hardly reaching the dignity of an argument.

19. In conclusion the whole matter can be briefly summed up as follows:

The new plant is not feasible, practically or financially. The purchase of the present plant, its franchise, its holdings and appurtenances and outstanding contracts can be made now for a fair, reasonable sum, and it is therefore our best judgment that this should be done without further delay, and we believe we can engage in no more loyal and patriotic duty as citizens of Duluth than to pledge ourselves to vote and work in favor of its consummation.

20. This election occurs on Sept. 24th, from six o'clock in the morning to 7 o'clock in the evening. If you favor the purchase of the plant vote "yes" on propositions numbered 1, 2 and 4, and vote "no" on proposition numbered 3.

21. Proposition number 4 provides for the issuance of $850,000 worth of bonds with which to make extensions and improvements. This not only furnishes a long term of employment for labor, but will render it possible for the city to so increase the revenues as not only to effect a large reduction in water rates but to pay all charges and yet not increase the taxes of one citizen to the amount of a single dollar.

Saturday Evening's Meetings Showed an Overwhelming Majority.

Gilley's Hall Was Packed While the Purchase Audience Had But Fifty.

Saturday evening was a pretty wet time in West Duluth. Beside the downfall from the skies two water meetings were held, one at Great Eastern hall by the advocates of purchase and the other at Gilley's hall by those interested in building a new plant. There were not more than fifty people at Great Eastern hall at any time and about 9 o'clock when the meeting was supposed to be at its highest an actual count was made which revealed just thirty-three people present.

At Gilley's hall the seats were all filled and there were more people standing up than there were altogether at Great Eastern hall. If any one was in doubt about the sentiment of the people of West Duluth on the question the two meetings were a sufficient object lesson to remove all doubt.

J. M. Martin presided at Great Eastern hall and speeches were made by E. C. Gribbs, G. J. Malbory and others. The same old arguments were gone over that were heard at the previous meeting on the same side of the question.

David Sang presided over the other meeting and speeches were made by H. H. Phelps, T. C. Himebaugh, Van R. Brown and others.

ARCADIAN STONE

Will Be Used In the Superior Normal School.

Austin Moody, who succeeded Hon. W. H. Maxwell as secretary and general manager of the Amnicon stone quarries, perhaps better known as the Amnicon stone, was wearing a rather broad smile yesterday. His company has been selected by the Wisconsin board of regents to furnish all the stone for the Superior normal school. The selection was made in the face of a most spirited list of contestants, and is a decided feather in the cap of the Arcadian company. A number of orders have been lately received for this stone, which possesses many qualifications which other building stones fail in.

An Aquatic Contest.

John Kelly, better known as "Scarface," and Harry Young, engaged in an aquatic contest yesterday which ended disastrously for both gentlemen. Shortly after 1 o'clock the men sat on the steps where the Minnesota Point ferry lands and gazed out over the waters. They were loaded to the guards with Point whisky and felt at peace with the world. Finally "Scarface" dared his chum to swim across the canal, and both jumped at the same instant. Neither could swim, but they were buoyed up with whisky until help came, and they were driven shivering and chattering to the Central station. In the municipal court this morning both pleaded guilty to drunkenness and received fines of $10 and costs.

Against Both Propositions.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In this waterworks controversy both sides seem to have united in declaring that there must be a choice between them and that no other course is possible. But is this true? Many conservative business men honestly believe that we cannot afford, at this time, to assume the burden of debt which will be brought upon us by the success of either side; that we can better afford to bear, for awhile longer, the ills we have, rather than to run to those we know not of. It is admitted by everyone that the price demanded by the company is an outrageously exorbitant one, and it does not require argument to convince some citizens that some of the men now in control of city affa irs are not the persons who are best fitted to expend nearly $2,000,000 for a new plant.

There is a good chance to defeat them both. If those citizens who do not favor either proposition, except as a means of defeating what they consider a greater evil, will stand together and vote consistently. The contest promises to be a close one, and either side may win by a small plurality over the other. Each side will vote "No" on the other's proposition. That is the opportunity for us. If those who oppose both will vote "No" on all propositions, their votes, added to the negative votes of those favoring the other proposition, in each case will defeat them both. A few voters, representing only the difference between the two sides, can use each to help kill off the other, and thus kill both.

The first proposition, to issue bonds, would carry, of course, but this will be useless unless there is some purpose for which they may be used.

A Dulutnian.

Duluth, Sept. 23.

SEEMS TO FAVOR PIEDMONT.

The council meeting tonight does not promise to be a very eventful one. The only matter of importance to come up is the West End street car extension. In all probability Piedmont avenue will be the route selected for the new tracks, although there is a sentiment in favor of Twentieth avenue. Routine matters will occupy the balance of the session.

THE COUNTY'S DEPOSIT.

The county commissioners hold a special meeting this afternoon to talk over the county's financial matters. The subject which will come up for reflection is the county's deposits in the Iron Exchange bank, which amount to about $58,600. The show there may be for recovery and the advisability of suing the bank's bondsmen will be discussed.

GRAY-HAIRED PULLERS.

A unique occupation taken up by certain enterprising young women in need of a little extra money is that of "gray-hair pullers," says the Philadelphia Times. The day the first gray hair makes its appearance is one of sorrow to many fashionable women, and the hair is generally plucked out, regardless of the old saying that a dozen will come to its funeral. Soon afterward the gray hair puller is summoned and engaged to come at regular intervals. She takes down her patron's hair and combs it gently and carefully removes every hair which has departed from its original hue and pins up the locks again.

Wheat Started Easy Today But the Visible Figures Were Bullish.

Russian Shipments and Primary Receipts Heavy and Cables Weak.

Speculative Trading Light---Good Business in Cash Stuff Reported.

Wheat started slightly easy today. Russian shipments and Northwestern receipts being heavy and cables weak, but on the publication of the visible supply figures, the price rose quickly, although it had been advancing for some time before. The details of the matters referred to as causing the early weakness and the following improvement were as follows: Minneapolis receipts were 1175 cars and Duluth 462, or 1615 together, compared with 1226 cars on the corresponding date of the year before. Chicago receipts were 92 cars which included 13 from city warehouses. A year ago Chicago got 200 cars, 99 of which were new red winter. Primary markets received, all told, 1,228,000 bus, compared with 960,000 bus last year. Duluth, against receipts of 295,182 bus, shipped 394,516 bus. The Russian shipments for the week were reported from New York to have amounted to 2,080,000 bus, and from the Danish ports, 2,800,000 bus. Adding the exports from this country last week to the shipments from Indian and Australian shipments, it appears that about 8,000,000 bus were put afloat last week, against 6,000,000 on the week before. The quantity on ocean passage increased 160,000 bus and the English visible increased 800,000 bus.

The trading in futures was not heavy on the Duluth board but there was good business in cash stuff, the shippers taking a liberal quantity. December opened 1@c off at 55¾c, declined ⅛c, reacted to 56c and ruled fairly steady until near noon when it advanced to 56¼c. It eased off ⅛c but recovered and advanced nominally to 56¼c. May opened ⅛c unchanged at 61@61¼c, gained ⅛c, eased off ⅛c, and firmed up to 61¾c without trading. The close was ⅛c higher than Saturday for cash, 8c for September and ⅛c higher for December and May. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 56¾c; September, 56¾c; December, 57¾c. No. 1 northern, cash, 55¾c; September, 55¾c; December, 56¾c; May, 61¾c. No. 2 northern, cash, 53¾c. No. 3, 49½c. Rejected, 44½c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 56¾c; No. 1 northern, 55¼c. Rye, 36¾c. No. 2 oats, 20c; No. 3 oats, 19½c. Flax—September, 56¾c; October, 56c.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 507 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Before our wheat market opened this morning, cables brought advices that Russian and Roumanian shipments for the past week were over 5,000,000 bus, that Liverpool market was 1½d lower, that the receipts in the Northwest were 1655 cars, and so far as known we went up stairs with the very general assurance that wheat must sell a great deal lower. Since then cables have been a little steadier. The English visible increased 805,000 bus, the amount on passage increased 560,000 bus, our visible supply increased 1,325,000 bus. This, of course, is less than was expected. Wheat at noon is ⅝c a bushel higher than it opened. Northwestern markets fully as strong as ours. It is undoubtedly true that what we call the best element are bearish in their views, and some of them have been pretty free sellers of wheat today. We think sentiment generally has been bearish, and the steadiness of the market was somewhat of a surprise. Considerable talk has been going on about wheat offered from the Northwest to come here. There will not much come here at the present difference in price, but we expect later that a great deal of wheat will come from that country down here. If it does not come, it will show that their markets are able to handle more wheat than we gave them credit for. There is nothing bearish in the winter wheat news.

Corn dull and featureless. New corn is being offered very freely and corn will grade earlier this year than ever before. Weather has been simply perfect for the corn crop. Sell corn on the bulges. Oats dull and lifeless; on breaks would rather buy than sell them.

Provisions are very dull. The only feature is the changing of October ribs, which have been selling at a big premium over and buying January at about 15c differ- and buying January at about 15c difference. October stuff heavy, January dull but firm.

Stocks—As we predicted Saturday, Sugar and Gas showed an advance today, and we still believe they should be bought on any slight breaks. The grangers were also strong and showed a fair advance over Saturday's close.

MERELY FOR MIRTH.

Tits Bits: Keep your temper, laddie. Never quarrel wi' an angry person, specially a woman. Mind ye, a soft answer's aye best. It's a commanded—and forbye, it makes them far madder than anything else you could say.

Chicago Tribune: "I think I'd like some corned beef and cabbage," said the freckled-faced young man. "I got some here the other day and it was pretty good."

"Very sorry, sir," answered the waiter, "but we haven't any corned beef today."

"You've got beef, haven't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, corn some, darn it! I ain't in any hurry. I'll wait."

Worcester Gazette: Professor Lombroso says that criminals have no wisdom teeth. That is an inducement to be wicked.

New York Mercury: A well-known Brooklyn contractor who died recently came from a family of Irishmen noted for their quarrelsome dispositions. His lawyer was somewhat surprised when he read his will to come across a clause reading—

"If my relatives fight over this will when I am dead, I will write a codicil that will make their heads swim."

Detroit Free Press: Glanders: Scientists say that the earth wabbles in her orbit.

Gragoyle: I've noticed that myself when I've been going home from the club.

Chicago Record: Customer: These trousers don't sit just right about the hips.

Tailor: They're all right, what you need is something more in the pockets.

Chicago Tribune: "Jones seems to be awfully mad when I overtook him this morning."

"What's the matter, I wonder?"

"Why, you see, I had the faster horse."

Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph. Miss Humley: Let me show you my new photographs, Sue.

Miss Van Braam (after a brief inspection): You take a very pretty picture, Nell.

Miss Humly (with becoming modesty): O, thank you.

Miss Van Braam: Not at all. Indeed, I have often heard it remarked as very strange that quite plain-looking people can get really beautiful photographs.

Washington Star: He was a New York contractor. "That's a very fine-looking building over there," he said, indicating the new postoffice.

"Yes. The people here admire its plans."

"Excuse me for seeming ignorant—but has it just been started or has it just fallen down?"

Pearson's Weekly: A recruit who had lately joined one of the well-known Highland regiments in the district, was brought before his officer for "absence," and for an excuse was telling the old tale about meeting some friends, etc.

"Do you think I'm a fool?" thundered the officer.

"Ye see, sir," replied the recruit, "A'm no fang here, an' A dinna ken."

Life: "Tommy, the doctors is sayin' that kisin' is apt to breed sickness!"

"I know. But we men have to take risks in everthink!"

Indianapolis Journal: She—They call this a play with a moral. I wonder what it is?

He (thinking of the price for seats)—"The fool and his money are soon parted," I guess.

Chicago Tribune: "Paw," asked Johnny, "what grows in a beer garden?"

"The head, my son," groaned Mr. Jagway, applying some more pounded ice.

Philadelphia Record: He—Here, darling, I've bought you a pet monkey. She—Oh! you dear boy. How like you!

Harper's Bazar: He—I don't think there is anything much finer than to have a beautiful yacht.

She—I'm surprised at you. Haven't you considered a beautiful wife?

He—Oh, yes; but I mean on the ground of economy.

Cincinnati Enquirer: "How about this?" exclaimed Charon. "The waybills call for seven, and there are only six here. I am afraid I am getting a shade the worst of it."

Chicago Inter-Ocean: "Aw, what's de matter wit' youse guys?" howled the disgruntled rooter. "De only sign of ginger you got is in the color of your playin'."

Brooklyn Life: "Jack writes that the steamers were so crowded that some of New York's swell set had to come over just as their grandfathers did." "How does he mean—in sailing vessels?" "No; in the steerage."

And whereas there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of two thousand six hundred eighty-six and 07-100 ($2686.07) dollars, principal, interest and exchange, secured by said mortgage;

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, viz: All that tract or parcel of land in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: All of lots numbered two (2) and three (3), in block numbered two (2), Marine Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in the register of deeds' office for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the sixth (6th) day of November, A. D. 1895, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes if any on said premises, and seventy-five ($75.00) dollars attorney's fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Minn., Sept. 23.—Within a trough of low pressure over Minnesota and Wisconsin a storm developed Saturday night and increased greatly in energy during Sunday. It is now central northeast of Lake Superior. Excessive rains have been reported during the past forty-eight hours as follows: St. Paul, 3.62 inches; Duluth, 2.22; Fort Arthur, 2.04. The rain area covered the greater part of the Dakotas, Iowa and portions of Nebraska, extended east over the upper lake region and the upper Mississippi valley. These conditions have been followed by a marked fall in temperature. Throughout the Red River valley and in South Dakota and Nebraska, the temperature fell below the freezing point last night.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 42; maximum yesterday, 58; minimum yesterday, 40; rainfall for twenty-four hours ending 7 a. m. this morning, 1.36 inches.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity until 7 p. m. tomorrow: Fair; continued cool today and Tuesday; brisk southwest winds, diminishing tonight and probable frost Tuesday morning.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Officer.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Forecast until 8 a. m. tomorrow: Wisconsin: Fair; rising temperature Tuesday; westerly winds, shifting Tuesday to southerly. Minnesota: Fair; slowly rising temperature; southerly winds.

Upper lakes: Fair weather; westerly winds diminishing in force and backing to southwest tonight. Depth of water over miter sill in St. Mary's ship canal 15 feet 1 inch and it will fall during the next twenty-four hours.

Since Saturday a storm of marked energy has moved from Colorado northeastward over the upper lake region, attended by an area of precipitation which has extended from the West Gulf states through Minnesota and the upper lake region and has been followed by a fall in temperature of 20 to 30 degrees throughout the Western states, the Mississippi valley and the lower Ohio valley. During Saturday rain fell in an area extending from Lake Superior, Minnesota and the Dakotas through the middle Rocky mountains. Saturday night snow fell in Colorado, Western Nebraska and Western South Dakota, and heavy rain continued from the middle Missouri valley over western Lake Superior. During the last twenty-four hours, the rain area has extended over the western lake region, the middle Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys, the greatest depth of rainfall, 1.90 inches being noted at St. Paul. At Duluth 1.35 inches has fallen. Westerly gales have prevailed over the upper lake region, a maximum velocity of fifty miles per hour being noted at Chicago. Killing frost occurred last night in South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. Fair weather with slowly rising temperature after Tuesday is indicated for the western lake region and the upper Mississippi valley. Fair weather with rising temperature is indicated for the Western and Northwestern states.

HOW TO VOTE.

Those who desire to vote tomorrow for the building of an independent water plant by the city should vote "yes" on the first and third propositions and "no" on the second and fourth propositions. Mark your ballots with an X as usual in voting on constitutional amendments. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. until 7 p. m. Be sure to vote and see that your neighbor votes and that he votes in favor of building.

THE SENSIBLE COURSE.

The importance of the present election to Duluth cannot be overestimated. It is stated on good authority that blocks of bonds of the Duluth Gas and Water company could have been had in Chicago, within the last few months, at about 50 cents on the dollar. Every one would be willing to pay at that rate or even 10 to 15 per cent more. If by any possibility the election should result in buying the water plant for $1,856,000, and it should develop afterwards that speculators had made several hundred thousand dollars out of the city, every man who votes for buying would regret it all his life. Voters can escape all this by voting to build. They should remember this: That this extension or supplementary plant will be built whether the election carries to build or to buy. Ex-City Engineer Reed completed the plans and estimates of cost for the supplementary plant, and the plans are such that they can be used in connection with the present water plant, or as part of an independent system.

The sensible thing to do is to vote to build, and when the supplementary plant is completed, if the water company still refuses to put a fair price on its plant, the city can go on and complete its plant and let the gas and water company keep its plant; or, in two years, the city can give proper notice and go on and have arbitrators appointed who shall appraise the value of the present plant, and the city can get it at the appraised valuation. In the Kansas City case the company asked $6,000,000 for its plant, but the law provided for the appointment of arbitrators the same as it does in this case, and instead of paying an exorbitant price arbitrators were appointed and they cut the water company's price squarely in two. That was a saving of $3,000,000 to Kansas City. We can take the same course and with the same results, and therefore it would be the heighth of folly for people to vote to buy at what even the most zealous advocates of buying admit is an outrageous price.

The most serious objection to buying is this: If the city pays $1,856,000 and assumes the payment of over $1,800,000 of 5 and 6 per cent bonds and then goes on and builds the supplementary plant at a cost of over $800,000 more, the fixed charges (operating expenses and interest on bonds) will be so great that the present high rates for water will have to be maintained, and probably even higher rates charged. That will affect every one who pays water rents, which means property owners and tenants. Those who live in rented houses cannot escape the burden. Whereas if the city builds a new, modern and complete plant the cost will not exceed $1,700,000 at the most the bonds will not bear more than 4 per cent interest, and the saving will be so great that rates for water will not be more than five-eighths of what they will be if the old plant is bought at the price asked.

Then another important thing to consider is that instead of spending $800,000 for the supplementary plant and sending the balance to Chicago, New York and London, $1,600,000 or more will be spent for a new plant, thereby disbursing twice as much money in Duluth. The laboring men and our business men will get the direct benefit of it, and every one interested in Duluth will be greatly benefited, either directly or indirectly. In view of these facts, it is inexplicable that any laboring or business man, and most of all any leader of organized labor, should favor buying.

This is the most important election ever held in Duluth. Let every one rally to the standard of Duluth and settle this question by such a decisive majority that there will be no question as to whether the people of Duluth are to be the victims of every corporation that can get a franchise from our city council.

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION.

The coming deep waterways convention at Cleveland will have a delegation at once large and powerful and should be able and doubtless will accomplish much good for the betterment of the waterways of the great lakes. The last number of Harper's Weekly gives practically six pages to two articles about the great lakes. The first one treats of the various kinds of steamers now in use, and the second is devoted to the more important project of making all the big lake cities seaports by connecting them with the Atlantic by artificially deepened waterways in which the largest ships can travel without hindrance. In the course of a superbly illustrated article the paper in question draws attention to Chauncey N. Dutton's plan for pneumatic balance locks which at a glance show their superiority, ease of construction, and, above all, their comparative cheapness, making the construction so cheap in fact that governmental aid is not necessary, although it might well be asked in so important an undertaking which would be of such vast benefit to all the inland cities and the country generally.

Take for instance the Erie canal, with its seventy-two locks which cost in the neighborhood of $52,000,000. Twenty years ago Governor Seymour estimated the cost of converting it into a ship canal at $500,000,000, and he was probably under, rather than over the mark.

The boldest plans hitherto offered for a ship canal between Lake Erie and the seaboard have none contemplated less than thirty-five locks, while the most feasible called for fifty-five. With locks like that at Sault Ste. Marie, the cost for lifts on the St. Lawrence route would be at least $175,000,000, and upwards of $250,000,000 on the Oswego route—that is to say, from Oswego to the Hudson. It has remained for an American engineer to cut the Gordian knot by the invention of a new lock, exceedingly simple in design, easy and cheap of construction, and quickly and inexpensively operated. In 1890 Chauncey N. Dutton, a young Pittsburg engineer, took out in the principal countries in the world letters patent for what he described as a pneumatic-belance lock. Mr. Dutton proposed simply to make the pneumatic dry dock into a wet dock by building up the side walls and putting in end gates between them. Simple as this device appears, it puts navigation hydraulics upon an entirely new basis, and, in the judgment of the most eminent engineers, must revolutionize canal construction all over the world.

Merely to indicate the meaning of this new invention, it will now be possible to construct huge ship-lifts of equal size, and at least eight times as high as the greatest lock now in existence. Two locks, each lifting 160 feet, could replace the twenty-five locks now required along the Welland canal. The cost of these new locks, built as large as the new lock at the Sault, would not be more than $3,000,000 each. They would pass a ship from Ontario to Erie in an hour, where it now requires a day. Indeed, so greatly will this new device cheapen lock construction that canal enterprises, hitherto largely confined to governmental undertaking, are now brought into the range of practical commercial projects.

Mr. Dutton has now developed a huge scheme for a maritime canal. He proposes to build a canal equipped with locks of sufficient size so that an ocean freighter like the Cevic may sail at river speed from New York to Duluth and Chicago, and that without material interruption. He proposes a canal system with locks of twenty-six feet draught, sixty-five feet wide, and 510 feet clear length, which will lift vessels carrying 12,000 tons of freight. In place of the thirty-five to fifty-five locks required in any other plan yet proposed for a similar canal, this project involves but five. In a word, instead of an estimated expenditure of at least $200,000,000 for locks, the latter, under the new construction, will not require more than $15,000,000. The projector estimates that to carry the first ocean steamship from New York to Chicago will require the expenditure of $100,000,000, and to complete the canal to enable vessels like the Cevic to make river speed through the dredged channels will require the outlay of as much again—in all, some $200,000,000.

The canal will extend from the mouth of the Welland canal on Lake Erie, utilize a portion of that canal, descend, by a pair of locks set tandem, into the Niagara river at a point about opposite Lewiston, utilize and enlarge the present Canadian canal system along the St. Lawrence river as far as Lake St. Francis, and there fork in two directions; one arm will reach by a new canal to Montreal, and thence by the St. Lawrence river to the sea, while another will extend from Lake St. Francis to Lake Champlain, reverse the current of that lake, and reach from the lower end of Champlain to Waterford, on the Hudson river. It will involve only about ninety miles of artificial canals, and afterwards fifteen miles of this will be cut out by the construction of a new canal from Lewiston, on the Niagara river, to a point above the falls on the American side. The project will require the expenditure of a large sum of money, but Mr. Dutton has associated with him some of the best-known engineers in the country, together with a number of heavy capitalists, and it is proposed to construct this gigantic system without a dollar of subsidy from either the Canadian or United States government.

The article in Harper's Weekly very appropriately says: "It is only a nineteenth century brain which would take a huge ocean freighter, loaded to the line, slide it into a monstrous steel tank, and lift it 160 feet in the air without a jar, automatically, the mechanism, so to speak, doing the whole thing itself, no outside motive power, all as simple as a pair of scale pans, and a man or boy at the valves controlling and directing with perfect surety the whole gigantic operation! Here assuredly is a mechanical achievement fit to rank beside the finest of the century."

DESPICABLE METHODS.

Charles Gasper, of Fond du Lac, is indignant because the campaign managers for the water company signed his name to one of their circulars. It was a despicable act, because Mr. Gasper is not in favor of purchasing the companys' plant, but supports the proposition to build. Mr. Gasper sent a telegram to the secretary of the citizens' committee in charge of the campaign on behalf of an independent plant, in which he says: "The use of my name in connection with the circular favoring purchase was wholly unauthorized. I am now and have been for building."

The action of the purchase managers in taking this unwarranted liberty with the names of prominent citizens and misrepresenting their attitude on the water question demonstrates that they are ready to resort to any dirty means to secure success. But the handwriting on the wall tells the story of their impending defeat. Tomorrow the people will vote down the nefarious scheme to foist the old plant upon the city at a price nearly twice its actual value.

OPINIONS OF AN EXPERT.

G. W. Pearsons, the engineer who built the waterworks at Kansas City and is now acting for that city as engineer of the plant, has written a letter to a friend in Duluth, who has been supplying him with Duluth papers containing articles on the present campaign. He gives a complete description of the valuable plant at Kansas City, which recently passed into the possession of the city for less than $3,000,000, and adds: "Measure this and a revenue of some $300,000 per year with the corresponding size and revenue of the Duluth plant, and you may arrive at its value as the courts would be likely to determine it. You cannot afford to buy the plant if it costs largely in excess of such a proportionate amount." In a recent communication to The Herald the Kansas City plant was described, and it was shown that it is five times greater than the Duluth company's plant. Consequently, figuring on the basis Mr. Pearsons suggests, the Duluth plant is worth only $600,000.

Mr. Pearsons adds: "Although you may be bound to pay the present company hydrant rent during their term of service, you are not bound to pay rental for hydrants, individually, which do not render the contracted service, and the quality of the supply will determine whether they can retain their customers. As to tearing up the streets, it will be time enough to spring that bugaboo when Duluth has gone into the shades with Pompeii or Herculaneum. This city is now having laid more pipe on its streets than there is in Duluth, and on streets which have already from one to three wires on them, asphalt, brick, stone, cedar block or macadam, water pipes, gas pipes, sewers, street railroads and the crowd of business—nothing stops them and nobody kicks. What surprises one in regard to Duluth, as it did here, is that the city does not procure competent, disinterested advice, both engineering and legal—engineering, to determine the real status of the present plant and what is needed; legal, to determine legal questions—both unbiased by local opinions or prejudice."

The Herald would commend these unprejudiced statements by the engineer in charge of the Kansas City water plant to the careful reading of every citizen of Duluth. They effectually disperse some of the stock arguments made by the advocates of purchase and prove that the price asked by the Duluth Gas and Water company for its plant is largely in excess of its actual value and much greater than the amount the city should pay for it.

BONDS CAN BE SOLD.

The advocates of purchase who are struggling so hard to make the public believe that the bonds for a new water plant, which would be general obligations of the city, in addition to being an exclusive lien on its water plant, cannot be sold, should remember that the citizens of Duluth know that identically the same kind of bonds of this city, to the amount of $800,000, which had been issued for a new supplemental water plant were sold at par about two years ago in the midst of the great financial panic, and that this city was obliged to settle with the agents who negotiated the sale of the bonds because the city refused to deliver them. It is useless to assert that this city cannot sell such bonds, for this community will not believe it.

Harper's Weekly says that a very prominent German statesman once remarked, when asked whether Germany would stand idly by seeing the Russians take Constantinople: "No; but we want to see those most concerned first in the fight. It will be our time to fall upon the Russian right flank when we hear the English guns booming in the Bosphorus." It will be noted that Lord Salisbury is most assiduously cultivating German friendship at the present time.

How are the popular fallen. Peterson's Magazine was recently sold by auction for $5000, $7000 less than the appraisement, and Arthur's Home Magazine brought but $350. It is only fair to add that the two magazines had long ceased to be published by the persons whose names they bore. Both had been for some time published by Penfield Bros., by whose assignee they were sold. At one time each had an enormous circulation.

Mr. Munger now says that while he did not sign the circular headed "Attention, Voters," he authorized the use of his signature. On Saturday Mr. Munger told Mr. Hudson in the presence of another gentleman that he had not signed or seen the circular. May we infer from this that Mr. Munger has given the managers of the water company's campaign unlimited authority to sign his name to whatever they may write?

"Feed the brute." This, on the faith of the "Philistine," is Mr. Du Maurier's advice to a wife concerning her husband. The phrase, says the Boston Transcript, has not the Du Maurier quality, it is true; but it is another manner of saying "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Whether or not this is true, may best be discussed in cooking schools or by thoughtful housewives, cook-books in hand.

The Two Harbors Iron News complains that Governor Clough failed to appoint a resident at that important port as a delegate to the waterways convention. The complaint is just. Two Harbors should have been represented. But why did not the president of the village appoint delegates?

There will be a fight in Texas, in any event. Governor Culberson declares that Corbett and Fitzsimmons shall not fight at Dallas, if the whole militia of the state can prevent it. The lawyers for the pugilists declare that they will enjoin the governor from acting.

Harper's Weekly's photographic picture of the start of the yachts in the last attempt at a race shows as no newspaper cut has done hitherto how clear and unobstructed a course the racers had on that occasion.

Just as the exercises at Chickamauga had been concluded and it was supposed the war was over the mayor of Salina, Kan., fired an old soldier from the police force and the struggle has been resumed.

Dr. Parkhurst says that "Platt and the spirit of Plattism is worse than Croker and the spirit of Crokerism." If the good doctor continues to fight on this line, Tammany will be victorious in November.

It is significant that many of those who loudly declaim in favor of purchasing the water plant have temporarily left the city and will not be here to vote as they counsel others to do.

Attaching the signatures of business men to a circular without their authority closely approaches to forgery. It shows to what desperate straits the advocates of purchase of the water plant have been driven.

Every delegate to the waterways convention at Cleveland should attend that gathering, even at some personal inconvenience and sacrifice. The convention will be a great benefit to Duluth.

With fine weather there should be a large vote tomorrow. It is the duty of every citizen to vote, and if all will perform this duty there will be a large majority in favor of the city building a new water plant.

Vote "yes" on the first and third propositions and "no" on the second and fourth. Then you will be voting to authorize the erection of an independent water plant by the city.

A vote to build a new plant means plenty of work for the laboringmen this winter.

One of the strangest of boycotts is that ordered by the Central Labor union, of New York, of Bibles published by a firm that employes non-union binders.

Workingmen should remember that a vote to build an independent water plant means the expenditure of the money at home instead of sending it abroad. It means work for everyone.

The Herald devotes much space to the water question today, but it is the burning issue of the hour and therefore deserves considerable space.

Vote early and then see that your neighbor votes—in favor of building an independent plant.

REPLY BY MR. BUCK.

Answer to the Open Letter Published on Sunday.

To the Editor of The Herald:

One L. R. Harris, through the columns of the Sunday News Tribune, addresses a letter to me. He seems very much offended because I had Americanism enough in my "make-up" to resent the interference of the gas and water company's English broker with our local affairs in Duluth. He wants to know why The Herald favors building now when it favored puhchasing the combined plant of the Duluth Gas and Water company last fall. This question is easily answered. By buying both the water and gas plant, we get rid of the company, but if we buy simply the water plant we go into a close partnership with the gas and water company and I am of the opinion The Herald has acted wisely in declining to advocate such partnership. The city certainly does not want to give the gas and water company the right to lay its mains in the city's water trenches.

He desires to know if the city ever sold $800,000 of bonds. I answer that it must certainly did. Every person that knows anything knows this is a fact and knows that if the common council had not ordered the city attorney to dismiss an appeal from the decision of Judge Lewis, holding the election illegal, we would have had a new plant today in the city. This young gentleman is the first party I have heard question the fact of the bonds being sold. I impute his reckless doubting to his infinite freshness. I know the money was provided and I know further that the money was as good as that of the gas and water company's English broker. I also have no doubt that if the people vote to build a water plant, the city will sell her bonds and build, and the combined power of the gas and water company and her English broker will not prevent.

I am a director of the Minnesota Canal company and one $50 share of its stock stands in my name, but the Minnesota Canal company is not seeking a franchise from the city of Duluth to build water mains or furnish the city of Duluth with water.

My fresh friend of "sweet nineteen" summers also wants to know if there is anything very wicked in the circular of the Municipal Investment company. I answer certainly not. But I say the advice of the manager of this company cannot be very unbiased when this circular shows this company has sold over $1,000,000 of gas and water bonds and has told its purchasers that the city of Duluth was going to buy the plant and thereby these bonds would be municipal obligations of the city of Duluth. I don't think a party has to climb a tree to see that Mr. Lamb is a biased party.

Now, Mr. Harris, you have been very free in asking me questions to which I enter no protest. Now permit me to ask you a question: Some weeks ago, an attorney at law in the city of Duluth, whose surname is identical with your own, stated to a friend of his that if he should either see or hear of his "prancing around" working and talking for the purchase of the water plant he might know he was well paid for it. Now, Mr. Harris, I may be a little impertinent but I would like to know whether said attorney did not inspire the numerous articles that have appeared in the press of the city to which your name is appended. If he did not inspire these articles, please state if you have been actuated by the same high motives that inspired and enthused said attorney? Yours respectfully,

George W. Buck.

Duluth, Sept. 23.

A NEWS TRIBUNE BREAK.

Two Harbors Iron News: Are the lawyers of Duluth the schemers the News Tribune represents them to be? We don't believe they are half as bad as pictured, and think just such breaks will defeat the purchase of the water plant by the city.

THAT COMMITTEE REPORT.

Some Nuts Presented for Mr. Congdon to Crack.

To. C. A. Congdon: Referring to the committee report signed by you, on the waterworks question, and your recent interview in the News Tribune, we ask:

Is it not a fact that in giving the estimated value of the water plant, as made by Mr. Keating, and that made by Mr. Davis you, in each instance, included the appraised value of all the real estate owned by the water company, included that upon which the Rice's Point gas house and tank stands and that upon which the old gas house and tank stands on East First street.

These two tracts constitute the greater part of the value of the company's real estate and it is not proposed to sell it to the city, yet, sir, you included each in the estimate and used it to swell the value of the property proposed to be sold to the city. You were careful to include $190,000 of betterments alleged to have been made by the company since 1891, but you were not careful to deduct anything for depreciation in prices of material and labor since 1891, though it is well known that such depreciation has not been less than 20 per cent.

You do not even suggest that this real estate, wrongfully included by you, could not be sold for 50 per cent of its value in 1891. You were careful to state that the county had assessed the value of the company's franchise at $125,000 though it had never before been assessed, and though the company has not been able to pay its general taxes. You stated that the stockholders would get but $48,000 for their stock. Is it not an incontrovertible fact that they get this money and the gas plant, worth in all probability, from $250,000 to $400,000. You state that the city cannot buy this plant for less than the amount of the incumbrance. Now, sir, the ordinance with the company grants in terms the right to the city to buy either the water or the gas plants at an appraised value, and says that the city shall assume the debts of the company not to exceed the purchase price, and this is stronger even in favor of the city than the Kansas City ordinance (see Nat'l Water Works Co., vs. Kansas City, 10 Cir. Reports, 655). Are you ignorant of the fact that the Kansas City plants had on them bonds to the amount of $5,900,000; that the court compelled the bondholders to release their mortgages and divide up the $3,000,000 appraised value among themselves, and deliver over the plant free from all liens, to the city? If you are, examine the same case when it came again before the court (see 65 Federal Reporter).

You try to make it appear that the water company is earning a surplus over its expenses and yet your figures omit $25,000 in unpaid personal taxes, which, if taken into account, shows that the company even at present water rates is running behind. You have lived in St. Paul and cannot be ignorant that water rates here are double those of St. Paul, for the same service. You do not mention this. Don't you think that your interview shows a little more ardor and zeal in behalf of the company and its "bona fide" bondholders, than one who poses as an impartial investigator ought to exhibit?

AMUSEMENTS.

"AS YOU LIKE IT."

Tonight Julia Marlowe-Taber and Robert Taber open their engagement at the Lyceum presenting "As You Like It." The Minneapolis Journal had this to say of their production of this Shakespearean comedy:

"It is one of Shakespeare's happiest conceits to masquerade his heroines in masculine disguise, which serve to diminish their charming feminity not a whit. Of these delightful beings created by the great master's pen, none is more charming, more girlish and more modest than the sweet Rosalind. The banished lady, who seeks safety in the guise of a gentleman and with the name of Ganymede, was designed by the bard of Avon to be just the creature of sudden impulses, audacious words, quick blushes and confused flights that Miss Marlowe makes her. Never has there been seen in Minneapolis a more charming interpretation of Rosalind who loves and fears, sighs and laughs and is always merry.

"Mr. Taber's rendering of Orlando, whose happiness dates from the birth of his affection for Rosalind, was excellent, with the slight defect that he seems to be more the confident lover than the despairing gallant he is, wanding in the forest of Arden far, as he believes, from the mistress of his heart. He seems to show that he knows everything will come out in the end as true love should wish.

"The honors of the evening were shared with Mr. and Mrs. Taber by Mr. Owen who has succeeded in giving the public an interpretation of Touchstone which is as delightful as it is original. The other members of the company deserve praise for their careful and conscientious work without which the perfect effect could not have been attained. The settings of the play left nothing to be desired."

THE RACE MEET.

Opening Tomorrow at the Woodland Driving Park.

Tomorrow the first annual race meet of the new Duluth Driving association will take place at the Driving park at Woodland, and from weather indications today everything combines to make the occasion a very successful and a very enjoyable one. Since Friday horses have been arriving in the city for the purpose of entering the lists, and they now number quite a large string, and more are yet to come. Every class is filled, and as the weather bureau has promised good weather, there is no reason why the affair should not be a thorough success. It has been several years since Duluth had a race meet, and the old association was suffered to collapse for want of patronage. Duluth should have a permanent event of this kind, and to have that her citizens must support it.

The entries do not close until tonight. Up to this morning the entries were as follows: In the free-for-all, Two Strike, with a World's fair record of 2:09¾; Belle Ure, with a record of 2:09¾; and Zoda, a speedy animal, are entered. In the 2:50 class the entries include A. W., Victor, Little Edgar, Golden Spike and Doc; the 2:40 class includes A. W., Little Edgar, St. Elmo, Doc and Victor; Little Edgar, St. Elmo and Lavery in the 2:35; Zoda, St. Elmo and Lavery in the 2:30. In the running races Nellie Bly and Butcher Boy have been entered.

There will also be bicycle races. Paul Sharvy and Dr. Gilbert will act as judges, and A. C. Batchellor will be starter. Transportation facilities to the grounds will be ample.

THE MESABA MINES.

Four Hundred Men Working at the Franklin.

The daily output at the Franklin is now about 12,000 tons, 400 men being on the pay roll, says the Virginia Enterprize. Stockpile No. 1 is now being shipped, a new Vulcan steam shovel doing the loading, working single shift. The new plant of machinery, consisting of four 5-foot reversible drums and four duplex engines, made to special order by the Marinette Iron works, of Duluth, are now in position, and the new engine house nears completion.

The Biwabik Bessemer company is doing some exploring on undeveloped portions of its property by testpitting. One pit near the north side of the property was bottomed in ore Monday at a depth of thirty feet.

Henry Truelsen, of Duluth, is in charge of a crew on the Penn Iron company's property west of Mountain Iron, where exploratory work is being done with a drill.

Three new pits have been started on the Sauntry during the week, and the work of exploration goes on with unabated activity.

At the Canton foundations are now being laid for an air compresser, which will be used in operating air drills underground.

At the Norman some seventy-five men are employed, double shifts being worked, the daily shipments from the property being about 1,000 tons.

The shaft at the Victoria is well into ore, and railroad tracks to the property are now being laid. Some ore may be shipped from the mine this fall.

The Bessemer property is fast being developed and pushed to the front as an active shipper, some 500 tons being forwarded from the property daily. A force of 130 men are now furnished employment and the number increased as rapidly as room can be made.

The Minnesota Iron company on Wednesday put another diamond drill at work on the Lincoln property on section 5-58-19, some 200 feet northwest of the first hole put down on the property, the work being in charge of R. H. Channing. Under the same management drill explorations continue on the northeast portion of the townsite.

For nearly a half century Dr. Price's baking powder has ranked foremost.

TRAFFIC IN GIRLS.

Mrs. Charlotte Edholm Spoke on the Subject Last Night.

Mrs. Charlotte Edholm, the social purist, addressed a fair audience at the Pilgrim Congregational church last night on the subject of "The Traffic in Girls." The lecturer told about the circumstances of her parting from her husband, who was a confirmed drunkard. She then engaged in newspaper work to earn a living for herself and her boy. While in San Francisco she met Charles M. Crittendon, who suggested that she take up the work of rescuing outcasts. She was surprised to discover that there is an organized system of traffic in girls. No girl in America is absolutely safe.

"I have witnessed in my work sights and horrors that I can never forget," declared Mrs. Edholm. "There are 230,000 fallen women in America who are under a thraldom more terrible by far than the negro ever suffered. Procurers of women are paid from $25 to $50 for each victim, and the mock marriage, the sweat shops, starvation wages and false advertisements are made means to the end. Bartenders and policemen are in league with the fiends."

Mrs. Edholm concluded by saying she is receiving the hearty co-operation of the W. C. T. U., the Y. M. C. A. and every religious and charitable association. She left last night for St. Paul, but will return in the spring to visit the slums and lecture.

PREVENTION OF DISEASE.

Keep the Stomach Right.

It is surprising what a safeguard a healthy stomach is against disease. And again it is not so surprising when it is remembered that the only way we get pure blood, strong nerves and firm flesh is from wholesome food, well digested. It is the half digested food that causes the mischief. When the stomach is weak, slow, inactive the food lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting, forming gases which poison the blood and the whole system, causing headache, pains in the back, shoulder blades and chest, loss of appetite, palpitation, biliousness.

The safest cure for indigestion is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, composed of vegetable essences, fruit salts, pure pepsin and golden seal. Dissolve one or two of these tablets in the mouth after each meal. They are pleasant tasting and mingling with the food so assist the weak stomach that the food is perfectly digested before it has time to ferment. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion and increase flesh because they digest flesh forming foods like meat, eggs, etc.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package. Absolutely safe and harmless.

Severe griping pains of the stomach and bowels instantly and effectually stopped by De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure. S. F. Boyce.

RESIGNED

A. R. McDonald no Longer a Member of the School Board.

Three Ballots Taken But no Successor Elected on Saturday Evening.

G. A. R. Posts Present a Protest in the Flag Raising Matter.

At the school board meeting on Saturday evening A. R. Macdonald presented his resignation as a director. In doing so he explained that for the next nine or ten months he will be away nearly all the time and will have no time to devote to the work of the board. His resignation reads as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Education, City of Duluth.

Gentlemen: I have been a member of the board for over two years, and have devoted a great deal of time to the work, very often at considerable inconvenience to myself, as well as at some sacrifice of my private business. I am intensely interested in the success of our public schools, and did my resources permit, I know of no line of work that would be more agreeable to me than that of devoting my time and attention to rendering the schools in every respect efficient in the work for which they are designed. It is, therefore, with much reluctance that I tender my resignation. My business and professional engagements are of such a nature, and so multifarious, that it will be impossible for me, for the ensuing year, to attend to the duties devolving upon a member of the board. I don't believe a man has any right to accept the honor without doing the work and as I cannot do the work without sacrificing interests that my cares and responsibilities will not warrant, I am left no alternative but to resign. I wish you all abundant success in the performance of your arduous duties, and sincerely hope that the high standard of excellence acquired by the Duluth schools will be maintained for all time to come. Permit me to express to you, one and all, my sincere appreciation of the uniform kindness and courtesy that you have always extended to me while we labored together. I have the honor to be yours,

A. R. McDONALD.

PRESENTED WITH RELUCTANCE.

"I present this with a great deal of reluctance," said Mr. McDonald, after it had been read. "I shall always look back upon my work in this board with great pleasure, and my only regret is that people do not fully understand how little of the selfish and personal enters into the work of the board. I am sure if all the municipal bodies acted as disinterestedly as this, our finances might be better than they are in some respects. It is not for me to make any recommendation as to who my successor shall be. I was sent here not so much because of any personal qualification I had, but as the representative of a locality. Whether you choose to recognize that locality in choosing my successor remains for you to say."

T. W. Hugo moved that the resignation be regretfully accepted. Director Pearson thought it would be better to fix a date so that Mr. McDonald's services could be retained until his successor is elected. Some of the members, among them T. W. Hugo, thought a successor might be elected right away.

"There is one thing about it, if we elect a man tonight," said President Pryor, "we will not be hounded by politicians for the next two weeks."

F. W. Paine said he was not afraid of the politicians and wanted time to consider the matter. He moved as an amendment to the resolution that the resignation take effect on Oct. 1. This was voted down and the original motion carried.

A motion to elect a successor to Mr. McDonald was then carried. T. W. Hugo placed in nomination J. K. Persons, of Lakeside. E. R. Cobb named Joseph C. Carey.

WANTED TO CONSIDER IT.

Mr. Paine protested against hasty action and thought the board ought to consider the matter. J. R. Brearly thought the Lakeside people ought to be consulted.

President Pryor did not think it was the matter of location that was of so much importance, but Mr. Brearly took issue with this and maintained that it was. Balloting was then proceeded with and the following were the results, all directors being present except J. O. Milne:

First ballot—J. K. Persons, 3; Dr. Codding, 1; J. C. Carey, 1; S. L. Frazer, 1.

Second ballot—J. K. Persons, 2; J. C. Carey, 2; Dr. Codding, 2; S. L. Frazer, 1.

Third ballot—J. K. Persons, 2; J. C. Carey, 1; Dr. Codding, 3.

F. W. Paine at this point moved that the election of the director be postponed to the next meeting. This was carried.

The board adopted a committee report recommending the American Exchange bank, First National bank, Security bank, Marine National bank and National Bank of Commerce as depositories. The State bank was not considered because it does not conform to the regulations as to daily balances.

A protest from the G. A. R. posts against the decision of the board on the question of raising flags over the schools was received. The old veterans think the flag ought to be raised every day. T. W. Hugo moved that the matter be referred to a special committee. Carried.

Plans for the improvement of the sanitary condition of the Washington school were examined and the board then adjourned.

There is no doubt, no failure, when you take De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure. It is pleasant, acts promptly, no bad effects. S. F. Boyce.

WATER MEETINGS.

Several Were Held Saturday Evening and Yesterday.

The proposed purchase of the water plant was given a black eye at the mass meeting at Turner hall yesterday afternoon. Henry Truelsen made the first address and reviewed the arguments in favor of building. In the course of his remarks he referred to the series of letters from bond buyers which R. S. Munger recently caused to be published. The speaker declared that Mr. Munger's letter, which elicited the replies, could not have stated the exact facts, and insisted that the new plant, if built, would bring in a revenue from the start.

Mr. Truelsen did not want the citizens to hurt their own interests by subserving through sentiment the wishes of a lot of bondholders. "There is not a cent in this for me," declared the speaker, "but I have taken a great interest in the matter, and to prevent robbery of the people I'll fight it out."

At the close of Mr. Truelsen's remarks, Alfred Jaques followed the same line of argument and was warmly applauded.

The opponents of the purchase of the water plant held an enthusiastic meeting at the Bethel Saturday night. John Boyer presided and introduced John Jenswold, Jr., S. D. Allen and Henry Truelsen, the speakers of the evening. Then the claims of those favoring purchase were dissected with good hard logic, and all of the speakers were frequently applauded. Mr. Truelsen expressed his confidence that the election would be carried by the advocates of building by a vote of 2 to 1.

The Second warders in favor of purchase met Saturday night at Turner hall and were addressed by R. P. Edson and J. W. Nichols. The former regarded the question from a legal standpoint and brought up the old Kansas City bugaboo, which he sprung with emphasis.

Mr. Nichols made an argument, as he said, "from the workingman's standpoint." The voices of both speakers were echoed by the but partially filled auditorium.

GOVERNOR'S DAY.

Closing of the County Fair on Saturday.

Governor's day at the county fair and the equinoctial rains collided with each other Saturday, and the result was a very cheerless, gloomy and unsatisfactory day. It rained and rained, and in consequence the military part of the program were dispensed with. The governor read an address, however, very eulogistic of Duluth. The militia companies were there, and as the sham battle was not practicable, they fired a volley in honor of the governor. The crowds at the fair were large, and even with the discomfort of rain the last day was a pleasure and a success. Altogether the fair was an unqualified success, creditable alike to the city and county and to the officers of the Agricultural association, who have labored to bring about a successful affair.

Financially as well as a representation of the county's resources this is true, for the association netted a considerable sum above expenses.

DOUGLAS COUNTY FAIR.

Indications are that the Douglas county fair, which opens Thursday, will be one of the most elaborate ever held in Superior. The exhibit of agricultural products will be especially elaborate this year. Special buildings have been secured for the farm and garden exhibits. Among the list of speakers who will make addresses during the fair are Hon. C. A. Towne, Senator C. K. Davis, Phil Cheek and Hon. John J. Jenkins.

Hot weather proves depressing to those whose blood is poor. Such people should enrich their blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 6

NO SECRET

IN THIS WOMAN'S CASE.

Mrs. Campbell Wishes Her Letter Published so that the Truth May Be Known.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Of the thousands of letters received from women all over the world by Mrs. Pinkham, not one is given to the public unless by the wish of the writer. Thus absolute confidence is established between Mrs. Pinkham and her army of patients; and she freely solicits a letter from any woman, rich or poor, who is in ill health or ailing.

In the case of Mary E. Campbell, of Albion, Noble Co., Ind., her suffering was so severe, her relief so suddenly realized, and her gratitude so great, that she wishes the circumstances published, in the hope that others may be benefited thereby. She says:—

"My physician told me I had dropsy and falling of the womb. My stomach and bowels were so bloated I could not get a full breath. My face and hands were bloated badly. I had that dreadful bearing-down pain, backache, palpitation of the heart, and nervousness.

"One of my physicians told me I had something growing in my stomach; and the medicine that I took gave me relief only for a short time. I thought I must die. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it worked like a charm. After taking the first bottle I could walk across the street, now I am well. I advise all my friends to take it."

—Mary E. Campbell, Albion, Noble Co.

THE ROUNDER.

Now that colder days have come around and outside amusements are somewhat curtailed, home games and occupations are more generally employed to pass away the hours. Two ladies, both of them young, one married the other soon to be, were left alone last Saturday evening and after consultation decided to make some taffy candy. The candy was a success, and they ate some and gave some to the Rounder, and finally decided to wait together for the arrival of the married lady's husband. It was getting rather late and they were a trifle tired, so they lay down together on a bed to rest with a large plate of taffy between them. They ate taffy, talked little bits of confidences and finally—fell asleep. Hubby came home a little past midnight, found the two ladies in the arms of Somnus, each with a hand in the taffy dish and each hand firmly held by the candy which had melted slightly! Hubby sat down and roared while the two ladies used considerable strength to disentangle their digits from the clinging sweetness. If you say anything about people being "stuck up" in that house now, you do it at your peril.

* * *

There is a 13-year-old young man living on Third avenue east, who may eventually become minister to France. He displayed enough diplomacy in a situation which promised to be uncomfortable to him to entitle him to almost any position that requires a ready mind. For some time the young man has been dallying with more or less fragrant tobacco through the medium of a corn cob pipe. These seances with nicotia had hitherto always been indulged in away from home and the young man only came around the house with a breath resonant of cloves.

Last week the juvenile smoker tired of the enforced secrecy and determined to boldly face the matter out at home. Armed with his pipe he took a seat out on the back stoop and blowing out great clouds of smoke, awaited developments.

The first danger came in the person of the servant girl who peeped through the screen door and then hastened away to inform the smoker's grandmother, a strict disciplinarian and an accomplished linguist. She was also general manager of the boy. Pretty soon she peered out of the window above, speechless with indignation at the sight of such youthful depravity. Young Hopeful was ready and as his grandmother drew in a long breath he opened fire in the following style:

"I ought to be ashamed of myself and I am ashamed of myself. I know I am a disgrace to the family and if I keep on in my evil course I will come to a bad end. It is an awful thing for a boy like me to smoke because I will never grow up and that dreadful nico—" Here the boy looked up and found himself alone. His grandmother hasn't spoken to him since and he now smokes his pipe in peace in the back yard.

Government experts pronounce Dr. Price's baking powder the purest and best.

HE WANTS IT SETTLED.

Is Tired of Delay on the Water Question.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am not one of those who believe that whether or no we should buy the water plant. I believe that we should build, and I do not admit that the arguments advanced against an independent system are sound, but I intend to vote next Tuesday for the purchase and for the reason that I have good ground to believe that many who are prominent among those who advocate the independent system are not honest in what they say.

The opposition to a new plant, in case the people should decide in favor of it, would come from among those who are now crying build with all the power of their lungs. I want the water question settled. I want the water mains extended so that I can have the benefit of the system, and I want this without delay. I have been waiting ten years for the company to give up and to get the plant on our own terms, and now I think I have waited long enough. The men who say they want to build, many of them, only want to gain time, and I have time enough of my own. I want something done and want it done this winter. That is why my vote tomorrow will be given in favor of the purchase, and it is why many will vote with me.

MURPHY AND GALLAGHER.

Tonight at the Parlor theater Jimmy Murphy and Bob Gallagher are to meet in a contest of twenty-three rounds or more, and a good fight is looked for. Both men are in the best of conditions, and they will be able to give each other a hard rub, and the spectators much amusement. Mart Mullin, a Cleveland sporting man, and Gallagher's backer, arrived Saturday evening, and Reddy Gallagher arrived today to second his brother.

MARINE MATTERS.

Schooner Struck a Rock and Went to Pieces.

St. Ignace, Mich., [Sept. 23.—The schooner C. H. Johnson, of Cleveland, owned by Capt. Henderson, struck a rock near Grassnop about 2 o'clock this morning and went to pieces. She was bound with building stone and was being towed from Portage Entry to Chicago, her crew were all saved. A terrible gale was blowing from the south.

BIG FREIGHT STEAMERS RACE.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 23.—A most sensational steamer race was concluded on Lake Superior Saturday morning. The big steamers S. S. Curry and Merida, duplicates, and among the largest freight carriers on the lakes, passed through the Sault canal Friday morning at 7:30, and for forty-five minutes sped away alongside of each other to settle a long dispute as to which is the speediest. The Curry arrived at Ashland Saturday morning at 5:30, the Merida five hours later. The time of the Curry was twenty-one hours and forty-five minutes, breaking all previous Lake Superior speed records.

THROUGH PORTAGE CANAL.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 23.—The steamer North West passed east through Portage entry Friday evening, instead of turning back from Hancock and rounding Keweenaw point. The passage was made without difficulty. The North West is the first large craft to pass through Portage entry since the recent improvements were completed, and vessels passing through the American Sault canal can pass through Portage lake canal from end to end without danger of grounding.

The new steel steamer Yale, owned by R. R. Rhodes, is in port for her load of grain. Her capacity is from 115,000 to 120,000 bushels, but boats of that capacity are getting to be so common as to be unworthy of especial notice.

USEFUL LIFE ENDED.

Death of Mrs. J. H. Brown in Duluth Today.

Mrs. J. H. Brown, of Springfield, Ill., died this morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. W. C. Sherwood, where she has been spending the summer. She was 72 years of age and leaves one son, John T. Grimsley, also of Springfield, who was with her at her death. The remains will be taken to Springfield for burial on the Omaha train at 5:40 o'clock this afternoon. There was a short prayer service conducted by Dr. Cleland, a cousin of the deceased, at the house. The pall bearers were A. R. Macfarlane, F. W. Spellman, T. H. Cleland and S. T. Harrison. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sherwood and Mr. Grimsley accompanied the remains. The funeral will be from the Third Presbyterian church of Springfield.

Mrs. Brown was a woman whose admirable qualities and ability have been made manifest in many directions. She was for fifty years a teacher in Sunday schools and had a large class in Springfield at the time of her death. She was president of the Woman's Foreign Mission society of Illinois and had been very prominent in missionary work in that state. Mrs. Brown was a relative of Abraham Lincoln and was a bridesmaid at his wedding. During the trying period of the civil war she was a member of his household. Just before her last sickness she completed a work entitled "Reminiscences of the White House" which she forwarded to Robert T. Lincoln for review. It will be published in McClure's Magazine in 1896.

HOLMES ARRAIGNED.

Plead Not Guilty to Benjamin Pietzel's Murder.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—Herman Mudget, alias H. H. Holmes, was arraigned before Judge Finletter, in the court of oyer and terminer today, on the indictment charging him with the murder of Benjamin Pietzel. Upon the advice of his counsel, the prisoner pleaded not guilty. District Attorney Graham asked that Monday, Oct. 5, be fixed for the trial.

After a full hearing Judge Finletter said he considered that date would give the defense sufficient time to prepare their case, and ordered that the trial be set down for that way with the understanding that when the time arrived neither side could expect to come into court and obtain a continuance on paltry excuses.

CATHOLIC YOUNG MEN.

Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—The Atlantic jurisdiction of the Young Men's institute, a Catholic fraternal organization, with a membership of 20,000, met in annual convention at Masonic hall, in this city, this afternoon. Besides the 200 accredited delegates, there are about 200 visiting members. The entire body attended mass today.

SOUTHWESTERN FROSTS.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 23.—Specials to the Star indicate a general frost fell over the Southwest last night. At Great Bend, Kan., a heavy frost fell, but no damage was done. At Axtell, Kan., a much needed rain which fell yesterday was followed by a heavy frost last night. The cold wave struck Clinton, Mo., late yesterday afternoon, the thermometer falling 40 degrees in four hours, and was followed by frost at night.

MAILS WELL FUMIGATED.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Postmaster Coffin, at San Francisco, has notified Superintendent Brooks, of the foreign mail division of the postoffice department, that the foreign mails arriving by the Gaelic from Hong Kong and Yokohama were fumigated in bulk, and the bags then opened and the contents fumigated a second time. Superintendent Brooks says that the quarantine regulations are so thorough that there is no danger of contagion being introduced through the mails.

Lazarus Silverman of Chicago Says Building Bonds Can be Sold.

Would be Difficult for the City to Sell Extension Bonds.

N. J. Upham Will Guarantee to Place the Bonds for Building.

Lazarus Silverman, the well known Chicago millionaire, is in the city looking after his interests in this vicinity which are very large. He arrived yesterday. Mr. Silverman has lived in Chicago ever since it was a city much smaller than Duluth and no man in that great metropolis stands higher in public estimation for honesty and integrity. In the panic of 1893 while he was absent in New York his bank, temporarily embarrassed for cash, was closed and a receiver was appointed to take charge of his affairs. Mr. Silverman went to the First National bank, of Chicago, with an inventory of his property and secured a loan of $750,000. In seven months from the time the receiver was appointed he had bought up every dollar of his indebtedness and went before the court and asked and obtained the discharge of the receiver.

This is the man who was approached today by a Herald reporter and asked his opinion on the water purchase matter and the ability of the city to negotiate its bonds. Mr. Silverman is no longer in the banking business but devotes his time to looking after his securities. He has been engaged in the latter business for many years. The careful manner in which he made inquiries as to the situation before asked for his opinion was sufficient to show that he was entirely unprejudiced. He was informed that the claim is made that the city will not be able to float bonds for the building of an independent plant.

CAN PLACE THEM EASILY.

"If I am correctly informed," answered he, "your courts have given you the right to construct a plant and to issue water bonds over and above the 5 per cent limitation. If that is true I will say that I could place every cent of the bonds without any trouble at all. They would have a double security, being a part of the general city indebtedness and a lien on the plant to be built and they would sell anywhere. No sir, you will have no trouble in placing them."

"In the event of purchase there will be an issue of $1,856,000 and another issue of $850,000 for extensions. What do you think of that?" was asked.

"Why, it would be pretty hard work to float the second lot, for they would be really second mortgage bonds and would be regarded as such. If the purchase bonds were only $1,500,000 and the extension bonds $500,000 you would still have trouble in floating the last lot because of the manner in which second mortgage bonds are regarded.

IT WOULD BE SUICIDAL.

"Now I will say something further. I understand that the proposition is to purchase for $1,856,000 a plant which you must practically rebuild when you get it —a 12-inch main plant totally inadequate for the city—and that you can build a new one for $1,000,000 or less. If that be true it is simply suicide for the city to vote to buy.

"If the city goes ahead with its new plant it should ignore the old company entirely, putting in connections everywhere it can regardless of whether the property owners are using the company's water or not. Now I know whereof I speak for I have lived in Chicago ever since it had 30,000 people and have seen all of its fights with the corporations holding municipal franchises."

FROM N. J. UPHAM.

N. J. Upham, to whom the building bonds were sold by the city over a year ago, was seen by a Herald reporter today and asked what he thought of Mr. Munger's letter to bond buyers and replies. Mr. Upham said:

"The letter of Mr. Munger did not give the information concerning population, valuation, indebtedness, legal provisions and court decisions that bond houses would require in order to give an intelligent opinion. All replies show this. Then out of the twelve letters, nine houses do not handle bonds of this class, but do a general banking and stock business. Not one of them ever bid for Duluth bonds at any bond sale to my knowledge. Of the remaining three the city had a controversy with N. W. Harris & Co. and even they do not say the bonds will not sell but that conditions would alter the matter. Blair & Co. purchased the bonds that were to be issued by the city for the purchase of the old plant before the supreme court's decision. At the time it was generally supposed both by parties here and bond houses that they were buying in connection with the gas and water company or Mr. Belknap. Their representative was in Duluth and Superior off and on for several weeks at that time, and had some negotiations with Mr. Belknap, I understand, for refunding the indebtedness of Superior. They are a thoroughly responsible house and would not say the bonds would not be sold. The last of the three actual dealers in this class of bonds do not commit themselves excepting that they do not think their customers would buy."

"Did you not sell for the city the $800,000 of 5 per cent bonds in May, 1894, which were to be issued for a competing plant and which were restrained by the district court and the deal thus prevented?"

"We had our negotiations concluded and had the bonds engraved at our own expense to hurry the sale. Had the decision been otherwise the city would have had its money as soon as the bonds could have been signed."

"Do you think bonds now can be sold for a competing plant?"

"I have no doubt of it, and at a much lower rate than 5 per cent."

"Why a lower rate?"

"Because changes were made in some state laws in the East last winter allowing Duluth bonds to be purchased by savings banks where heretofore they were prohibited, said banks buying bonds paying lower interest because of their legal restrictions. Then municipal bonds are bringing higher prices now than a year ago."

"Would you undertake to buy these bonds at 4½ per cent or less?"

"I would most certainly and pay a premium, and in conjunction with an Eastern house give the city any guarantee required in certified checks or bonds to fulfill our contract."

Insurgents Routed With a Small Loss.

Havana, Sept. 23.—News has been received here of a desperate fight at Nenfle, near Palma Sola, province of Santa Clara, between 200 insurgents led by Bermudez and Feites, and a detachment of government cavalry under Capt. Restira. The vanguard of the cavalry, consisting of a sergeant and several privates, were first surrounded by the insurgents and in the engagement every one of the vanguard was killed.

By this time Capt. Restira with the main body of cavalrymen, thirty in number, came up and engaged the insurgents whom they forced to retreat leaving three dead on the field. Their wounded they carried off with them when they retreated. It is reported that the insurgent chief, Joaquin Roque, has been wounded in an engagement with government troops.

JENKINS CLAIMS JURISDICTION.

Milwaukee, Sept. 23.—All doubts of the intention of Judge Jenkins to maintain jurisdiction over the Northern Pacific receivership, and the receivers acknowledging his jurisdiction, and disregarding the order of the Seattle court were removed today when Judge Jenkins entered an order requiring all parties with preferential claims arising from the receivers operation of the Illinois Central lines and the terminal properties in Chicago to make answer to a petition of the receivers regarding the adjustment of the claims by Nov. 1.

HENRY WOOLSON MORSE.

Aptitude for more than one of the artistic professions, keen practical ability for the business side of an artist's career, slight physical strength and indomitable perseverance are the most prominent traits of the character of Henry Woolson Morse, the composer of "Wang," "Panjandrum" and "Cinderella at School," says the Ladies' Home Journal.

Mr. Morse, who was of New England parentage, was born in Charles street, Boston, on Feb. 21, 1856. His mother was, before her marriage to Charles R. Morse, Mary A. Judkins, a member of one of the oldest of New England's families. Young Morse was educated first at the primary and grammar schools of Boston, completing his secular education at the famous Chauncey Hall school in that city. Leaving this institution and feeling that he had some natural talent for artistic designing, he took a course in carpet designing at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Later he accepted a position in a large carpet house, where he remained for a couple of years as chief designer, and where he developed or discovered the practical and business side of his artistic nature. Becoming strongly imbued with a love of art, Mr. Morse determined to make designing but the first step in his career of artist, and entered the studio of William Hunt, with whom he remained for two years. Thence he went to Paris, where he studied with Gerome and Cabanel at the Ecole des Beaux Arts for two and a half years. Returning to America, Mr. Morse almost abandoned his chosen vocation because of family opposition. Meanwhile his musical development was forcing itself.

HIS COMPUTATION.

Washington Star: "Arabella has a great many freckles," said that young woman's mother.

"Yes," replied the man who was figuring up his summer resort expenses, "she got 'em all at the seashore."

"I suppose so. I didn't know you took so much interest in Arabella's complexion."

"Interest? Why, I studied that girl's face for twenty minutes yesterday. She has just sixteen freckles, and they cost me exactly $53.29 apiece."

FINANCE

Investment and Speculative Interests Affected By the Gold Exports.

Uncertainty As to the Gold Reserve Has "Shocked" Wall Street.

Hope That Some Means May Be Found To Apply a Remedy.

New York, Sept. 23.—Henry Clews says in his weekly financial review: The investment and speculative interests have been held in suspense by the gold exports and the uncertainty as to what may be done to maintain the treasury gold reserve. It has been somewhat of a shock that the "true gold" in the treasury has fallen materially below the official minimum, and without compensation from the syndicate. There have been several contributions of gold from various points to the interior, which have had an assuring effect so far as they show the disposition of financial institutions outside of New York to help the treasury according to their ability; and this assurance is worth the more because the amount of gold scattered among banks and trust companies at interior points is unprecedentedly large; and could the gold which has been thus diverted from its former usual resting place in the metropolitan banks and the sub-treasury be systematically gathered together, so as to afford a mass of 30,000,000 or 40,000,000, to aid the banks and the treasury in resuming gold payments with other as formerly, then the scattered treasure might most materially help towards a permanent remedy of the treasury's difficulties. But these casual and partial contributions from the sources alluded to are quickly lost to sight in the export maelstrom and their benefit is only a small moral gain.

The really disconcerting fact is that there is still an absence of any sort of intimation as to what steps are likely to be taken for staying the new current shipments of specie and to provide for the outflow that usually sets in early in the new year. Under such circumstances, opinion has inclined to the conclusion that the government is likely to issue, sooner or later, a new loan, and the more so because the president is known to be resolved to take that course should the reserve fall to 75,000,000. Such a course, no matter how necessary, would be regarded as a serious misfortune and could not fail to have a chilling effect in every department of business. This possibility has already had its effect; and yet discouragement is tempered with the hope that, at the eleventh hour, some means may be found for applying a real and permanent remedy.

This week the syndicate and their friends are understood to have co-operated for keeping down the gold shipments as low as possible and no doubt have done their best in that direction. In the meantime there is little export of cotton; and wheat, though advancing in price, is for that very reason the less likely to be shipped; Chicago, however, is notably increasing its supply of grain export bills, and rates of exchange are easier in consequence. There is substantial reason for expecteing that the export of specie may soon be checked, if not stopped, through the course of the money market. The shipments of gold and the forwarding of large amounts of currency to the West and South are together reducing the reserves of the city banks to an extent that may early put up the rate for call loans to 40@5 per cent. This, with gold flowing freely into the Bank of England and 2 per cent discount at bank and ¼ per cent on call loans, will quickly dispose London bankers to allow funds to accumulate here instead of continuing to accept our gold in settlements. Upon the whole, therefore, the indications of the moment suggest a strong probability of an early abatement of the exports of gold; and this produced a marked improvement of feeling in stock towards the end of the week. Of the intentions of the syndicate little is known. They recently nounced that they considered their engagements with the treasury fully completed, but intimated that it is their purpose to voluntarily contribute gold for an indefinite future period. Some further help from that source may therefore be anticipated, if needed.

The recent heavy break in stocks has proven to be a good thing for the market as it forced stocks from feeble hands into stronger ones, and such as are capable of not only sustaining but advancing prices, besides imparting more activity. The St. Paul statement of earnings, showing an increase of $86,000 over the corresponding date last year, was really the turning point in Monday's deluge, as the Grangers were the most vulnerable part of the market, and yielded readily to the attacks, which were very savage. There is a good deal that indicates the possibility of another bond issue. Such a negotiation is not yet positive, although quite likely before congress convenes. The advance of 2 cents in wheat from the lowest prices is a favorable feature in the situation, especially for the St. Paul road, which has most to do with the spring wheat crop. The attitude of London towards international American stocks has been disappointing. It is easily accounted for, however, by the craze attending the Kaffir diamond and gold stocks. Such a wild frenzy of speculation in doubtful properties has not been witnessed in Europe since the Panama ditch speculation in France. It is to be feared that the collapse in the Kaffirs may not unlikely turn out to be as disastrous to the holders who overstay their market as in the case of the Panama canal deal; and when that time comes American securities will doubtless again take their position in the London market as favorites. The difficulty at the present time is that the ups and downs of American securities range within only a few points from week to week, which make them comparatively tame to deal in as compared to the inducements for operating in the Kaffirs which frequently provide for a profit of several hundred per cent within a few days.

The market is full of cough mixtures, but one trouble with most of them is that when they do a little good the patient has to take so much that he gets to loathe the taste. The Pineola Balsam is superior to other cough remedies because it is agreeable to the palate and its good effects are immediate. In a few days an ordinary cough is gone altogether. Bronchitis and asthma are more stubborn, but they too are cured by Ely's Pineola Balsam. A remedy worth trying. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.

ABDUCTED

Attempt To Recover Their Children Made Saturday By the Wrights.

They Were at the Home in Custody of the Court.

The Wrights Made a Hard Struggle When the Police Arrived.

The sensational abduction of two children under the custody of the probate court by the parents, from whose care they had been taken, and the subsequent recovery of the children after an exciting struggle, occupied the attention of the police Saturday night. Walter Wright and his wife, both of whom have figured in the police court in the past, were the principal actors in the affair.

Up to about two years ago the Wrights lived in Duluth and were noted chiefly for their fondness for liquor. At that time Wright's father, who was an innkeeper, died in England and left $6000 to the two Wright children, Queenie and Walter, who were at that time 6 and 8 years old respectively. The children were taken from their parents by Probate Judge Ayer, who appointed as guardians Judge Davies and Bishop Perkins. The wards of the court were then placed in the Women's Home, Seventeenth avenue east and Superior street, where they have been kept ever since. Shortly after this disposition of the children was made the Wrights left for San Francisco, but returned a few weeks ago and took apartments on West Second street.

The officials of the home were unaware of the return of the parents, and Matron Cormany permitted the children to go upon the streets without special provision, as there was no fear of an abduction entertained.

Saturday noon the children were sent on an errand, and were met on the street by Wright, who had been hovering in the vicinity of the home for several days. He found no difficulty in persuading the little ones to accompany him home.

ATTACKED THE OFFICERS.

When the children did not return, Matron Cormany notified Chief Armstrong of their disappearance, and Sergt. Kenna and Detective Benson were detailed on the case. The children were found late Saturday night and returned to the home. Wright and his wife made a vigorous defence and attempted to choke Detective Benson, who took the man to the station, where he was booked on a charge of using obscene language.

He was released by the chief Sunday morning, and this morning, while the municipal court was in session, rushed up to Judge Edson and, in a dramatic manner, demanded Benson's arrest, claiming he had robbed him of his children and also assaulted him. Wright was referred to Assistant City Attorney Benham, who refused to issue a complaint.

Judge Ayer claims that Wright has been patrolling the neighborhood of his residence, evidently with the intent of attacking him and Judge Davies says he has been under similar surveillance.

ROYAL Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

A PECULIAR CASE.

Suit to Recover for Damages to a Yard.

It is not often that a clothesline case gets into such a dignified tribunal as the district court, as the municipal court is usually sufficient. But one was brought in district court this morning by Amund and Mathilda Olson against Fredin & Wilson. The plaintiffs complaining of the defendants say that they are the owners of a lot in the West End which has for several years been their home. It is surrounded by a little space which is well adapted for a play ground for the children whose health is poor and who need outdoor play and exercise. This ground is also useful for stretching clotheslines and there is also situated there a well of good water. During the summer the defendants began the construction of a building near by and then the wrongs of which the plaintiffs complain began.

It is alleged that Fredin & Wilson piled rocks and debris all over the premises, drove heavy teams over it, cut the clotheslines and destroyed the sods and walks, and committed other indignities. When invited off the premises defendants' servants only laughed and reviled. This destroyed the usefulness of the yard as a play ground, which has undermined the health of the children, and for this $1000 is asked.

It is further alleged that the defendants caused mortar, sand and dust to fall from the new building and render the Olson home unfit for habitation and for this the further sum of $1000. An offensive privy was built near the house and eight feet from the well, and for the ill health and annoyance and the loss of the well $2000 is asked, making $4000 in all. John Rustgard brings the suit.

Judge Morris has granted Frank D. Hunter a divorce from Margaret Hunter on the grounds of desertion. They were married in Bay City, Mich., in October, 1889, and Margaret Hunter deserted her husband in July, 1892.

MEETING ON THE HEIGHTS.

At Duluth Heights on Saturday evening the friends of the purchase proposition held a meeting at which about thirty were present. Col. Harris and J. W. Nichols were the speakers. The people in the audience were there to be enlightened as was shown by the frequent questions put to the speakers. These disconcerted the two gentlemen not a little in some instances and they found the inquiries pretty hard to answer.

The Duluth Music company have just sold one of the leading physicians of the city a beautiful Steinway piano.

PLAINTIFF IS INSANE.

A Case Which Involves an Interesting Point.

An odd set of legal complications existed before Judge Moer this morning in the case of Thomas J. Hawkins against the Eastern Minnesota railroad to recover $25,000 for personal injuries. Hawkins was a brakeman in the employ of the company. While working under a disabled car at Hinckley the train started up and his arm was caught and crushed. His injuries resulted in insanity, and he is now in the insane asylum hospital at Oshkosh.

In answer to the suit the company claims that it secured a release of all claims from Hawkins. In reply Hawkins claims that the release was obtained while he was insane, and therefore it is void. When the case came to trial this morning Cy Wellington, for the company, claimed that as the plaintiff was insane he could not maintain his action.

S. D. Allen, Hawkins' attorney, claimed that Hawkins had never been adjudged insane. His insanity is intermittent, and during a lucid interval he gave his case to Allen & Baldwin in view of possible contingencies. He asserted that Hawkins' case could proceed, even though he is at present insane. As the plaintiff is a resident of another state the company's attorney desired a bond for costs, and then wanted to know how Hawkins, being insane, could execute a bond.

The point is a delicate one, and it is being argued this afternoon. In case Judge Moer decides that Hawkins cannot maintain his case a guardian will be necessary.

The case of Andrew Hedeen against the Duluth Manufacturing company was given to the jury this morning by Judge Moer, and before the noon adjournment a verdict for $2500 was returned. The suit was to recover $10,000 for personal injuries.

Before Judge Morris the case of W. A. Cant and J. H. Brigham against D. J. McDonnell, to recover for professional services was still on trial. The case of the White Sewing Machine company against J. D. Miller et al was still on before Judge Ensign at noon.

Owing to the fact that tomorrow is election day it was decided this morning to hold no court.

HOUSE BREAKERS.

Gang of Them at Work at the East End.

A gang of house breakers operated extensively at the East End and Lester Park Saturday night and startled the neighborhood with the boldness of their actions. The residence of S. T. Harrison at the East End was entered shortly after midnight by means of a window which had been left unlocked. The thieves carried off about a hundred pounds of silverware and china. Mr. Harrison did not discover his loss until the next morning.

The next house visited was that of T. W. Lemieux, 2426 East First street, where everything was ransacked without awakening the occupants. Here a number of silver forks were appropriated by the house breakers.

Emboldened by their successes the thieves entered the residence of Harry Mee, at 2125 East Superior street, but were frightened away by some one passing the house. Three houses at Lester Park were also entered the same evening. Nothing of value was taken.

In each case entrance was obtained by means of the window and Chief Armstrong thinks the robberies were committed by experts. It would be a good plan for house holders to see that their windows and doors are securely fastened.

WERE AGAIN HELD.

The Two Pickpockets Had Their Examination Today.

Peter Googan and John Redmond, the two alleged pickpockets arrested Decoration day by Detective Benson and who were released from the county jail Saturday on a writ of habeas corpus, were arraigned for the second time this morning in the municipal court on charges of grand larceny and attempting to escape from the custody of Officer Wayland.

As the men were being taken back to their cells after the previous examination they made a desperate break for liberty and were only captured after a hard chase. Officer Wayland and Chief Armstrong, who recaptured one of the men, testified as to the attempted escape and the testimony on the pocket picking charge was again gone over. Judge Edson held the men to the grand jury on both charges fixing the bonds at $500 each.

BURNED THE WIRES.

During the severe storm of Sunday night the wind and rain together effected a "cross" between a live electric light wire and the Duluth Telephone company's wires. It didn't take a moment for over a hundred wires to be rendered useless. Early Monday morning a large force of extra and regular linemen was put at work and fifty-five wires were again in order by 12:30. The balance of the damaged lines were restored at 3:30.

NO PROSECUTION.

When the case of James Gallagher alias Murphy was called this morning in the municipal court the prosecuting witness, Mrs. Ralston, of 123 West First street, from whom Gallagher is alleged to have stolen six chickens failed to appear. The case was dismissed on motion of the city attorney. Judge Boyle read Gallagher a severe lesson and warned him to get out of town at once.

OSBORNE ALL RIGHT.

W. H. Holden writes to The Herald from Grand Marais, Mich., in regard to the report that Frank Osborne had skipped out leaving unpaid the men working on the government contract there. Mr. Holden says: "Osborne is here and the bills are paid. Osborne is not the contractor on government work. I am the person who has the contract."

Cloth Jackets and Capes.

Every day, every freight, every express train brings additions to our already immense assortment of Cloth Coats and Capes. To commence to describe the new ideas of stylish sleeves, backs and fronts would require more room than is allotted to us. All we can say is that you must see for yourself to be able to feast on the beautiful features of our stylish coats—they are so different from anything brought out before—different in material—different in the sleeve—different in the back—different in the front—different in the length; and most prominently are our PRICES MUCH LOWER THAN ELSEWHERE.

THE POLICE COURT.

Several Drunks Arraigned Before Judge Boyle Today.

Nels Deshen, when called upon by Judge Boyle this morning in the municipal court, pleaded the fact of his having a wife and five children as an extenuation for getting drunk Saturday night. His honor could not see the connection and Nels was given a chance to moralize ten days in the county jail.

As a fighting man Patrick Mahone was a howling success last night, but in court this morning he did not amount to shucks. Patrick has been living in Duluth for fourteen years and this summer is working out at Deerwood. He came in to the city Saturday night to get some clothes. Before doing so, however, he placed himself in the hands of his friends, who bought him all sorts of liquor. In inflicting a sentence of $10 and costs, Judge Boyle remarked that he hoped there would be another fourteen years between drunks.

John O'Heron presented a decidedly boyish appearance as he stood before the judge this morning charged with drunkenness. He pleaded guilty, and then started on a lengthy recital of his wrongs. John has an impediment in his speech and his otherwise honeyed words failed to soften the judge. When he finally completed his tale by pleading guilty, a sentence of $10 and costs was all ready for him.

West Superior Representative James Kenny had but little to say in reply to a disorderly charge. The other man struck him first, and he had merely hit back. His assailant succeeded in escaping. His fun was estimated by the court as being fully worth $7 and costs.

The police say Mike Durkin is a vagrant, but he informed the court they are very much mistaken. He works on a ship and only came ashore to get medicine. His case was set for hearing this afternoon to allow the officer who made the arrest to be present.

ASSAULT IS CHARGED.

In the municipal court this morning E. F. Gross was arraigned on the complaint of G. B. Sherer, who charges him with assault. According to the complaint the two men met Sunday night in front of 358 St. Croix avenue and mixed all up on the sidewalk at Gross' invitation, which was a forcible one delivered in the face. The case was set for hearing this afternoon, with bail fixed at $20.

The Secrets Of Our Success....

To be successful one must be useful to people. We claim to be useful to a good many people every day by selling them good, reliable goods at very reasonable prices and treating every person fairly and honorably under all circumstances.

Cash

Is necessary to gain success and we have it and can go into the markets at any time and pick up snaps and bargains which make our prices way down. We only ask a little cash down from our customers when they buy of us, however, and then a little each month for a while.

Carloads

Are a great feature in price saving and if you will step into any railway office in town and ask which retail house in Duluth receives the most carloads, they will tell you French & Bassett.

Courage

Is probably the most important of these three elements of success and if you don't think we possess it, come in and see the enormous stock we have and the low prices placed upon it. It takes lots of customers to keep such a stock moving and we know the only way to get and keep customers is through the force of low prices.

Select what you want, pay a little down, and arrange the balance to suit your convenience.

SPOONER WAKING UP.

Murder and Burglary Inside of a Week.

Shell Lake, Wis., Sept. 24.—Spooner is on record with a murder and a burglary inside of a week. Yesterday morning the hardware store of Ed Murphy there was broken into, the safe blown open and about $1000 taken away. It was evidently the work of amateurs. They furnished themselves with tools from the hardware stock and broke the safe lock.

The safe door was blown about twenty feet and damaged the front of the building. It happened about 2 o'clock this morning, and it is thought that the robbers took the down train. No clue is had to the perpetrators. The county has offered a $200 reward in the Butero case.

OSCAR WILDE'S DEBTS.

London, Sept. 24.—In a hearing of the Oscar Wilde bankruptcy case today, counsel for Mr. Wilde stated that his debts amounted to £3591 and that there were no assets. Several friends, it was stated, had subscribed a sufficient sum to pay all claims against Mr. Wilde except that of the largest creditor, who is a personal friend of the debtor. The examination was adjourned until Nov. 12.

NEWMARKET RACES.

Newmarket, Eng., Sept. 24.—The Newmarket Oct. 1 meeting opened today, and among the events was the triennial stake, for which only three horses ran. Lord Durham's Son of Mine won; Charles Day Rose's entry, St. Hillare, second; Mr. Rose's Distant Shore, third.

WILL DEPOSIT GOLD.

New York, Sept. 24.—A private dispatch from Philadelphia received here says that the local banks have offered to deposit $1,500,000 gold in the treasury.

WILL CLEAN WHEAT.

North Dakota People Tired of Paying for Dirt.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 24.—There is a movement now to build two large elevators in Fargo to clean wheat, and similar buildings are to be erected at Grand Forks and Wahpeton. North Dakotans have become tired of paying freight on dirt to Duluth and Minneapolis, and at the same time leaving the grading of wheat to Minnesota inspectors. Half of the money for the Fargo elevators is already subscribed, and there will be no trouble in securing the balance. Some monied men are behind the affair and will make it a success. It is estimated that enough can be saved on freight rates to more than pay for cleaning wheat, and great gain will be made in grades.

HORSE RACING BY ELECTRICITY.

San Francisco, Sept. 24.—When the new race track at Ingleside is opened, next November, an Australian starting machine will take the place of a man with a red flag. One of the machines was recently imported from Australia where they are now in general vogue and give marked satisfaction. The timing will be done by electricity, an automatic indicator placed above the timers stand will display the time made to every quarter as the horses pass the pole.

INFANTRY MOVEMENTS.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 24.—Three companies of the Seventh United States infantry left here at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon by special train for Columbus barracks, Ohio. Two companies of the infantry, reached here from Fort Niobrara, Neb., on Saturday night and will be permanently quartered at Fort Russell.

SYRACUSE

Democrats of New York Meet in State Convention Today.

Perry Belmont, Selected for Temperory Chairman, Makes a Speech.

Tammany Men Contest Fifteen Seats of the New York Delegates.

Convention Hall, Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Cool, bracing weather and bright skies greeted the members and boomers of the state convention when they arose this morning. Nearly everybody was astir early for the announcement that there would be a meeting of the state committee at which the New York contestants would be decided kept alive the interest.

By 11 o'clock the principal interest centered about the Yates house where the state committee was to meet. Senator Hill was ready quite early, but Chairman Hinckley and some of the others were tardy in coming to the convention hall, but the result was at 10 o'clock the committee had got together. The session began soon after that hour and lasted just six minutes, and the only business transacted was the adoption of a resolution that the committee be increased to fifty members. The resolution provides that there shall be one state committeeman from each senatorial district, making fifty in all, instead of thirty-four as now.

The convention was finally called to order at 12:25 by Chairman Hinckley, of the state committee. After a few preliminary remarks by various persons Perry Belmont was selected as temporary chairman and on taking the chair spoke as follows:

"The selection of your presiding officer as an act of partiality. I am sensible to your kindness, and accepting most gratefully the honor you have done me, I ask your indulgence in the performance of my duties." Mr. Belmont then went to speak of the conditions of this year as compared with those of last year, saying that the political stars were much brighter this fall. He paid a compliment to Senator Hill saying: "The swift changes of party power in this state encourage us not to be without hope, notwithstanding recent adverse events.

"Much will," he said, "depend on the way we appreciate the lessons of last November." On the subject of excise, Mr. Belmont said: "As to our excise, there is need of immediate reform. Recent misconstructions of their provisions coupled with harsh, arbitrary and unintelligent enforcement thereof, have rendered it absolutely necessary to legislate in order to prevent the repetition of such official tyranny and absurdity. The preachers and the churches, the brewers and the saloons should together, formulate, vote for and enforce a reasonable excise law. Sobriety is very important, but not more important than is personal freedom for sober men to buy, eat and drink and do what pleases them, if it does not infringe on the rights of others."

Mr. Belmont quoted several sections of the platform written by Governor Seymour. On financial questions, Mr. Belmont declared that the New York Democracy has always been for "sound money." The speaker concluded with a denunciation of the late Republican legislature.

Mr. Belmont finished speaking amid much applause at 12:45. Secretary De Freest began the reading of the temporary roll call immediately. The names of Flower, Sheppard, Bell and Bissell were cheered. Contrary to expectations, when the New York district was reached there was no public notice of a contest until the clerk had read the entire Tammany delegation. During the reading the Tammany men looked at each other as if amazed at the lack of contest, but the amazement was ended when, just as the clerk started Niagara, ex-Secretary Charles Fairchild rose and said: "I present a contest for thirty-five seats held by the New York delegation."

There was a burst of applause that lasted for some minutes, and the chairman said: "Referred to the committee on contested seats when appointed." In Queen's county ex-Mayor Gleason made notice of a contest, and when Richmond was called a delegate said that the contesting delegations there had agreed upon the same representation as had been agreed upon in King's county. Referred to the committee on credentials. These were all the contests noted.

Congressman Sulzer moved that the rules governing the last assembly be adopted. The usual resolutions were offered in relation to the appointment of committee. Ex-Mayor Gilroy moved that when the convention adjourned it be until 10 a. m. Wednesday. The resolution was declared carried.

Just before the convention adjourned Dr. Yorke, of Buffalo, offered this resolution which was referred to the committee on platform:

"We ask of the state legislature to pass a uniform reasonable license law, with a proviso for local option, the revenue of which licenses shall go to the local poor fund of the cities and towns in the state. We further ask that the legislature amend and modify the Sunday laws now on the statute books, in such a form that the enforcement thereof will not be oppressive, nor obnoxious to any class of our people, and not prove destructive to any business interest in our state. Such laws should be in conformity with the spirit of the constitution and laws of our country that guarantee personal liberty and equal rights to all citizens. Sunday laws should designate the Sabbath as a day of devotion, rest and recreation. The provisions of the law should protect the people in their religious exercises and devotion on the Sabbath day, the sale of liquor of any kind should be prohibited in all public places during church hours and divine service."

"After 2 o'clock the day shall be made free for rest and recreation of the people in the interest of good morals and labor, as well as capital."

RECEIVERS RESIGNED.

Northern Pacific Receivers Tendered Resignations.

Milwaukee, Sept. 24.—Henry C. Payne, Thomas F. Oakes and H. C. Rouse receivers of the Northern Pacific road, tendered their resignations to Judge Jenkins late this afternoon. Judge Jenkins will take the matter under advisement and will decide on Friday, Sept. 27.

THE CHIPPEWA INDIANS.

Important Decision by Assistant Attorney General Hall.

Washington, Sept. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Assistant Attorney General Hall, of the interior department, today decided several vexed questions propounded to him by the Chippewa Indian commission which are of great importance, in view of the early opening up of the Red Lake Indian reservation. He decided that "mixed blood" Chippewas, who have received scrip under the treaties of 1863-4, cannot be excluded under the provisions of the act from its benefits, and that any Chippewa of mixed blood who was a member of the band at the date of the passage of the act of June, 1889, is entitled to an allotment in that act.

He also decided that children of an Indian woman married to a white citizen since the act of congress, Aug. 8, 1888, although born on the reservation and their mother residing there continuously and maintaining tribal relations, on account of the common law which says that offspring of a free people follow the condition of their father, must be treated the same as mixed bloods after they have abandoned their tribal relations and become citizens of the United States. This rule applies only to children born since the act of 1888.

Mr. Hall sustains the decision of his predecessor that a Chippewa Indian whose permanent home, according to the custom of his tribe, was on the Fond du Lac reservation, who was temporarily absent and had not severed his connection with that tribe, has not lost the qualifications of a member of his tribe and is entitled to the benefit of the act of 1888. He decides, however, that the Chippewa commission must determine in each individual case as to whether the Chippewa was an actual resident of Minnesota under the provisions of the act of June 14, 1889, at the date of its passage.

BELIEVES THE STORY.

What a Greely Expedition Survivor Thinks.

Redding, Cal., Sept. 24.—Maurice Connell, one of the survivors of the Greely expedition, who has charge of the weather bureau office here, when shown the dispatch from St. Johns, stating that the bones of one of his companions were found by the Peary expedition, said that it is very probable the dispatch states what is true. He says the bodies of four of the men, Pavy, Salor, Gardiner and Bender, who died during the last days, were buried in the ice, as those alive were too weak to bury them in the ground where the others were interred.

Connell said he could not understand if Peary killed ten musk oxen as stated in the dispatches why he should run short of provisions, for dogs and men, a musk ox on the average, weighs, he says, 300 pounds dressed, and ten would give Peary 3000 pounds of fresh frozen meat.

A MISSING WIDOW.

Hospital's Chances for Securing a Big Estate.

Washington, Sept. 24.—United States Consul General Pringle at Guatemala, in a report to the state department dated Aug. 31 announces the death in a hospital there on July 16 of James McCormack, a carpenter, said to have been an American citizen. He had about $150,000 or $200,000 on his person and about $800 in the International bank. The courts appointed Javier Arroyo administrator.

The law of the country obliges the legal representatives of anyone who dies in the hospital intestate to present themselves within thirty days otherwise the estate reverts to the hospital.

As the consul general was told that McCormack left a wife and some children supposed to be in England he procured from the judge a delay of three months time for the appearance of the heirs, the furthest limit permitted by the law, but he expresses fear that the time will elapse before the widow is present.

TO FREE IRELAND.

The Ball Started Rolling in Chicago Today.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Representative Irishmen from many parts of the country gathered here today in the new Y. M. C. A. hall to set on foot the new movement for Irish independence.

Among the first arrivals was Mayor Fitzpatrick, of New Orleans. Gen. M. W. Kerwin, ex-collector of the port of New York, came in with William T. Lyman, of the same city, treasurer of the Irish National league. Shortly afterward followed in a steady stream of delegates—Maurice F. Wilher, of Philadelphia; Judge Savage, California; G. W. Sweeney, of Cincinnati; James Killelea, Nashville, and others fully as well known.

No attempt was made to transact business at the opening session and at the conclusion of Mr. Finnerty's speech the convention adjourned for luncheon.

OCEAN WAYFARERS.

Liverpool, Sept. 24.—The Cunarder Aurania, which sailed for New York today, carried among her passengers M. H. De Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, and Mrs. De Young. On board the White Star liner Britannic, which sails tomorrow, will be A. H. Smith-Barry, M. P.; Mr. and Mrs. Putney-Bigelow, of New York, and Gen. Thomas Casey Lyons, C. B., governor and commander-in-chief of Bermuda.

PAPER MILLS DESTROYED.

Middletown, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Walkers & Sons' paper mills at Montgomery were destroyed by fire last night. The plant cost $125,000.

Deep Waterways Convention Assembles in Cleveland Today.

Large Number of Persons Present to Attend the Meeting.

Will be a Convention of Education in Needed Legislation.

Cleveland, Sept. 24.—It was estimated at noon that fully 500 persons had arrived to attend the first annual convention of the Deep Waterways association, which begins this afternoon. In some respects the assemblage will be the most remarkable ever gathered together. The leaders of almost every kind of business in the United States and Canada are represented among those who have arrived, all vitally interested in the subject of deep waterways.

There is a strong possibility that John D. Rockefeller will be chosen to fill the position of president. His name is deemed as a particularly strong one, as he is largely interested in the industries of the Northwest, and is deeply interested in the matter of transportation.

In speaking of the convention President Howland said: "Of course the main object of the convention has been already gained, that is the formation of a series of scientific papers that will present the question of deep waterways in a manner that will form a text book for a more popular presentation of the subjects for all future time. The burning question before the convention is that of maintaining the lake levels. So far as the Chicago drainage canal is concerned, I look upon it rather as a godsend than otherwise. When we find a variation of several feet in the levels of the lake it is hardly worth while to talk about the variations of a few inches."

Vice President Cooley, one of the directors of the drainage canal, and who has been identified with that project since it started, said: "I cannot say what action, if any, will be taken by the association. It is educational in object, and is for the purpose of better understanding what is needed, and the best way to arrive at those ends, to collect public sentiment and educate the public and to act as an incentive for legislation in the proper direction."

Among the Minnesota people already on the ground are E. V. Smalley, D. R. McGinnis, St. Paul; C. A. Towne, B. Magoffin, E. C. Gridley, George H. Crosby, A. H. Burke, S. A. Thompson, F. E. Wyman, and E. R. Brace, of Duluth; J. A. Leonard, Rochester, and A. L. Crocker, Minneapolis. The Wisconsin delegation includes Congressman Alexander Stewart, of Wausau; Congressman Michael Griffin, of Chippewa Falls; Halford Ericson, state labor commissioner; Martin Pattison, wife and niece; F. A. Flower, Kirby Thomas, Senator T. B. Mills, of Superior; J. M. Chappell, of Ashland; Senator Stout, of Menominee; J. C. Jones and William O'Neil, of Washburn; E. C. Deane, the deep water channel commissioner, of Wisconsin; ex-Governor Fairchild, of Madison; James Morgan, of Milwaukee, and Congressman Miner.

Chicago is well represented and a number of Eastern delegates are on hand. The question of the location of the next convention is being discussed. The Canadians claim the next convention and Quebec is favored by many in this case. There is some talk of getting the next convention to come to the head of the lakes, but the movement has not taken any shape as yet. Some of the Manitoba delegates say that if the next meeting goes to Lake Superior that it should be held at Port Arthur. Chicago has the lead, however, for the next convention and is likely to get it.

There is considerable talk among the delegates as to the probable appointees of the president under the law passed last winter, providing for an international commission on deep waterways. Senator Edmunds, of Vermont; L. F. Cooley, of the Chicago drainage canal board, and President Angell, of Ann Arbor, are said to be slated for the appointment. The Pittsburg delegation is here to secure recognition for a proposed ship canal to the sea via Pittsburg, using the new pneumatic locks.

It is expected that about 500 delegates will be in attendance. The expected big delegation from New York has not put in an appearance.

The Chicago delegates arrived in the city this morning, headed by President Frank Wenter, of the sanitary and ship canal. Speaking of the meeting and its probable results Mr. Wenter said: "While the Chicago canal is intended primarily for drainage purposes it will undoubtedly prove to be an important factor in commerce and transportation. In fact we believe it to be in harmony with the very objects sought to be gained by the deep water association. When the matter is thoroughly explained and understood by the delegates we feel confident that there will be no step taken which will be detrimental to the canal."

B. A. Eckhardt, chairman of the sanitary district of Chicago, stated today that he finds a general sentiment among the delegates to the effect that the Chicago canal will not affect the lake levels. The Chicago people have fitted up a room with maps and photographs of the big drainage waterway, and tomorrow night Professor Randolph, who accompanied the delegation, will deliver a lecture illustrated with stereopticon views, showing and explaining the entire work indetail.

The convention was called to order in Army and Navy hall this afternoon. Mayor Robert E. McKisson delivered an address of welcome to delegates. Responses were made by E. V. Smalley, president of the St. Paul chamber of commerce, and James Fisher, of Canada. The temporary chairman was Gen. F. C. O'Brien, president of the New York dock committee, and ex-commissioner of navigation of the United States.

THE TREASURY CONDITION.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Today's treasury statement shows: Available cash balances, $182,689,968; gold reserve, $95,585,333.

THE VERMILION RANGE.

Happenings of Interest at Tower and Vicinity.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. J. Smith, of the First National bank, gave a very pleasant party in the parlors of the Vermilion hotel Saturday evening. Progressive pedro was enjoyed by the numerous guests and refreshments were served.

Postmaster Caplis, of West Duluth, passed through here Friday on his way into the northern woods for a few days' outing. He was accompanied by John M. Caplis, a former resident of Tower.

The steamer Moose, plying on Rainy lake, which has been in litigation for the past year, has been sold by Silas Robinson to Amelia Ackley, of this place.

Saturday night, while a crowd of drunken Indians were smashing things generally in the city park, Julius Diebenow a prominent citizen, who lives near there, proceeded to investigate. The natives resented his intrusion, and one of them pulled out a revolver and fired at him. Fortunately his aim was as bad as his intention, and the bullet flew wide of the mark. The fellow is well known, but has not been arrested. The day previous two Indians were arrested and fined $5 and costs each for being drunk and disorderly—extremely disorderly.

Bishop McGolrick, of Duluth, held services in St. Martin's Catholic church Sunday and confirmed a class of forty children. The church was filled to overflowing at both morning and evening services, at which the bishop delivered eloquent sermons, in the morning on "Confirmation," and in the evening on "The Temporal Power of the Pope."

During the heavy wind storm Sunday night a large scow loaded with slabs broke away from the Howe Lumber company's dock on Lake Vermilion and crashed into the tug Minnie Lamont. The latter boat was tied up at her dock and the scow crushed in several planks, sinking her in a few minutes. The boat is owned by Didos Coty and for eight years has been carrying passengers and freight on Lake Vermilion. Capt. Coty has already proceeded to raise her.

The Howe Lumber company's planer is still running, and has sufficient orders on hand to last for some time yet.

The Finnish Band and Temperance society, of Ely, passed through here Saturday on the way to Virginia, where they gave a play in their native tongue. Ely has three bands, each of them much superior to the usual ones found in small places.

County Clerk Owens and family returned last evening from a two weeks' outing on Lake Vermilion. Many Towerites visited their delightful camp on Pine island—Craig-y-nos.

Ed Ward escorted a hunting party consisting of Robert W. Patton, of Chicago, Rev. C. Patton and A. B. Siewert, of Duluth, which left for the Rainy Lake district Tuesday. They will return in about three weeks.

CATHOLIC YOUNG MEN.

Twenty-fourth Annual Convention in Session.

St. Louis, Sept. 24.—The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Catholic Young Men's National union held its opening session at Memorial hall this forenoon. After assembling the delegates marched in a body to St. John's church, where pontifical high mass was celebrated by Archbishop Kane. At the conclusion of the service they returned to the hall where addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Wallbridge, Archbishop Kane and George Booth, president of the Merchants exchange.

The remainder of today's session was taken up with the reading of papers: "What We Might Leave for Others," by Charles A. Webber, of Brooklyn; "What the National Union Can Do," by R. Graham, St. Louis; "The Great Field of the West," Rev. G. M. Wilson, Terre Haute, Ind. This evening will be Catholic Young Men's union night at the exposition, which they will attend in a body.

AMERICA'S CUP.

English Papers Discuss the Latest Challenge.

London, Sept. 24.—The Times today says there is no ground whatever for the assumption which has been hastily made by a portion of the American press that Charles D. Rose intended by his challenge for the America's cup to in any way convey an impression of disapproval of the course of the earl of Dunraven in the matter of the Defender-Valkyrie races.

The Evening Standard says that "the announcement that Mr. Rose has challenged for the America's cup will create the same dissatisfaction here that it is said to have produced at New York. There was every reason to hope that the British yachtsman would not issue a challenge for the trophy until the unfair and illegal deed of gift should be cancelled. It seems to be a reflection on Lord Dunraven. No one grudges the notoriety that is to be gained."

FREIGHT LINES CONFER.

New York, Sept. 24.—A sub committee of the special committee of eight appointed recently to reconcile differences over the proposed new agreement to consolidate the Trunk Line and Central Traffic associations, and providing for a pool for the management of all traffic over their roads, is having an all day's session today. The result may not be made known until its plan is reported to the special committee.

KNOWN IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Minneapolis, Sept. 24.—Charles D. Rose, the Englishman who has decided to build a new challenger for the American's cup, is well known in Minneapolis business circles, owing to the fact that he is one of the English directors of the Pillsbury-Washburn Flouring Mills company and often visits this city.

COULD NOT BE CONVICTED.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 24.—E. O. Dugan, ex-mayor, and Phillip L. Miller, ex-city clerk, were discharged when their cases on the charge of forging city warrants came up for hearing. The prosecution practically admitted that they had no cases against the two men in the absence of ex-Clerk Perrin Irvine, who has not been apprehended, and who is reported to be on the Pacific ocean on his way to China.

GOLD FOR CANADA.

New York, Sept. 24.—One hundred and fifty thousand dollars in gold has been withdrawn from the sub-treasury from the Merchants bank, of Canada, of this city for shipment to Canada.

WRECKED

The Schooner A. W. Comstock Foundered In Lake Superior Last Night.

Crew of Seven Picked Up and Landed at Sault Ste. Marie.

Schooner R. T. McWilliams Sunk and the Crew Suffered Hardships.

The storms which have been raging on Lake Superior during the past three days were the worst in years. Word reached here today that the schooner A. W. Comstock, of the Viking tow, owned by J. C. Gilchrist, foundered yesterday in the storm off Stannard light, east of Keweenaw Point, with a crew of seven, all of whom were supposed to have been lost. The remainder of the tow, the Viking and the W. K. More, arrived safely at the Sault this morning. The tow left here at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon loaded with grain for Chicago. The Comstock carried 51,000 bushels of wheat shipped by the Van Dusen-Harrington company. She was a new A1* boat, and was valued at $45,000. This was her second cargo.

Later advices are that the steamer J. J. McWilliams picked up the Comstock's crew and that all were saved and have been taken to Sault Ste. Marie.

Arriving captains report the severest winds on Lake Superior for years. The J. B. Trevor and whalebacks arrived yesterday, and the Trevor's captain said that it was the first wind he ever saw that stopped the whalebacks. They were an hour trying to go against the wind, and finally had to beat off to the north shore. While they were headed into the wind he says the boats made no headway at all.

The Centurion arrived this mornig thirty hours late. The Sacramento left the Sault canal Saturday and was due here yesterday morning. She has not yet been heard from. This morning La Salle & Tomlinson, her agents, received a telegram from Ontonogon, Mich., saying that her consort, the Dundee, was there, evidently having broken away and become lost in the storm.

SCHOONER WILLIAMS SUNK.

Escanaba, Mich., Sept. 24.—The schooner T. R. Williams, iron ore laden, from this port to Toledo, sank Sunday night in the big gale on Green bay with all on board. Of the crew only the names of Capt. Hutton and Maggie Bennett, the stewardess, are known, the crew of five men being strangers here. The Williams was in tow of the steamer Santa Maria, which returned yesterday afternoon and reported the wreck. Her cargo was 570 tons of ore. She was built in 1873 and belonged to W. L. Fay, of Elyria, Ohio.

Manistique, Mich., Sept. 24.—The crew of the lost schooner E. R. Williams, which foundered in Green bay, were brought here today by the yacht Osceola. They had bee found by the yacht on Big Summer island, where they had been for twenty-four hours without food or shelter. Before the Williams foundered at 7 o'clock Monday night, between St. Martin's and Poverty island, the crew of six men and one woman and a dog succeeded in leaving the schooner in a yawl. They reached big Summer island safely after a terrible night. They were taken off at 7 o'clock this morning. The crew lost everything.

WENT TO PIECES.

Cleveland, Sept. 24.—Capt. C. Benham, owner of the schooner Queen City, received a telegram today from Mackinaw that the vessel went to pieces on Hog Island reef last night, and that the members of the crew were rescued after a terrible night in the rigging by the lifesaving crew from the Beaver Island station.

THE ALBERTA OVERDUE.

CHANGES

Plan to Put Fourth Class Postmasters in the Civil Service Ranks.

Also a Scheme to Make All Suburban Offices City Sub-Stations.

Sweeping Changes in the Methods of Selecting the Postmasters.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Both the post-office department and civil service commission are taking interest in the move to put fourth class postmasters under civil service laws. While nothing is likely to be done at present it is likely that before the end of the present administration some action will be taken. There are over 65,000 fourth class postmasters in the country and the number is constantly increasing. Of these some 2000 have salaries of less than $50 per annum, and at least half of the places where there is much greater difficulty in finding a competent and reliable person who is willing to serve, than in choosing between competitors, it is obvious that there can be no question of examination and certification in the usual civil service methods in these offices.

Several plans have been suggested and a combination of them will probably be adopted. Many of the larger fourth class offices in suburban towns, near cities have presidential postmasters. It is now the policy of the department to change these suburban offices to sub-stations of the city office when it can be done. Residents often object for fear the identity of their town may be lost. All sub-stations are under the civil service rules, the person in charge being a clerk of the city office. When a fourth class office becomes a sub-station it goes by that fact into the classified service. It is hoped that most of the reliable fourth class offices may soon be brought in by this means.

In a second class office a different method will be adpoted. All candidates will be furnished with blanks on which certain questions, in regard to the candidate's qualifications, will be asked. These must be filled by the representative citizens of the place who certify that they know the candidate and that the answers they give about him are true. The candidate making the best showing on this basis will be appointed. This matter of offices will probably remain as they are. This is the rough draft of the present idea. It will no doubt be modified somewhat before being put into practice.

WESTERN LEAGUE.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 24.—President Ban Johnson, of the Western league of base ball clubs, has prepared the following official report of the relative standing of the clubs during the season that closed on Sunday: Indianapolis, 665; St. Paul, 557; Kansas City, 584; Minneapolis, 520; Detroit, 472; Milwaukee, 469; Toledo, 419; Grand Rapids, 366.

President Johnson says that on an average the clubs made one-third more money than they did last year, also that not one of the eight clubs failed to make money. He says that there is a prospect of a change in the circuit next year—that Terre Haute will be left out and Columbus, Ohio, accepted instead.

The annual meeting of the Western Base Ball league will take place in Chicago Sept. 26.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

YOU LACK STRENGTH.

Weak Nerves, Tired, Exhausted Bodies.

The Complaint of Thousands Upon Thousands.

Health and Strength Are Within Your Grasp.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Makes You Strong and Well.

It is the Great Restorative of Nerve and Body.

The world is filled with people who, while not exactly sick, yet lack strength. They are weak, tired, languid and nervous, especially at this season of the year, and have lost their old-time vigor and energy, and go about their work in a listless manner, without ambition, and feeling dull and dispirited.

In this conection we publish the cure of Mrs. B. B. Graves, of Middlefield, Mass., in the lady's own words:

"I have been sick for two years and have been a great sufferer during that time. I was fearfully nervous, and could get but little sleep. I was constantly worrying about something. My head ached nearly all the time so that I could hardly endure it. My stomach was in terrible condition, and I could eat but very little. I suffered awfully from the food I did eat.

"I was frightfully weak and exhausted all the time, and could do almost no work at all. I was troubled with rheumatism. I was in a fearful condition from all these complaints, and thought I never should get well. I took medicines and employed doctors but got no better.

MRS. B. B. GRAVES.

"Finally I began the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and immediately there was an improvement. I gained rapidly in health and strength, and everyone of my troubles soon left me. I was entirely cured of them all by that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. There is no other medicine in the world that will do what that will. I advise everybody to use it."

Use it—it will make you strong and well—give you back your snap, energy and ambition to work.

It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

MORE INTERNATIONAL ATHLETICS.

Philadelphia, Sept. 24.—The university of Pennsylvania athletes have received assurances from the London Athletic club team that they will accept an invitation from the university of Pennsylvania to contest a series of events such as was suggested by Pennsylvania to them and to the Cambridge athletes. CHINA'S WAR INDEMNITY.

London, Sept. 24.—A special dispatch from Shanghai which was received here today says that 20,000,000 taels, in silver, has been deposited at Shanghai by the Chinese government with which to pay the supplementary indemnity required by Japan as a consideration for the evacuation of the Liao Tung peninsula.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 24.—A wagon in which were five colored women and one colored man was struck by a railroad train here this morning. Alice Bell was instantly killed, Louis Hernett was badly hurt about the back and the others received severe injuries.

The best is what you want when you are in need of a medicine. That is why you should insist upon Hood's Sarsaparilla. 8

HAVANA

Cuba's Metropolis Being Approached by the Cuban Insurgents.

They Are Within Twenty-five Miles of the Capital.

Sudden Activity of the Authorities---A Dynamite Plot Discovered.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—A special to the Tribune from Havana, Sept. 19, says: "Armed parties of revolutionists are already in the province of Matanzas, and actually within seventy-five miles of the city of Havana. Of greater importance is the reported advance in the province of Matanzas. If, as it is said they have quantities of arms and ammunition, there concealed, and if they are really advancing in force, the crisis is not far off.

Yesterday morning at 2 o'clock while the steamer Santa Barbara with the battalion of Tetuan, 1000 men, was waiting outside the harbor, the governmental chief of police suddenly called in his inspectors and chief officers and at 2:30 o'clock these with reinforcements from the municipal police went off rapidly in many directions. Eighty-five persons were arrested by them within a few hours and are now confined in cells in the Mora castle.

Rumors were soon flying around that a great conspiracy has been discovered and that the initial step was to have been an attack with dynamite on the Santa Barbara or on the battalion. It is said documents implicating important personages have been found. It is also said that a large quantity of concealed arms and munitions have been seized. The sequel to the arrests came at midnight when there was a frightful accident in the harbor. This accident was nothing more or less than the sinking of the Spanish cruiser Barcastegui in which forty-one lives were lost. This terrible affair coming close on the heels of the arrests has caused profound alarm. While official reports leave little doubt the collision was accidental, nevertheless it is a strong coincidence at least. The question is asked how the Mortera should have been attempting to enter the port after it was closed and there are those who say it was better to send a Spanish cruiser and an admiral to the bottom than even a troop ship.

TERSELY TOLD.

Spanish forces in a hard fought battle near Santiago, were defeated after nearly twenty-four hours fighting, with a loss of over 300 killed, forty horses and a large store of provisions and munitions of war.

Last crowds witnessed the parade and enthusiastically cheered as the Garibaldians marched past and saluted the king and queen, who graciously returned the salutations.

At Ironton, Ohio, ex-County Treasurer M. G. Clay, who has been found a defaulter over $28,000, is missing. He left Thursday night and since then nothing has been heard of him. The action of the county commissioners in not causing his arrest has created a sensation.

As a result of the acquittal of the alleged filibusters at Wilmington, Del., yesterday, there was a big demonstration of Cubans and Cuban sympathizers, in the shape of a parade last night. There were about 2000 men in line and, with numerous bands of music, they enthusiastically marched throughout the city.

Letters received by prominent Cuban leaders state that on Sept. 10, a constitutional convention was held at Najasa, at which Bartola Masso was elected president of the Cuban republic. Masso is highly connected and thoroughly educated. He left Manzanillo Feb. 24 last, and was considered at the head of the revolution in the eastern department.

At Waupaca, Wis., there are four men under arrest charged with being implicated in the attempted train robbery on the Wisconsin Central road last Thursday. Finley, alias Baker, was arrested at Big Falls and claims to be able to prove an alibi; Dick Glenn, William Dalton and John Burke were arrested at Scandinavia. A lot of jewelry was found on their persons. Large posses are still searching the swamps and forests.

Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt's dowry will be $10,000,000, and she will have $50,000 annually for "pin" money.

A landslide at Jumbo siding on the Northwestern road near Iron Mountain, Mich., dumped an engine and four box cars into the river below, a distance of sixty feet. Fireman and engineer escaped. At Sturgeon a short distance south on the same line, a tail end collision used up an engine and several freight cars. Five wrecks in thirty hours on the same division, aggregate over $100,000 in losses.

FIGHT FOR ANTI-OPTION.

Will It Be Renewed In the Next Congress?

Washington, Sept. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Will the fight for anti-option be renewed in the Fifty-fourth congress? This is a question that those interested in stock exchanges, boards of trade and "bucket shops" are asking each other at this time. For the past two sessions of congress this anti-option "bugaboo" has worried not only the legitimate dealers in futures but more than this has worried the so-called "bucket shop" operators. It will be recalled that nearly all the men who have strongly advocated anti-option measures in the past have been buried in oblivion politically.

The first man to present a bill of this kind, in recent years, was ex-Congressman Ben Butterworth, of Ohio. Immediately following the session in which he presented a measure of this kind, he was defeated for congress in his native state. Then Senator Washburn, of Minnesota, took up the fight. He was aided by Congressman Hatch, of Missouri. For two sessions these men attempted to pass a law preventing a so-called speculation in "futures." Hatch's bill went through the house in one session and Washburn's in the next. Both failed of becoming law for the reason that the two men having these bills in charge could not get them through both branches during one session.

It is a noticeable fact, however, that Congressman Hatch was defeated for re-election in Missouri last fall and that Senator Washburn was sidetracked as a senator from Minnesota. Whether or not the opposition had anything to do with retiring Washburn or Hatch to private life is something that cannot be answered at this time. The fight in favor of an anti-option measure, however, is not over. It is understood from reliable sources that bills will be presented in both the house and senate at the coming session bearing upon some kind of an anti-option law. Senator George, of Mississippi, will again be an advocate of an anti-option measure and it is presumed that some new man in the house will either present a bill similar to that advocated by Hatch and Washburn or one that will be even more severe in its provisions.

There is a possibility, also, it is said, that the Populist senators will take hold of the plan to prevent speculation in agricultural commodities during the first session of the next congress. It is presumed that Senators Peffer, Allen and Kyle will be the leaders in this movement. Whether the men in the next congress will be any more successful than those were in the past is something that only the future can decide.

A SPECIALIST'S VIEWS.

OBSCURE AILMENTS THAT AFFECT HUMANITY.

An Eminent Specialist's Idea on the Kidneys, and Their Uses How They Purify the Blood and Keep Us in Health.

Curing the Kidneys Makes Us Well When We are Sick

We are often sick and don't know what is the matter with us.

It is probably our kidneys.

We lose our strength and ambition, suffer from headache, dizziness, sallow complexion, nervousness, etc.

We need new blood.

We don't get it, because our kidneys are sick.

If we cured our kidneys we would get new blood, new health, new strength, because it is our kidneys that purify our blood.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills will cure the kidneys.

They contain a concentrated extract of the asparagus found in no other medicine or prescription, and made only under a special process by the Hobb's Medicine company.

This extract of asparagus is what makes Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills so successful.

A well known physician, Dr. William Watson Hinish, made a careful and thorough test of Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills in his practice.

Here is his report on the results:

Office of
William Watson Hinish, M.D.,
926 Chicago Opera House Block,
Chicago, July 20, 1895.

Hobb's Medicine company:

Gentlemen: It affords me unqualified pleasure to report that after having at your solicitation tried the Sparagus Kidney Pills which you have recently introduced to the profession, I am entirely satisfied with the results obtained.

As is well known, the kidneys are the principal excretory organs of the body, and I have long been satisfied that many of the obscure ailments which afflict humanity are traceable to kidneys which fail to properly perform their functions.

Until now I have tried, and used with varying degrees of success, all the different remedies which are alleged to have a specific action upon the kidneys, but have never found anything that was entirely satisfactory until I began the use of Sparagus Kidney Pills.

I think you are to be congratulated upon having been able to produce a combination of remedies which have such a happy effect, and I take pleasure in recommending your pills to my brother practitioners, who, I am sure, will find in them a remedy that will fully meet the indications presented in all diseases of the kidneys, as well as in all diseases which owe their origin to, or which depend upon, an unhealthy condition or action of the kidneys. Yours very truly,

W. W. Hinish, M.D.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills will cure all kidney diseases and all diseases of the blood.

Bright's disease, diabetes, congestion, etc., rheumatism, gout, anaemia, etc., can all be cured by Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

A few doses will relieve. But that is not all. A few boxes will cure.

And the best of it is that the cure will be permanent.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Charles T. Cash and Grace A. Cash, his wife, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagors, to William E. Lucas, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of January, 1893, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January, 1893, at 10:40 o'clock a. m., in Book 102 of mortgages on page 266.

Which said mortgage together with the debt thereby secured was duly assigned by said William E. Lucas, mortgagee, to Joseph T. Gilbert, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, by written assignment dated the 3rd day of February, 1893, and recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the 6th day of February, 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in Book 83 of mortgages on page 252, and

Whereas said mortgage and the principal note thereby secured contain a provision that if any default be made in the payment of any instalment of interest thereon or any part thereof on the day whereon the same is made payable and if such default shall continue for a period of ten days, then and in such case the legal holder of said mortgage note may elect, without notice, that the whole principal sum thereby secured and all accrued interest thereon shall immediately become due and payable, and may enforce payment thereof by foreclosure or other legal measures, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of $262.50 of the semi-annual instalment of interest upon said note due July 1st, 1895, payment of which was secured by said mortgage and such default has continued for a period of more than ten days after the same became payable by reason whereof the undersigned legal holder of said mortgage and note has elected to exercise said option and has heretofore duly declared and does hereby declare the whole principal sum secured by said note and mortgage and all the accrued interest thereon to be now due and payable, and

Whereas there is therefore claimed to be due and there is actually due upon said mortgage debt at the date of this notice the sum of $7847.01 principal and interest and $100 attorneys' fees stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure thereof and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

All of lot numbered one hundred thirteen (113), in block sixteen (16), Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said St. Louis County, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 16th day of October, 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $7847.01 and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises and one hundred (100) dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Aug. 27th, A. D. 1895.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly made and delivered by John Stewart and Jane Stewart, his wife, mortgagors, to Angie Grandin, mortgagee, bearing date the 20th day of June, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 21st day of June, 1894, at 3:40 o'clock p. m., in Book 106 of mortgages, on page 33,

And whereas said default consists in the failure to pay the sum of one hundred twenty-two and 50-100 dollars interest, which became due and payable by the terms of said mortgage, and the notes secured thereby on June 20th, 1895, all of which is yet due and owing upon said mortgage; and whereas by reason of said default it has become optional with the holder of said mortgage and mortgage notes to declare the whole debt secured by said mortgage to be immediately due and payable, now therefore, in the exercise of said option, the whole amount of said debt has been declared and is hereby declared to be due, to-wit: The sum of thirty-six hundred sixty-four and 03-100 dollars, which amount is claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which power by reason of said default has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described and situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit: Lot number ninety (90), in block number eighteen (18), Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, which premises, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Wednesday, the 2nd day of October, 1895, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, together with seventy-five dollars attorneys' fee, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from day of sale as by law provided.

Dated Aug. 19th, 1895.

THE VOTE

Big Rush Will Come When the Saw Mills Close Tonight.

The Cody Sanitarium Will be Formally Opened Tomorrow.

The heavy vote will be polled between 6 and 7 o'clock when the sawmills shut down.

Chairman Hudson visited every precinct in West Duluth between 11 and 12 o'clock, and went away feeling pretty happy with the result of what he gathered at the different precincts. He said he had no doubt that West Duluth would go strong to build.

The following is the vote and registration at the following precincts about noon. Eighth ward—First precinct, 62 votes cast, 227 registered; second precinct, 20 votes cast, 125 registered; third precinct, 60 votes cast, 185 registered; fourth precinct, 33 votes cast, 157 registered; fifth precinct, 46 votes cast, 139 registered. The fifth of the Seventh ward registered 210 votes with 55 cast; third of Seventh, 150 registered, 34 votes cast; second of Seventh, 218 votes registered, 68 votes cast.

ADVANCED

The Wheat Market Ruled Strong and Higher During Today's Session.

The News Was Not Particularly Bullish, But Sentiment Was Stronger.

A Very Much Oversold Market the Cause of the Advance.

Wheat was firm and higher today. The market opened firm under the influence of higher cables, more moderate Northwestern receipts and the statement that the world's shipments were 2,000,000 bus less than reported yesterday. Chicago receipts comprised 110 cars, 32 of which were transferred from irregular city houses and otherwise, besides rail receipts of 66,645 bus, of spring wheat which came in by lake from Duluth. Minneapolis received 265 cars and Duluth 814, or 1209 together, against 1065 a year ago. The total quantity received at the Western primary markets was 1,048,000 bus against 892,000 bus on the corresponding day of the year before. Of today's total Duluth and Minneapolis received together 707,227 bus, Duluth alone receiving 510,227 bus. The exports from Atlantic ports were light, amounting in wheat and flour to only 10,-000 bus. The foreign markets were firm, Liverpool coming ½d higher at the start and ¼d more later. The above items do not account for the bullish character of today's market, but it is a fact that it was a most difficult matter all day for any one who wanted more than 10,000 bus of wheat to buy it without putting the price up. It was probably and is still a very much oversold market.

Trading on the Duluth board was not heavy in futures, and only fair in cash stuff. December opened unchanged at 56¾c, advanced quickly to 57¼c, declined 56c, reacted to 57¼c, eased off ¼c and then sold to 57⅝c. The last sale was ¼c below that point. The first sale this season in October wheat was made at 56½c. May sold near the close at 61¾c. The close was ½c higher than yesterday on cash No. 1 hard and wheat to arrive and ⅛c lower for futures and lower grades of cash. There was a lively flax market, and a good amount changed hands at advanced figures. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 58c; September, 58¾c; October, 58¾c; December, 58¾c. No. 1 northern, cash, 56¾c; September, 56¾c; October, 56¾c; December, 57⅜c; May, 61¾c. No. 2 northern, cash, 55¼c. No. 3, 52½c. Rejected, 42½c. Rye, 30c. No. 2 oats, 20c; No. 3 oats, 19½c. Flax—September and October, 98c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 81; oats, 20; rye, 7; barley, 19; flax, 26. Receipts—Wheat, 510,227 bus; oats, 1919 bus; rye, 13,855 bus; barley, 40,120 bus; flax, 82,475 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 150,357 bus; flax, 33,930 bus.

NEW YORK GRAIN.

New York, Sept. 24.—Wheat, December, 65¾c. Corn, December, 36c asked. Oats, December, 24½c bid.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Primary receipts of wheat for the first two days of the week have fallen more than 250,000 bus behind the first two days' receipts of last week. The increase in Northwestern country elevator stocks for the past fortnight has been less than half what it was for the same time a year ago. The big Northwestern movement is not piling up stocks as was expected. The financial troubles have disappeared and there is an improved outlook in every direction. With that singular inconsistency so characteristic of the trade, about everybody went over to the short side just at the very time that the speculative horizon was clearing and the consumptive demand showing a marked improvement. Naturally with trade all on one side the market swung the other way.

Corn and oats very quiet and featureless. Some corn was delivered on September contracts and some No. 2 yellow spot stuff sold at 1¼c over October, which was considered a sign of weakness.

Provisions—It is generally thought that the market will do better when the October liquidation is over. There is still a fair demand for January product.

Stocks—Contrary to expectations the whole list sold off today. We think, however, that this break was just made to buy stocks on.

LOVE'S ENTREATY.

Thou knowest, Love, I know that thou dost know,
That I am here more near to thee to be,
And knowest that I know thou knowest me;
What means it, then, that we are sundered so?
If they are true, these hopes that from thee flow,
If this is real, this sweet expectancy,
Break down the wall that stands 'twixt me and thee;
For pain in prison pent hath double woe,
Because in thee I love, O my loved lord,
What thou best lovest, be not therefore stern;
Souls burn for souls, spirits to spirits cry!
I seek the splendor in thy fair face stored;
Yet living man that beauty scarce can learn,
And he who fain would find it, first must die.

ALMOST A PARALLEL CASE.

The last number of the United States Investor contains an account of the manner in which Canandaigua, N. Y., settled the water question. The circumstances are very similar to those existing in Duluth, the amount of money involved being, of course, smaller in the case of Canandaigua. The case is summarized by the Investor in the remark that bondholders of a company whose obligations amount to $185,000, while its property is nominally worth $60,000, cannot be congratulated on the outlook for speedy returns from their investment. The Investor gives the following details:

By the recent opening of a fine system of waterworks by the village of Canandaigua, N. Y., at a cost of $130,000, the Canandaigua Waterworks company, finds itself with its plant on its hands. This company, which was organized a dozen years ago, owned a property worth, as just intimated, $60,000, though by liberal doses of "water" (evidently of the nature of that furnished to the people, which in certain legal proceedings was termed "filthy") this was made to appear as a capital stock of $200,000. Upon this, first and second bonds and a chattel mortgage aggregating $185,000 were issued.

In January, 1893, the company defaulted on its interest payment and a reorganization followed, the presidency being turned over to the Hon. J. Henry Metcalf, he succeeding Frank Merrill in that office. The service rendered by the company was of such a nature as to cause great dissatisfaction among the citizens, and an agitation arose looking to the erection of waterworks by the corporation. The demand prevailed and the system has been built, though not before honest but unsuccessful effort was made to purchase that of the existing company with the intention of making the much needed improvements. Naturally it would be a hard pill for the company to sell at its value a plant so heavily encumbered. All the way along the work on the new system has been impeded by efforts on the part of the company to procure injunctions, all of which have been unsuccessful.

When it became apparent that the company would be left with a worthless plant in its possession, the trustees of Colby university, who are large owners of the bonds, brought suit against the village to restrain it from building or maintaining a competing system of waterworks. The theory of the suit was that the defendants were proceeding in violation of the rights of the complainants and would thereby practically destroy the value of the property mortgaged to them. The suit failed, the court showing that the franchise acquired by the old company did not confer an exclusive privilege. The trustees of the university have now begun action to close out the mortgage. Two great difficulties appear, first, the trouble likely to ensue by this apparent attempt to freeze out the other bondholders, and second, the limited assets to meet the bonds. The president, Mr. Metcalf, has been appointed receiver.

The people of Canandaigua declined to pay $185,000 or more for a water plant actually worth $60,000, and built an independent plant for $130,000, thus saving $55,000 or more, which was a large saving for a village of that size. If the people of Duluth today decline to pay $1,856,000 for a plant that is worth only $800,000 and would cost $850,000 more to make necessary extensions, and decide to build a complete plant that would cost $1,650,000, they will effect a saving of $1,056,000.

The Polyglot-Tribune this morning devoted so much space to discussing the water question in foreign languages that it had little room for news. It seems strange that it should be necessary for an English paper to print its arguments in foreign languages, because those of foreign birth who take the paper surely must be able to read English.

A PRACTICAL WORK.

During the past five years the national board of fire underwriters has been engaged in a practical and important enterprise—the inspection of fire departments and water supply systems in the leading cities. This work was begun in 1890 when an expert was employed as general inspector and a systematic examination into these subjects was started. There were manifest reasons for such a work. It was known that the necessity for improvements in many cities was pressing. The fact is that in many of our cities of rapid growth neither the facilities for fighting fire nor the water supply have kept pace with the increase of population. In some of the older places there was a disposition to assume that the fire department equipment and the water facilities were ample because they had been long in service. When the new aqueduct for New York city was begun, for instance, it was stated that the water supply of the city was twenty years behind its needs, and when it was finished, so great had been the growth that a high authority stated that the city was still twenty pears behind its present and prospective necessities, whereas it should have been that far ahead.

In many of the smaller cities there seemed to prevail a want of information as to what was really demanded either in respect to the fire department or the water systems. It was partly with a view of giving this information that the work was undertaken. Of course the fire insurance companies would be benefited, it was hoped, by a reduced fire loss wherever improvements were introduced, but it was also apparent that entire communities would be made more secure in their homes and property.

Nearly 500 cities and towns have been visited by the board's general inspector. The reports of the examinations are sent to members of the board. They contain, first, a statement of facts as to the condition both of the fire department and water supply, and, secondly, definite recommendations as to improvements where such are found to be needed. These recommendations are sent to the proper municipal officers of the place visited, not as a demand made upon them, but as indicating the judgment of a competent expert as to what is needed if the place is to be made reasonably safe and able to cope with fires should they occur. Many improvements have resulted, and the proffered suggestions have been welcome in many quarters.

It is usual for commercial bodies and boards to meet and pass resolutions as to questions of local and public policy, but it is not so frequently that we find them organizing and paying the expense of important bureaus to carry on the reforms they suggest. In this, the fire insurance companies are certainly to be commended, for their work touches intimately and vitally the public welfare, and while the board of underwriters is first concerned for its own members, the scope of its action reaches beyond that, affecting the interest of every property holder, and having its influence in diminishing the fire loss of the country, which has amounted to $725,000,000 in the last five years, or an average of $145,000,000 per annum with a loss for 1893 of $167,000,000 and $155,000,000 in 1894. Any measures which will tend to lessen this destruction should be sought and applied.

AS TO MR. SILVERMAN.

The interview with Lazarus Silverman, of Chicago, declaring that he was ready to place any bonds tat Duluth may issue for building an independent water plant did not please the crowd that is trying to force the company's plant upon the city at an exorbitant price. This was evident from the coarse sneers and disgraceful references of the News Tribune today towards Mr. Silverman, whom it malevolently referred to as "the man who was reported as having failed two years ago in Chicago."

This sneer at Mr. Silverman is entirely uncalled for and is an insult which The Herald cannot permit to pass without notice. It is true that Mr. Silverman's bank in Chicago was closed and placed in the hands of a receiver during his absence in New York. But every person knows that Mr. Silverman did not fail in the sense in which the word failure is usually regarded. He had ample resources. At that very time he had $250,000 on deposit in Paris. On his return from New York the First National bank of Chicago promptly loaned him $750,000, and it was not long before he made a settlement with all his creditors and secured the discharge of the receiver and the return of his estate under his own control. Today his financial ability is such that he could buy and sell the News Tribune and its owners several times over. The News Tribune owes Mr. Silverman an apology.

GOVERNOR CLOUGH.

In his speech delivered at the county fair, Governor Clough referred enthusiastically to the rapid growth of Duluth and the rich country tributary to it, and modestly referred to the fact that since the time when he carried a pack and tramped through the woods in this section he had kept track of our natural and acquired advantages and had always had a warm spot in his heart for this city. He then proceeded to point out the many advantages which Duluth possesses from her geographical location and the varied and rich resources which must make a great city here. The governor spoke with great earnestness, and it was evident to his auditors that he was expressing his honest sentiments.

It needed no these remarks of Governor Clough, however, to assure those who know him well that he takes great pleasure in watching the steady development and upbuilding of Duluth and St. Louis county, and that he is always ready to do all in his power to further the interests of this section of the state. As a member of the legislature, and more recently as the governor of the state, he has ever shown a friendly feeling towards Duluth and the people of Duluth with whom he has been brought in contact. He was always ready while in the legislature to assist in the passage of laws that the people of Duluth desired to conserve their interests, and since his accession to the governorship he has exhibited the same kindly spirit towards this city.

It is not strange, therefore, that the friends of Governor Clough in Duluth and St. Louis county are numerous and constantly increasing. It needs but a slight acquaintance with the man to perceive the large heart that beats beneath his breast, to appreciate his generous spirit, and to recognize his honesty and candor. He is essentially a man of the people. Political success has not puffed up his vanity or caused him to lose sight of the fact that he owes to the people the honors which have been conferred upon him. Since his accession to the governorship he has looked carefully after the interests of the state, and has given the people an honest, businesslike administration. If he should be a candidate for the governorship at the expiration of his present term he will find a multitude of friends throughout the state ready and eager to rally to his support, and none more enthusiastic than those who reside in Duluth.

UNJUST CRITICISM.

There are a few country papers that are criticizing Senator Davis because he appeared as counsel for Mr. Hill in the Pearsall case involving the legality of the proposed consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific. While The Herald is strongly opposed to Mr. Hill's scheme and has repeatedly denounced the attempt to throttle railroad competition by effecting this combine, it cannot join in such a senseless and uncalled for attack on Senator Davis. His critics evidently forget that it is the duty of a lawyer to uphold his client's interests and defend his cause, no matter whether it agrees with his own views of what is right or not.

Senator Davis was retained by Mr. Hill in this case and performed his duty as a lawyer. If Mr. Pearsall had retained him first, he would have argued as ably on the other side. It is nonsensical to denounce him for what he has done because he has only done what every other man is doing—practicing his profession in order to earn a living.

According to a Troy fisherman, the latest triumph for Yankee inventive genius is an India-rubber fish-worm. It is said to be a remarkably good imitation of the common earthworm, is indestructible, and in actual use proves as allurring to the fishes as the genuine article. The old fisherman will be quick to see its advantages. One can equip himself for a day's sport without digging over a whole garden in search for bait. A handful of India-rubber worms will last him a whole season, and there will be no necessity for pulling up the line every few minutes to see if the small-fry nibblers have left the hook bare. It is proper, however, to remember that this is a fish story, and the reputation of fishermen for veracity is not above par.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "Mexico has given up for the present trying to keep her silver coin on a parity with gold. It therefore has the single silver standard and has no use for gold except in dealing with foreign countries. All reports, however, indicate that at no time in the history of that country has it enjoyed such general prosperity. Home manufacturers are increasing and wealth is being accumulated. The deposits of the banks of the City of Mexico have increased in the last ten years from a little over $7,000,000 to over $35,000,000."

That acute observer, Eugene Field, has discovered that a change seems to have come over the spirit of the society editor's dream. For a tedious spell weddings were celebrated (not solemnized) at "high noon" and the bride and groom were ponderously referred to as the "high contracting parties." It appears by the returns from recent weddings that the "parties" are no longer "high contracting," but are "contracting parties," and the "high" is omitted as an epithet for "noon."

An historical society in Wilmington, Del., has refused "Gasman" Addicks admission to membership on the ground that he is neither a native nor a resident of the state. And yet this is the man who tried to force the Delaware legislature to elect him United States senator, and when it failed to accede to his demands he was able to prevent the election of anybody else.

The Grand Rapids, Mich., Press says: "When Chicago, Duluth and Manitoba are brought to the very doors of Liverpool and other distributing points in Europe, New York may no longer be able to guard and obstruct the channels of commerce, but the whole country will be the gainer. The decree, however, has been entered and the deep waterway must come."

Since Chief Croker's return from Europe Tammany has been threatened by the combined opposition of the "Goo-Goos" and the "Garoos," whatever they may mean in New York politics.

Governor Turney, of Tennessee, said at the Chickamauga dedication that he was still of opinion that he was right in fighting during the war for the dissolution of the Union. Mr. Turney stole the office he now holds, to which H. Clay Evans was legally elected, and he probably thinks he was also right about that.

Col. Breckinridge has entered the Kentucky campaign as a supporter of Gen. Wat Hardin and the Democratic ticket. This is the most serious blow that Gen. Hardin has yet received, and if he succeeds it will be due only to the great strength of the silver men in Kentucky.

The Gold and Silver club of Minneapolis is making arrangements to hold several large meetings in the interest of bimetallism. It is to be hoped that the editor of the Tribune will attend these meetings and endeavor to learn something about the money question.

If you have not voted yet, go to the polls and vote at once. Your vote may decide the election. The polls will be open until 7 p. m.

The Herald publishes more local and telegraphic news than the other Duluth dailies combined.

Whether the people vote to build or buy, the city of Duluth can float the necessary bonds.

Boss Platt may have been "Me, Too," many years ago, but the times have changed.

The battle is nearly over. With such fine weather there should be a heavy vote.

THEY FEAR THE PRESS.

Martin County Sentinel: It is reported that the Merriam-Brown combine is buying up country papers in various parts of the state to create a sentiment favorable to their schemes in the campaign next fall. Where they cannot buy they establish new papers. The schemers fear the country press, and if there was some way to unite the boys bossism would stand a poor show in Minnesota in spite of the indifference of the people.

NO ATTORNEY SHOULD REFUSE.

Little Falls Transcript: It is an indication of a sad condition if there is any foundation for the claim that Senator Davis' employment as an attorney for J. J. Hill renders him less acceptable as a candidate for president. Davis is a lawyer, and an able one. If an individual or a corporation desires his services in presenting the law to a court, he should accept the work. It is necessary to have attorneys present cases before judges and juries, and no attorney has a right to refuse to submit to those authorities the laws and the facts in the case, if he is paid for so doing. To claim that the public is so ignorant and prejudiced that an attorney cannot accept honest work in his profession is not very complimentary to that public.

MR. TOWNE AT VIRGINIA.

The Virginian: The people heard him, not as a politician—not as a sycophantic exponent of moneyed interests, anxious to placate the enginery of an un-American colossus—not as an opinionated politroon performing the services of a foreign plutocracy under political duress, but as the confidential secretary of an earnest and generous constituency who have commissioned him to represent them in the name of honesty and who are satisfied that their confidence is not being betrayed. This is the way 5000 voters on the Mesaba range regard Mr. Towne.

A GROWING QUESTION.

Omaha Bee: The question of a deep waterway to connect the lakes with the Atlantic seaboard is a growing one and the indications are that the agitation which has been vigorously inaugurated will not cease until practical steps are taken for the accomplishment of this great project. The Northwest, which has, perhaps, the greatest interest in the question, is becoming thoroughly aroused and its influence will be strongly felt in congress in favor of the enterprise, while in New York the matter is receiving a great deal of attention and discussion.

CONTEMPTIBLE TACTICS.

Grand Rapids Herald: It's not the Herald's fight—that is, from a political standpoint—but it may not be considered out of order to remark that the Duluth News Tribune is employing very contemptible tactics in its efforts to injure Mr. Towne because of his stand on the silver question. Last week that paper printed a manufactured statement to the effect that Towne and his friends were planning to capture the senatorial toga of Cush Davis. The aim of the News Tribune is very apparent. It is attempting to injure the congressman among the leading state politicians and precipitate party strife.

HOPE AT RAINY LAKE.

Fort Francis News: The Merritts are on deck again and this fact augurs no little hope for the Rainy country. When the Merritts were in their glory a couple of years ago they run a preliminary survey from the Mesaba north to the Rainy River valley, and had they not been done up by Rockefeller they would doubtless have extended the Duluth, Missabe & Northern to the Rainy river ere this. But they are recovering themselves from their financial difficulties and their well known pluck and energy may yet prove important factors in the development of the Rainy River country.

HOT FOR CROPS.

Illinois' Week of Very High Temperature.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—The past week has been an extremely hot and dry one. The temperature averaged about 15 degrees daily above the normal and touched 90 degrees or more each day, excepting Monday. Rainfall was entirely lacking until late Sunday afternoon when light showers came with the sudden change in temperature. The week was, however, not entirely unfavorable, for corn was forced to rapid maturity and dried out quickly. It is now past any possible danger from frost and practically all of the crop which will be cut is in the shock.

In the northern and central counties wheat sowing has been retarded, but a few fields have been sown and work is being now carried on. Rye is up and the crop is in good condition. Pastures are in fair condition and considerable second crop hay has been cut relieving the short crop. Buckwheat is nearing harvest and a few fields have been cut. Cane is of good quality and sorghum mills are running at full capacity. The peach crop is practically exhausted and apple picking will be on hand by the first of the coming month.

DRY IN MISSOURI.

Columbia, Mo., Sept. 24.—The week just closed was another week of extremely high temperature with almost continuous hot sunshine. The dry winds caused corn to dry up very rapidly. Apples suffered considerably from the high temperature. Plowing and seeding have been retarded to a considerable extent in many counties by the dryness of the soil and in some the work has been suspended. Pastures and stock water is getting short in some localities and at the close of the week rain was needed in nearly all sections. Tobacco is nearly all cut. Sorghum making is still in progress with a good yield generally.

CLEMENCY GIVEN AND DENIED.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The president has granted a pardon, because of the prisoner's ill health, in the case of L. A. McKnight, convicted in the Indian territory of malicious mischief (three cases), in burning a stack of hay belonging to the United States and sentenced March 13, 1894, to ten years' imprisonment. Pardons were denied in the case of John W. Kennedy, convicted in Colorado of presenting false vouchers, and in the case of Dolph Pearson, convicted in Mississippi, of robbing a mail car and of conspiring to rob the United States mail.

MRS. WALLER

Will Not See Her Husband Before Coming Home.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Secretary Olney has received the following telegram from Ambassador Eustis, dated Paris: "Mrs. Waller's family has arrived at Paris. She has decided not to visit her husband. Impossible to engage passage before Oct. 2, on which day they will sail on the Amsterdam."

Paul Bray, Mrs. Waller's son by a former marriage was at the department early today and was one of the first to be put in possession of the news concerning his mother. He has not received any word from her direct since before she left Maritius. It is presumed that Mrs. Waller acted under the advice of Mr. Eustis in not attempting to see her husband while in France. She landed at Marseilles near where he is in prison.

THE BIG FIGHT.

Attorney General of Texas Seeking an Injunction.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—A special from Austin, Tex., says: It was learned last night that Attorney General Crane is arranging to sue for an injunction in the court of Dallas county to restrain the Corbett fight.

If the judge grants the injunction, which he doubtless will, then the fight management, in self defense, must appeal the matter to the court of criminal appeals with a full bench and thus play directly into the hands of the state, because to get it before the full bench for a decision is exactly what the state wants, as it is believed a full bench of the court will reverse Chief Justice Hurt's individual opinion.

It is well known that Governor Culberson does not propose to accept Judge Hurt's decision as final and says he wants a full court's opinion or nothing.

MINERS RESUME WORK.

Ishpeming, Mich., Sept. 24.—Fifteen hundred miners began work at 7 a. m. yesterday, and as many more at 7 in the evening on the night shifts. All the Ishpeming mines are working, and even the Negaunee mines, whose owners threatened to close them until spring, are arranging for speedy resumption. The troops are going home and good feeling between employers and employes is rapidly being restored.

Fire Commissioners Come Forward and Defend Hose Purchases.

Claim They Have Not Been Extravagant and Have Managed Wisely.

Ordiance Ratifying the Fond du Lac Electric Lighting Franchise.

In the face of Chief Black's admission that the board of fire commissioners know nothing about hose, the board came to the front at the council meeting last night with an alleged explanation of the heavy expenditures for hose to which The Herald has drawn public attention. It is an interesting document and amounts practically to a further demand on the general fund.

The amount of hose purchased during the past five years is given as follows: 1890, 3000 feet; 1891, 2000 feet; 1892, 2000 feet; 1893, 500 feet; 1894, 1500 feet; 1895, 7500 feet; total, 16,500 feet. "Of this," say the commissioners, "15,500 feet is good, serviceable hose and should last four years longer. There are seven hose companies in the city, and each company should have 2500 feet. In addition, there are two fire tugs at present carrying 500 feet each. These, to be fully equipped, should have 1000 feet each.

"Previous to 1890 we had no fire hose, and the hose then in use had never been subjected to pressure greater than the hydrant. Our hydrants are one block apart, except in a small portion of the business center, and as a result we are obliged to carry more hose on our wagons, as it often becomes necessary to lay out from 1000 to 2000 feet on the hillside and suburbs.

NECESSARY FOR ECONOMY.

"As an economical measure it is absolutely necessary for the city to double the amount of hose actually needed, for the following reasons: If hose is constantly kept on the wagons or not properly dried out after service, it rapidly rots and becomes useless; whereas if hose can be changed from the wagon to the racks at least every two weeks, the life of the hose is more than doubled.

"As an example of how quickly hose will wear out and become useless when not properly cared for, we cite Lakeside and West Duluth, as fully one-half of the hose credited to those suburbs had to be replaced when they came into the city.

"Taking into consideration that we are obliged to cover a territory of about twenty miles in length, and comparing the amount of hose in use in this department with other cities, we do not think we are extravagant in the purchase of hose or purchase more than is absolutely necessary."

The communication was referred to the committee on fire department.

The West End street car extension matter came up at the caucus in the afternoon and was laid over for a week. As there was nothing else of particular importance on the tapis, last night's council meeting was decidedly short and uninteresting.

A RATIFYING ORDINANCE.

An ordinance was introduced which ratified the franchise of the Fond du Lac Electric Light company, given by the village with the proviso that the company accept a clause providing for purchase by the city at the end of ten years, and that deductions be made for lights out or not lighted. The company is given twenty days to accept the conditions. It was referred to the ordinance committee.

An invitation from the Milwaukee council inviting the mayor and city officials to attend the celebration of Milwaukee's fiftieth anniversary on Oct. 16 was read and filed and a vote of thanks adopted.

The appointment of David S. Forgy as a special municipal court officer was confirmed, and a bill for $569.40, presented by St. Mary's hospital for property rendered useless by caring for smallpox patients, was referred.

City Attorney Cant submitted an opinion, which was referred, advising the payment of orders on the village of Fond du Lac. Then, after a number of petitions favoring Piedmont avenue as the route for the West End street car extension had been read, the council adjourned.

RIVERS OF BLOOD

Flow Through Miles of Veins Without Giving Strength.

NERVOUS DEBILITY AND POOR BLOOD WORK TOGETHER FOR EVIL.

Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets a Sure Specific for Nervous Debility—A True Invigorator of Nerve, Blood, Brain and Muscle.

The above is a ghastly head-line, but it is not one tithe as bad as is the sight, to one who knows the cause, of the hundreds of pallid, bloodless, care-worn, nervous faces we meet on the streets or see in stores, offices, factories and homes every day. How intimately connected your nervous and your nutritive systems are no one but a physician can thoroughly understand. But if you are easily exhausted, languid, pallid, discontented (or positively melancholy), sleepless, restless, with vigor impaired or gone and muscles flaccid and semi-useless, if joy and hope are gone from life or present in a sadly diminished measure, you have a right to believe your nervous system is debilitated and your blood is not doing the nourishing, sustaining duty it should.

For all persons afflicted as above described, or similarly, there is an infallible specific, a sure invigorator. It is found in Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets, prepared, on a famous prescription, from fresh, undried kola nuts, especially imported. Kola as a systematic tonic has been used for years by the best physicians at home and abroad, and in these tablets it is peculiarly adapted to restoring and sustaining strength. Dr. Foussagrives, of France, says: "Kola is a powerful tonic in morning fatigues and overwork." Dr. Monnet, of Paris, says: "Kola retards tissue waste and is a powerful tonic in conditions characterized by debility."

Price $1 per package (one month's treatment). Kola booklet free. Be sure Dr. Charcot's name is on each package. Sold by all druggists or sent direct by Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing company, La Crosse, Wis.

MURPHY THE WINNER.

Gallagher Refused to Fight After Twenty Rounds.

The twenty round contest between Jimmy Murphy, of Duluth, and Boo Gallagher, of Cleveland, was a good one, and in point of cleverness and science was the best that has been seen here in some time. From the first it was plain that Murphy was the better fighter. Gallagher saw it too, and he saw also that his only hope was to remain on the defensive and save as much time as possible. This he did by perpetually ducking and clinching. The slightest blow was an excuse for a clinch, and Gallagher had Murphy in a close embrace nearly all the time. Murphy got in three blows to the Cleveland man's one and did all the fighting, but he was stopped from punishing his man by his clinching. Murphy, as usual, fought a clean, manly fight. He did not clinch once, and his work was characterized by a great deal of skill and cleverness.

Toward the last Murphy discovered a way to get in good blows before Gallagher clinched, and he got in a dozen blows on Gallagher's face, neck and body. In the last two or three rounds Gallagher was groggy, but he stood it out to the end of the twentieth round. It had been understood that the fight was to be twenty rounds or more but Gallagher refused to fight any more, so the match was given to Murphy. The decision met with general approval, as Murphy had the best of the fight all through.

Yesterday's Pioneer Press contained the following notice:

"J. H. Herman returned from Duluth yesterday where he managed Charlie Williams in his contest with Ed Shepard last Friday. He made arrangements for another match for Williams with Jimmy Murphy, of Duluth, and was to sign articles today, but was informed on his arrival in St. Paul that the Kansas City club has offered a purse of $600 for a finish contest between Leon Agnew and Williams at 133 pounds, the contest to take place near Kansas City on or before Oct. 10. As there is nearly double the amount of money in going to Kansas City, Herman has accepted this match first, but will sign for Williams to meet Murphy after his contest with Agnew. Herman claims that Murphy has been doing a lot of blowing, and he wants to show the Duluth people that his man is capable of defeating him. Williams has backing for $1000, and if Murphy can raise that amount Herman says that he will let his man meet Murphy first."

A CERTAIN CURE FOR PILES.

A New Preparation, Safe, Painless, Convenient and Lasting Cure for this Troublesome Disease.

We do not intend to indorse any except articles of real merit. We therefore take pleasure in calling attention to a new pile cure which has been remarkably successful in curing every form of itching, bleeding or protruding piles. The remedy is known as the Pyramid Pile Cure and is recommended by the best medical authorities on account of its absolute safety, ease of application and instant relief from pain.

The Pyramid Pile Cure contains no opium or other poison and does not interfere with daily occupation while using. People who believed nothing but a surgical operation would cure them have been astonished at the results from a single 50 cent package of the Pyramid.

Mrs. Mary C. Tyler, of Heppner, Ore., writes: One package of Pyramid Pile Cure entirely cured me of piles from which I have suffered for years, and I have never had the slightest return of them since.

E. O'Brien, Rock Bluffs, Neb., says: The package of Pyramid Pile Cure entirely removed every trace of itching piles. I cannot thank you enough for it.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by all druggists at 50 cents and $1 per package.

Treatise on cause and cure of piles mailed free by addressing Pyramid company, Albion, Mich.

Several years ago I was taken with a severe attack of flux. I was sick in bed about ten days and could get nothing to relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured me and has been a household remedy with us ever since. WESTERN FREIGHTS REDUCED.

San Francisco, Sept. 24.—C. F. Muir, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific railroad, announces that transcontinental railroads have practically agreed to consummate an agreement for the making of west-bound freight rates from what is known as the central traffic territory on the basis of the same rates as prevail west-bound from New York city, subject to a minimum of 75 cents. This means a reduction in west-bound rates to the amount of the local rate now applying from the point of shipments to either New York or Chicago and will be shared by all the roads forming through lines between points on the central traffic territory and California.

In a recent letter to the manufacturers, W. F. Benjamin, editor of the Spectator, Rushford, N. Y., says: "It may be a pleasure to you to know the high esteem in which Chamberlain's medicines are held by the people of your own state, where they must be best known. An aunt of mine, who resides at Dexter, Iowa, was about to visit me a few years since, and before leaving home wrote me, asking if they were sold here, stating if they were not she did not like to be without them." The medicines referred to are Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds and croup; Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the side and chest, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. These medicines have been in constant use in Iowa for almost a quarter of a century. The people have learned that they are articles of great worth and merit, and unequaled by any other. They are for sale here by all druggists.

IN FALL MONTHS.

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Can Now Be Cured.

Old Time Obstinate Diseases Are Easily Curable.

Paine's Celery Compound is the Great Specific

It Restores the Neglected, Famished Nerve Parts.

It Replaces Worn-Out Tissues With New, Vigorous Ones.

Paine's celery compound is the one assured remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia that is every day accomplishing all that physicians claim for it!

Both these old-time, obstinate diseases are today speedily and permanently cured by Professor Edward E. Phelps' great prescription.

Neuralgia and rheumatism are merely names for a certain reduced state of the nervous tissues. As far as causes go, they do not much differ from nervous debility, headaches, dyspepsia and sleeplessness.

The mischief is the same in every case, a nervous system robbed of life and substance by over-exertion and scanty nutrition. The cure for all these is likewise in the same direction. Strengthen and restore the nerves to their normal conditions with Paine's celery compound.

It is the advice of the ablest physicians everywhere.

As soon as all the countless nerve centers and fibers have been made sound and strong, not only rheumatism and neuralgia, but low spirits, kidney trouble, disordered liver and heart palpitation, will vanish without a trace to remind one that their presence was not all a fearful dream.

Paine's celery compound does its curative work in a simple, straightforward way. It wastes little time on the minute and puzzling classification of diseases, but bends all its energies at once to feeding the worn-out, shattered nervous tract, filling the arteries with rich, new blood, and building up the body for its fight against disease.

Low spirits lose their power when the system feels the buoyancy of returning health, such as soon comes from taking Paine's celery compound. The rapid gain in weight that follows its use is a reasonable indication of the strengthening processes that are going on among the vital organs.

Many men and women who recommend Paine's celery compound do so in what, to others, may sometimes seem extravagant words. But Paine's celery compound has made them well!

IRRIGATION LITIGATION.

San Francisco, Sept. 24.—A special from San Diego says that the Wright irrigation act will go, upon its merits, to the supreme court of the United States, and its constitutionality will be considered on all points. After Judge Ross' decision last week, notice of appeal was at once given by the district attorney, and the judgment roll was forwarded to the supreme court. Word was received that the case would be heard on Oct. 21, when the Modesto case, also involving the constitutionality of the Wright act, will also be heard.

DID YOU EVER FALL OVER A PRECIPICE,

Or hold up the Washington monument on the pit of your stomach—in a dream? Did you ever wake up in a cold sweat caused by some horrid phantasy? If so, the wisest thing that you could have done to renew your slumber undisturbed by the nightmare, would have been to take some Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which would have tranquillized you and relieved the indigestion, which was, perhaps, the author of your hideous dream. Insomnia, nightmare, indigestion are easily remedied by the Bitters. Resort to it, also, if you are troubled with chills and fever, liver or kidney trouble, constipation, neuralgia or rheumatism. If you have lost your appetite don't go to the expense of advertising for it, but take the Bitters. Then will "good digestion wait on appetite and health on both." Just before retiring is a very suitable time to swallow a wineglassful.

The Only One To Stand the Test.

Rev. William Copp, whose father was a physician for over fifty years, in New Jersey, and who himself spent many years preparing for the practice of medicine, but subsequently entered the ministry of the M. E. Church, writes: "I am glad to testify that I have had analyzed all the sarsaparilla preparations known in the trade, but is the only one of them that I could recommend as a blood-purifier. I have given away hundreds of bottles of it, as I consider it the safest as well as the best to be had."—WM. COPP, Pastor M. E. Church, Jackson, Minn.

THE BLOOMER GAME.

Funny Exhibition at the Ball Park Yesterday Afternoon.

"Play ball!" shouted the umpire at the West End ball park yesterday afternoon and Maud Nelson, of that noble aggregation, the Boston Bloomers, deftly gathered the slack of her trousers in one hand and picked up a long bat with the other.

"Wub baw!" called the autocrat of the diamond and the spectators leaned forward expectantly. There was a sharp crack like a board splitting and a small globular object clipped the daisies way out in the left field. Of course the left fielder muffed the ball. No Duluth man would have had the heart to catch out a curly haired little girl in bloomers who did not want to be put out.

The next lady who came to the bat shifted her gun nervously and gave a hitch at the back of her bloomers where her draperies ought to be. She did it so prettily that she was given a base on balls. Meanwhile a horrid man had caught the ball at second and retired Miss Nelson. She was much put out.

Finally the bases were all filled and one of the two male members of the visiting nine came up to the plate. He wore a cutaway coat and was greeted by the crowd with shouts of "line em out Nelly!" "change your coat," "tie a lantern to it," and "go it Sally." The batsman paid no attention to the yells but squared himself decisively. Up to this time Pitcher Krelwitz, of the Duluth nine had behaved like a perfect gentleman as the third basewoman remarked parenthically between chews. Now, however, Krelwitz meant business. He would show these fellows that he was only extending courtesies to the ladies. The ball came swiftly but a long hard bat caught it squarely on the nose for a three-bagger and there were hairpins all along the baseline after the gum-chewer had run home. The next two ladies were caught out on flies and the side was retired after an interesting squabble had arisen on the bench between two of the baggy-trousered cohorts. It was over who should go to bat.

"You go, Nellie," said one.

"I shant either; I'm too tired," declared the other and she did not bat.

The one who happened to be around the plate just picked up a lining stick and smote the air when she felt like it. There was no batting order.

Then the Duluth boys came in from the field after stoping to chat with the girls and Pitcheress Maud Nelson wiped the ball on her trousers and tied her limbs into a bow knot in regulation style. Then she threw a good hard ball that fooled Krelwitz and much to his surprise he struck out. The next man at bat knocked a fly that caught in the folds of the third basewoman's bloomers as she tried to dodge it. Then another Duluthian came in for a base on balls, but stopped too long on second to chat with the second basewoman and the Duluth boys were retired with a goose egg.

And so it went for nine innings with both sides dodging the ball, the bloomers through fear and the Duluthians through gallantry. At the end of the game the score stood 14 to 11 in favor of the horrid boys, but everyone declared it was a funny affair.

There was a good attendance and it is a moderate estimate that 300 men told their wives they would be home late for supper on account of extra work at the office.

THE TABERS.

Julia Marlowe Taber and Robert Taber opened their two nights engagement at the Lyceum last evening. "As You Like It," Shakespeare's charming comedy, was the bill and a large and fashionable audience was present.

Mrs. Taber is the same sweet little woman that has always delighted Duluth audiences. There is something in her dainty manner, her perfect grace and her charming and expressive face which fascinates all who see her. Rosalind is one of her most pleasing parts. In the fainting scene when Rosalind's weakness almost reveals her sex she was especially good and the love scenes with Orlando were delightful.

Robert Taber makes a fine Orlando. He is making great strides in his profession, in fact shows more improvement than does Mrs. Taber.

Mr. Owen was excellent as Touchstone, the fool, and Henry Meredith as Jacques was good. Miss Woodward still plays the part of Celia and with entire satisfaction. Miss Wilson as Audrey and Mr. Lawrence as William gave two very comical impersonations. The entire cast is good.

The play was staged with great attention to detail. There was one bad break in the music but it was the fault of the prompter and not of the orchestra, and otherwise the music was excellent.

Tonight that other charming Shakespearean comedy, "Twelfth Night," will be produced.

There is a delicate and poetic charm about Julia Marlowe Taber's performance of Viola. This charm will always remain as the characteristic of one of the most pleasing impersonations in her repertoire. It reflects fully the personal attractiveness of the actress, and in that respect Mrs. Taber has no equal in the part, as no actress could possibly wear a male attire with more grace and refinement than does she in Viola. By a greater familiarity with the role her performance has gained in depth, in smoothness and in rounded outline. It requires but naturalness to make the part artistic.

Robert Taber is unusually successful as Malvolio. There are three ways in which the role may be interpreted—either by making Malvolio an eccentric fool, a comic butt or a witless prig, of the three Mr. Taber's conception comes more nearly the latter, and while indeed his over-weening self-love causes the most hearty laughter, yet his sincerity compels respect.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Judge Boyle Follows the Wise Man's Example.

A $6 pair of field glasses occupied the attention of Judge Boyle in the municipal court this morning. The glasses belonged to Peter Pierce, the janitor of the apartment building at 18 and 20 Third avenue west, and he claims they were purloined from his room by Mrs. Nellie Cattenagh, who roomed across the hall. The defendant set up the allegation that she found the glasses buried in the sand in the back yard. C. O. Baldwin, Mrs. Cattenagh's attorney, and Assistant City Attorney Benham had several hot tilts over the testimony, which was contradictory on several material points. Judge Boyle at first found Mrs. Cattenagh guilty, but afterward, on a statement from the defendant, he reserved his decision until he could visit the place where the glasses are alleged to have been found.

ELECTION

At Noon the Vote Cast Was One-third of That Registered.

Both Sides Are Very Confident and Claim to Have Won.

People Voting "No" on All Propositions May Prove a Factor.

The day dawned bright and clear and the sun shown out to an ideal election day. Early in the morning the working men crowded around the polling places and cast the early ballots. Later in the day the silk stocking vote took an inning and at noon the workers again were in the majority. By 2 o'clock about a third of the registered vote had been cast in the central wards and indications point to a heavy vote. In the outside wards there had not been so large a proportion of the votes cast but this is accounted for by the fact that a majority of the electors are working men and will cast their ballots after working hours.

At West Duluth out of a total registration of 1600 there had been 400 votes cast up to 12 o'clock and after the sawmills close tonight it is expected the proportion will be largely increased. More interest is being evinced today than at the previous bond election and little knots of excited men are to be seen standing on the street corners and discussing the probable outcome.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM IT.

Both sides are confident and claiming everything. At 2 o'clock William Craig, of the water company, was smiling and happy in the possession of what he claimed was indisputable news that the purchase proposition had carried by a heavy majority. The advocates of building are equally strong in the assurances that the purchasites are knocked out by a vote of 4 to 1.

The people who vote no on every proposition may prove more of a factor in the result than is anticipated, especially if the vote is close.

The judges at the Third precinct of the Fifth ward at Seventh avenue and West Superior street telephoned to the central station shortly before noon for a detail of officers to keep back a crowd of voters who were in too much of a hurry.

There were any number of meetings last night. At Hendricks' hall John M. Martin addressed a crowd in favor of purchase. At United States hall K. O. Ostergren addressed an audience in Swedish from the same standpoint. A. H. Harris and J. W. Nichols spoke at the Bethel.

John Rustgard spoke at the West End in favor of building, as did also F. W. Lonegren and S. D. Allen.

JOEL'S AMBITION.

Congressman Heatwole Wants to Be Our Governor.

Washington, Sept. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Heatwole, it is said here today, is a full fledged candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Minnesota next year. It is asserted to be his desire to first be elected governor and then to come to the United States senate as one of Minnesota's representatives in this branch. Whether he will succeed or not is a question that only the future can decide.

Washington, Sept. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota politicians in Washington assert that if Senator Davis is brought to the fore as a presidential candidate next year, Congressman Towne stands a better show to succeed him in the United States senate than any other man in Minnesota. Mr. Towne's record on silver and other prominent issues, say these men, tend to place him in an enviable position to make the race for Davis' seat in the upper branch of congress when the latter's term expires.

I also wish to thank the W. M. B. A. for the promptness with which the beneficiary of $1000, which he carried on his life in your association, was paid in full, it being just eight days from the day that the proofs of death were sent in, that the money was handed to me. Your kindly assistance will ever be remembered, and my heartfelt wishes will be for the prosperity of the order, and I heartily recommend the association to the insurable public. Sincerely yours,

MINNESOTA PYTHIANS.

Grand Lodge Annual Meeting in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Sept. 24.—The representatives hall at the capitol was thronged with representatives of the Pythian Grand lodge this morning. The session opened shortly after 10 o'clock and, without any unnecessary formalities, proceeded at once to business. The Grand lodge rank was first conferred on all the past chancellors present who have not received it before and after that ceremony, the grand officers presented their reports.

The first report presented was that of Grand Chancellor Hilsener, who congratulated the order on the progress it had made during a period of depression all over the country. Four lodges have been instituted during the year. They are Ivy lodge No. 135, at Fort Snelling; Howard lodge No. 136, at Howard Lake; Oakay lodge No. 137 at St. Paul and Evansville lodge No. 130 at Evansville.

During the last year four lodges have been consolidated. They were Germania No. 24, and Franklin lodge No. 248, Minneapolis, and Terrace City lodge No. 238 and Apollo No. 58, of St. Paul, who united under the name of Lincoln lodge. Two lodges have surrendered their charters. Both were in Faribault county. They were Thompson lodge No. 80 of Wells, and Blue Earth City No. 39, at Blue Earth City.

The lodges are commended for the hearty responses to the appeal of Benson lodge, which was burned out, and lodges are cautioned to carry insurance on their halls and furniture. Public installations are commended. The endowment rank in this grand domain now numbers forty-four sections with 528 members and an endowment of $920,000; a net increase since the last session of nine sections, thirty-seven members and $120,000 endowment. Since its organization the endowment rank has paid death benefits in this state amounting to $83,000. Only one appeal was made to the grand chancellor from the decision of a subordinate lodge during the year.

Fred E. Wheaton, grand keeper of records and seal summarized the condition of the order. The receipts of the grand lodge during the year were $6898.85, an increase of $1300.97 over the preceding year. The business affairs of the grand lodge for the year ending Aug. 31, 1894, were shown to have been conducted at a loss of $158.45, while for the year just closed a profit of $338.53.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Jackson Hole Troubles Bob up in Reports.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning has made his annual report to the secretary of the interior. It shows progress in nearly all directions. The only new important developments during a year is the trouble between the Bannock Indians and the whites at Jackson hole, Wyo. On this matter Commissioner Browning encloses a special report he made on Aug. 17. Since the report, however, the whole matter has been referred to the department of justice, and the agents have now reported that no Indians are now confined in Wyoming for violating game laws.

Those who were held have been allowed to escape. The department of justice does not see how redress can be obtained for the Indians who have paid their fines. The commissioner quotes from recent reports of Agent Teter that the Indians are still sullen, and that they demand that the whites who wronged them should be punished. The department of justice is asked to do something towards this end.

HUMANE ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting Being Held in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—The American Humane association met in nineteenth annual convention this morning at the West hotel. About 100 delegates were present. The association was welcomed by Mayor Robert Pratt, to whose words an appropriate response was made by President John G. Shortall, of Chicago. Secretary Francis G. Rowley, of the same city, made his annual report, summing up the association's work for the year. He showed that 6235 cases of cruelty to children and 4238 of cruelty to animals had been prosecuted. Treasurer E. C. Parmelee, of Cleveland, also made a report.

The report of Gaylord H. Thompson, secretary of the Colorado association, as to the failure to stop the recent bull fight at Gillette, Col., caused an animated debate. There was a disposition to censure Thompson for not stopping the fight at all hazards, and his report was finally referred to the resolutions committee.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 25.—A verdict of murder in the first degree was returned today against E. S. Croker, one of the most prominent stockmen of Wyoming, who has been on trial for two weeks at Evanston, charged with the murder in January of his partner, Harvey Booth.

HEATON'S BAD SHOOTING.

Norton, Kan., Sept. 25.—Morgan Heaton made a desperate attempt this morning to kill J. M. Craig, a Plattsmouth, Neb., banker, and failing turned his revolver on Cashier W. T. Shoemaker, of the Norton State bank. The bullet directed at the latter also went wide of its mark, and Heaton was finally arrested. Craig was one of the defendants in a case recently brought by Heaton's wife directed against Heaton.

MINNESOTA PYTHIANS.

Grand Lodge Will Conclude Its Sessions Today.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—The Pythian grand lodge is determined to complete its labors this evening and made quick work of the new constitution and by-laws. They formed an exceedingly voluminous document, but they were disposed of during the day. The report was adopted substantially as made by the commission. The changes were few and only in minor details. The laws of the grand lodge now conform in all particulars to those of the supreme lodge. It is provided that the grand lodge shall meet in the even numbered years in Minneapolis and in the odd numbered years in St. Paul, unless the grand lodge by a majority vote decides to meet elsewhere.

This afternoon the reports of committees were received, and in their reports they generally carried out the recommendations of Grand Chancellor Hilscher. The last thing this afternoon was the installation of the grand lodge officers. It had been expected that Supreme Chancellor Ritchie would be here and perform the ceremony, but he was unable to come, and the officers were installed by Supreme Representative Hunt. This evening Champion lodge will entertain the knights who remain in the city with work in the second rank.

SARGENT'S OPINION.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 25.—F. P. Sargent, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, says he has no information whatever of any attempt on the part of the Wabash railroad to get rid of the members of the brotherhood or those of any other organization, and he does not think there is anything in the reports thereof. He thinks the Wabash would be very foolish to attempt anything of the kind and says there is no excuse for it. He calls attention to the fact that during the A. R. U. strike these organizations refused to join in it, and therefore the Wabash and other roads ought to feel good will to them.

FIRE UNDERWRITERS CONVENE.

NEW YORK

The Democratic Convention Makes Nominations at Syracuse Today.

Tammany Delegates Seated and the Reformers Leave the Hall.

A Decided Victory For Tammany---Reformers Will Have a Ticket.

Minn Hist'l Society

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Chaotic and d[illegible]bing to the leaders, who have counselled harmony in Democratic ranks, is the situation this morning. The action at an early hour this morning of the committee on credentials was a surprise to everybody. Here is the reading of the resolution adopted:

"Tammany Hall is entitled to recognition in all future conventions as regular, and its delegates are to be placed upon the preliminary and other rolls thereof, and in the appointment of inspectors of election, the use of the party emblem, and in every other way in which the question of party organization may arise said Tammany Hall organization shall be recognized and seated as the regular organization of the party in New York county, but in the interest of harmony at this time the committee recommends, subject to the aforesaid conditions, that the sitting delegates, as well as the delegates known as the state Democracy, be admitted to the convention, with one-fifth of a vote to each state Democratic delegate and four-fifths of a vote to each Tammany Hall delegate."

The voting questions proposed, as to the admission of the state Democracy, are also a subject of conversation this morning. The questions propounded and the votes cast were: "Shall the delegates be admitted with one-third of a vote each?" The vote was 22 for, 27 against. Senator Hill voted "no." So did William B. Kirk, the representative of Onondaga on the delegation. B. J. York, of Kings, then offered a resolution that moved that the delegates be given seats with one-fifth of a vote. This was carried.

When the leaders and rank and file of the state Democracy had pondered the matter at breakfast, they had partially concluded that it would be better to take a fifth than to have nothing. Several of the prominent men believed that although a protest should be made at the smallness of the representations, still their people would be better satisfied if they had even a little voice in the convention, with the hope of more given to them next year, and also on the ground that the granting of a representation at all would be a concession.

Everett P. Wheeler, one of the leaders, was, however, firm in the faith that they should demand more and not accept the fifth. He said: "If we don't get what we ask for now, we may later on, but in any event we should not lower our standard and accept what is far below our rights." When Mr. Fairchild arrived he voiced about the same sentiments, and it began to look as if there was to be an absolute refusal on the part of the leaders to accept the propositions of the credential committee.

Mr. Fairchild called the meeting to order at 9:45, and Mr. Wheeler offered a resolution stating that the vote of the state Democracy entitled them as loyal Democrats to full recognition in the party, and that they should not accept the offer. This was adopted unanimously and a committee was appointed to go before the convention with the sentiment of the body refusing the representation given them. There was no excitement over the refusal, and the meeting lasted but a few minutes. Mr. Fairchild did not speak, and with the exception of the reading of Mr. Wheeler's resolution of refusal, nothing was said except that, when asked by a delegate as to what was offered, Chairman Fairchild said: "I understand that they offer us a fifth representation only and not anything else. No recognition whatever is given to us."

The meeting adjourned and the members decided to use their tickets and go to the hall as spectators. They decided to leave for New York at 3 o'clock. At the convention hall the delegates began to gather as early as 9:30. The band arrived about 10 o'clock and enlivened the place with popular airs which the delegates vigorously applauded.

THE CONTESTS SETTLED.

It was 11:25 a. m., when the gavel fell and committees' reports were called for. The report of the Queens and Oswego contests were read and agreed to without debate. When the New York contest was reached, the resolution as adopted in committee was read during intense quiet. Then, during a roar of applause, Delegate Patterson, of Kings, offered this:

Resolved, that upon the roll of the convention be placed the names of both sitting and contesting delegations from New York county and that the sitting delegation have seventy votes and the contestants thirty-five votes, and that the state Democracy elect four members of the state committee, and the sitting delegations eight; subject, however, to the conceding of the party emblem to the sitting delegations in case of difference in party ticket.

When the applause subsided he said: "In offering this substitute, I desire to occupy a few moments to state the reasons why we offer this substitute. I have in my hands the resolutions adopted this morning by the New York Democracy saying that they cannot with decency or dignity, accept the offer. (Applause and hisses.) To me, it seems that they are right. We are not making a step towards harmony, by adopting the committee's resolution. It will irritate them against the state organization and with respect to the committee, it ill befits the party to do this. If they are given their seats they must, according to the resolutions, come under the cloak of Tammany.

"If I understand the tempers of these gentlemen, they will never come here as delegates from Tammany. (Shouts and jeers.) I am a delegate here and I can at least have my say. I may do some good. At least I can do no harm. The gentlemen represent the pick of the business and social life. (Hisses.) Who are those gentlemen? (Cries of 'garroups.') "I say they are gentlemen."

"They never showed it," yelled a voice.

Senator Hill, from the aisle. "I trust the sergeant-at-arms will see that these interruptions cease." There was a cheer and then Mr. Patterson continued: "You may scoff if you please, but reform has come to stay and these gentlemen are reformers in the true sense of the word. Their actions in New York city have been just, when we consider the government of that city. It is idle to deny that there was room for reform as was certainly demonstrated by the investigation there. That some of the assertions of fraud and corruption were true is demonstrated by the fact that the thousands of Democrats voted with the Republicans and that the records show that 60,000 of our votes went from us controlled by those people who ask recognition here.

Mr. Bell, of Kings, chairman of the credentials committee, took the platform. He said: "I had the honor last night to preside over the largest committee ever at a Democratic gathering. The whole matter was detailed at length, and later in executive session the matter was carefully considered. Mr. Patterson was there and presented his resolution for a third. It was defeated by a large majority, and then by a large majority it was decided to give them one-fifth. Tammany objected and voted against it. We consider it fair, because both parties object to it. If it is an insult to offer one-fifth, it is an insult to offer one-third. (Hisses and groans.) We had great respect for the gentlemen of the contestants, but we had also to consider the question of the Democratic party of the state. I move the adoption of a resolution endorsing our attitude."

Senator Charles Guy, of Tammany, took the stage. One of his first assertions was that Tammany had upheld the Democracy for 100 years. A voice in the back part of the hall cried out: "Who slaughtered Winfield Scott Hancock?"

The chair: "The gentleman will cease his interruptions."

State Senator Guy and Thomas F. Grady spoke for Tammany Democrats. The latter said that "the state Democracy, with the German reformers to help them, was less than one-fifth. They have been given a fifth. Why ask for a half? It is surprising that they don't ask for more than that. This is a matter now of conscience, not politics. What would they do if they had a third? I venture a prediction. If for any motive they scorn the offer made here, from that moment they will be without a constituency. I had supposed that after the decision last night the kicking and cuffing would be over. Tammany, to the number of 109,000, will decide whether the action of this committee and convention is right or wrong."

The question was put by the chair, and the Patterson resolution was killed and the other resolution giving the state Democracy one-fifth adopted. The Grace-Fairchild people started to leave the hall, and as some of them filed out there was a repetition of the scene in the Democratic convention of 1894 at Saratoga. They were alternately cheered and hissed. When the tumult had subsided the report of the committee on permanent organization was read, and the chairman appointed John Boyd Thatcher and James N. Sheppard to escort ex-Governor Flower to the chair. Assuming the position of permanent chairman, Mr. Flower said:

GOVERNOR FLOWER'S SPEECH.

"I count myself out of active politics, but I am too earnest a Democrat to refuse the call of my party, if it needs my services, on such an occasion as this, and I feel proud at being asked to preside over the deliberations of a convention whose action will, as I believe, reflect the judgment and opinions of a majority of the voters in the Empire State at the next election.

"In victory or in defeat there is always one sure and lasting satisfaction in being a Democrat—and that is the consciousness of belonging to a party, which is, whatever else may be said of it, the party of the plain people, and the party which instinctively and naturally abhors political hypocrisy and false pretense. Democrats may make mistakes in policy or in conduct, but there is enough honesty about them which makes them shrink from political professions that are not genuine but are made only to deceive voters until after election day. Thank heaven the Democratic party is not a party of cant and hypocrisy.

"The memory of the people in New York is not short enough to forget entirely the promises with which the Republican party assumed complete power on Jan. 1, backed by an unusual expression of popular confidence, nor can it forget the melancholy, humiliating and disgraceful failure to redeem those promises, or the miserable fiasco which has followed every pretension of reform. No party within recent years assumed the powers of government in our state with a larger measure of public confidence, or with a greater opportunity of gratifying public expectation.

"Even a month of power was sufficient to expose the false pretense by which power had been obtained and to reveal professed reformers in their true light as political pirates. The lofty professions of morality and public duty before the assumption of power, degenerated afterward into a party feud for political spoils, the perversion of legislative power to personal cupidity and the betrayal of every genuine reform.

"I do not stand here in the perfunctory manner of partisans, on such occasions as this, to denounce the other party and to praise my own. I am merely stating what every intelligent voter in the state knows to be true and what every independent voter and every independent newspaper will tell you, namely, that the people who last November, under the impulse of moral sentiment, whether justly or unjustly aroused, placed the Republican party in power to accomplish desired reform, have been woefully disappointed and shamefully betrayed. And while such a political betrayal is always to be deplored, whether it bring advantages to party adversaries or not, it is, I am sure, a source of satisfaction, who felt the injustice of the position in which a combination of circumstances had placed their party last autumn to realize that their partisan opponents were misled and deceived public opinion for their own selfish purposes, are now completely unmasked."

After giving details of what Mr. Flower called "the contrast between Republican promises and Republican performances" the speaker expressed himself on national issues as follows: "I have alluded, as yet, only to matters of state concern, for in the coming election those are the questions of paramount interest, but federal issues cannot and will not be ignored. Fortunately for the Democratic party the tide is with us also.

"Every improvement in industry and commercial interests is a vindication of Democratic statesmanship, by the enactment of the Wilson bill. To their

American and Canadian Governments Represented.

Views of Leading Delegates Upon Various Deep Water Matters.

Cleveland, Sept. 25.—At the opening of the morning session of the deep waterways convention today a partial report of the committee on credentials was submitted, indicating the presence of 330 delegates from fifteen states and provinces. President Howland stated that he had received a communication from Sir Mackenzie Bowell, premier of Canada, designating an eminent engineer, Mr. Munro, to represent the Canadian government at the convention. Mr. Howland then invited Lieut. George P. Blow (who came to the convention as a representative of the United States government) and Mr. Munro to take seats on the platform. He said the action of the two governments in sending representatives did not in any way commit them to the policy of the convention.

Having been given a rule limiting speeches to ten minutes, discussion was declared in order, and Richard R. Dobell, of Quebec, and A. L. Crocker, president of the Minneapolis board of trade, gave abstracts of the papers which they had prepared on "Export Lumber and Timber Trade." "The Effect of Deep Water Between the Great Lakes and the Sea Upon the Export Lumber and Timber Trade" was the subject of the paper by Mr. Dobell. He said in part: "There is no other article of Western production that will derive so little benefit from the deepening of our waterways as lumber and square timber brought from Michigan and other points west of Lake Superior and Wisconsin.

"Unfortunately this trade is gradually being restricted, for the simple reason that the oak forests of Michigan, Ohio and Indiana are pretty nearly exhausted, so that it is difficult even now to get any size of logs necessary for the English market. For some years no lumber would be sent to Europe, and it will probably stimulate this trade a little and would certainly cheapen the cost could it be sent through without breaking bulk at Kingston, but the whole volume at present is not sufficient to make it much of an argument in favor of the expensive work required."

Mr. Dobell, in closing, cordially invited the convention to meet next year in Quebec.

George T. Wisner, of Detroit, read a paper on "Lake Levels," in which he suggested regulating the state of the water in Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan by means of a dam near the head of Niagara river. He said the cost of increasing the depth of lake water should be about $100,000 per foot, and for the principal harbors about $3,000,000, making a total cost of about $4,500,000 for each additional foot in depth obtained. This amount represented the value of each foot in depth that might be secured by regulating the lake levels in such manner as to vary but little from the present high water plane. It was probable that the fluctuations of lake levels, which under present conditions were over four feet, might be reduced to less than one foot, and the low water depths of channels increased at least three feet thereby.

Thomas T. Johnson also read a paper on "Lake Levels." He said their regulation will secure an increased navigable depth in the several lakes affected to the amount of several feet, besides rendering the depths at all times more nearly uniform and thereby enabling ships at all times to carry full cargoes. The utility with reference to what is preserved may be far more important. It is a fact that hydraulic conditions in the basin of the upper lakes especially have been undergoing a change, the effect of which is not determined and may never be. The forests are giving way to farms. The proportion of rainfall absorbed by vegetation is perhaps widely different from what it was formerly, and just to the extent that the farm has displaced the forest, to just such extent has there been an increase in the quantity of water used.

The address of L. R. Hurd, manager of the Daisy roller mill, of West Superior, was along the line of his own business experience. After calling attention to the lower prices resulting from foreign competition, he said cheap flour was what people wanted, and to sell wheat and flour against foreign competition we must be in a position to give a better flour than can be bought for the same money from other sources. No further reduction of price to the farmer is possible. The cost of making flour has in recent years been reduced to the minimum. The only hope, then, is in cheap transportation. With the completion of a canal of twenty feet from the great lakes to the Atlantic seaboard, two distinct and decided advantages over the present conditions will prevail, namely: First, a reduction of the cost of the transportation from lake ports to the Atlantic seaboard and to Europe; second, greater dispatch in the carrying and delivery of freight destined to the markets along the Atlantic ports and to Europe.

The effect of so radical a revolution in commerce cannot possibly be otherwise than wholesome, and its ultimate effect will be that of greatly stimulating our grain and flour business with the markets of the East and the New England states, as well as those of Europe. He compared ocean and lake freight rates with railroads to show the benefit from all water means of transportation, which he believed would be possible with a 20-foot channel to the sea. He hoped to see the day when ocean-going vessels would dock up at the wharves along the great lakes and carry unbroken cargoes to and beyond the ocean.

J. R. Oldham's paper was on the subject: "Is a Type of Vessel to Navigate Fresh and Salt Water Practicable?" Mr. Oldham thought he could design a large screw steamer that would answer fairly well for combined ocean and lake trade. Such a design would partake of a compromise between typical lake and ocean steamers. The speaker alluded to the difference between the loading and unloading facilities of the lake and ocean vessels, indicating the superiority of the former. He thought that there were but few vessels on the lake at the present time that were constructed strongly enough for the fall and winter trade on the ocean.

"It must not be forgotten," said Mr. Oldham, "that as soon as a deep waterway is opened to the ocean our steamers will have to compete with foreign vessels. In that competition the first cost of construction will be an important factor. The steamer I propose will not be too large to successfully compete with modern ocean tonnage but the draft of water to which such a steamer could be safely laden is too great for trading on these lakes. The cheapest type of a ship is a deep one and the dearest a broad one."

The paper prepared by Thomas Curtis Clark, of New York, was on the subject, "New York and Deep Water to the Great Lakes." "It is agreed by Americans," said Mr. Clark, "that New York is the port to be aimed at, and the question is how to cheapen transportation thither. The cost of transportation can be lessened either by very deep ship canals or by canals deeper than those at present in use connecting with lake vessels and requiring trans-shipments. If a ship canal is built at all it should be deep. It should at least provide for a vessel like the Victory, 308 by 48 feet, and carrying on 20 feet draft 7000 net tons, or 233,000 bushels of grain.

"The prism of the canal should have a bottom width of 150 feet and a depth of not less than 25 feet. It may be confidently stated that the increase in the dimensions of lake steamers during the last ten years has been so great that a canal 18 feet deep would be of no use. Public opinion should concentrate itself upon the following things: First, immediate improvement of the Erie and Oswego canals, upon which a vote is soon to be taken; second, construction of a ship canal not less than 25 feet deep around the falls of Niagara; third, surveying the Oswego and Albany route to see if such a canal can be built within practicable limits of cost; fourth, if fleets of steel barges can be built and insured so as to run both on the canal and on the lakes, the cost of transportation by them would be less than by a ship canal."

THE PEARSALL CASE.

An Appeal Taken to the Supreme Court.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—Judge Sanborn, in the United States court, has filed a final decree dismissing the bill in the case of Pearsall against the Great Northern railway. It will be remembered that the first decision was on an application for a preliminary injunction, and that the parties had the right to go on with the hearing on the merits, introducing evidence as is done in other actions.

But on appearing before Judge Sanborn they agreed to submit the case for final determination upon the bill and answer. The court had so thoroughly examined the case, which had been presented in all its aspects by able counsel, that he was willing to make final decree on the submission, and ordered the bill dismissed. Counsel for Pearsall gave notice of an appeal to the supreme court of the United States, which Judge Sanborn allowed.

THE DURRANT CASE.

Defense Charges the Minister With the Murder.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—The defense in the case of Durrant opened today. Attorney Duprey in his opening address made the sensational charge that Rev. John George Gibson, pastor of Emanuel Baptist church, where the tragedy occurred, was the murderer of Blanche Lamont.

HE SWINDLED HIS FRIENDS.

Detroit, Sept. 25.—The Evening News will publish a sensational story regarding the disappearance from Detroit of Edward E. Harvey, a well known heavy real estate operator and the supposed moneyed end of the clothing firm of Mabley, Harvey & Co., which collapsed several weeks ago after a short but showy existence. It is charged that Harvey, who was extremely popular, took advantage of social and fraternal ties to drag friends into speculation or pretended speculative schemes, until he had caught a score of them to the amount of over $160,000.

MRS. SCHOFF IS DEAD.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—Word was received at the St. Paul & Duluth offices today of the death of Mrs. Lucy A. Schoff, mother of W. N. Schoff, purchasing agent of the St. Paul & Duluth road. Mrs. Schoff lived with her son at the Marlborough, and when Mr. Schoff went East for a short vacation a short time ago, she went with him. In New York she was stricken with appendicitis, and died last evening as a result of an operation Saturday. The interment will take place at Kenosha, Wis., the old home.

BLACKBURN IS HOPEFUL.

Mexico, Mo., Sept. 25.—Capt. C. T. Allen, of this city, has received a letter from United States Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, in which he says: "When I first entered the race for reelection to the United States senate, things looked shady. Now I am reasonably sure of winning. Things look brighter every day."

HOW WE GROW.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—The bulletins of Hubbard, Houston and Isante counties were prepared and issued by the census bureau this morning showing material gains in each as follows: Houston county, 15,646, gain since 1890, 993; Hubbard county, 2447, gain 1035; Isanti county, 10,195, gain 2588.

IRISHMEN

Second Day's Work of the New Irish Freedom Movement.

Prominent Irishmen Selected as the First Set of Officers.

Chairman Finerty Proposed the Organization an Irish Standing Army.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—With renewed vigor the delegates to the Irish convention began their second day's work at Y. M. C. A. hall today. Little time was lost in preliminaries and the election of permanent officers was put through at a rapid pace and with uninterrupted harmony. The report of the committee on permanent organization has received without the slightest opposition, the following officers being unanimously elected: Hon. J. F. Finerty, chairman; J. P. Sutton, secretary; J. F. Keating, T. H. McGrever and J. O. Strain, assistant secretaries. Vice presidents: J. M. Kennedy, Montana; C. D. O'Brien, St. Paul; C. N. Driscoll, New Haven; P. J. Judge, Holyoke; Cornelius Harding, Pittsburg.

When the report of the committee on credentials was submitted it was received with some misfavor, after a few of the delegates because Dr. Paul M. Sheedy and John Madden, from the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and a convention of Irish American citizens of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, were refused seats in the convention. An amendment, seating the two was offered and a row was threatened for a time, but the committee was sustained by a liberal majority and the matter was dropped, the contestants credentials were not sufficient. Considerable enthusiasm was created by a motion to add O'Donovan Rossa to the list of vice presidents, but Mr. Rossa declined.

Any doubts as to the earnestness of the "new movement" toward the freedom of Ireland, were set at rest when Chairman John F. Finerty in an address to the convention, declared for an Irish-American standing army which shall be ready to do battle for Ireland whenever opportunity may present itself. The boldness of the plan as outlined by the ardent speaker created a sensation. That the chairman's views met with the approval of the delegates was proved by the hearty enthusiasm with which his speech was received.

He outlined a plan by which young Irish-Americans throughout the country shall be organized into military companies which will, as a whole constitute a standing army that may at the proper time strike for Irish liberty.

NON-PARTISAN SILVER.

Quite a Gathering of Advocates In Raleigh.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 25.—The non-partisan silver convention, called here by well-known Democrats, with ex-Justice James C. McRae as chairman, met here today. The call issued by the Democrats had been endorsed by Senator Marion Butler, and other prominent Populists and by Dr. J. J. Mott and a number of well known Republicans. Some three or four hundred persons attended the convention. It is not a delegated body.

Senator Butler presented a set of resolutions, agreed upon by a conference last night. These resolutions greet the silver men of other states in this great cause of restoring silver to its place as a money metal. They recommend to voters to elect only such senators, representatives and presidential electors as will declare on the stump their endorsement of such principles and request that other states hold such conventions as this and take similar action.

Secretary of State Cook (Dem.) offered an amendment striking the last two clauses and advocating that all other measures for relief be laid aside and only free silver considered. This was the position of the conservatives in the convention. His amendment was voted down.

MINNESOTA INDIANS.

Report on the Timber They Have Marketed.

Washington, Sept. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today the report of the commissioner of Indian affairs, Mr. Browning, for the present fiscal year, was sent to the secretary of the interior. This report states that under authority from the president on Dec. 24, 1894, the Indians on the White Earth reservation in Minnesota have, during the year, marketed 3,583,000 feet of timber, and from the Red Lake reservation about 835,000 feet, and the money therefor has been paid into the hands of the agent.

The prices paid were from $4.50 to $5 per 1000 feet, the latter price being paid for the timber on the Red Lake reservation. The Indians on the Leech Lake and Lake Winnebago reservations in Minnesota have repeatedly requested permission to engage in logging dead and down timber, but this was refused because there is no authority for such action.

TREASURY CONDITION.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Today's treasury statement shows: Available cash balance, $152,677,633; gold reserve, $95,493,434.

LONG STAFF BEING ERECTED.

A staff eighty-five feet in length is being erected today on the tower of the federal building and is for the use of the weather bureau in displaying signals. The lanterns will be lighted with electric lights and will be arranged so that they will be operated from the office in the building. The use of electric lights will enable the signals to be seen at a much greater distance than when the ordinary lanterns were used.

TACOMA

Resignation of the Northern Pacific Receivers Excites Interest.

Believe That it is a Move to Circumvent the Washington Court.

Others Think That New Receivers Will be Appointed Soon.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 25.—Great interest is taken in Tacoma in the resignation of the Northern Pacific receivers. The action is regarded by the well informed as the first of a series of shrewd moves by which the receivers and their counsel expect to have settled the question of whom the receivers shall report to and take their orders from. It is considered likely that one of two things will happen.

First, that the resignations will not be accepted, and the receivers will be directed by the Milwaukee court to proceed with the administration of their trust, and continue to report to Judge Jenkins, in which event they might refuse to recognize the right, or at least the propriety of Judge Hanford's court to interfere. This would practically narrow the contest to differences of judgment between co-ordinate branches of the federal judiciary. There is little doubt, however, but the receivers and their counsel will appear before Judge Hanford in compliance with this order.

Second, it is considered probable that if the resignations are accepted, or while under advisement, an arrangement will be made between the judges of the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth circuits, whereby Judges Jenkins, Caldwell and Hanford, respectively, will each appoint one receiver. In this event, it is supposed Judge Hanford would name a Seattle man; and it is suggested that Judge Jenkins and Judge Caldwell might reappoint two of the present receivers, probably allowing Mr. Payne to retire on account of ill health.

Receivers' counsel are preparing most actively for the coming legal battle, as is evidenced by the hurried trip of Judge Crowley, of Tacoma, special counsel to the receivers, to New York to consult with Counsel Cromwell. He spent five days there, returning yesterday to continue preparations at this end of the line. Judge Crowley will not talk regarding the case.

WHAT PRESIDENT IVES SAYS.

New York, Sept. 25.—President Brayton Ives, Michael Cordoso, counsel for the second mortgage committee of the Northern Pacific railroad, and Lawyer Howard, representing Elihu Root, counsel for the third mortgage committee, will start for Milwaukee and Seattle today. President Ives was found at the Union League club. He dictated the following in reference to the resignation of the Northern Pacific receivers: "Two or three explanations of the resignations occur to me, the first is the belief on the part of the receivers that the evidence which would be produced at Seattle in support of my charges against them would be so strong and convincing that they would be unable to refute it, and therefore would be discharged.

"Another reason that suggests itself to me is that they have thought of bringing the matter to an issue in Judge Jenkins' court before the time appointed for the trial in Judge Hanford's court, in order that they might secure an order or decision from Judge Jenkins which would be favorable to them, or oblige the appointment of receivers of their own notion, who would be in sympathy with them, or possibly their own reappointment, with the assurance from Judge Jenkins that he would sustain them to the full extent of his authority.

"These are the only reasons that occur to me at the moment. Inasmuch as I have been trying for two years to secure the removal of the receivers, chiefly on the ground that they were the nominees and agents of the men who wrecked the property, it is not strange that I should be glad to hear of their resignation. No matter what reasons they may give I think a large portion of the public will believe that they resigned because they dare not undertake the task of refuting my charges.

"I wish it understood that I have no personal ill-will toward any one of the receivers. They were appointed at the request of a party of unscrupulous wreckers, and were obliged either to continue the same methods of management or be false to the men who secured their appointment. While not charging them with having made money improperly, I do charge them with having squandered large sums of money belonging to the trust estate in an illegal and improper manner, and I believe that one reason why they are unwilling to file their accounts in Judge Hanford's court is that they are afraid to submit them to the scrutiny of impartial expert accountants."

ANOTHER SPEED RECORD.

Syracuse, Sept. 25.—All records for speed in long distance travel by railroad were broken this morning, by the New York World's special train which carried this morning's edition to this place. The distance between Albany and Syracuse, 148 miles was covered by the special in 130 minutes, an average of 68.3 miles per hour.

COTTON BELT'S INCOME.

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—The annual report of the Cotton Belt railroad (St Louis & Southwestern), for the year ending June 30, 1895, issued today is as follows: Gross earnings, $5,217,174; operating expenses, $3,917,221. Net earnings, $1,299,953; all other receipts, $24,319. Total income over expenditures, $1,264,272.

LARGE SALE OF BONDS.

New York, Sept. 25.—The largest sale of American railroad bonds of the year has escaped the attention of Wall street, owing to the extreme secrecy observed in such transactions by the firms prominently identified with the late government bond syndicate. A syndicate comprising a number of the most influential banking houses in New York and London have purchased from the reorganization syndicate of the Erie railway $15,000,000 of first consolidated prior lien 4 per cent bonds. It is understood that the larger proportion of the bonds will be disposed of in Europe.

CANADIAN SEALING CLAIMS.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 25.—Lord Aberdeen, the governor general, is hastening back to the capital to meet Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador at Washington, who will be here on Oct. 13. It is understood Sir Julian has received instructions to press for the immediate claims of Canadian sealers under the Paris award.

FRENCH SOLDIERS' HARD LUCK.

Toulon, Sept. 25.—Dispatches received here from Madagascar state that all the provisions of the French expeditionary force which was stored at Majunga have been spoiled by high tides. It is also reported that French soldiers stationed at Majunga are dying at the rate of thirty to forty a day.

WILL PRESENT HIS CHARGES.

Los Angeles, Sept. 25.—F. E. Colver, the clerk of the railway mail service, who preferred charges against Superintendent Flint, of San Francisco, has gone to Washington to present his side to the department. It is understood that the clerks opposing Flint made up a purse to defray Colver's expenses on the trip. Superintendent Flint is in Washington attending the convention of division superintendents of the service.

WHY?

QUESTIONS WOMEN ASK

Here Answered with Good Sound Reason.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Why do people say that Lydia E. Pinkham's treatment, especially her Vegetable Compound, effects cures beyond the physician's skill?

Because of the fact that a woman best understands a woman's ills. What man ever suffered a single pang like unto woman? Man works from theory only.

Why do tens of thousands of women write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., telling their most secret thoughts?

Because they know that their letters go straight to the hands of a woman, are opened, read, and answered by a woman, who as a woman has made woman's ills a life study, and because she never fails them, and cures cases which the doctor cannot.

The lady who asks that the following letter be published, gives concisely the uniform expression of gratitude contained in thousands of other letters in Mrs. Pinkham's possession.

"For eight years I suffered with neuralgia of the womb, backache, severe pains all through my body, and kidney trouble. None of the doctors did me any good. I took twelve bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and cannot thank you enough for the relief I found.

"I am now well cured of all those pains. I should advise every woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound who has any female trouble. I had a friend who was to go under an operation. I advised her first to try the Compound. She did, and is now so much better and stronger she has given up all thoughts of the operation." — Mrs. M. WILDE, 2137 Park St., Tioga, Pa.

WARSHIPS

New Craft to be Added to the Navy of the Mikado.

Large Number of New Men-of-War Already Contracted For.

Americans Secure a Valuable Mining Concession in Corea Lately.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—A local paper has the following advices from Tokio under date of Sept. 13: Two Japanese cruisers, Yoshinokan and Naminakan, noteworthy for their achievements during the China-Japan war, recently added to their records some valuable services in the Formosa campaign; steaming along the west coast of the island they bombarded barracks, shelled strong positions, landed parties of marines to capture villages held by insurgents, and materially facilitated the operations of the troops.

Japan's ship building for the next five years has been definitely settled. In addition to the two large ironclads now building in England, she is to have four battleships of the Royal Sovereign type, two cruisers of 7500 tons and four cruisers of 4500 tons, and a number of smaller craft. When this program is carried out her fleet will comprise six first-class line-of-battleships, each more powerful than any vessel flying a foreign flag in Eastern waters, together with a large squadron of magnificent fast cruisers.

Much attention has been attracted in Japan by intelligence that the king of Corea granted exclusive mining rights in the province of Phyong-an-do for a period of twenty-five years to an American trading company, a firm well known in the East. The only condition attached to the grant is that the capitalists shall pay one-fourth of their profits to the royal treasury.

The Japanese press accuses its people of want of enterprise for allowing themselves to be thus forestalled by an American.

MRS. TOMPKINS FOUND.

She Disapppeared in Chicago Two Years Ago.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—The Examiner says that Mrs. E. F. Tomkins the Eastern turf writer, who mysteriously disappeared from Chicago two years ago, has been found in this city. She is at present with Norman Brough, the official handicapper for the California Jockey club. She came to this city with him from Saratoga in 1892. At that time Brough was a writer on racing matters in Turf Topics. Both are well known in the East and Brough is quite a figure in local sporting circles. Mrs. Tomkins' disappearance caused no end of talk when her absence became known.

From time to time speculative articles have appeared in the Eastern papers wondering why she left her home, and regarding her present whereabouts. About Oct. 11, 1892, Mrs. Tomkins left for her husband at Washington, D. C., for a visit to her mother in St. Louis, taking with her their only child, a boy 3 years old. Ill health was the reason for the change.

October 15, 1893, she concluded to go to Chicago to visit the World's fair. Her mother protested without avail. She boarded a Wabash train at St. Louis, reached Chicago, and that was the last heard of her. Her mother telegraphed to Tomkins in Washington and he arrived in Chicago on Oct. 20 in search of his wife. He enlisted the services of the Chicago police, but no trace of the woman could be found.

IT IS GOOD JUDGMENT

To Seek for Vigor When Run Down and Debilitated.

A Sure Specific for Nervous Debility and a True Invigorator for Blood, Brain, Nerve and Muscle Found in Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets.

It is given to comparatively few of us in these modern days of fast living, hard working and much worrying to be and to remain keyed to concert pitch all the time. We can neither work nor play effectively if our nerves are out of order, if our blood is poor in quality or lacking in quantity. The evils of nervous dyspepsia, nervous rheumatism, sleeplessness, restlessness, exhaustion, brain fatigue, general lassitude, impaired vigor and all the kindred ills arising from poor nerves and bad blood are very real and very wearing. Cheerfulness is as near godliness as cleanliness and who can be cheerful when suffering either actively or passively?

The virtues of the Kola nut (when the undried, fresh and specially imported specimens of which Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets are prepared are used) are not in question. They are as real and as widely acknowledged by physicians as are those of quinine. They will do for you what they have done for him whose letter is herewith quoted:

Elmer H. Dearth Agency, St. Paul, Sept. 9, 1895.

Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.:

Gentlemen: It seems to me to be only fair, when one has been benefited by a remedy, to bear witness to that effect. Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets have, most certainly, benefited me and I therefore write and tell you so. The Tablets are all that you claim for them as an invigorant, a preventative of sleeplessness and nervousness and a general systemic tonic. I had taken the remedy a few days only when I began to feel its good results and now my system—nerves, muscles and blood all participating—is keyed up to a pleasant pitch it had not reached for years before. Yours truly,

A. J. McAvinche.

Price $1.00 per package (one month's treatment). Kola booklet free. Be sure Dr. Charcot's name is on each package. Sold by all druggists or sent direct by Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.

DENY ANY FRAUD.

Wyoming Officials Write to Hoke Smith.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 25.—Governor Richards and other Wyoming state officials today sent an open letter to Secretary Hoke Smith, of the interior department, denying generally and specifically the charges of fraud made by Robert Foote, state senator from Johnson county, against certain state officials and prominent citizens of Wyoming, and published in the People's Voice, a newspaper of this state. The letter denies the charge of fraud made by Mr. Foote and corrects a number of misstatements concerning the mode of procedure of the state land board under the Carey land act, and gives the correct manner by which applications for land under the Carey act are considered and acted upon by the state engineer and other state officials.

It denies that Mr. Mondell, the present member of congress, Mr. Hay, the state treasurer, and Mr. Gilchrist have been given water under this act for any lands in the state. It asserts that neither Senator Warren nor Senator Clark have any interest, direct or indirect, in any of the irrigation enterprises mentioned in Mr. Foote's letter. The letter gives in detail the action of the land board and state engineer in considering applications for selections of land under the Carey act. These applications are six in number, aggregating 102,000 acres of land. Some of the persons applying are Democrats, some Republicans, and the political faith of others is unknown.

The letter concludes: "As officers of Wyoming, proud of our state and jealous of her good name, we feel deeply mortified at having to consider seriously this lying and libelous publication, concocted and given publicity by one of our own citizens, and which does not end with an attempt to assassinate the reputation of the state officials, but attacks honorable citizens in other states who in good faith in accordance with our laws are giving their money and energy to the development of our resources.

"Mr. Foote was one of the two members of the last state legislature who opposed the acceptance of this grant, but his opposition then, as now, was personal and based, as is his letter, on misrepresentation and personal abuse."

YAQUIS INDIANS.

Battle Near the Border With Some Ranchmen.

Hermosillo, Mex., Sept. 25.—Information reaches here of a fight between a scouting party of ranchmen and a band of twenty Yaqui Indians in the mountains southeast of here. The Indians had been making attacks upon the ranches of the stockmen and had burned a number of ranch buildings and driven off several hundred head of stock. The ranchmen organized a party and went in pursuit and came upon them in the mountains. They fired upon the Indians and the latter stood their ground. The battle resulted in the killing of five Indians and the wounding of several others. Three ranchmen were killed and five wounded.

KILLED BY YAQUI INDIANS.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 25.—Word from Guaymas conveys the intelligence that in the Yaqui River valley, in the Mexican state of Sonora, Gen. Tiburico Otero, a retired officer of the Mexican army, was yesterday attacked by Indians and so severely wounded that his life is despaired of.

EXPORTS OF SILVER.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—When the Pacific mail steamer City of Rio de Janeiro sailed for China and Japan with passengers and merchandise she carried away the largest amount of treasure which has been taken to the orient in over two years. The total amount from the various banks and Chinese merchants netted $1,134,200, of which sum $905,400 was in Mexican dollars and $277,000 in silver bullion. This sum will bring the total amount of treasure exported to China and Japan this month to a figure exceeding $3,000,000. The Coptic, the last steamer to sail, carried $1,000,000.

FATAL LAMP EXPLOSION.

Pittsburg, Sept. 25.—By the explosion of a lamp in the dwelling of Leon Kuchinsky on the South Side this morning, two daughters, aged 6 and 8, were fatally burned. Dr. L. S. McDonald, who rescued the children from the flames, was severely burned and will probably lose the sight of one eye.

AN IRRIGATION ROW.

Secretary Alles is Angered at a Dispatch.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 25.—Fred Alles, who has been secretary of the several irrigation congresses that have been held in the West for some years, has been very much annoyed by the dispatch that was sent out from Albuquerque to the effect that he had falsified the minutes of the last congress held here, and he had in them claimed to have been the recipient of a vote of thanks that had in fact never been offered him.

Mr. Alles states that the dispatch is untrue in every particular, and that the resolution was written and introduced by Hon. George Q. Cannon, of Utah, and was passed by a rising vote of the congress. C. A. Hintz, publisher of an afternoon paper, a few days ago received a letter which stated that Mr. Alles had done nothing but what was right. There seems to be a question of veracity in the affair that promises to develop some interesting details. Mr. Alles seems to think that Mr. Hintz inspired the offensive dispatch. On the other hand, Mr. Hintz comes out in a card, over his signature, exonerating Mr. Alles from the aspersions contained in the dispatch.

PLENTY OF PENSIONERS.

About a Thousand Increase During the Year.

Washington, Sept. 25.—A year ago, Commissioner of Pensions Lochren said that the limit had probably been reached in the number of pensions, or rather in the amount to be yearly appropriated for pensions, but that for two or three years the payment would remain about the same. It was his opinion that there would be a slight reduction in the number of pensioners on account of deaths, but that the allowance of new pensions with back pay and arrears would probably keep the amount about even.

While the amount of money paid for pensions will not be materially different from that of past years, it appears that there has been added to the pension rolls during the year about 1000 names in excess of those that have dropped out, so there has been an increase instead of a decrease. There have been a great many outstanding pension claims adjusted during the year and that accounts for the large increase. The year has not been very fatal to pensioners, the death rate being less than would be anticipated at the time of life at which the veterans of the late war have arrived.

CHIPPEWA COMMISSION.

Secretary Smith Defines Maj. Baldwin's Duties.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Secretary Smith has written a letter to Mr. Baldwin, the chairman of the Chippewa Indian commission, defining his duties, and answering certain questions which Mr. Baldwin has asked relative to the settlement of the affairs of the commission and closing up the work for which it was commissioned. The commission has been in existence six years, and now that it is about to cease to exist it will leave considerable work to be done, but this may be performed by the Indian agent at White Earth.

None of the ceded lands have yet been sold, because of a provision that all must first be appraised before any are sold. An effort will be made in the next congress to have the law modified so that such lands as have been appraised can be sold and the money used to pay the Indians and to reimburse the United States for the expense incurred by the commission and the appraisers of lands.

INDICTMENT WAS DISMISSED.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 25.—An indictment which has been pending in the district court of Sweetwater county, charging Capt. P. H. Ray, United States army, with misbranding cattle with intent to steal, has been dismissed and the defendant discharged. Capt. Ray, while acting Indian agent at the Shoshone agency, caused some cattle which had been unlawfully sold by a former Indian agent to be seized and branded with the brand of the United States. There being no evidence of an attempt to steal, the indictment was dismissed.

It was stated at headquarters this morning that they might start up on Nov. 1, possibly sooner, and that there is no likelihood of their starting on Oct. 1, as had been previously announced.

Post election talk is all that could be heard on the streets this morning. West Duluth went strong for building and the majority of the people appeared happy over the result. At the Third precinct it is reported that things became so warm and personal at one time that one glib talker received a slap in the face.

beneficent measures every increase in wages, every advance in business, every recent sale of American securities in Europe, every recent opening of mills, is distinctly due. The hard times which followed the fright caused by the Sherman law are rapidly disappearing under favoring conditions, and for recovery from hardship and depression credit must be given to the party which has the sagacity to remove the causes of financial and industrial disaster and provide sound legislation, under which business and manufactures can legitimately prosper.

"Danger of a depreciated currency now is gone and tariff duties are no longer so high as to restrict foreign commerce and over stimulate a few Democratic industries at the expense of the many. The best proof that the Democratic position on the tariff is right is found in the universal revival of industry since the enactment of the new law. Our woolens are already finding markets in England and our iron and steel mills are humming with new business.

"Under such conditions no Republican attacks can undermine the Democratic vantage ground. The people will not be easily deluded nor can their confidence be shaken in the integrity and intelligence of the Democratic federal administration at whose head is honest and courageous Grover Cleveland. The contest we are beginning is the preliminary contest for next year's great political battle in the nation. Democratic success this fall in New York will make Democrats everywhere lift up their heads and buckle on their fighting armor. Victory here now will do much to secure victory in the nation. So let us subordinate all selfish or local interest and join each in restoring to power the party to which we belong and in which we believe."

The platform as adopted by the convention was as follows:

THE PLATFORM.

The platform makes the following declaration of principles and policy:

First: Home, the first essential condition of good municipal government, local jurisdiction and control over purely local affairs; no legislative meddling.

Second: Economy in public expense. No public money for private purposes or political jobs; strict audit of official expenditure; a low tax rate.

Third: Honest in public office, no tainted legislators; no corrupt traffic in legislation; clean men and free agents.

Fourth: Equal and honest enforcement of all laws; a proper observation of a day of rest, and an orderly Sunday; modifications or repeal of law unsupported by public opinion; no unjust sumptuary laws; no blue laws; recognition of the fundamental American principle of freedom of conscience; home rule in excise as well as in other matters, within reasonable limitations established to protect the interests of temperance and morality and an amendment of the excise and other laws by the legislature of the state which shall permit each municipality expressing its sentiments by a popular vote of a majority of its citizens to determine what in such proper legislative restrictions as shall be required by the interests of the entire state what may best suit its special necessities and conditions.

Fifth: The attempts of prominent Republican politicians in the large cities of the state to repeal the excise platform are renewed evidences of their hypocrisy and dishonesty on the excise question and for their desire to deceive the people.

Sixth: Equal taxation; no unjust discrimination; no favored interests; no partial legislation, home rule in methods of strictly local taxation.

Seventh: Individual liberty; the right of all citizens to equal opportunities before the law; equal and exact justice to all men.

Eighth: Honest elections; compulsory official accounting of expenditures by political committees as well as candidates; personal registration of voters as a safeguard against fraud.

Ninth: Practical and honest reform in the civil service.

Tenth: Intelligent and liberal promotion of agriculture.

Eleventh: Improved highways of travel throughout the state in the interest of our citizens and especially the farmers and bicycle riders.

Twelfth: Beneficial and needed legislation in the interests of labor. Opposition to combinations, trusts and monopolies in restraint of competition in trade; improvement in and the maintenance of the canal of the state, in accordance with the time-honored policy of the Democratic party.

Thirteenth: Federal taxation for revenue only; no government partnership with protected monopolies; no meddling with the present reformed tariff to the injury and unsettling of business and industries.

Fourteenth: Sound money, gold and silver the only legal tender; no currency not convertible into coin; gradual retirement and extinction of the greenback currency; no free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Fifteenth: Strict construction of federal constitution; rigid maintenance of the reserved rights of the state; no force bills.

Sixteenth: No entangling alliances with foreign nations; the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine; no jingoism. We reaffirm the Democratic national platform of 1892 and congratulate the people that Democratic legislation and Democratic administration have successfully brought the country out of the disastrous financial and industrial condition to which it was plunged by the ill-conceived acts of the Republican party. We endorse the administration of President Cleveland, the platform closes with a denunciation of the last Republican legislature.

The nominations were then gone through with quite rapidly, the result being as follows:

THE NOMINATIONS.

The full ticket, as nominated, principally by acclamation was as follows:

Secretary of state—Horatio C. King, of Kings.

Comptroller—John B. Judson, of Fulton.

State treasurer—D. C. Dow, of Schoharie.

Attorney general—Norton Chase, of Albany.

State engineer—Russell Stuart, of Onondaga.

Judge of court of appeals—John G. Teller, of Auburn.

The convention at 2:18 adjourned sine die.

A REFORMERS' TICKET.

Charles S. Fairchid, of New York, said when he left the convention today: "The Associated Press can announce that we will have a ticket of our own on all local issues."

"Will you affiliate with the Republicans?"

"I don't know; as we have not yet made a decision."

SWEET, BUT STRANGE.

'Tis sweet when sordid cares distress
And apprehensions thrill,
When griefs of yesterday oppress
And hope today is still,
To meet some old-time friend again
With whom glad hours were spent,
And hase him pay you five or ten
That you'd forgot you lent.
—Washington Star.

Nothing to complain of —the woman who uses Pearline. Nothing to complain of in the washing and cleaning line, anyway. And certainly the proprietors of Pearline can't complain. If you only knew how many women, every day, are making up their minds that the old, wearing, tearing, tiresome way of washing doesn't pay!

It's growing bigger than ever—the success of Pearline; though it has to fight not only against all kinds of poor imitations, but against a sort of superstition that anything which can save so much labor must be harmful in some way.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 480 JAMES PYLE, New York.

ACTIVE

Good Business Done on the Duluth Board In Wheat Today.

It Started Up With a Whirl, But Soon Dropped Back.

The Flax Market Was Lively and a Sharp Advance Scored.

Wheat started up with a whirl today, but soon thought better of it and went meekly back to below last night's close. The advance was a continuation of that which occurred on the curb last night, started by a report of excitement abroad over a shortage in the Russian crop. Today's cables, while firm, failed to advance any excitement on the other side however, and the shorts quickly recovered from their fright. The Northwestern receipts were considerably lighter that they have been of late, and that, together with liberal shipments of wheat and flour from New York, formed about the sum total of the bullish news which was circulated during the time of the early advance.

The Minneapolis receipts were 504 cars and Duluth 304, or 808 together, compared with 880 cars a year ago. New York shipped 194,000 bus of wheat and 27,000 bbls of flour. The amount of wheat inspected into store at Chicago consisted of 76 cars and 60,000 bus by lake, 25 cars were from irregular city houses and 15 cars of new red winter, none of which graded as high as No. 2. Liverpool was quoted as opening firm at ½d advance. New York sent bear news and selling orders. They wired that the Northwest was selling more wheat than at any time this season. Minneapolis reported a good demand for flour.

The Liverpool Corn Trade News cabled details of the world's wheat and flour shipments of last week, which amounted to 9,964,000 bus and against 7,100,000 bus cabled yesterday from London to the Chicago board of trade. Second cables came weak and lower from Liverpool, leaving a decline for the day, and although Berlin was quoted from 1 mark to 1½ marks higher, Paris reported a decline. No export demand was known at the seaboard, but the heavy total of 627,000 bus was cleared in the last twenty-four hours. The primary market receipts were 893,000 bus against 775,000 bus last year.

Business on the Duluth board was of good proportions and fairly active. December started ½c up at 58¼c but soon declined to 57¾c, and then fluctuated between 57⅝c and 57¾c until near the close when it eased off to 57¾c. May opened ⅝c up at 62½c, declined to 61⅝c, reacted ¼c and then ruled dull. Cash business was heavy, the shippers taking about 400,000 bus and the mills 60,000 bus, the latter paying ⅞c under the December price. The close was ⅛c lower than yesterday for cash No. 1 hard, ⅝c down for lower grades of cash, ¼@¼c lower for September and October and ⅛c lower for December and May.

The flax market was again active. The receipts are large and the demand is quite active. There were sales of about 250,000 bus and the market was strong, an advance of 4½c being scored, September and October flax selling up from 98c to $1.02½, with the close at the top figures of the day. Following were the closing prices:

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 207 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The wheat market opened strong and advanced 1¼c over yesterday's close but quickly reacted on realizing sales. It was firm most of the session and did not fall below yesterday's close until the last few minutes, when a concerted drive was made at it by bears. The exports were large, 637,000 bus in wheat and flour. St. Louis, Toledo and Detroit reported a good cash demand at good premiums over Chicago. The San Francisco market was said to be excited on foreign buying. On the whole the news was more encouraging than at any time for several weeks, but the bear pressure proved too much for the market.

Corn and oats have been very sluggish. Provisions unusually dull, half an hour at a time between trades.

Stocks—The stock market was dull most of the session. Gas and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy sold off shortly after the opening but later rallied to about last night's close. We still believe the whole list is a good purchase.

Puts, December wheat, 58⅝@¼c.
Calls, December wheat, 59⅝@60c.
Curb, December wheat, 59¼c.
Puts, May corn, 29⅝c.
Calls, May corn, 29¾@¼c.

TELEGRAPH OF THE NERVES.

Popular Science Monthly: The nerves of warm blooded animals telegraph information to the brains at the rate of about 150 feet per second. When anyone puts his hand on hot iron he does not feel it until the nerves have sent the message to the brain, and in the interval his hand has been burned. It is thought that this would not be the case if the nerve message were transmitted with the intensity and velocity of electricity transmitted over a copper wire to a brain acting with the promptness of a Leyden jar.

MAKE A RETORT.

Pioneer Fuel Company Cross Libels the Steamer Nyanza.

In the case of James McBrier et al against one cargo of hard coal, an admiralty court action, the Pioneer Fuel company, which is virtually the defendant, has made what might be termed the "retort courteous." The plaintiffs are owners of the steamer Nyanza and claim $2000 damages caused by the delay in unloading the boat. The fuel company took exceptions to the plaintiffs' complaint, but Judge Nelson overruled them.

Now the company comes in and not only makes answer, but files a cross libel for the same sum, $2000. The claim is made that the Nyanza collided with another boat on the trip on which the coal was carried and partially sank; that this caused great damage to the coal, the boat having carried ore before, and the iron ore rust working into the coal. The claim is also made that the boat tied up at the company's dock and refused to get out of the way so other boats could unload. For all of this $1200 damages is asked. Further than this the company asks $800 damages because of the tying up of the cargo of coal by the vessel owner's seizure.

Judge Nelson granted the order for a monition and the vessel owners will have to give a bond.

ST. PAUL OFFICIALS COMING.

Some time ago the city of Duluth, through its proper officials, extended an invitation to the members of the common council of St. Paul to pay a visit to the Zenith City. The invitation has been accepted, and Friday, Oct. 4, has been chosen as the time for starting. The following have signified their intention of making the trip: W. R. Johnson, John Copeland, T. Reardon and wife, O. H. Arosin, J. J. Parker, C. E. Robb, E. H. Milham, J. A. Wolf, Thomas Montgomery, A. F. Gauger, Edward Murphy, Robert Hare, Joseph Ehrmanntraut and Robert H. Seng.

A business man is not the most patient creature in the world. He cannot wait to hear any long-drawn-out story of the cause of his ailment. He doesn't care two straws about a fine spun theory of how he should treat himself. He may be predisposed to scrofula, or consumption. "That," he will tell you "has nothing to do with the case." He wants to be well. If he can be cured, write out a prescription and send in your bill. So, here's the first part of the proposition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a microbe hunter and killer. Many persons of scrofulous blood, encourage the breaking out of unsightly sores, to prevent the disease going to the lungs. There is no need of this state of dread and discomfort. Purify the blood. It can be done. "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure 98 per cent. of all consumptive cases, also of all other lingering, bronchial, throat and lung diseases. Sold by all medicine dealers.

HIGH-WATER MARK.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Minn., Sept. 25.—Fair weather has continued in all districts, except Manitoba and the extreme northern portions of North Dakota and Minnesota, where light showers are reported.

There has been a slight fall in temperature in Montana. It has become decidedly warmer in all other sections during the past twenty-four hours.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 56; maximum yesterday, 68; minimum yesterday, 50.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity until 7 p. m. tomorrow: Showers, followed by generally fair; slightly cooler tonight and Thursday; westerly winds becoming brisk.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Officer.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Forecast until 8 a. m. tomorrow: Wisconsin: Cloudy weather; slightly lower temperature Thursday evening; brisk southwest winds. Minnesota: Fair tonight and Thursday; slightly cooler tonight and Thursday; west to northwest winds.

Depth of water over miter sill in St. Mary's ship canal 14 feet 4 inches and the forecast is that it will rise during the ensuing twenty-four hours. Upper lakes: Partly cloudy weather and probably showers over Lake Superior; fresh to brisk southerly to southwest winds, probably becoming high over Lake Superior.

Generally fair weather has prevailed in all districts except in extreme Northern Minnesota and thence over the region north of North Dakota and Eastern Montana, where showers have fallen. The temperature has risen generally throughout the lake regions. Brisk south to southwest winds are indicated for the upper lake regions and showers are likely to occur in the Lake Superior district.

NOW LET US BUILD.

The special election on the water question resulted, as The Herald predicted, in an overwhelming majority in favor of the proposition to build an independent plant by the city. The result has been a foregone conclusion for a week past. Despite all the efforts put forth by the advocates of purchase of the company's plant, they were completely snowed under all over the city. The strong arguments in favor of building an independent plant and against the attempt to foist the company's plant upon the city at an exorbitant price were all powerful. Their presentation by The Herald and by the speakers at the meetings in favor of building convinced the people that the proper course, in the interests of the city, was to reject the company's proposition and to proceed with the construction of an independent city plant. There really was but one side to the question. All the strong arguments were in favor of building. It was admitted even by the most persistent advocates of purchase that the price asked by the company was excessively high, and it was clearly demonstrated that nearly $1,000,000 could be save to the city by building an independent plant. There was no doubt on these two points, and consequently there could be no question as to the verdict of the people, when the facts were clearly presented to their consideration.

The people have spoken, and the carrying out of their decree now rests with the common council. In view of the heavy majority given in favor of building, the duty of the council is clear. It must at once proceed to negotiate the sale of the necessary bonds to begin the work of constructing an independent plant, after a test case has been brought and the legality of the bonds decided by the courts. The first step is to lay a main from the point where the present system ends at the eastern limits of the city to a point to be selected on the north shore where the new intake pipe is to be located. The plans prepared by ex-City Engineer Reed are all ready for the beginning of this work, and there need be little delay beyond the time necessary to sell the bonds needed for this purpose. When this part of the water system has been completed, the gas and water company will probably be ready and willing to sell its plant to the city for an amount much nearer its actual value than was named in the proposition which was rejected by the people yesterday. Then it may be deemed advisable to purchase this plant and place it in proper shape in preference to paralleling it.

But that is in the future. The duty of the hour is to start the construction of the supplementary system. The people look to the aldermen to obey without delay the decision which was recorded yesterday.

THE HERALD'S ENDORSEMENT.

The Herald is much gratified with the result of yesterday's election, not only because it is for the best interests of the city but because it endorses the attitude of The Herald which was the only paper in Duluth to advocate the building of an independent plant. The Herald steadily and earnestly advocated this course, and under its leadership the citizens committee, which was organized to prevent the consummation of the scheme to saddle the existing plant upon the city for a sum that is twice its actual worth, made a winning fight. It was not a half victory either. It was a sweeping triumph, the supporters of purchase being downed by a vote of two to one.

The vote also evidences the paltry influence which the News Tribune possesses. It has for weeks devoted the greater portion of its space to arguments in favor of purchasing the company's plant and it has urged and entreated its readers to vote on that side. Either its readers are few in number, or its influence with them is decidedly weak, because the majority against purchase is heavy. It probably lost some votes for the purchase side of the campaign by the very unfair course which it pursued towards the advocates of an independent plant. Their honest motives were assailed, their statements were distorted and their meetings were misrepresented in the news columns of the News Tribune. This policy disgusted every one.

On the other hand, The Herald treated those opposed to its views with the utmost courtesy and fairness and published all the communications which they offered. The Herald's news columns gave the news only, fairly and impartially and with an entire absence of prejudice. It followed the true newspaper policy of giving all the news without bias and confining the expression of its own views to the editorial page. That its views were adopted by such a large majority of the voters is pleasing. It is an endorsement of its course, of which The Herald feels proud.

THE CUBAN PATRIOTS.

The Washington correspondent of The Herald stated a few days ago that it is believed at the capital that the administration will soon take some action in regard to the recognition of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents. Mr. Olney is credited with a friendly feeling towards the Cubans who are fighting against Spanish misrule and oppression and seeking to throw off the Spanish yoke and make Cuba free, and it is stated that the administration may soon take steps to show its sympathy with the Cuban patriots. So far the insurgents have not applied for recognition as belligerents, but it is expected that they will make such an application at an early date.

There was a significant editorial upon Cuba the other day in the New York Times, which has always been regarded as voicing President Cleveland's views. It is thought that the editorial in question represents Mr. Cleveland's idea of the attitude the United States should assume towards the people of Cuba who are battling for their independence. The Times repeats the familiar reasons for favoring Cuban independence and dwells particularly upon the war of extermination which it is understood Spain proposes to wage as soon as reinforcements are landed at the front and the weather will permit. It also alludes to the commercial relations between Cuba and the United States and the heavy losses America will sustain. But these are minor considerations, the Times asserts. "There is in the fate of Cuba a higher principle involved than the question of material interests. There are at stake the great interests of humanity and of liberty which have always ruled the feelings of the American people. These principles rise higher than the technical rules of international law. 'Summum jus, summa injuria,' was a dictum of the Romans, who were not a sentimental people. It may, in fact, be said that most of the great departures in the history of nations have been deviations from the technical lines drawn in the name of international law. The American people are essentially a law-abiding and law-respecting people, and their respect extends to international obligations. But Cuba's heroic struggle and the brutal determination expressed by Spain may raise the question where the international obligations lie."

There is no doubt that the sympathy of this country is with the Cuban patriots in their struggle with the Spanish authorities and should the administration take action favorable to the Cubans, it would receive strong endorsement throughout the Union.

AN EMPHATIC VERDICT.

The News Tribune does not accept its defeat gracefully, but attempts to belittle the great majority by which the citizens of Duluth yesterday decided to build an independent water plant. It attributes the defeat of the proposition to purchase to the stay-at-homes and says that less than one-half of the total vote of the city was polled. The News Tribune should be thankful that there were so many stay-at-homes, because a larger vote would have certainly increased the majority in favor of building. The managers on the purchase side left no stone unturned to get out all their strength. They used all possible means to poll every vote that could be secured for their side, and they employed all the methods known to skillful politicians. They had a splendid organization and pulled every string at their command to obtain a victory. In the list of stay-at-homes there were comparatively few who would have voted in favor of purchase.

As special elections go, yesterday's vote was large. It was much greater than the vote cast at the special election on the same question a year ago. It was the largest vote ever polled at a special election in Duluth, so that the News Tribune can make no capital out of the size of the vote. Nor need it delude itself with the idea that those who led the fight for an independent plant are not in earnest. When it says that the leaders in this successful fight "have never believed that there would be any building done, and their talk in that direction has been simply for the purpose of throwing dust in the eyes of laboringmen for various and chiefly selfish reasons," it offers a gratuitous and gross insult to many of Duluth's best citizens, whose sole desire has been to save the city from the infliction of a burden which they honestly believe would have had a ruinous effect. They are honest and sincere in the stand they have taken, and they resent with indignation the wanton insult offered by the News Tribune's statement that their talk "has been simply for the purpose of throwing dust in the eyes of the laboringmen."

Duluth has no truer friends or more patriotic citizens than those who led the fight against the nefarious scheme of the gas and water company and its allies in the campaign just closed. They will prove the sincerity of their course in yesterday's election by their future actions. They propose now to see that the orders of the people shall be obeyed by the common council, and if any of those who compose the present council refuse to carry out the people's will, they will be replaced at the February election with men pledged to the building of an independent plant. The Herald, however, does not believe that the aldermen will disregard the people's directions. It has confidence that they will prove true to the interests of the city and proceed at once with the work of constructing an independent plant, as the people have decreed should be done.

All honor, says the St. Louis Star-Sayings, to Father D. J. Riordan, pastor of the Church of St. Elizabeth, of Chicago, whose prompt reply to the Sisters of Mercy in charge of its parochial school permits Old Glory to float over the heads of the children every day as they go to and from their lessons. On Labor day the silken banner of red, white and blue streamed from a staff set beneath a stained glass window in the parochial school. The next day the schools opened and "the flag was still there." The patriotic sisters had heard some talk of the propriety of raising the flag in obedience to the law, and they sought the advice of Father Riordan. "We want to keep the flag out during school hours every day," said the Sister Superior. "What do you think of it?" "Think of it," said Father Riordan. "Let the flag fly. That's what I think of it."

The Vossische Zeitung says that at least ten women in Paris have official permission to wear male garb. One of these is Rosa Bonheur, the well-known painter; another is the proprietor of a printing office; another is a bearded woman; the rest are painters and women afflicted with bodily ailments or malformation. The bloomer has made a dead letter of such a law, however.

The department of agriculture is preparing a gigantic road map of the United States. The map when completed will show the condition as regards paving, or macadamizing, construction and repair of every highway in the United States. The first step in the construction of good roads is to find out how many bad ones there are, which this map will set forth.

Judge Babb, the Democratic candidate for governor of Iowa, in a speech last Saturday declared that "the great body of Iowa Democrats are firm believers in the doctrine of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver on an exact equality." This will make Grover swear again. The situation as to the candidate and the platform is now the same in Iowa as in Kentucky.

Mr. Rose, the Englishman who has issued the latest challenge for a race for the America's cup, is a member of the syndicate that owns the Pillsbury flour mills at Minneapolis. He has visited this country several times and has made many friends. All he wants is fair play and sportsmanlike treatment and he will get both.

Mrs. Langtry is securing lots of advertising at present. A divorce suit, a loss of $200,000 worth of diamonds, and a big race won by one of her thoroughbreds, all in ten days, make effective advertising. And yet they say she has retired from the stage! Don't you believe it!

A London magistrate has decreed that a householder can not interfere with an organ-grinder unless he is disturbed in his business, has sickness in his house, or is affected in his health by the sounds of the organ.

King Humbert, of Italy, has a private fortune of $30,000,000. The whole of this sum is deposited with the Rothschilds, of London. This is a good hint for the syndicate that is said to be raising that $2,000,000,000 to buy Rome for the pope.

The Herald was the only paper in Duluth yesterday that announced the resignation of the three receivers of the Northern Pacific railroad.

And now let the council take the necessary steps towards building an independent plant, in accordance with the voters' instructions.

Judging from the wry face which it made this morning, the News Tribune does not find crow a very palatable dish.

Those who voted to build an independent plant must now see that the aldermen obey the people's instructions.

That "judicial discussion" may now be safely ended, as the result of the election is known.

For a special election, the vote yesterday was large.

History of the Famous Tarr Farm on Oil Creek, Pennsylvania.

Its Owner Wanted to Buy a "Capacity" for His Daughter.

"The Tarr farm on Oil creek," said S. G. Wiley, of the Allegheny Valley, a veteran oil operator, according to the New York Sun, "yielded during its four or five years' existence as an oil producer not less than $20,000,000 to its operators, and no part of the oil country has so interesting a record. You'll not find it in any history of the oil country or of petroleum, but one interesting and important fact about the Tarr farm is that the first meeting ever held to regulate the price of crude petroleum was at the Tarr farm, in the fall of 1861. This farm belonged to James' Tarr. It was worth for agricultural purposes in 1859, the year oil was struck on Oil creek, about $5 an acre, at a liberal valuation. At the time Col. Drake made his oil strike, near Titusville, Tarr was so poor that he was glad to get a job at teaming at almost any wages, as that helped him to a more certain support for his family than his farm would yield. That farm in less than two years, though, placed its owner in the ranks of the rich men of the country, and soon his daily income was tenfold more than his yearly earnings had ever been before.

"He leased various parts of his farm at a royalty of one-quarter the oil produced. One of the first, if not the first, of his leases was to Orange Noble, a cooper who had saved a little money, and a Meadville lawyer named Delamater. William Phillips, a man named Woodford, and others had leases. These leaseholds were all along the creek border, as the idea prevailed then that oil could only be found on the flats. The first well that got to the sand on the Tarr farm was the Noble & Delamater, which yielded, by the pump, about 300 barrels a day. William Phillips was then putting down a well some distance below the Noble & Delamater well and Phillips did well. When the Crescent well—as the Noble & Delamater well was called—came in with its showing of 300 barrels a day, a capitalist named Heman Janes, who had come from Erie, I think, went to Tarr's dilapidated house one evening while Tarr was eating his supper of fried pork and johnny cake.

"'Tarr,' said Janes, 'I'll give you $60,000 in cash for your farm.'

"Tarr almost tumbled off his chair. There was something like 100 acres in the farm, and a good deal of it was wild land. A year before he would have thought $1000 a big offer for the whole affrm.

"'I mean it,' said Janes, 'if you'll take me up I'll close the deal right here.'

"Tarr took him up, and the deal, which included the title to the farm and the transfer of the leases Tarr had made, was closed. Janes paid the $60,000, and Tarr within an hour stepped from poverty to affluence.

"I was on the creek when the news got around that Heman Janes had bought the Tarr farm for $60,000. This was the first large cash transfer in oil land that had been made on the creek, and Janes was looked on as a crazy man coaxing inevitable ruin. But he wasn't. Not long after he made the purchase the Phillips well astounded the region by bursting forth with that historic fountain of oil, the first to spout voluntarily from the earth. This well flowed 2000 barrels a day. The effect of it was, though, to knock the price of oil almost to nothing. Other wells soon came in as spouters, and then it was that the first effort ever made in the history of the oil trade to control the price of crude petroleum was made, at a meeting held at the Tarr farm, in the fall of 1861.

"The leading spirits in the movement were Gen. James Wadsworth, of Geneseo, N. Y., Josiah Oakes, a New York capitalist, and Heman Janes. The idea was to raise a fund sufficient to buy up all the land along Oil creek for ten miles, and through the ownership of it to be able to control production, and, as a natural sequence, the market price of crude oil. At the meeting $500,000 was subscribed, and the scheme would have progressed further, and probably have succeeded for a time in its purpose, but the panic arising from the civil war began to affect the oil regions. Gen. Wadsworth went to the front and never came back, and when the matter might have been taken up again the oil field had proved of wider scope than had been suspected, and the scheme was impracticable. At that same meeting on the Tarr farm, by the way, occurred something else that does not appear in the written history of the oil country. That was a proposition to build a pipe line.

"This idea was Heman Janes'. It was crude, but it foreshadowed great things. The idea was to lay a line of wooden pipes from the Tarr farm to Oil City in ⅞which to carry the oil from the wells, and thus overcome the risk, expense, and uncertainty of transporting oil by boats on the treacherous waters of Oil Creek, which mode of transportation to market was the only one possible in those days. A contract was even drawn up with a man named Reed, of Erie, Pa., to construct such a line, but Col. Clark, of the Boston firm of Clark & Sumner, saw the possibilities of such means of oil transportation, and advised that the contract should not be signed, but that a charter for a general pipe line be asked for from the Pennsylvania legislature. His suggestion was adopted, and the contract was not signed. The application for a charter was made at the session of 1861-2.

"M. C. Beebe was the member of the legislature from the Venango district then, and he opposed the application. His opposition was based on the fact that there were 4000 teams hauling oil in the oil region, and that the building of a pipe line would destroy that business, something that his constituents who were interested in it would not stand. His arguments prevailed at Harrisburg, and the pioneer effort to organize a pipe line company failed. But in the spring of 1862 the Tarr farm came to the front again, and from it the first crude oil ever taken to a refinery direct from the wells, independent of teams, was run, and through a pipe line at that. A Jersey genius named J. L. Hutchings had come into the oil country with a patent rotary pump that he wanted to introduce. To show how it was adapted to the oil business, he laid a string of pipes from the Tarr farm to a refinery which had just been built at Plumer. Then he set his pump a-working, and sent a stream of oil over the hills to the refinery. The pipe line was defective, though, and a good deal of the oil fell by the way; but the experiment showed that the idea was all right, and only needed perfecting.

"Nobody saw this plainer than the teamsters, and they promptly tore up the line and warned the producers not to attempt such an audacious thing again or there would be trouble. That settled the first pipe line. But Hutch, as the boys called him, had pump and pipe line on the brain, and a year afterward, when the big Sherman well came in, he put down a pipe line from it to the Miller farm, three miles over the hills, and pumped the oil that distance. Still his pipe was defective and the teamsters ran rampant. The defect in the pipes might have been overcome, but the power of the teamsters was still the ruling one, and the Miller farm pipe line shared the fate of the first one. Hutchings persisted in his attempt to establish a pipe line system until he was overwhelmed by debt, and he died a penniless and disappointed man.

"Another Jerseyman, Sam Van Syckle, who died only a short time ago at Buffalo, had come to the oil country with Hutchings, and he took up the pipe line idea. When the Pithole boom struck the region in 1865 Van Syckle, seeing wherein Hutchings had failed in the construction of his pipes, hit upon a plan to remedy the defect. Hutchings had joined his pipes together with lead sockets, the joints being closed by hammering them with a mallet. The pipes were laid in shallow ditches, and had immovable angles. The slightest twist or wrench would make a leak in the lead joints, and the oil would run to waste. But Van Syckle had his pipes made of wrought iron and fastened them at the joints with thread and screw, and he buried them in the ground. He laid a pipe from Pithole to Miller farm, five miles, and the line was a success. But the teamsters were still running things about the way they wanted to, and they tore up the line as fast as it could be put down.

"A snappy and determined chap, named Harry Harkness—Pinafore Harley, he was known ever afterward—was interested in this line, and he didn't intend to abandon it on the fury and opposition of a horde of rapacious teamsters, so he called on the authorities to protect the property. The sheriff and a big posse took charge of the matter, and after lodging some of the head rioters in jail and breaking the heads of a few more, the opposition to the line ceased, and that was the beginning of the present great system of oil transportation that requires the use of something like 8000 miles of iron pipes, the aid of gigantic pumps, thousands of tanks and an army of employes. It was the first blow to the teamster tyranny, and led to its speedy downfall.

"Well, as to Heman Janes and the Tarr farm. Some time after he had bought the farm, and after he had made a big fortune out of royalties alone from its wells, he had a visit from Jim Tarr. Jim had awakened to the fact that he could make some more money as well as not, and was sorry he had sold his farm, even for $60,000, so he offered Janes $80,000 for half of the farm back again, and Janes sold it to him. Then Janes sold two-thirds of the remaining half to Clark & Sumner, of Boston, for $60,000. This gave him the amount he paid for the whole farm, and he still owned a nice slice of it, and retained all the leases for the wells already down and producing. He made a good many millions out of his deal with Tarr, and folks made up their minds that he wasn't quite so crazy as they thought he was. Jim Tarr made a couple of millions from his possessions, and then retired to a life of ease and luxury in Meadville. He was one of the characters of the oil field, and his quaint speech originated many of the strange terms and phrases which are today in recognized technical use in the petroleum trade.

"One of the favorite and popular humorous paragraphs that went the rounds of the newspapers a generation ago originated with Jim Tarr. When he became wealthy he sent his daughter away to be educated. After she had been to school some time, as the story went, word was sent to her father from the school that he had better send for her, as she wasn't getting along in her studies. 'In fact,' ran the letter, 'she has no capacity.' Jim immediately went to the school and instructed the school to purchase his daughter a capacity at once and send the bill to him. Jim Tarr didn't fool his fortune away. He died in 1871.

"The Phillips well kept up its great flow of 3000 barrels a day for more than a year, and gradually decreased in its yield month by month after that, but continued a producer for twenty years. It is one of the legends of the oil country that one day the well refused to give up any more oil, even to the pump, and that was the very day that Jim Tarr died. It never yielded after that. The well made a millionaire of every person interested in it.

"The first big lawsuit ever brought in the oil country arose from a dispute between Heman Janes and William Phillips. Under the Tarr lease Janes was to receive one-quarter the oil the well produced. In the summer of 1862 Janes demanded his share of the oil in barrels. Barrels were then worth a great deal more than the oil they held and were very scarce. Phillips refused to furnish barrels, and Janes brought suit to recover what he claimed was his due in barrels, $125,000. He employed as his counsel Edwin M. Stanton, later Lincoln's great war secretary. Through Stanton's efforts the suit was compromised, Phillips agreeing to allow Janes, in lieu of barrels, one-half the oil. Instead of one-quarter, Janes paid Stanton a fee of $25,000 for his services. Phillips had some trouble, too, with Woodford, whose well was between the Phillips gusher and the Crescent well. Woodford had struck the same crevice that the Phillips drill had tapped, and thus interfered greatly with the yield of the big gusher. It also let in much surface water to the Phillips, which was a great annoyance. Finally Phillips got rid of the trouble by paying Woodford $500,000 for his well. Woodford had come to the oil regions from the little backwoods village of Towerville, Crawford county. He had just money enough to put down his well. He left the Tarr farm with a million dollars. He retired with it to Towerville, and never bothered his head about oil or anything else. He made his fortune in two years.

"Orange Noble, the cooper, and Lawyer Delamater, the men who spent all the money they had in putting down the pioneer well on the Tarr farm, made money enough out of it to go into operation more extensively. They took leases further down the creek, and on the Farrell farm struck a 2500 barrel flowing well. This well yielded Noble and Delamater $3,000,000. They made a great deal of money after that in operations, and about 1865 retired from the field. Delamater returned to Meadville, where he became a banker. Noble went to Erie and became a banker. Both men became political leaders, Noble a Democrat, Delamater a Republican. Noble was subsequently elected treasurer of Pennsylvania. In 1890 Wallace Delapmater was the Republican candidate for governor of Pennsylvania. He was a son of the banker who had made his money on Oil Creek. He was defeated by Governor Pattison. Up to that time it was supposed that the Delamaters were the wealthiest and most honorable men in Northwestern Pennsylvania. The failure of their bank at Meadville soon after the election, the arrest of the Delamaters, father and sons, charged with dishonorable financial transactions, the ruin by their collapse of hundreds of their neighbors, the bankruptcy of the county and financial ruin of the then treasurer of the state, who had trusted them with state funds, were to be at last the result of the fortune which had its start on the old Tarr farm. Noble I believe, is still alive, and has increased his fortune by good management.

"As if taking their cue from the Tarr farm, other farms on the creek began to respond to the drill in wells of phenomenal flowing capacity, until 1864-65. The Buchanan, the McClintock, the Story, the McCray, the Farrell, the Funk, or McIlhenny, the Blood, and the Widow McClintock farms were pouring forth a daily volume of oil amounting to 25,000 barrels. It was the Widow McClintock farm's yield of 2000 barrels a day that lifted John Steele from the drudgery of a day laborer to a net income of nearly $3000 every twenty-four hours. The amount of daily incomes from oil wells in those golden days has been greatly exaggerated in many instances, but John Steele's was ascertained in a peculiar manner. One of the trustees of the Widow McClintock estate was Capt. J. J. Vandergrift. In 1865 certain well owners offered to contribute one day's income toward the erection of a soldier's monument in Venango county. Capt. Vandergrift, for Steele, took a careful gauge of the Widow McClintock farm production, and figured out the young man's net income for a day. It amounted to within a few dollars of $2800. But little good did it do him. He squandered it as fast as it was made on dissolute men and women, and when the supply of oil suddenly stopped, as it did, he was forced to return to his native place a homeless and penniless tramp.

"Altogether there were 200 wells drilled on the Tarr farm. A town sprang quickly into existence there and soon had a regular population of more than 5000, and its floating population was three times that. Heman Janes built there one of the finest hotels ever put up in the country. There were theaters, churches, and stores of all kinds. Today there is not even a rotten or rusty relic to remind one that any of the great fountains of wealth ever existed, and only a few dilapidated, deserted buildings indicate that a busy and populous town once stood there. I don't know who owns the Tarr farm now, or what it is good for, but the Widow McClintock farm, where John Steele's misspent millions were made and whose wells still yield profitably to the pump, belongs to a man who as a boy blacked John Steele's boots!"

A GOOD FISH STORY.

Said a former theatrical man in the Philadelphia Call: "An old friend of mine, who some years ago was a member of a theatrical company of which I was manager, and who, according to his own statements, had been in every known profession and business, was asked one day by a lady member of the same organization if he had ever had any experience in fishing. He turned to her with a surprised look upon his face, coughed aloud, turned to look about him in order to make sure those within reach of his voice were looking at him, and then said: 'Well, I should think I had.

"'Why, you may not believe it, but I actually kept a fishing farm in Florida, upon the banks of St. John river, within a few minutes drive of Tampa, where I raised mock turtles. I had no artificial lake for them, but they would make known to one another what a good, generous fellow I was, and would come from the river to the rear of my house for something to eat every evening, just as regular as the clock struck 6.'

"'But,' asked the lady, 'did you make any money by your farming?'

"'Why, my dear woman, I gave them so much to eat that they were unable to walk, and in this way I captured the largest and became rich.'

"'But how did you lose it?'

"'Well, I thought I would try bigger game, so I bought a ship and started on a fishing cruise. One evening, while all hands were below, a sunfish, longer by far than this drawing room car we are in, took the bait and hook of one of our forward lines, and ran away with the ship, finally wrecking it on the coast of Key West, and that settled my fortune.' As he concluded the stillness was so intense it could have been cut."

THE MINISTER'S PRAYER.

Some little time ago the minister from Scarboro, Me., exchanged pulpits with the minister from Sacarappa in the same state, says the Boston Budget. When the Sacarappa minister arrived at Scarboro he was met by a deacon, who said to him: "Mr. Jones, I do hope today that in your prayer you will make an especial effort for rain. Our crops are being destroyed and I can see nothing but desolation here." So when the minister was about making his petition, he said: "Oh, Lord, I pray Thee that Thou wouldst send copious rains upon the soil of Scarboro, for it may bring forth a bountiful harvest, and that the people will be glad, and oh, Lord! they will bless You for it. I desire, oh, Lord, to state that I make this petition in the name of the good people of Scarboro, for oh, Lord, I know that Thou, in Thy divine wisdom, will say it is not rain that the soil of Scarboro needs. It is more top dressing."

"TWELFTH NIGHT."

Another large audience last evening witnessed the performance of Shakespeare's comedy, "Twelfth Night." Of Shakespeare's lighter comedies "Twelfth Night" is the last, and as it should be, one of the best. It contains more humorous situations than any of the others, and its comedy characters are as perfect and lovable as any the master ever drew. Julia Marlowe Taber as Viola again played straight into the hearts of her audience, as she always does. Her Viola is the sweet natured girl that Shakespeare must have seen. She brings to one of his most fascinating characters all the charm of her own personality, and the conjunction makes a most pleasing picture. She carries her male attire with grace, and her femininity is kept within natural bounds, cropping out with most requisite delicacy at times, as for instance in the duel scene and in the scenes where her love for Orsino prompts her to darkly hint at her sex.

Fault may be found with Mr. Taber's conception of Malvolio but scarcely with his interpretation of that conception. He makes a trifle too much of a madman of the ambitious servant in the latter parts. Otherwise his characterization is excellent. William F. Owen as Sir Toby Belch, the merry and dissolute old knight, and Edmund Lawrence as Sir Andrew Agueecheek, carry in an excellent manner the broad comedy of the play. Mr. Owen especially is an ideal Sir Toby, with his red nose, his wonderful thirst and his jolly nature.

Henry Doughty as Orsino, Frederic Murphy as Sebastian, D. L. Mitchell as Antonio, T. L. Coleman as Fabian, and Edwin Howard as Feste, were excellent. Eugenia Woodwards as Oliva was pleasing and Katherine Wetson as Maria was good.

"ON THE SWAUNEE RIVER."

"On the Swaunee River," the new production which comes to the Temple opera house next Friday and Saturday evenings, will be a very novel performance. The greater part of the company will be plantation negroes, headed by William McClain, the famous minstrel, who staged Nate Salisbury's and Buffalo Bill's "Black America" at Ambrose park, Brooklyn, N. Y., this summer. These artists are all natural actors, singers, dancers and comedians and will all play parts—a new departure. The piece is constructed on broad farcical lines which give them splendid opportunities to display their versatile talents. The scenery has been completed by John H. Young, the noted artist, and is very elaborate.

Knights of the Maccabees.

The largest fraternal beneficiary order in the world, which now has a membership of over 210,000, with an average increase of 7000 per month, and has paid to the widows, orphans and disabled members over $5,000,000, is now experiencing a great revival in Duluth, through the efforts of Deputy State Commander Frederick E. Wagner, of Minneapolis, assisted by the enthusiastic members of the local organization.

Duluth has the honor of having the first tent of the Knights of the Maccabees instituted in the state and the members are anxious to keep in the front rank in regard to membership; Duluth Tent No. 1 initiated fourteen candidates at their review last evening and filed sixteen applications, which composed some of the best business men in the city; a very social time was enjoyed after the initiation ceremonies.

Central Duluth Tent No. 49, which was recently instituted at Eighteenth avenue west by State Commander Chellew and Deputy Supreme Commander F. W. Stevens, of Minneapolis, is also composed of the best business men of the West End, and will have a large class of candidates to initiate at their review Thursday evening.

An effort will be made to form a uniform rank of the order in the city.

THE LOST VEIN FOUND.

A. E. Humphreys' Gold Mine in British Columbia.

A. E. Humphreys, the well known mine owner, who has just come in from Trail creek, is in possession of a telegram from J. D. Farrell, which contained the welcome news that an immense body of ore had been struck in the Crown Point, says the Spokane Chronicle. Mr. Humphreys said in reference to the strike:

"This news only confirms my faith in this property. The former superintendent at the mine had sunk a shaft, but after going down thirty feet he lost the vein. I was firmly convinced that he had drifted in the wrong direction. I engaged a new superintendent and he set to work on another shaft, with the result as you see by this telegram. A vein running from six to eight feet in width has been struck at a depth of thirty feet, and an immense body of ore is in sight. From 100 assays made on the Crown Point the ore varied from $2 to $105 in gold. We are now building a road to this property.

"We are also developing the Iron Horse, and with every blast the mine continues to improve in richness. There is now from twelve to fourteen feet of ore in sight from either wall."

PREVENTION OF DISEASE.

Keep the Stomach Right.

It is surprising what a safeguard a healthy stomach is against disease. And again it is not so surprising when it is remembered that the only way we get pure blood, strong nerves and firm flesh is from wholesome food, well digested. It is the half digested food that causes the mischief. When the stomach is weak, slow, inactive the food lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting, forming gases which poison the blood and the whole system, causing headache, pains in the back, shoulder blades and chest, loss of appetite, palpitation, biliousness.

The safest cure for indigestion is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, composed of vegetable essences, fruit salts, pure pepsin and golden seal. Dissolve one or two of these tablets in the mouth after each meal. They are pleasant tasting and mingling with the food so assist the weak stomach that the food is perfectly digested before it has time to ferment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion and increase flesh because they digest flesh forming foods like meat, eggs, etc.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package. Absolutely safe and harmless.

WILL SUE THE BONDSMEN.

At the meeting of the Superior council last night a proposition to sell the city's claim against the Superior National bank was lost by a vote of 10 to 8 and a resolution to sue the bank's sureties was adopted by a vote of 16 to 2. The city attorney was authorized to begin suit to annul the charter of the Water, Light and Power company.

THE SUPERIOR FAIR.

Douglas county's fourth annual fair opened successfully at Superior yesterday, and it bids fair to be the best that has ever been given in that city. Last evening the opening exercises were held and President Agen spoke of the growth of the county and its future possibilities. Several lother speakers addressed the large crowds. There is an interesting program for tonight, and after 6 o'clock the proceeds are to be turned over to the W. C. T. U. Thursday night will be G. A. R. night.

HOME SOCIETY EXCURSION.

The excursion to Virginia for the Duluth Home society by Mrs. L. J. Merritt is awakening great interest among the people of the city. It will leave next Saturday at 8:30 a. m. and return at 6:30 p. m. A stay of three hours will be made at Virginia and Capt. Florada will meet the party and escort them around. Mrs. Merritt is anxious that all who wish to go purchase tickets at once so that the railroad company may be notified in time to arrange cars. Tickets are on sale at the book stores and drug stores and Professor Boyd, of the high school, also has them for sale. A number of parties of ladies are being arranged. This is being done especially by ladies whose husbands are unable to get away.

SHE IS NOT GUILTY.

Judge Boyle yesterday found Mrs. Nellie Cattenagh not guilty on a charge of stealing a pair of opera glasses preferred by Peter Pierce, janitor of the building at 18 and 20 Third avenue west, where both parties room. Mrs. Cattenagh set up the defense that she found the glasses imbedded in dirt in the back yard. After visiting the place Judge Boyle decided that the defendant had told the truth.

The market is full of cough mixtures, but one trouble with most of them is that when they do a little good the patient has to take so much that he gets to loathe the taste. The Pineola Balsam is superior to other cough remedies because it is agreeable to the palate and its good effects are immediate. In a few days an ordinary cough is gone altogether. Bronchitis and asthma are more stubborn, but they too are cured by Ely's Pineola Balsam. A remedy worth trying. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.

Acts at once, never fails. One Minute Cough Cure. A remedy for asthma, and that feverish condition which accompanies a severe cold. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. S. F. Boyce.

A COMPLETE VICTORY

Overwhelming Majority in Favor of the Proposition to Build a New Water Plant the Result of Yesterday's Election.

Detailed Statement of the Vote on All Propositions by Ward and Precincts---Wonderful Campaign Made by the Citizens' Committee.

Great Jollification at the City Hall Last Evening by Those on the Winning Side---The Herald's Course Commended.

The election yesterday marks the culmination of a long, hard fought campaign. Every man, woman and child in Duluth had interests at stake and there will be a general rejoicing at the outcome of the fight. It was a hard battle and Chairman Hudson and the citizens committee which labored so untiringly for the defeat of the purchase proposition and the success of the proposition to build deserve great credit. The campaign which was made was a marvelous one when the means at hand are considered. It takes money to hire halls and speakers and get the vote out on election day, but the actual amount paid in to the building campaign fund up to Monday night was $176. At West Duluth a few carriages were in use to get the vote out and one or two at the West End but otherwise the carriages were all run by those in favor of the purchase proposition. The Herald, as usual, was on the side of the people.

The News Tribune office was shrouded in impenetrable gloom last night and that sheet wore a sickly smile this morning. Even Superintendent Craig's smile has not its usual blandness today.

The result is clear and decisive and cannot be overcome. Had it been close it might have been taken into the courts with a possible show for overthrowing it but no court is likely to override the will of the people when expressed in such unmistakable terms and everyone may expect to see active operations begun on the building of a new plant in a short time. The council, whatever may have been its sympathies, cannot but follow the voice of the people.

MAJORITY WAS GREAT.

The voters of Duluth decided yesterday by an overwhelming majority against the purchase of the present waterworks at an exorbitant price. A little over half the registered vote was polled. Of these 1586 voted for purchase and 2667 against while the building proposition carried by a vote of 2 to 1. The vote by wards was as follows:

The day was an especially quiet one for an election day and so large a proportion of the registered vote had been cast before 2 o'clock that an especially heavy vote was expected. The ordinance closing the saloons was implicitly obeyed and a man with a thirst could not have found even an open side door in all Duluth. There were few carriages in use by the workers and it appeared as though the rhetoric slingers of both sides had tired themselves out at the innumerable meetings which preceded the election. Superintendent William Craig, of the gas and water company, spent the day driving over town and visiting the precincts where he compared votes with his workers and expressed his confidence as to the result.

The court house was deserted for the day and although the county officials remained on duty they enjoyed a decided freedom from restraint. The docks were deserted while the laboring men with unanimity were disregarding the advice tendered by Messrs. Cobb and Nichols and casting a solid vote against the purchase proposition. In the Sixth precinct of the Sixth ward a discussion between a few of the voters degenerated into a small sized free-for-all which was quickly squelched. Although both sides professed to be over burdened with confidence there was little or no betting other than the usual number of election hats.

THE FUNERAL HOUR FIXED.

Early in the evening some unknown miscreant added insult to injury by sneaking around to the purchase headquarters and affixing to the door a sign bearing the words "Funeral at 11 o'clock." The outrage was not discovered until midnight and the perpetrator escaped.

There was a large crowd in the city hall corridors last night anxiously awaiting the returns. As the judges elbowed their way through the throng to the city clerk's office carrying tally sheets and ballot boxes they were besieged with questions. After a few of the precincts had come in and the result of the election was apparent a large part of the watchers left satisfied or dissatisfied according to the direction in which their sympathies lay. Others remained hoping against hope until there was no longer a possibility for the purchase carrying. The Fond du Lac returns which were the last to arrive were driven in shortly before midnight and the returns were complete.

City Clerk Richardson wound up a long day of hard work during which he visited forty-two precincts, traveled fifty miles on a bicycle, eighteen miles on the train and seven blocks on the Incline. In addition he was kept busy answering questions during every spare minute. At 9 o'clock Alderman Krumsieg relieved him at the phone and sat with his ear glued to the receiver all the evening.

The vote by wards and precincts was as follows:

A JOLLIFICATION MEETING.

An enthusiastic crowd of anti-purchasites crowded the council chamber as soon as the returns began to come in and listened to the reading of bulletins sent up from the city clerk's office. Everyone was happy and there was enough handshaking in progress all the evening to furnish power to run a small engine. In the intervals between the reading of the returns nearly everyone who had taken an active part in the campaign was called on for a speech, and there was no lack of speech-making.

Henry Truelsen was the first speaker, and he was favored with liberal applause as he stepped up to the rostrum, where President Howard presided. "Everybody has been willing to buy this plant for its actual value," said the speaker. "We believe this has been a notable victory in that it has prevented this corporation and others having similar interests from compelling us to buy the plant at their own price. Our city administration from top to bottom must be in sympathy with this movement. Too much credit cannot be given The Herald for the part it has taken in fighting the people's battle."

MUST BUILD AT ONCE.

S. D. Allen followed by saying: "This has been a great victory for the people, but it is only the first of many struggles to come. We must start at once to build and allow nothing to stop us." Then the crowd cheered.

Speeches by S. T. Harrison, W. G. Joerns, T. T. Hudson, John Jenswold and others followed, and there were loud shouts for H. H. Phelps, who, however, was not present. All the speakers were jubilant and danced merrily on the corpse. S. T. Harrison brought down the house by remarking, "This is the first time I have ever been in the council chamber and found Billy Craig absent. There must be a mistake."

Among those who listened to the reading of the returns were R. C. Mitchell, Bob Kennedy, Alderman Ash, Alderman Krumsieg, A. H. Crassweller, Frank Crassweller, Alderman Olafson, Alderman Ole, Alfred Jaques and others. The reading of each bulletin was cheered and audibly commented on. It was midnight before the last of the merrymakers left for home.

ALDERMEN SAY BUILD.

All was quiet around the city hall today and the city officials followed their usual routine without volunteering any comments on the results of yesterday's election. Everyone in authority seems to be inclined to hasten the wishes of the people by commencing the construction of the new plant as quickly as possible.

"The people have declared what they want by an overwhelming majority and I shall do everything in my power to carry out their wishes," said Mayor Lewis.

A. Swordling, of the board of public works, has metamorphosed into an earnest advocate of building as quickly as possible. "I am for building at once without any delay and M. J. Davis and W. B. Welles feel as I do," declared Mr. Swordling this morning.

"It would be rank foolishness for the aldermen or any other public official to attempt to defeat the will of the people," said Alderman Cox. "I am for giving them what they asked for yesterday and losing no time about it."

Alderman Krumsieg—Delay is fatal We must get at work at once.

Alderman Ash—If that is the way they feel about it they can't get the new plant too quickly.

Alderman Olafson—There is not an obstructionist in the council.

Alderman Harwood—I had thought purchase the wiser plan but if the people don't want it give them what they do want without wasting time. The Herald carried the day.

Alderman French—I knew what the people wanted and have been for building from first to last.

WORLD'S CROPS.

Figured From a European Standpoint.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Consul General Judd, of Vienna, has forwarded to the department of state, a report of the grain crop of the world for 1895, compiled from the report of the annual international grain fair, which Mr. Judd commends as trustworthy. The abstract furnished by Mr. Judd shows that the wheat, rye, barley and oat crops of Europe are somewhat below the average, while corn is exceedingly promising, and it is expected that the yield will be one half again as large this year as it has been on an average for ten years.

Canada shows an increase of about 6,000,000 meters in wheat, while India shows a loss of about double that quantity, both as compared with 1894. Most of the Russian provinces indicate an increase in wheat and rye. The Austria-Hungary wheat crop is poor in quality and less in quantity than usual. A lighter wheat crop is also indicated in the United States. The French crop report is estimated at 98 per cent, rye at 105, and oats at 95 per cent of the average.

The wheat crop of Great Britain and Ireland is down as poor and is estimated at from 40 to 50 per cent of the average. The English barley crop will be better than the wheat crop, but the quality will be poor. Egypt will export considerable wheat. It is anticipated that the loss on wheat in India and the United States will be compensated for by the gain in Canada and Russia, and that taking this crop throughout the world, the result for the year will be about equal to the average season.

SEATTLE'S HOPE.

Expects to Build One of the Torpedo Boats.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 25.—The award of the contract for the construction of one of the new torpedo boats by the secretary of the navy, to the Moran Bros., of this city, on condition that Chief Engineer Wilson, of the Mare Island navy yard, made a favorable report of the company's capacity to do the work, is believed to insure the construction of the boat in this city, as the company is abundantly able to show that it has the necessary facilities.

On a tract of twelve acres on the water front, it has a plant which cost $300,000. Its foundry is the best on the coast, with the exception of the Union Iron works, of San Francisco, and its ship building facilities are almost unequalled and are immediately to be largely increased. Financially the company is very strong.

MOVE FOR BOODLE.

English Opinion of the New Irish Movement.

London, Sept. 25.—The Pall Mall Gazette prints a leader on the subject of the Irish Nationalist convention at Chicago. The Gazette expresses the opinion that the so-called new movement is very like the old one which was temporarily crushed by the revelations in connection with the murder of Dr. Cronin in Chicago, and the object of which, it asserts, was clearly proven to be boodle, and not the independence of Ireland.

"We can afford to smile at Mr. Finerty's statements," says the Gazette; "but if the Irish will formulate their demands and agitate for redress in the manner adopted by Englishmen, they will find England more than ready to meet them half way. Threats only stiffen our back and dull our hearing."

PITTSBURG SUBURB SCORCHED.

Pittsburg, Sept. 25.—A fire at Carnegie, Pa., five miles west of here this morning destroyed Waldee & Foster's extensive flour mill, Martin's lumber yard and damaged several other buildings, entailing a loss of $60,000. The fire spread so rapidly that it was feared the town would be wiped out, but the Pittsburg department promptly responded to the request for aid and soon had the fire under control.

CHICAGO'S NEW DRINK.

A new drink has come to town, says the Times-Herald. It is not a drink for the club man, the connoisseur of intoxicants or the woman who, in the sanctity of her apartments, loves to sip the sweet juices of the grape or the honeyed cordials of Curacao or Paris. It appeals to one class of persons, and one only, and that is the host of impecunious drunkards.

"Zim," it is called, and its users are known by the euphonious designation of zim-zams. It is thus explained by a concocter of mixed drinks:

"There comes a zim-zam," remarked the head bartender of a down-town hotel, as he slipped a stick into a lemonade, for which a bell boy was waiting to carry to a tippling crowd up stairs. The solitary bystander turned in the direction indicated by the bartender, only to have his eyes rest on a young man of apparent weak character. There was a pallid look on his face and a shifting glance in his eyes, and, summed up, there was not an iota of decision in his entire make-up.

"Don't know what a zim-zam is?" said the bartender, lifting his voice in surprise in answer to a query. "Just watch that fellow and see the drink for which he calls and you may understand. He will call for a zim. A zim is a mixture of brandy, beer, Rhine wine and absinthe in equal parts. The whole makes only one-half of a whisky glass. What commends it to its user is its power, for one dose, or half a glassful, is guaranteed to intoxicate. Most of the fiends are not well provided with money. They want to reach the condition that comes to the drinker who uses only straight drinks after the absorption of many glasses. Without money, was it not for the zim, this would be an impossibility. Some one working on the theory that mixed drinks intoxicate sooner than straight drinks invented the new tipple, and it caught on immediately. Do many use it? Well, I guess that there are not less than 10,000 devotees in this city, and they are much slaves to it as the smokers of opium are to the drug that brings them at first delight and later death, for the habit presents not only an opportunity for getting a cheap drink, but it has a fascination from which its users apparently cannot escape."

DISTRIBUTED THE SUGAR.

One of the Stone-Ordean company's delivery wagons tipped over on Fifth avenue west near the Spalding today. One of the horses fell down and the wagon slipped back against the curbstone before he could recover. Several barrels of sugar were on the wagon and two burst open and spread granulated sugar over the pavement.

SENATOR GORMAN.

How He Returned Clarkson's Favor With Interest.

A characteristic story of Gorman, illustrating the methods of this consummate politician, is told in the Washington correspondence of the Chicago Times-Herald. When Harrison was president Gorman walked one day into the office of the first assistant postmaster general. "Clarkson," said he, "I want to ask a favor of you. I want to control the appointment of postmaster in my town of Laurel, Md." The audacity of this request, coming from a Democrat, astonished Clarkson, but one thoroughbred likes another, and he looked his visitor in the face a moment or two and replied: "You shall do it."

Of course Clarkson kept his word, and, of course, there was an awful row about it. The Republicans of Maryland discovered their Democratic enemy was controlling the appointment of an important office, and they descended on the capital by train loads. They appealed to Wanamaker and soon had that gentleman on hand. Then they went to Harrison, Clarkson was called to the White House. "Is it possible, Mr. Clarkson, you have promised Senator Gorman this office?"

"Yes, it is his home town. He is a United States senator, and some courtesy is due him. Besides, Mr. President, an administration can well afford to have a friendly senator in the opposition."

But Harrison was not appeased. He said it would not do to permit Gorman to control the appointment. "Then you will have to get a new postmaster general," said Clarkson quietly.

"Do you mean to say you will resign because of a little postmastership?" asked Harrison.

"No, but I will resign rather than break my word," said Clarkson.

Gorman's man was appointed.

It is strange how one thing leads to another in this world. So it proved in this case. Some time later President Harrison was in distress about the collectorship at New Orleans. He wanted Warmoth to take it, and that gentleman demurred. Harrison asked Clarkson to help him out. Clarkson telegraphed for Warmoth and succeeded in coaxing him into acceptance. His name was sent to the senate. That business appeared to be nicely settled. But it was not. They had forgotten John Sherman, the big man with many little revenges to wreak.

Late one night Warmoth rushed to Clarkson's house. His eyes were ablaze and his tongue thick.

"I'm ruined," he exclaimed. "They are going to defeat my confirmation. John Sherman is after me to settle an old score. Defeat will ruin me, disgrace me. It will cost me my home. I will never dare live in Louisiana again. What in God's name shall I do?"

Clarkson calmed Warmoth's fears. "Go to bed and sleep. I promise you you shall be confirmed."

Early next morning a messenger from Clarkson was on his way to West Virginia, where Senator Gorman was on business of great importance. The messenger told the senator he was needed back in Wahsington the next day, when the judiciary committee was to meet. Sherman, Hoar and their friends had all arrangements made for rejecting Warmoth.

"But it is impossible for me to go," Gorman declared. "If I leave here now I will have to sacrifice $50,000 or $60,000, and I can't afford it."

"Well, Mr. Clarkson will be much disappointed if you don't help him out," said the messenger, sadly.

"Did Mr. Clarkson send you to me?" asked Gorman of the messenger.

"Yes."

"Why did you not say so in the first place? That makes quite a difference. You go back and tell Clarkson I'll be at the committee meeting tomorrow. You tell him for every vote John Sherman gets against Warmoth I'll get two Democratic votes for him, and, if necessary, will throw the whole Democratic strength in executive session."

Gorman kept his word. He saved the administration from defeat at the hands of revengeful John Sherman, averted the humiliation which Warmoth had bitterly declared would cost him his home, and paid a political debt at very great financial sacrifice to himself.

MODELS ARE SCARCE.

The Old Good Ones Are Now Living Pictures.

The professional model who was accustomed to pose at the rate of 50 cents an hour for the "altogether" or draped, is becoming scarce in New York. The reason is that the living picture craze has caused such a demand for shapely girls who are not over particular about the quantity of clothing they wear when in the presence of other people, that the girls have abandoned the hard work and poor pay of the studios for the comparatively easy and well-paid engagements of the stage, says the New York Mercury.

Having once experienced the delight of going "before the public," they turn their backs on the old life and hope that the living picture craze will last forever. It has died out more or less in the big cities, but the attraction a "picture" has for the provincial audiences is strong enough to keep the model colony in town very thinly populated.

To take the places of the models, who now consider themselves footlight favorites, a new race of "posers" has sprung into existence. They do not equal in shapeliness as a general thing the old ones that the stages lured away, neither do they pose as well, but the models are so scarce that an artist must be satisfied with what he can get.

It is easy enough to secure a model to pose draped. A woman's vanity will usually be all that is necessary to play upon to secure a satisfactory model for this purpose, and when money is offered there is a rush of applicants.

Posing for the nude, however, is quite another matter. An artist whose work required the aid of a nude female model recently advertised for one. The answers he got were discouragingly few, and when the writers appeared in reply to his call he could find only one whose figure appeared suitable for his purpose. She was engaged at the usual rates, but demurred when told that she would be wanted to pose for the "altogether," stating that she had never been called upon to pose nude before.

After some hesitation, however, she consented and a date was agreed upon. The girl came, retired behind the screen in the artist's studio and stayed there a remarkably long time. The artist painted on and painted on, wondering whether or not the new model had fallen asleep or succumbed to heart failure.

At last he had completed as much of the picture as he could without the model, and, getting impatient, he called out to know how long she was going to keep him waiting. For answer there appeared from behind the screen a very red-faced and abashed-looking young woman in half dress, who looked at the artist appealingly and informed him that she didn't believe she could pose for the "altogether."

It was all that the artist could do to restrain his laughter at the ridiculous-looking figure before him, but it was necessary to be stern and masterful, or he could see he would have no model and no work done that afternoon. He therefore assumed his most domineering tone and ordered the girl roughly to "hurry up," turning to his picture as though he expected his commands to be obeyed without further delay.

The girl retired once more behind the screen, but reappeared again in a condition a little nearer that required for the pose, but not quite the correct thing. The model wanted to know, in a faint voice, if "that would do?"

It was necessary this time for the artist to work himself into a fit of passion, and the girl, seeming to draw some consolation from his indignant manner, withdrew once more. This time she stepped tremblingly out in the proper condition for posing, and after great trouble was induced to mount the model throne and assume the proper attitude. The rubicon was crossed and the artist had no further trouble with the model, who filled the bill very acceptably during the progress of the work.

"To pose for the nude for the first time," said a model, "is like taking a cold bath. The more you hesitate and think about it the more terrible it seems. Once you have stepped out in full view of the artist neither he nor you give it a thought. Of course there are artists who are not nice, as well as those who are. For some painters nothing would induce me to pose. The idea that a model who poses for the nude is necessarily an immodest person is entirely wrong. A model on the model throne, with absolutely nothing on, can make a far more modest appearance than the woman who half strips herself in order to be in what, with unconscious irony, is called "full dress." On the other hand, the nude model can pose in a manner that is vulgar and immodest.

"It is not the clothes, it is the woman who settles the matter of modesty. Look at some woman bathers at our seaside resorts. They wear clothes that nothing could induce them to appear in when in town, and they wear them with perfect modesty. If they assume brazen attitudes, however, the result is entirely changed, and the costume, or lack of costume, helps in the general immodest effect.

"I don't say that the life of a model is an enviable one. It is hard and taxing, the remuneration is small, and the necessity for keeping a good figure in trim calls for constant attention and care as regards diet, exercise, and so on. The work of posing is arduous in the extreme, especially when the artist is exacting. As a rule I find men to be kind and thoughtful, however, and ready at any time to acquiesce in the model's request for a 'wait.'

"Women are, as a general thing, less considerate. I would rather pose an hour for a man than ten minutes for a woman. They are seldom satisfied and seem to think that a model is made of cast iron. Then again they have a lofty and contemptuous way of regarding a woman who has to pose for a living that is galling in the extreme to a self-respecting model.

Electrical Notes.

No insulator of magnetism is known.

The pull of a magnet is increased by reducing its polar surface.

Electro-magnets with long limbs are practically no better than those with short limbs after sticking into masses of iron.

It is said that electric lamps run by storage batteries last twice as long as lamps operated by dynamos.

Any galvanometer having a resistance which is large in proportion to the current to be measured can be used as a voltmeter after calibration.

In making a spark coil, or, in fact, any electrical apparatus, the main requirements necessary for success are patience and determination to construct each part thoroughly.

The strength of the solution in each cell of storage battery should be tested with a hydrometer once a month. When the battery is fully charged, it should indicate twenty-two degrees Baume.

In an arc lamp, supplied with a direct current, the consumption of the positive carbon is in round numbers one inch per hour, and of the negative carbon one-half that amount.

Aluminum has the least electrical resistance for a given length and weigth and mercury has the greatest; but for a given length and sectional area, annealed silver has the least resistance and bismuth the greatest.

Before beginning to charge a storage battery, it should be gone over carefully, and any cell that is not up to the standard should be taken out of the circuit and put in working condition before being replaced.

S. P. Thompson says: "You will get the given amount of magnetism and traction with the least amount of magnetizing force, when you have the area (of the magnet) as great as possible and the length as small as possible."

In the construction of a voltmeter, it is usual to allow a resistance of fifty ohms for every volt to be measured. This gives sufficient accuracy for most purposes, as the error is within 3 per cent of the total readings.

According to Thompson, a thin, round disk of iron, laid upon the flat, round end of an electro-magnet (the pole end being slightly larger than the disk), the disk is not attracted, and will not stick on, even if laid down quite centrally.

The conductivity of metals decreases and that of some bad conductors or insulators increases with the temperature.

THE RACES

Opening of the Fall Meet at the Woodland Driving Park.

Fast Time and Close Finishes Made in Several of the Races.

Several Bicycle Races Which Were Close and Exciting---Today's.

The races opened yesterday at the Woodland Driving park under the most favorable auspices in every way, but one and that was in the matter of attendance. The track was in fine shape, the weather was beautiful, the races were close and marked by some excellent finishes, but the number of people in attendance was not one-quarter of what it ought to have been. There are some fast horses here and there is sharp rivalry between some of them. The 2:25 class race was as pretty a contest as was ever seen on track. The racing association which undertook the work of getting up these races is entitled to credit for the enterprise they have displayed and should have been better patronized.

Paul Sharvy, Dr. Gilbert and Amos Shephard were the judges, A. C. Batchelor, the starter, and C. W. Cate, timekeeper.

The 2:50 class, trot or pace, for a purse of $200, was the first race of the day. Four horses started: A. W., owner Orrin Carey, of Appleton, Wis.; Gallagher, owner Paine & Co., of Carlton; Golden Spike, owner A. D. Ecklund, of Carlton; Little Edgar, owner B. Stetson, of Eau Claire. The race was between A. W. and Little Edgar, Gallagher and Golden Spike being practically out of it. In the first heat Little Edgar took the lead, but A. W. passed him at the half and led to the finish. In the second fast time was made and it was a hot race. A. W. won in a close finish. The third heat was also a sharply contested one, A. W. took the lead at the start, but Little Edgar's nose was at the sulky wheel all the time. At the half there was not over a length's distance between the leaders, at the three-quarters it was only half a length and the finish was close and exciting. A. W. won the heat and race.

Summary:

Golden Spike	3	3	3
Gallagher	4	4	4

Time, 2:45, 2:30, 2:41.

THE HOTTEST RACE.

The big race of the day was the 2:35 class, trot or pace, purse $200. The entries were: Laverty, owner George P. Rossman, of Ashland; St. Elmo, owner M. G. McGeehan, of Hurley; John O, owner John Headman, of Ashland; Overman, owner L. C. Tatro, of New Richmond, Wis. A bad mistake occurred at the start in the first heat. Starter Batchelor gave the word "go" and at the same time struck the tin plate which served for a gong. Laverty's driver reined in and came back thinking it was only a score. This put him out of the first heat although he circled the track. St. Elmo won easily with Overman second and John O third. The second heat was close, St. Elmo winning with Laverty a close second. It looked as though St. Elmo had a pretty fair cinch on the race with two heats won, but the third gave a different phase to the race. It was a grand heat. St. Elmo and Laverty were hardly a length apart the whole distance. At the quarter St. Elmo lead by a few feet, at the half there was only a neck's difference between the leaders and around they went to the three-quarter pole neck and neck. In the stretch Laverty made a great spurt and won by a length with St. Elmo second, John O third and Overman fourth. The fourth heat was another victory for Laverty. It started with the promise of being a great race and was up to the three-quarter pole, when St. Elmo went up into the air and was out of it for the rest of the heat and, as it proved, for the rest of the race. In the fifth and deciding heat St. Elmo and Laverty were almost neck and neck to the quarter, but St. Elmo went off his feet at the turn and was rattled for the rest of the heat breaking badly several times. John O finished second and St. Elmo third.

Summary:

Laverty	4	2	1	1
St. Elmo	1	1	2	2
John O	3	4	3	3
Overman	2	3	4	4

Time, 2:39¼, 2:40, 2:39¼, 2:40, 2:39½.

THE 2:30 CLASS RACE.

The 2:30 class, trot or pace, purse $200, was a pretty race and the best time of the day was made in it. The entries were: Calliopsis, owner Marie Bonville, of Ashland; Zoda, owner M. G. McGeehan, of Hurley; Victor, owner W. L. Nicholls, of Duluth, and Doc, owner Dr. C. W. Davis, of Duluth. In the first heat Calliopsis broke at the start, but recovered quickly. Zoda took the lead with Doc second. Calliopsis broke again in rounding the turn and at the quarter Doc went off his feet badly. At the half Zoda still had a good lead, but Calliopsis was getting down to good work. At the three-quarter pole it looked like Zoda's heat, but Calliopsis came around the turn and down the stretch with a grand spurt. Her driver used the whip with good effect and the gallant mare crossed the line leading by half a length. Victor was third and Doc barely escaped the distance pole. In the second heat Calliopsis went off her feet at the start and Zoda took the pole, but only for a moment for the Ashland mare went to the front again. Victor was in third place and Doc fourth and this order was maintained to the finish. Calliopsis won by a length. The third and last heat was also won by Calliopsis in the best time of the day.

Summary:

Calliopsis	1	1	1
Zoda	2	2	2
Victor	3	3	3
Doc	4	4	4

Time, 2:31¾, 2:29¼, 2:27¼.

THE BICYCLE RACES.

Several bicycle races were put on and pleased the crowd greatly. B. R. Burnett, of Superior, made a half mile against a horse, the latter winning. The half mile race was the best of the day. There were four entries, B. R. Burnett, J. P. Burnett and R. Smith, of Superior, and M. Barnham, of Duluth. It was a close race all the way around. Smith astonished the crowd by moving from last up to first place with a magnificent spurt and winning the race. Time, 1:13½. In the two-mile race the entries were the same. It was a procession until the stretch was reached, but the finish was a hot one. Smith had been trailing along in fourth place, but quickly closed up and there was a hot spurt between him and Barnham. The latter won by half a length.

Today's program was as follows:

2:40 class, purse, $200. Entries, St. Elmo, owner M. G. McGeehan, of Hurley; A. W., owner Orrin Carey, of Appleton, Wis.; John O., owner John Heademan, of Ashland; Victor, owner W. L. Nicholls, of Duluth; Obermann, owner C. Tatro, of New Richmond, Wis.; Laverty, owner George P. Rossmann, of Ashland; Little Edgar, owner Bert Stetson, of Eau Claire.

Bicycle race, one-quarter mile, for gold medal.

Free for all, purse, $250. Entries, Zoda, owner M. G. McGeehan, of Hurley; Two Strike, owners Armstrong & Rossman, of Ashland; Belle Ure, owner Bert Stetson, of Eau Claire. Calliopsis, owner Maria Bonville, of Ashland.

Bicycle team race between Duluth and Superior teams, three in each team, for cup.

Running race, half mile, best two in three, purse $50. Entries, Minneapolis, owner Paine & Co., of Carlton; Kickapoo, owner Ed Page, of Carlton; Nellie Bly, owner Brown, of Barnum; Butcher Boy, owner Hugh Fawcett, of Duluth; Bay Fred, owner Miles Lamphere, of Duluth; Telegram, owner J. C. Carey, of Duluth.

Assistant—I think so. There are six or seven chorus girls who haven't received their wages for ten weeks. I'll call them.

THE SNEEZE WOOD TREE.

This remarkable tree is a native of Natal and other parts of South Africa, says the New York Mercury. Its funny name is given to it because one cannot saw it without sneezing violently.

The dust of its wood has the same effect as the strongest snuff, and is so irritating to the nose that workmen are obliged to sneeze even when they are planting it.

If a piece of the wood of this tree is put in the mouth it is found to have a very bitter taste, and no doubt it is this bitterness which prevents insects of any kind from attacking the timber of the "sneeze wood" tree.

The fact that insects find it so disagreeable makes its wood very valuable for work that is required to last a long time.

LIVED IN HOLES.

Prehistoric Men Generally Existed That Way.

Explorations in the Rio Verde valley of Arizona, conducted for the bureau of ethnology by Cosmos Mindeleff, have brought about interesting discoveries respecting a prehistoric race. These people burrowed in the earth like rats. Their houses were holes in the hills, some of them so extensive as to be veritable subterranean hotels, the apartments being in suites for the occupancy of families. Eight miles south of Verde, on the east side of the river, is the now empty home of a once prosperous underground community. It has 200 rooms on the main level, divided into seventy-four distinct and separate sets. On a level above, constituting a second story, are fifty-six rooms in twenty-four sets. It is believed that the entire establishment accommodated 150 to 200 people.

Hollowed out of the faces of the cliffs in that region are thousands of rooms, sometimes in clusters of two or three, while now and then will be found such an elaborate excavation as that just described, affording quarters for a community of considerable size. The places chosen for such workings are along the faces of cliffs, where strata of soft rock occur. The rooms generally are rudely circular, the largest being thirty feet and the smallest five or six feet in dimeter.

In the underground hotels a suit ordinarily consists of one large main room in front, entered by a narrow hall from the face of the bluff, and a number of smaller rooms connected by narrow doorways or passages. There is no outlet into the open except through the main room or parlor. Usually there are a number of little storage rooms or cubby holes, corresponding to closets. These are from one foot to five feet in diameter, on a level with the floors.

Not much is known about the history of the Rio Verde valley. Within recent years that region has been a stamping ground of the hostile Apache and Walapai.

Remains of large villages are found on the river terraces, some of them of elaborate and complex ground plan, indicating long occupancy. The ruins cover a space of five acres. This village, like all the others, was built after the fashion of a pueblo, being merely an aggregation of rooms, most of which were only one story in height. It had 225 rooms on the ground floor and about 500 rooms in all, provided accommodation for perhaps 150 persons. This interesting structure of antiquity is of roughly dressed stone, with a number of courts or open spaces separating the clusters of rooms. One room that stands by itself is thought to have been a sacred ceremonial chamber.

The ancient inhabitants of the Verde valley relied mainly if not wholly upon agriculture for their support. Of the military art they knew so little that they built no fortifications of any kind. They grew much corn, and the remains of irrigation canals and reservoirs utilized by them are found. That they domesticated the sheep and the dog is proved by pictographic writings.

In the rooms were found fragments of baskets, bits of grinding stones, bundles of fibers, pieces of cotton cloth, pottery, arrow shafts and sandals of woven yucca fiber. Sometimes the house had a cavity in the rock for holding fifteen or twenty gallons of water—a month's supply for an aboriginal family. These people buried their dead in niches in the rock. A few of their mummies have been found, preserved merely by the dryness of the atmosphere in the arid region. That climate is particularly favorable to the preservation of bones. The origin of mummification is natural and not artificial. It was so in ancient Egypt, which is a very dry country.

The population of the Verde valley was never large, probably not exceeding 1000 souls. There were few tillable areas, and apart from these the country is forbidding and not suited to agriculture. The ruins in the region are so numerous and extensive as to be attributed formerly to an immense population, estimates running as high as 500,000. But these people had a way of moving continually on and on, and a band of 500 of them might leave behind them the remains of fifty villages in a century.

A PHOTOGRAPHIC PLAY.

I might have described it by another phrase, says Alexander Black in Scribners. Indeed, I have been appalled by the number of descriptive terms which critics and commentators have suggested as applying with equal if not greater fitness to the partnership of monologue and photographs from life to which I gave the name "picture play."

Primarily my purpose was to illustrate art with life. Five or six years ago, when my plan first was made, I discovered several instances in which photographs from life were used to illustrate fiction, and many other instances in which fiction evidently had been adjusted to photographs from life. Neither of these phases offered any practical hint toward the picture play. The suggestion definitely came through a group of photographic studies from living characters, which were tossed together in a "picture talk" that I called "Ourselves as Others See Us."

After outlining a combination of fiction and photography, each devised with a regard for the demands and limitations of the other, it began to be quite clear that the pictures must do more than illustrate. Thus there would be two points of radical difference from the illustrator's scheme. In the first place, the pictures would be primary, the text secondary. Again the pictures would not be art at all in the illustrator's sense, but simply the art of the tableau vivant plus the science of photography. It is the function of art to translate nature, it is the privilege of photography to transmit nature. But in this case the tableaux vivants must be progressive, that the effect or reality may arise not from the suspended action of isolated pictures, but from the blending of many. Here the stereopticon came to my aid.

NO HOPE OF RELIEF.

Chicago Tribune: "How much will you take for that infernal accordion?" demanded the red-faced citizen who had thrust his head out of the second story window.

"It wouldn't do you any good to buy it, mister," answered the dejected musician on the sidewalk. "I've six more of 'em at home."

And he went on playing the "Honeymoon March."

WHY HE WAS SOURED.

Washington Star: "Who is that sour-looking man who is always sitting on that stove box doing nothing?" asked the drummer.

"He's the man that knows all about how ter settle every trouble that the country gits inter," replied the native with an admiring glance.

"But why doesn't he get up and hustle, then?"

"He's mad," was the awe stricken whisper. "He's told congress and the president and everybody how to do things and they didn't pay no 'tention to 'im, an' now he's jes, sittin' in silence an' lettin' the country go to pot."

MISSING

Damage Case Tried Without the Appearance of Defendant or Witnesses.

Attorneys Were Here But Knew Nothing of Clients' Whereabouts.

Case Was Tried and Went to the Jury---Other Matters.

When the case of Angus G. Glassford against John B. and Nettie Weimer came to trial before Judge Ensign this morning the defendants' attorneys discovered that they had neither client or witnesses. Cash, Williams & Chester had been retained to defend the suit, and Weimer had ample notice that it was coming up for trial, but the plaintiff's case was heard and still the defendant and his witnesses did not appear. Glassford complained that some time ago he was working on a boat on Rainy lake and the defendants' were blasting near by. A rock flew over to the boat and broke Glassford's leg, for which he asked $15,990 damages. When the witnesses for the plaintiff had all been examined the defendants' attorneys did the only thing in their power—moved for a dismissal. The motion was denied, and the case was given to the jury just before noon.

The case of Thomas J. Hawkins against the Eastern Minnesota railroad was continued Monday, Judge Moer holding that defendants' claim that Hawkins could not maintain his case as he was insane was good. A guardian will have to be appointed to conduct his case.

The case of W. E. Covey, as receiver for Hunter & Quinn, against the Des Moines State Insurance company, to recover $500 insurance on a printing outfit destroyed in the Bunnel block on Lake avenue, was dismissed on defendants' motion.

The case of Cant & Brigham against D. J. McDonnell was still before Judge Morris and was expected to occupy half the afternoon. The case of the Bank of Commerce, of West Superior, against R. E. Denfeld et al was dismissed by the plaintiff. The case of H. P. Barbour against the Marine National bank was settled and dismissed.

The following setting of court cases has been made:

Dog Stealing Case.

Peter Mainella's brown spaniel dog, Garibaldi, was the bone of contention in Judge Edson's court this morning. Several weeks ago Mainella, who runs a fruit and cigar stand, missed his dog and offered a reward of $10 for his recovery through the want columns of The Herald. On the day following the insertion of the ad Louis Bacon, a compositor, brought back Garibaldi, whom he claimed to have found wandering around the streets.

Bacon was rewarded with a round silver dollar and two alleged 10-cent cigars. Shortly after he came around with a bill for $9, the balance of the reward. This Mainella refused to pay, alleging that he had not inserted the ad. He further claimed that Bacon had decoyed the dog away. Judge Edson found for the plaintiff for the amount asked, with costs.

THE TAILORS ORGANIZE.

Have Taken a Membership in the National Exchange.

The merchant tailors met again last evening to take up the matter of organization of an exchange. A branch of the national exchange is to be instituted and the plans for it are complete. The local association will be known as the Merchant Tailors' Exchange of Duluth. The following officers were elected: President, J. S. Lane; vice president, F. J. Mueller; secretary, George H. Brenton; treasurer, H. M. Nelson. Another meeting will be held this evening.

The West Superior tailors will unite with the Duluth men. Meetings will be held every two weeks for a time and after that every month. A system which is designed to worry individuals who do not pay their tailor is among the purposes of the exchange and it is said to succeed admirably elsewhere. A membership in the national exchange also gives tailors here a voice in the establishment of fashions and in many other important matters.

AFRAID OF THE WEATHER.

"The story in The Herald Monday night alleging that I abducted my children from the Women's home is not exactly correct," said Walter Wright this morning. "In the first place, I had permission of the matron to take my children for a walk, and I only refused to give them up to the police because I thought the weather was too bad to allow them to go out."

The steamer Elphicke, with ore from Duluth had a narrow escape from foundering on Sunday night in a gale off the west shore of Keewenaw Point. Her deck boats were torn away by the seas, the cabin stove in, one hatch cover torn off. The steering gear was disabled and water poured into the fire room threatening to put out the fires. An effort was made to get into Eagle Harbor, but on account of the storm, it was unsuccessful and in a disabled condition the steamer was compelled to make her way to Marquette, where she made temporary repairs. One fireman and three deck men left the steamer there, refusing to go any further with her in her present condition.

Murch, of the Northern King, will succeed Killeran. Vice President Farrington, of the Northern line, pretended not to know anything of the change. Capt. Killeran said that he resigned, taking effect in November, but would probably leave sooner. It is stated on good authority that a clean sweep will be made of the heads of all departments here that have served under Gordon.

HARD TO KILL.

The following story of a scorpion getting into a boot is told at the expense of an officer who was stationed with his regiment at Allahabad, says Pearson's Weekly: He was putting on his boots one morning, and was just about to stamp the heel down when he felt a sharp prick. Several scorpions had been seen about the barracks for the past few weeks, so that he naturally concluded that it was one of these pests that had stung him.

"Well, the harm's done now," he muttered, with a mental benediction upon the head of his servant for being so careless: "but, anyhow, I may as well kill the brute. It'll get away if I take the boot off."

Accordingly he began stamping violently on the floor, with a view of crushing the life out of the scorpion. Every time he stamped it gave him the greatest agony, but he stuck bravely to it until at last he thought that the objectionable tenant was dead.

When he took off his boot, however, he felt both relieved and vexed, but was glad that he had not summoned assistance. It was years before he could tell the real story of his scorpion, for during half an hour had he been stamping upon and trying to kill a blacking brush which his servant had accidentally left in the bottom of his boot.

NOT ACCIDENTAL.

Detroit Free Press: He got off a Michigan Central train the other day holding a handkerchief to his bleeding nose, and the special officer had enough curiosity to stop him and ask:

"Any accident happened to the train?"

"No, no accident."

"But your nose is bleeding, and seems to be badly swollen."

"Yes, I know, but it was no accident. He hit me with his left."

"A man hit you?"

"Yes, the man I called a liar. No, there was no accident about it. I called him a liar, he knocked me over two seats, and I'm going up town to see my brother. All plain as day and no accident to give out to the reporters."

NOT SO FUNNY AFTER ALL.

Chicago Times-Herald: Two little fellows struck a mine of amusement one day last week and worked it for all it was worth.

Their plan was to stand at the street corner and when a pedestrian got in good range they called out excitedly, pointing to the victim's feet:

"Say! You dropped your footsteps!"

It was great fun—for the boys.

Presently an old lady approached the corner. She was fat and looked important. The boys hugged themselves in sheer delight. This time, to prolong the enjoyment, they began:

"Say, missus! 'Scuse us, but you dropped somethink!"

"Dear me! What? Such nice little boys, I'm sure." And she stopped and picked up a silver quarter lying directly before her and sailed on.

WHAT NATIONS EAT.

A statistician compiles the following figures, showing the cost of nourishment for the various nations, says the Louisville Courier-Journal: The average Englishman consumes $250 worth of food a year; Germans and Austrians, $216 worth; Frenchmen, $212; Italians, $110, and the Russians eat only $86 worth of eatables per year. In the consumption of meat the English-speaking nations are also in the lead, with 125 pounds of meat a year per capita of the population, the Frenchman using ninety-five pounds; Austrians seventy-nine, Germans seventy-two, Italians fifty-two, and Russians fifty pounds of meat per year. The consumption of bread, however, is reversed, being compared to that of meat. The English use 400 pounds a year, the Frenchmen 366, the Austrians 990, Germans 620, Spanish 600, Italians 600, and the Russians 725 pounds of bread per year.

AS THE SEASONS CHANGE.

Washington Star: "There do be only wan way to get the besht av borryin' neighbors," said Mrs. Dolan. "An' thot is to move."

"How the Rafferties been callin' an yez agin?"

"They hov. An' it's the wan that owns the utinsils thot hov to be goin' widout 'em. In the winter they borry the cookshtove an' in summer they come over fur the loan av the oice chist."

He Makes an Exhaustive Speech at the Waterways Convention.

Several Speakers Address the Convention on Deep Waterways Topics.

Discussion of the Best Plan for a Route to Tide Water.

Cleveland, Sept. 26.—At the evening session of the deep waterways convention last evening two papers were read. There were also short addresses by President Frank Wenter, of the Chicago drainage canal trustees, and Alexander McDougall, the builder of the whalebacks.

The nominating committee held a meeting and decided to add the following to the executive committee, the first four to take the places of four who were to be dropped: George Anderson, Pittsburg; Edward C. O'Brien, New York; A. P. McGuirk, Davenport, Iowa; E. V. Smalley, St. Paul; A. H. Burke, Duluth; Don M. Dickinson, Detroit; Ryerson Ritchie, Cleveland; and Frank Hearne, of Wheeling.

This morning the committee on nominations presented its recommendations at the opening session of the deep waterways convention for the re-election of the old officers and the election of seventeen members of the executive board. The report was promptly adopted. The new members of the board will determine by lot what shall be the terms of the members, six of whom will serve for one year, six for two years and six for three years. The eighteenth member will be chosen by the other members of the committee.

The first paper of the day was on "Domestic Ship Building," by Professor George Tunnell, of the Chicago university. It indicated careful research and thorough study on the part of the speaker who took the position that American shipping will be revived when ships can be built in America as cheaply as in foreign lands. A debate followed, Alexander R. Smith, of New York, disagreeing with Professor Tunnell, as to the decline of American shipping. He ascribed the prosperity prosperity of foreign shipping to subsidies.

J. N. Dutton, of Washington, and Gustav Lindenthal, of New York, and Professor Lewis M. Haupt, of Philadelphia, John A. C. Wright, of Rochester, and others discussed the various routes and plans proposed for a ship canal from Lake Erie to the ocean.

"The enlargement of the Erie canal" was the subject of a paper by Dr. Thomas P. Roberts, of Pittsburg. Mr. Roberts thought the size of such a canal should be made to connect the great lakes with the water was of primary consideration. "The size I would recommend," he said, "is the size that is plainly within the means of the state of New York or of a corporation, or of the United States to build. Now, I believe the Erie canal with 15, 20 or 25 feet depth will be better than with 10 feet depth, and believe also that there is business in sight to warrant a much larger construction than is to be voted upon by the people, but I do not believe the state of New York will make any serious mistake in deepening the old canal as at present proposed, at least on the western division.

"In the old days when our Pennsylvania engineers were at work on canals, they did construct two sixty mile canals from the Ohio near Pittsburg to Lake Erie. One branch extended to Cleveland, the other to Erie and each had more than 130 locks. We propose now to reach Lake Erie, of course, on a better route, with only about thirty-five locks, so that from Pittsburg to the Hudson there promises to be a canal with fewer locks in it, than now in use from Buffalo to Troy. Surely these great projects are worth the serious consideration of our people, no matter where the canals may be built, which pass from the lakes either to the sea or to the Ohio river, or to the Mississippi, the construction of one will hasten the work on all the others.

"We need have no fear that there are going to be too many of these great canals, for but at few points will the demands of commerce meet with that favorable response from nature without which no money or engineering talent can produce a modern canal."

Mr. Thomas C. Keefer, of Ottawa, Canada, wrote a paper on "Cost, Character and Utility of Existing Great Lakes, Champlain and St. Lawrence Improvements."

"In view of the fact," said Mr. Keefer, "that New York is the most important terminus for a deep waterway from the lakes to the ocean, because it is the most important market on this continent and that Montreal is the nearest point on tide water and upon the shortest route to Europe from the great lakes, an international route via the St. Lawrence and Lake Champlain is, in my judgment, the only suitable one for the class of vessels which deep waterways on the lakes will develop, the only one which will make lake ports (including Buffalo) seaports, and the only one which can compete with the railways because it has the maximum of wide, deep water, and the minimum of artificial channels, as also the minimum of locks. The tide water at Montreal is capable of the same value to New York.

"For the connection of the St. Lawrence with Lake Champlain in Canadian territory, surveys and estimates have been made by the late John B. Jervis and others. The intervening country is most favorable and the total cost of reaching Lake Champlain from the point of departure on the St. Lawrence should not exceed that of Montreal. The section on which information is needed for an international route to New York, is that between deep water in Lake Champlain and deep water in the Hudson, on the plan of making Lake Champlain the feeder of this canal."

FRANK FLOWER'S SPEECH.

The paper by Executive Secretary Flower, entitled "A Basis for Co-operation Between the United States and Canada in Canal Construction and Maintenance," was one of the most thoroughly exhaustive on the list.

It covers the entire diplomatic history of the United States so far as it relates to commerce, navigation and marine matters, and gives also a complete account of the perpetual arrangement between Great Britain and the United States for a neutral ship canal at Nicaragua; the agreement by which Russia and Germany built and will use the Baltic or North German canal; the co-operative basis on which seven of the great European powers, together with Turkey, have for forty years been improving, controlling and using the Danube river.

He concludes that a co-operative agreement between the United States and Great Britain is inevitable for the control of the levels and outflow of the great lakes, and that the chief difficulty in the way of its consummation is the jingo sentiment on both sides of the border. The paper ends thus:

The diplomatic necessities for the co-operative arrangement under discussion, illustrated by the single incident of the 90 per cent rebate tolls on St. Lawrence traffic granted by Canada in 1892, which operated as a discrimination against United States shipping and resulted in President Harrison's retaliatory proclamation, requires no discussion. They are self-evident.

Neither does the question of permanency require discussion. Treaties may be as enduring as governments. An arrangement that is mutually satisfactory and profitable to both parties will perpetuate itself under almost any difficulties we can conceive. Commercial bonds are stronger than the mere paragraphs of treaties; but where treaty provisions and trade interests are in unison there must be practically perpetual security.

Thus we see that the question of diplomacy was long ago shorn of its difficulties. If it were known what the people of the two countries would agree to, the matter of drafting a perpetual and satisfactory treaty could be accomplished in a single day.

Very likely a free discussion of the differences that would arise in attempting to formulate such treaty will be considered injudicious. It can do no harm, however, to state the substance of the probable differences.

In the first place, sentiment is less controllable than any other element in the national character. There is what the newspapers call a strong "jingo" sentiment in both countries. Formerly it was more pronounced in Canada, but commercial necessities will ultimately dominate almost everything, and now it is more emphatic in the United States. The essence of that sentiment is an apparently unreasoning opposition to either country to any close or friendly relation for any purpose whatever with the other. Those who harbor such feelings are constantly making mental preparations for war. They talk bigly of military tactics and never cease explaining on this side how the Americans can whip the British, and in Canada how the English navy could trace the American seaport cities.

This sentiment is not confined to individuals, is not heard simply on the hustings, in the pulpit and in our club rooms, but finds permanent record in the columns of newspapers and magazines.

For defense those who entertain the war theory point to the fact that in the past Great Britain has been engaged in scores of military conflicts, and has twice measured strength with the United States.

It would be utterly impossible to qualify or modify this spirit of jingoism in either country. Whatever, therefore, may be done of a co-operative nature will have to be accomplished not with the aid, but in spite of jingoism.

But it is possible to carry out the central idea of this association, making the great lakes of the utmost feasible utility to commerce and affording an ample outlet to the ocean, without ignoring the peculiar instincts of those who are certain of another conflict between the United States and Great Britain. It would be impracticable to try to go into details of how that might be done; but the suggestion of a beginning may lead to such a wide discussion of the great subject as will ultimately crystallize public sentiment in some proper direction.

For instance, Canada has nothing further, as Mr. Fisher suggested in his book, to lay at the feet of the United States. She has given up the St. Lawrence forever; she has the bosom of no vast sea of her own like Lake Michigan to offer; she has no Mississippi to be opened; she has only the hospitality of a small population in a narrow settlement to extend to American manufacturers. If then, engineers should discover that the most feasible deep water route from the great lakes to New York is by way of Lake Champlain and the Hudson, Canada could cede to the United States that little three-cornered strip of territory south of the St. Lawrence and west of Coteau Landing in return for the full navigation of all our great lakes, canals, Lake Michigan, and, on the completion of the sanitary and ship canal at Chicago, of the Mississippi river to the Gulf of Mexico as well.

This would give a great international route from the head of Lake Superior and the head of Lake Michigan to Coteau Landing, and thence each country would have an independent route of its own to the ocean—the Canadians down the St. Lawrence and the Americans up Lake Champlain and down the Hudson. And the cost to Canada would be—on this basis—ceding to the United States the strip of territory mentioned and enlarging the St. Lawrence to a ship channel from Coteau Landing to Montreal.

Such an arrangement would put the jingoists of both countries on the topmost rail of exuberance, besides giving the vast interior two outlets to the ocean. In case such an arrangement were to be made, Canada would probably demand that the United States clean out the great lakes system from its head to Coteau Landing—around Niagara Falls and down the St. Lawrence river to the point of parting—to a depth of twenty-six feet in return for dismemberment, the cession of the strip of territory mentioned.

It might not be considered proper to go further into the discussion of this subject. But if we may not discuss the principles involved, we shall undoubtedly be allowed to amuse ourselves with outlining a probable method of procedure for international co-operation in the matters under discussion. It could be found somewhat as follows:

1. An international commission to report jointly upon the feasibility and desirability of the enterprise. (That is now provided for by the Vilas amendment to the sundry civil bill of March 3, 1895, to which the Canadian government has made reciprocal response.)

2. If the preliminary report of this commission should be favorable, sufficient power and money would probably be granted to the same body for making actual topographical surveys, estimates and collateral investigations, the report thereof to be accompanied by general recommendations as to routes, probable cost, method of further procedure and

ALLISON

Iowa's Republican Senator Fires the Opening Gun of the Campaign.

Speaks of the Growth of the Western States as Prodigious.

Blames the Democrats for Tariff Tinkering and Other Acts.

Marshalltown, Ia., Sept. 26.—At the opening meeting of the Republican state convention here this afternoon there was a large and very enthusiastic audience. The chief attraction was an address by Hon. W. B. Allisoon, United States senator from this state, who spoke as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow Citizens: I congratulate you on this auspicious opening. This assemblage is an indication of the interest Republicans take in the result. That victory will come to us cannot be doubted; that its magnitude will depend upon effective organization and effort should be realized; organization rests with the state committee, the local committees and auxiliary clubs; effective effort rests with each citizen before, and on election day. Happily, the distress of two years ago is gradually passing away, and hope for, and confidence in the future has taken its place. The causes that led to this distress, and that give hope of permanent prosperity in the future require our careful study because of the lessons they teach. Those causes are not wholly political, but largely so. In their political relations they are easily analyzed.

"The growth and prosperity of any country largely depends upon the virtue, intelligence, economy and industry of its people. These, in turn, are promoted and stimulated by wise laws faithfully and intelligently administered. Thus the public policies of a nation become important to each individual composing it. Our national growth and strength is the work of a single century, and is the marvel of history.

"If we analyze the distribution of this wealth in our country, we find that the geographical section in which we dwell compares favorably with every other, although comparatively new. We cannot profitably compare our growth with the South, or the extreme West, for reasons apparent, but we can with profit compare our growth with the older Atlantic seaboard states. If we compare the states embracing the five states carved out of the Northwest territory, and the seven more northerly states formed from the Louisiana purchase, namely, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and the two Dakotas, twelve in all, with the North Atlantic seaboard states, embracing all of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland, eleven in all, we find that the wealth of New England between 1860 and 1890, covering the period of a single generation, increased more than four-fold, and the twelve states northwest, I have named, increased more than eight-fold.

"Two-fifths of the total wealth of the United States is to be found within the twelve states I have named; so that our wealth is $2,000,000,000 greater than the wealth of the eleven states on the Atlantic seaboard, and our per capita wealth is nearly equal to theirs, the accumulation of 200 years, whilst these twelve states only fifty years ago were without large cities and centers of wealth, and, with the exception of Ohio and Indiana, were inhabited by a sparsely-settled population of agriculturists far in the interior of the country with no access to markets, except that provided by natural waterways. The total wealth of the country between 1860 and 1890 increased forty-nine thousand millions of dollars, one thousand millions more than the present estimated wealth of Great Britain, and of this increase $21,000,000,000, or more than two-fifths of the total increase in the United States is in the twelve prairie states I have named.

"During the whole of the period, between 1860 and 1892, the policies of the Republican party substantially prevailed, although for considerable periods the Democratic party held a majority in the house, and for four years the national administration, but during no part of it was this control extended to the legislative and executive power at the same time, so that laws could neither be enacted nor repealed without Republican votes. I do not claim that this prosperity is wholly due to these policies, but that they greatly contributed to it cannot be doubted."

Mr. Allison spoke at length on the resumption of specie payments and increase of currency, and discussed the McKinley and Wilson tariff bills, and blamed the Democratic party's mismanagement of national finances for much of the monetary stringency of late years, and said that the next congress would be called upon to raise additional revenues in some form. He spoke of the last issue of bonds as one of the greatest blunders of the last two years and said, in substance, that Democratic tariff tinkering was mainly responsible for it.

Regarding the silver question, he said it was a most important issue, and stated the sentiment in favor of an international agreement was increasing day by day, and that many people of both political parties were in favor of free coinage at the 16 to 1 figure without any international action or concurrent arrangement, and closed by saying that the Republican party entered the campaign united and harmonious and the result could not be doubtful.

Following Senator Allison were addresses by United States Senator Gear, ex-Governor Larabee, Gen. Drake and Matt Parrott. Two meetings were held simultaneously in the Court House park. The first was addressed by Congressman Hager, of Henderson. Hon. Frank Campbell was received at an open air meeting presided over by Congressman Courtney, who made a brief address, and was followed by Congressmen Lacey, Henderson, Perkins and Hull. Senators Allison and Gear, Gen. Drake and Matt Parrott also made short talks at both meetings. The prospects are favorable for a big assemblage tonight.

MINNEAPOLIS BLAZE.

Board of Trade Building Damaged by Fire Today.

Minneapolis, Sept. 26.—About 8 o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was turned in from the corner of Third street and Fourth avenue and shortly afterward fire was seen bursting out from the upper stories of the Chamber of Commerce building. A general alarm was turned in but at first it seemed as if the building was doomed.

The firemen worked heroically and the fire was brought under control by 9 o'clock, and the actual damage confined to the upper floors, although the entire building was drenched. The Chamber of Commerce was a handsome five story structure at Third street and Fourth avenue south, two blocks from the milling district. It was erected in 1884 at a cost of $180,000. It is the center of the grain trade, the Corn Exchange and the Flour Exchange occupying adjacent corners. The chamber has 650 members. The building has long been too small for its business and the opportunity will now be embraced to rebuild and enlarge.

The loss is estimated at $30,000 on the building and $30,000 on the contents. The insurance on the building is $125,000. The insurance on the contents of the various offices is so diverse as to be unobtainable as yet. There could not have been a more unfortunate time for the fire as the grain trade is at its busiest. Temporary arrangements for trading have been made in the Flour Exchange building. The offices of the following Chicago firms were wrecked, Millmine, Bodman & Co., F. G. Logan & Co., Robert Linblom & Co., Weare & Co., and Bartlett, Frazier & Co.

GAVE UP THE RACE.

The English Yacht Won Today's Half-Raters' Race.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 26.—The prospects for a race today between the half raters the Spruce IV, of England, the challenger for the Seawananhaka cup, and the Ethelwynn, the defender, are first rate this morning. There is a fine breeze blowing from the southward This will be the third race between the rivals, each have already won one. The course today will be to windward or leeward, three miles and return, with a repetition of the two legs, making a full course of twelve miles.

Centre Island, Sept. 26.—The Ethelwynn gave up the race at the end of the first round when the Spruce was almost nine minutes ahead. The boats turned the outer mark as follows: Spruce, 1:02:08; Ethelwynn, 1:02:16. The time at the end of the first round was: Spruce, 2:03:08; Ethelwynn, 2:11:38. After rounding the mark the Ethelwynn gave up the race.

BOTH FOUND DEAD.

Mysterious Tragedy Revealed in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 26.—At an early hour today Robert Schmidt, a clothier, discovered the dead bodies of Joseph Rensch and Della Bowen, near the Lindell railway entrance to Tower Grove park. The right temple of each was pierced by a bullet which caused a great flow of blood. About 2 o'clock a lady living in the vicinity heard two pistol shots, but did not know who fired them. A note from the girl was found on the dead man's body, reading: "Good bye to all. I shoot myself." It is supposed that the man shot the girl and then killed himself.

ALL MADE MONEY.

Western Baseball League is in Good Condition.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—The directors of the Western Baseball league met at the Tremont house today and awarded the championship of the season to the Indianapolis team. The officers' report showed the league to be in excellent financial condition, every club having made money. Today's meeting was an executive one, and those present refused to discuss the proceedings.

It was expected that a lively row would be developed, owing to objections to the alleged drafting by President Brush, of the Cincinnati National league team, of players really intended for the Indianapolis. The directors, however, denied that any such trouble occurred.

HUMANE SOCIETY.

Action of State Governors Adversely Considered.

Minneapolis, Sept. 26.—The American Humane association this morning listened to papers by Mrs. Bartholomew on the work in North Dakota, by William Hosea Ballou on the national work. Resolutions condemning the governor of Colorado, for his "timidity and indifference" in permitting the Gillette bull fight, were passed. It was decided to name a standing commission of six on humane education. The efforts of President Elliott, of Harvard, to free inter-collegiate athletic sports from their "well known brutality" were commended after warm debate.

A resolution condemning Governor Clough, of Minnesota, for his recent pardon of a man who drove a horse to death, and had been sentenced to six months in the Minneapolis workhouse, was offered, but consideration was postponed.

ROYAL Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

To Be Heard Monday.

St. Paul, Sept. 26.—The railroad and warehouse commissioner fixed upon Monday, Sept. 30, as the date for the hearing of the Erickson complaint against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad. Erickson complains that the passenger rates on the Missabe road are 4 cents a mile, while the law allows but 3 cents a mile.

It has been generally understood for some years that the roads over the iron country were charging 4 cents a mile for passengers, but as the railroad business was light and the expenses of building the roads abnormally heavy, no objection has been filed before.

FORCE

This is the Main Feature of the Irish New Movement.

Platform Declares Liberty Must be Won on the Battlefield.

Appeal to Americans and All Lovers of Liberty for Aid.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Today's session of the Irish new movement convention was generally regarded as the most important of all. The principal business on the program was the consideration of the platform, submitted by the committee on resolutions, and the report of the committee on ways and means for national organization. The delegates waited with eagerness on an outline of these two reports.

The committee on resolutions was as follows: Chairman, O'Neill Ryan, St. Louis; T. H. Greevey, Pennsylvania; T. Flynn, Nebraska; J. M. Kennedy, Montana; E. O. O'Connell, Illinois; T. Connor, New Jersey; Martin Kelly, Tennessee; J. W. Kelly, Delaware; M. A. Walsh, Texas; M. Farrell, California; W. Fitzgerald, Iowa; D. D. Finnucane, California; John Ryan, New York; Ed Sweeney, Ohio; M. J. Redding, Indianapolis; J. O'Sullivan, Pennsylvania; C. P. O'Hara, Nebraska; M. Morgan, Wisconsin; O'C. McLaughlin, New York; T. Moran, Louisiana; J. C. Breen, Connecticut; P. H. O'Connor, Kansas; J. Dillon, Rhode Island; Redmond Keys, Canada; P. A. Foley, Massachusetts; R. Walsh, Minnesota; D. E. Ryan, New York.

The committee on ways and means for national organization was as follows: William Lynn, chairman; J. J. O'Connell, Chicago; E. M. Sayer, Delaware; J. J. McDonald, Missouri; E. Cunningham, Missouri; P. H. Gallagher, Montana; J. H. Dean, Colorado; J. Sheehey, California; P. J. Murphy, Iowa; J. Mulcahey, Texas; M. P. Mooney, Ohio; E. Moran, Pennsylvania; I. J. Connors, Wisconsin; T. E. Barron, Washington, D. C.; M. F. Kelly, Rhode Island; J. T. Hickey, Michigan; F. C. Downer, Kansas; H. McGee, Alabama; P. F. Butler, Connecticut; M. Mitchell, Iowa; E. M. Belger, Indiana; William Gavin, Idaho; P. L. McArdle, Arizona; J. J. Kelly, Australia; T. H. Joyce, Alaska; P. V. Fitzpatrick, South Dakota; J. M. Leonard, Massachusetts; F. J. Kinsella, Indian Territory; L. Arbuckle, Nevada; J. M. Colton, Massachusetts; F. J. Kinnucane, Minnesota; F. D. Jennings, New Jersey; P. H. Powers, Tennessee; T. O'Leary, Montana; T. J. Walsh, Maryland; J. M. Brown, Toronto.

THE PLATFORM.

O'Neill Ryan, of St. Louis, was greeted with enthusiastic cheers when, as chairman of the committee, he stepped forward to read the platform proposed for the consideration of the convention. His powerful voice, and the impressive silence of the delegates, made a deep impression as he proceeded to read under the title of a "declaration of principles," the following:

The people of Ireland are a sovereign people. Ireland is by nature separate from every other country, and liberty is the birthright of her people. Ireland was known throughout Europe as a nation long before the dawn of Christianity, and was the home of civilization, while England was still barbarous. England's claims to authority in Ireland originated in force and have been maintained by corruption and coercion. They have never ripened into a right to rule; the title by conquest has never been perfected, inasmuch as the Irish people have continuously by constitutional agitation, or revolutionary movements, resisted England's power and endeavored to destroy her unlawful supremacy.

Ireland is deprived of almost every civil right which the American people most dearly cherish. Unexampled cruelty and brutal vindictiveness have been the distinguishing features of English rule in Ireland. England has destroyed Ireland's industries and ruined her commerce; she has placed upon her statute books laws making it a crime to educate an Irish child; she has burned Ireland's school houses and destroyed her churches; she has driven into exile, or left to perish in her dungeons thousands of men whose only crime was love for Ireland. Every measure for the last century looking toward legislative independence of the Irish people has either suffered defeat in the commons, or been arbitrarily rejected by the lords. England has violated every obligation and broken every pledge, and with almost every year of the century she has imposed upon Ireland brutal laws of coercion and one of the most drastic character is now upon her statute books.

To the pleas of the people for justice and their prayers for mercy, England has responded with the scourge and the scaffold, and yet today, Ireland enthralled, but not enslaved, crushed but not conquered, is in spirit a nation. It has become evident after many years of earnest endeavor to obtain a measure of independence from the English government by peaceful agitation, that appeals to reason for justice are futile. It is left, therefore for the men of the Irish race to proclaim again the truth recorded by all history that the liberties of a people and the independence of a nation cannot be achieved by debate, but must be won upon the field of battle, and we declare our belief that the men of Ireland who are being driven into exile or into graves of serfs in their native land by English misgovernment, are entitled by the laws of God and man to use every means in their power to drive from their country the usurper.

In view of these facts the members of this convention appeal with confidence to their American fellow citizens and all lovers of liberty to co-operate with them in aiding the people of Ireland in the achievement of the same measure of liberty enjoyed in these United States.

BIG GUNS

Wiard's Plans for Furnishing Some Very Large Rifled Guns.

By His Plan Old Style Rodmans Can be Used.

One Design Calls for the Biggest Rifle Gun Known.

Washington, Sept. 26.—If the board of fortifications accepts several propositions made by Norman Wiard, and the latter is able to carry out his engagements, the United States will be in possession of by far the largest and most powerful rifled gun in the world, and the means will be at hand for the easy conversion of what is now obsolete ordnance into the most effective modern rifles. Mr. Wiard made his propositions to the board during the present session and was heard at length in explanation of the details of his projects.

First he asked the board to make an allotment for the Reading-Wiard 12-inch rifle which he has brought almost to the point of completion. This is an old Rodman smooth bore cast iron gun converted into a rifle, and Mr. Wiard told the board this weapon would show one-third more energy than any other 12-inch rifle, could be fired more rapidly, and would show more endurance than the best of the modern built-up expensive steel guns.

Next he offered to take the big 20-inch smooth bore cast iron Rodman gun, just removed as obsolete from the earthworks at Fort Lafayette, New York harbor, and convert this into a 20-inch rifle. As the largest rifle in any service is 16-inch caliber, this would be the greatest rifle ever made. The 16-inch guns have all failed, but Mr. Wiard asserted to the board that this 20-inch rifle would stand extremely rapid firing, endure at least 100 rounds in ten hours, and throw a shell weighing a ton with an energy far surpassing any shot on record.

The last proposition is to build an all-steel, high power, 16-inch rifle, which he guarantees to excel in endurance and performance any service gun of like size in the world and to possess the remarkable property of this coming stronger with every shot fired from it. This last property is to be secured by some peculiarity of construction that is not yet fully disclosed. The board has taken these propositions under consideration.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

The Famous College Begins Another Year.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 26.—Harvard university begins its 259th year today with increased attendance in all departments and the prospect of another prosperous year. The students have been pouring into Cambridge during the past week and the old college yard has shaken off its summer lethargy and become all bustle and activity once more. Every student is required to register today and regular lectures begin the afternoon.

Harvard begins another year with several innovations and increased facilities, but in spite of the new dormitories added last year, students' rooms are at a premium, and memorial hall, where the students dine has a waiting list of over 600. During the summer a new reading room has been provided in the library and the building itself is being equipped with electric lights which will allow the use of the building evenings for the first time in its history.

DISTINGUISHED PASSENGERS.

New York, Sept. 26.—Among those arriving this morning on the steamer Aller, were: Hon. Alexander McDonald, Col. W. A. Mayer, Capt. George C. Kenny, Maj. W. H. Smyth and three Japanese officials named Capt. Lieut. Kato, Count Mita and Imperial Japanese Intendent Panaka.

Kirk's Eos is not an ordinary soap powder, for while it is designed to do the family washing without using any soap whatever, it must not be confounded as such. All grocers keep it. Price, 5 cents.

RAW MATERIAL.

Iron Interests Anxious About the Supply.

New York, Sept. 26.—The Iron Age says: The question of a supply of raw material is the one uppermost in the minds of the managers of the largest interests in the country. The coke situation has improved. The ore situation is decidely clearer, at least so far as foreign supplies are concerned. The flurry in Bessemer pig in Pittsburg is now pretty well over. Altogether, all the great concerns have continued eager purchasers of ore and pig, and are evidently securing supplies as far ahead as they can get them.

On a small business the billet market has gone off about $1 per ton from the highest point, largely through the offering of small lots by brokers. It is not quite clear whether this covers re-sales by large consumers or whether it is done for a temporary effect. Wire rods have been quiet for a considerable time. In the East the most disquieting feature has been the appearance of a large Pittsburg concern as a sharp competitor for small lots, in the face of recent protestations that the mills were crowded with work for months to come.

One Eastern mill has also reappeared on the scene. Taking it altogether, the situation is puzzling. It has been difficult to understand where all the product turned out goes to in the absence of a good railroad demand, and yet the interests are scrambling for raw material. It can only be explained by assuming that important developments in steel ralls are pending.

HE NEVER SAID IT.

Consul General De Kay Denies a Reported Interview.

Berlin, Sept. 26.—Charles De Kay, United States consul general at Berlin, says that a pretended interview with him which was published in newspapers of the United States last month and in which he was made to say that he had made a report to the state department upon the case of Louis Stern, of New York, who in July last was sentenced to imprisonment and fine for insulting Baron Thuengen, assistant to the royal commissioner of baths and associate judge in Kissengen, was a pure fabrication.

Mr. De Kay said today that he had never written to the state department saying he would have acted as Mr. Stern under similar circumstances, and that moreover, he had never made any such statement to any body. To have done so would have been an act of gross discourtesy to his colleague, the United States consul general at Frankfort, to whose division the whole of Bavaria belongs. For similar reasons, Mr. De Kay added, it was out of the question that he should have made any report upon the case to Washington.

PELAGIC PIRATES.

British Ships Are Violating Sealing Regulations.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—Information has come to the federal authorities here that many British sailing schooners have been carrying arms in open defiance of the treaty, and that the hunters have boldly violated every clause of the law. Complaints will be made to the state department and the matter will be laid before the British government.

If the stories of American sea captains who have cruised in the Arctic regions since the Paris award in Bering sea matters may be believed, the British fur sealers are systematically violating every condition of the treaty, carrying plenty of arms to do as they please, and laugh at threats or complaints from America. It is claimed that the British vessels are all cruising boldly without regard to the treaty.

On the other hand, it is said that by reason of advantage of position and superiority on the seas, Great Britain is careful in guarding vessels, and that every violation of the law, however technical, is promptly reported and summarily dealt with. It is alleged that guns and firearms have been used in violation of the treaty, and that no attention has been paid to the injunction which prohibits any kind of fur sealing at certain seasons of the year.

DURRANT

Defense Has Many Strings to Pull in Durrant's Behalf.

Minister Gibson's Writing May be an Important Bit of Evidence.

The Minnie Williams Murder Case Incidentally Referred to Yesterday.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—The handwriting of Rev. J. George Gibson is destined to play an important part in the great trial. In his opening statement Attorney Duprey said that the writing on the paper enclosing Blanche Lamont's rings, and on the wrapper addressed to Mr. Noble were similar to the penmanship of the pastor. In a very adroit way he cast suspicion on the minister and the defense will attempt to prove his insinuations were justifiable. In order to show the similarity of Dr. Gibson's handwriting and that on the paper and wrapper, a blackboard containing some of the pastor's writing will be introduced in evidence by the defense.

This blackboard was found on the first landing of the belfry by Attorneys Dickinson and Duprey one day during a day of inspection of the church. They examined the board carefully at the time, and after a little private consultation, decided it would be of value to the defense. When they left the church, they took the board with them and by the writing on it will try to prove much that may be of a damaging character against the minister, the board contains the following notice, which was written in chalk by Dr. Gibson: "The pastor will see visitors down stairs after services."

This board was frequently placed in the lobby in the church on Sundays. During the week it was kept in the belfry landing. During the preliminary examination of the Minnie Williams case, the defense requested Dr. Gibson to write the names of George King and Professor Schernstein. They are the names that were found on the paper inclosing Blanche Lamont's rings. It was the intention of the defense to produce the names written by Dr. Gibson and compare the writing with that on the paper and wrapper sent to Mrs. Noble.

The lawyers of the defense will spend considerable time comparing the two specimens of handwriting. They will claim that the person who wrote the names on the paper inclosing the rings and on the paper sent to Mrs. Noble are the same. Dr. Gibson is prepared for the attack by the defense. He would not discuss the subject, but his secretary, Robert N. Lynch, said: "The writing on the paper enclosing the rings and that on the wrapper are in no way like the penmanship of Dr. Gibson. The address on the wrapper is printed. The only similarity between it and Dr. Gibson's writing, is that the doctor writes a clear hand, and resembles print.

The district attorney and the police scoff at the attempt made by the defense in the Durrant case to cast suspicion upon Rev. Gibson. They said in response to a question that no order would be issued for the clergyman's arrest. Rev. Gibson himself denied that he had written the names on the newspaper as charged by Attorney Duprey.

In reference to an Omaha dispatch stating that Durrant is known to have received a letter from Blanche Lamont the day after she disappeared, Attorney Duprey said he knew nothing of such a letter.

ST. ANDREW'S BROTHERHOOD

Organization Which Does Much Good.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 26.—The members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, in convention here, are almost all members of the Episcopal church, though any baptized person may belong to it. It is unlike the Christian Endeavor, Epworth league, etc., in not being in any sense a social organization, and in not admitting women. It is a body of workers. None are admitted except after a long probation, and even after admission, if any cease active work, they are expelled. Its object is to bring young men within hearing of the preaching of the gospel—not of necessity the preaching of it from Episcopal pulpits, but from any pulpit.

Its members are business men, and they work among other business men. Unlike the Young Men's Christian association, members of it rarely speak in public, and they have no buildings. Their work is man to man, whenever and wherever opportunity offers. The brotherhood is about fifteen years old and has about 16,000 members, chiefly in the United States and Canada, though the movement here is attracting attention in England.

The convention is not a legislative one, for the order has no legislation to do, but a spiritual retreat, and to discuss the best way to induce more young men to go to church on Sunday. The meeting is the tenth annual one, and that of 1896, which will probably be held in Buffalo, N. Y., is to be a joint American and Canadian convention. From 1000 to 1500 young men will be here, none of them visitors, but all delegates, who are required to report back to their fellow members in their respective chapters.

If the reports about Corbett's lack of condition prove true I will back Choynski against Fitzsimmons and be glad of the chance." Davies wonders why they do not select John L. WILL BUY A RAILROAD.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—The $10,000,000 increase of the capital stock of the Illinois Central railroad, which the stockholders of that corporation were asked to authorize at the special meeting called by the directors for Nov. 26, is to be used in completing the purchase of the Chesapeake, Ohio & Southeastern railway. FILTERING OUT RHEUMATISM.

RHEUMATISM IS IN THE BLOOD.

It is Caused by a Poison Which Can be Filtered Out.

The Kidneys Are Our Natural Filters, and Keep Our Blood Pure When They are Sick We Get Rheumatism, Etc.—The Way to Cure Our Kidneys.

Though you may know what disease you have, perhaps you don't know what causes it.

Rheumatism is a blood disease.

It gives you pain in your muscles, but this is caused by the poison in your blood.

To cure rheumatism you must purify your blood.

People used to think because the muscles were sore, that they could cure rheumatism by rubbing the muscles with liniment, but all the liniment in the world will not cure rheumatism.

Nothing will do it but filtering the blood.

When the kidneys are well, they filter the blood and keep it pure and healthy. They filter out all the waste matter, the poison, the uric acid, and throw it out of the system.

When they are sick, they don't.

When they are sick, you get rheumatism, or perhaps gout, anaemia, pale sallow complexion, headache, neuralgia, Bright's disease, diabetes, pain in the back, sleeplessness, and a long train of similar troubles.

When your kidneys are sick, you should take Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills. They will cure your kidneys. When your kidneys are once well, everything else will be well.

Well kidneys purify our blood as it ought to be purified. They make it fresh and clear and healthy.

Pure blood makes a clear, rosy complexion, bright eyes, glossy hair, red lips, clear brain, happy thoughts.

The healthier your kidneys, the purer your blood.

Asparagus is a plant which has a very strong healing and tonic action on the kidneys. It is one of the chief ingredients of Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills are perfectly harmless, purely vegetable, pleasant to take, and will cure when other prescriptions or medicines have failed.

There is no reason why you should stay sick. If you want to get well you can. All you have to do is cure your kidneys. This can be done with Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

A box of Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills should be kept in the house, for you don't know how soon you may need them.

A few doses will relieve. Pain in the back, in the joints, in the muscles, will all go after a few doses of Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

A few boxes will cure. When your kidneys are well, nothing will bring back your disease again, but carelessness.

Overwork, worry, excesses, overeating, will make your kidneys sick again, will bring back your rheumatism, gout, kidney troubles, etc.

But otherwise, once gone, they will stay away. Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills cure thoroughly.

They renew your kidneys, your blood and your health.

For sale by all druggists, or by mail prepaid, for 50 cents a box. Valuable medical pamphlet sent free on request by Hobb's Medicine Co., Chicago or San Francisco.

IN FRAKER'S STYLE.

An Insurance Case Which Seems Similar.

St. Louis, Sept. 26.—Edward Taylor, a painter, has disappeared under circumstances similar to those adopted by Dr. Fraker, the alleged insurance swindler. Taylor carried $2000 insurance in the Compton Hill lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen. Sept. 14, he left his home with two other painters to go fishing at East Carondolet.

After a row in their boat, according to the story of the two painters, Taylor said he wanted to take a swim. He went down the river, and has not been seen since. His clothes were discovered on the river bank by Taylor's companions who concluded he had drowned. There are members of the A. O. U. W. however, who gravely doubt the story of his death, and have caused a reward to be offered for Taylor's arrest.

Reception at the Cody Sanitarium on Bay View Heights.

Building and Grounds Were Illuminated and a Fine Program Given.

Telegram of Congratulations Received From William F. Cody.

Cody Sanitarium was formally introduced last evening by a handsome reception given by Mrs. Helen Cody Wetmore, the manager of the institution. About 150 guests accepted invitations to look over the building, and congratulated Mrs. Wetmore on the enterprise displayed in transforming the place from a seeming wilderness to a scene of beauty and utility. It was a perfect evening and the view from the piazza of the Sanitarium to the city below and the surrounding country was entrancing, and a constant source of delight to the assembled guests. The pathway from the Incline track to the building was illuminated with Japanese lanterns, and the interior decorations consisted of nature's choicest plants and flowers.

An informal program was presented consisting of speeches by Mayor Lewis, D. C. Prescott and H. H. Phelps, recitations by Miss Lella Sparks, and music by Mrs. Olund, H. A. Wetmore and others.

During the evening the following dispatch was received and read from W. F. Cody: "Here's my best wishes for the health, happiness and prosperity of the Cody Sanitarium. Situated in the future great city of America, which is surrounded by unlimited resources, the sanitarium and other institutions cannot but realize the fondest hopes of the projectors."

At 9 o'clock refreshments were served in the dining room and shortly after the guests departed leaving best wishes for the future prosperity of Cody Sanitarium.

ROOSEVELT TO YOUNG MEN.

"If you could speak commandingly to the young men of our city," I asked him one day, "what would you say to them?" says Julian Ralph in the Review of Reviews.

"I'd order them to work," said he; "I'd try to develop an ideal of mine—the theory of the duty of the leisure class of the community. I have tried to do it by example, and it is what I have preached: first and foremost, to be American, heart and soul, and to go in with any person, heedless of anything but that person's qualifications. For myself, I'd work as quick beside Pat Dugan as with the last descendant of a patroon; it literally makes no difference to me so long as the work is good and the man in earnest. One other thing, I'd like to teach the young man of wealth that he who has not got wealth owes his first duty to his family, but he who has means owes his first duty to the state. It is ignoble to try to heap money on money. I would preach the doctrine of work to all, and to the men of wealth the doctrine of unremunerative work."

SURPRISED THE LANDLORD.

In those days when the Maison Doree was in its prime, when pretty Helen Dingeon won some reputation as an actress and her father took in dollars galore over the counter of a popular restaurant, an individual almost as seedy as the typical tramp sauntered into the swell place at the dinner hour, says the San Francisco News Letter.

Nearly every table was filled with gilded youth, male and female, of the city. A thrill of astonishment and indignation swept through the perfumed crowd when the battered old scarecrow hung his hat on the peg, snatched an evening paper and looked around for a waiter with the air of one who owned the place.

Old Dingeon, in horror stepped from behind the counter and accosted the unwelcome guest.

"Haven't you made an istake, my friend," he said.

The old tramp looked up with a smile, and replied in excellent French: "I think not, my friend; is not this the cafe?"

"Certainly it is," replied the patron, "but you know—you know—it is for the upper classes."

"Oh, I see," said the stranger, with an air of amusement, "and my costume is not exactly en regle; but I have only this afternoon returned from my ranch, and got here ahead of my trunks. However, if my name will not be an apology for my dress I shall have to go to some other cafe," and he handed Dingeon his card.

When the patron glanced at it and read "Count Bozenta" he was profuse in his apologies.

It was indeed Mme. Modjeska's husband, and the gilded guests about the room were astonished at the obsequiousness of the old restaurantee.

What a great quantity of work a "good housekeeper" finds to do! There are so many little time-and-strength-taking chores that have no names. If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Excepting in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

use and government of the proposed enterprise.

3. Following, commissioners would be appointed to negotiate a perpetual treaty defining substantially the permanent basis for the entire co-operative arrangement.

4. In appropriate terms and elaboration such a treaty would have to provide for—

A. An international marine board to have executive charge of the entire project.

B. Perhaps an international court to hear and determine by rules of law all contests arising between the persons and interests of the two countries.

C. What waters and existing works should fall under joint control for mutually free use.

D. Appraisal of and method of settling for existing improvements in either country available as part of the international route.

E. Ratio of cost of construction, maintenance and management to be borne by either country.

F. Method of payment—whether in cash or bonds or both.

G. Method of construction—whether by continuous contract, on government account, or otherwise.

H. Proportion of membership of permanent marine board to be appointed from either country.

I. Proportion of officers and employes on permanent works to be appointed from either country.

J. Whether locks should be free; if not, rates of tolls to be collected for their use.

K. Codification and consolidation of marine rules and regulations, as well as charts of the waters coming under the terms of the treaty.

L. Bringing lights, buoys, range marks, fog horns, channel spars, storm signals, etc., under common control.

M. Impounding and diverting waters and controlling levels of the great lakes system.

N. Recasting the basis of dividing coasts, charges, ratio of employes, etc., perhaps every fifty years in accordance with the changing ratio of population or commerce, or both, between the two high contracting parties.

Hon. H. W. Seymour, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., spoke of the great increase in commerce which followed the construction of the locks at the Sault. He predicted a still greater increase on account of the building of the new locks. "The day for shallow canals," he said, "has passed away, and the time for ship canals is at hand."

S. A. Thompson, of Duluth; discussed the effect of deep waterways on railroads, saying that if the railroad men understood the effects they would send a delegation to Washington every year asking that an appropriation of $100,000,000 for waterways be made.

Boston Beacon: "Help! help!" cried the man who was being robbed.

"Calm yourself," said the highwayman. "I don't need any assistance."

ADVANCED

Wheat Was Firm Here Today and Bulged Near the Close.

Buying Orders From New York Houses Caused the Strength.

Trading in Flour at Higher Prices Was Also a Factor.

Wheat opened firm here today, while it started easy at Chicago on the weak cables. It soon firmed up in the latter market, however, when it was seen that houses with intimate New York connections possessed buying orders in the filling of which they were obliged to bid prices up. The number of car loads inspected at Minneapolis was not forthcoming owing to the disarrangement of telegraphic service, in consequence of the burning of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce. Later in the forenoon the receipts at that place were found to be 721 cars and at Duluth 301 cars, making together 1022, against 923 a year ago. On that report the advance in price was checked for a while, but still it overleaped that obstruction and made the early slight advance into one of quite substantial dimensions. Large trading in flour at advanced prices was a large factor in the strength of the market.

Trading here was not of large proportions. December opened ⅞c up at 57¼c, advanced ¼c, declined to 57c, recovered and hovered around 57¼@57½c until near the close when it bulged up to 58c. A small amount of May wheat sold early at 61½c. The shippers bought about 150,000 bus of cash wheat. The close was ½c higher than yesterday for cash stuff, 5c higher for October and 1½c higher for December and May. The flax market was active again, opening strong and higher and undergoing a big slump near the close. October flax started at $1.03, at which figure over 200,000 bus were sold and declined rapidly to 96c bid for October at the close, with 98c bid on the curb. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 59⅝c; September, 59⅝c; October, 59½c; December 58¾c. No. 1 northern, cash, 57⅜c; September, 57⅜c; October, 57½c; December, 58¾c; May, 62¼c. No. 2 northern, cash, 54¾c. No. 3, 51½c. Rejected, 46¾c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 59¾c; No. 1 northern, 57½c. Rye, 37c. No. 2 oats, 20c; No 3 oats, 19½c. Flax—September, 99½c; October, 99½c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 301; oats, 7; rye, 5; barley, 25; flax, 100. Receipts—Wheat, 229,171 bus; oats, 8462 bus; rye, 4280 bus; barley, 29,459 bus; flax, 61,650 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 158,121 bus; oats, 5126 bus; flax, 11,317 bus.

CATTLE AND HOGS.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Hogs, receipts, 22,000; left over, 1500. Market active at 5c advance. Light, $3.70@4.25; mixed, $3.70@4.25; heavy, $3.60@4.25; rough, $3.60@3.75. Cattle, receipts, 14,000, including 100 Texans and 5000 Westerns. Good grades steady, others 5@10c lower. Beeves, $3.40@5.45; cows and heifers, $1.60@3.70; Texas steers, $2.75@3.35; Westerns, $2.90@4.40; stockers and feeders, $2.30@4.50. Sheep, 14,000. Market slow and weak. Hogs, official yesterday, 12,-259; shipments, 6829. Cattle, official yesterday, 18,889; shipments, 3462. Sheep, official yesterday, 18,420; shipments, 1648. Estimated receipts hogs tomorrow, 17,000.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Sept. 26.—The market was firm; close: September, 54½c; December, 56c; May, 60¾c. On tracks—No. 1 hard, 58¾c; No. 1 northern, 55¾c; No. 2 northern, 53@54c. Receipts, 712 cars of wheat.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Wheat, September, 60c; December, 61¼c; May, 67⅝c asked. Corn, September, 32¼c; October, 31¾c; November, 30⅝@30¾c; December, 30¼c; May, 29⅝c. Oats, September, 19⅜c; October, 18⅞c; May, 21¾c asked. Pork, September, $8.10; November, $8.22½; December, $8.32½; January, $8.52½; May, $8.75. Lard, September, $5.80; January, $5.82. Ribs, September, $5.15; October, $5.15; January, $4.90. Cash: Wheat, 60c; corn, 32c; oats, 19½c; pork, $8.10; lard, $5.80; ribs, $5.15. Whisky on the basis of $1.22 for high wines. Rye, cash, 29c; September, 33c; October, 30½c asked; December, 30½c. Barley, cash, 43c. Flax, cash, Northwestern, 98¼c; September, $1.04; December, $1.04@05¼c; May, $1.06@1.03; Timothy, cash, $3.50; September, $3.50.

NEW YORK GRAIN.

New York, Sept. 26.—Wheat, September, 64½c bid; October, 64½c; December, 65¾c asked; May, 70¼c; June, 70½c. Corn, November, 30⅝c. Oats, December, 27⅝c.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—The crowd went home last night loaded with short wheat and this morning tried to force the price down far enough to allow them to cover. Everything favored the short sellers, but as usual the market went the other way. The scalpers fought the advance with all their might, but before the close they were forced to cover, advancing the price 2c over last night's close. The early cables were weak in sympathy with our decline yesterday. Late closing cables came in quite strong and helped quite materially in running the local shorts. Clearances not heavy and primary receipts about equal to last year. The short interest seems to be pretty well covered and the market will probably sell off tomorrow.

Corn and oats in sympathy with wheat. Receipts are large and are grading good. Corn will sell a great deal lower before December.

Provisions dull and featureless. The liquidation in October stuff seems to be over and deliveries for that month picked up somewhat.

Stocks—The market was dull but showed an advance over yesterday's close. Think the whole list should be bought on any slight reaction.

Puts, December wheat, 60¼c.
Calls, December wheat, 62¾c.
Curb, December wheat, 61¼c.
Puts, May corn, 29¼c.
Calls, May corn, 29⅝c.

Cushman, deceased, mortgagors, to Emma A. Blakeman, mortgagee, dated September 1st, 1893, and recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on September 20th, 1893, at three (3) o'clock p. m., in Book one hundred two (102) of mortgages, on pages 436, 437 and 438; such default consisting in the non-payment of the semi-annual instalment of interest upon the debt secured by said mortgage, which became due on July 1st, 1895, without grace, amounting to the sum of forty ($40.00) dollars, and which default has continued for more than ten days, and still continues, by reason whereof said mortgagee has elected to exercise the option to her given by said mortgage, by declaring, and she does hereby declare, the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, with all accrued interest thereon, and twenty-seven and 50-100 ($27.50) dollars insurance premiums heretofore paid upon said mortgaged premises, by said mortgagee, in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage, to be now due and payable;

HIGH-WATER MARK.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Minn., Sept. 26.—During the past twenty-four hours a storm has moved southeast over Manitoba and the region north of Minnesota, causing high winds in its western quadrants. A high pressure area is advancing from the Rocky Mountain region, with cooler, fair weather.

Showers have occurred in the Lower Missouri valley and from Michigan and Wisconsin southward to the Ohio valley.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 50; maximum yesterday, 63; minimum yesterday, 56.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity until 7 p. m. tomorrow: Fair and cooler today and tonight, with brisk and high northwest winds, diminishing tonight; fair and continued cool Friday, and fresh northwest winds; probably frost Friday and Saturday mornings.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Officer,

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Forecast until 8 a. m. tomorrow: Wisconsin: Fair; cooler tonight; fresh westerly winds diminishing in force. Minnesota: Fair; cooler with frosts tonight; northwest winds.

Depth of water over miter sill in St. Mary's ship canal 14 feet 8 inches and it will fall during the ensuing twenty-four hours. Upper lakes: Fair weather; westerly winds diminishing in force and becoming variable.

Rain fell in the lake region last night and in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. The barometer is low this morning north of Lake Superior and an extensive area of high barometer covers the Northwestern districts. The temperature has fallen generally throughout the Northwest and is below the freezing point this morning in Northern Montana. Cool and generally fair weather is indicated for this section for the next few days.

LET THERE BE NO DELAY.

It is stated that a resolution will be introduced at the meeting of the common council next Monday evening instructing the city clerk to advertise for bids on an issue of bonds for the construction of an independent water plant in accordance with the directions of the citizens at Tuesday's election. This is the proper course, and The Herald trusts that the report will prove correct. The aldermen have stated in interviews that they are ready to carry out the people's wishes, and the people will look to them to live up to this program. There should be no unnecessary delay either in obeying the directions of the people.

All the preliminaries for an issue of bonds required for the purpose should be arranged at once, so that as soon as any legal questions that may arise are settled, the city will be in a position to start the construction of what is known as the supplementary system. The plans for this system were prepared by ex-City Engineer Reed and are now in the custody of the board of public works, and any little changes that are deemed necessary can be readily made without causing any delay. The supplementary system includes the location of an intake pipe at a point beyond Lester river, where a good supply of absolutely pure water may be secured; the laying of a main to carry the water thence to the city; the building of a high-service reservoir, and the laying of mains to the upper portions of the city not supplied by the company's system, to Woodland Park, Hunter's Park and Duluth Heights. This is a work of considerable magnitude and will occupy many months. When it is completed we may find the company ready to sell its plant at a reasonable figure. If not, the city can then proceed to extend its system over the territory now occupied by the company.

What the people demand of the aldermen is immediate action. The work to be performed is so great and the necessities of many portions of the city for an ample and pure supply of water are so pressing that no delay can be tolerated. There are no obstacles in the way of constructing the supplementary system, and work on it should be started as soon as the bonds can be sold and the other arrangements made. In any action that they take along this line the aldermen will have the hearty support of the mayor. The Herald knows whereof it speaks when it states that Mayor Lewis is extremely anxious to carry out the expressed wishes of the people without delay. He has maintained silence during the campaign on account of his official position, and he is glad that the question has been settled, and by such a decisive vote that there is not the slightest doubt as to the people's desire. All that the administration can do towards securing the building of a city plant will be done. The people can rest assured that in Mayor Lewis they have a chief executive who will do his full duty in regard to this matter and use all his influence with the aldermen to have the people's directions carried out to the letter.

SENATOR DAVIS' CANDIDACY.

In a recent interview at Washigton, Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, boomed Senator Davis' candidacy for the presidency. He said: "Davis is gaining a substantial support. He is not pushing himself forward and does not attend every public gathering for advertising purposes. In fact he keeps away from many places where the average candidate may be found. I believe Cush will surprise us all when the time comes. He has pledges of support from nine states." Commenting on this statement the Washington Post stated: "Senator Davis' presidential boom is getting ripe fast. It was started in New York and Minnesota simultaneously and it is attracting the attention of the country."

The Washington Star has also been devoting attention to the Davis boom and finds that it is in a healthy condition and steadily growing. The Star says: "It is not generally known that Quay and Davis are warm personal friends, but such is the fact. Both are great scholars and readers. They have a great many mutual literary tastes, and the discussions they have had have inspired admiration of each other's abilities and attainments. Stranger things might happen than that Senator Quay would swing the Pennsylvania delegation to the Minnesota man. Then there is the strength of Quay's friends in the convention."

Ex-Senator W. P. Kellogg, of Louisiana, when in Washington a few days ago, spoke favorably of Senator Davis' prospects, saying: "As the situation is today I consider the chances of the candidate from Minnesota equal to those of any man who has been mentioned from the West. There has been a great deal promised by McKinley's friends. There is a great deal expected by the friends of Mr. Reed in the next congress. Allison and Davis are at present but nominal candidates. The former does not seek the nomination. If he did he would step out of the way for other prominent Iowa Republicans and leave the way clear for his seat in the senate. With Reed and Morton dividing the Eastern delegation, and with McKinley coming in second to Reed, the Western men will have a great opportunity to unite on Davis. I do not expect to see ex-President Harrison actively in the race. There is this much about his candidacy: Without making the least effort, and having told his friends that he trusted to the wisdom of the convention, and would be well satisfied with the outcome, providing strong Republican doctrine was incorporated in the platform, Harrison may be the dark horse. It would be just the kind of a surprise that might possibly be sprung. But the chances are decidedly against it."

New York's candidate is Governor Morton, but his age is against him and it is hardly probable that he will gain much strength from other states. It has been the history of New York delegations that, after their favorite son, they always go to some Western candidate. In 1876 they dropped Roscoe Conkling and went to Hayes. In 1880 most of the delegation stood by Grant, who was presented as an Illinois candidate. In 1888 after Depew was dropped the New Yorkers went to Harrison. Senator Davis has been much more frequently mentioned by such papers as the New York Tribune recently than has Senator Allison. When the break comes after the usual balloting, and without any spontaneous rush toward any of the leading candidates, Davis may get the New York vote. He stands well up among the Western candidates, and his chances are considered much better than those of Hayes, Garfield or Harrison in former conventions. If Minnesota will send a solid Davis delegation to the national convention that will stand by him, this state may have the honor of naming the next president of the United States. And no man would more worthily and ably fill the presidency than would Senator Cushman K. Davis, of Minnesota.

THE LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS.

Shrewd Republicans in Washington are just now making the statement that it will not be a diplomatic move for the National League of Republican clubs to change its headquarters from Chicago to Washington. These men seem to be of the opinion that Chicago is more of a political center than the capital city. About the only benefit that the Republican league will have at Washington, so far as can be ascertained, will be a few dark rooms free of charge in Willard's hotel, now looked upon as one of the third-rate houses in the capital. Secretary Dowling, of the league, investigated these rooms, and while he was not perfectly satisfied with what was offered him "free, gratis, for nothing," said it would be better to accept them than to pay the high rent asked for headquarters for the league in the Western metropolis.

It would be rather foolish, however, to make the change on the ground of extra expense in Chicago. If the change has to be made on that account, there is no doubt that Western Republicans will cheerfully contribute a sufficient amount to make up the cost of maintaining headquarters in Chicago. It would be poor politics to change to Washington, as Chicago is the most central point for headquarters, and the membership of the league covers the whole country.

HORNBLOWER NOT SLATED.

There is hardly a man of any prominence in the country who has not been named at one time or another as the successor of the late Justice Jackson, of Tennessee, on the supreme bench. The latest blast sent forth is one to the effect that William M. Hornblower, of New York, is to succeed the late justice. This announcement was almost accepted as a fact by politicians and others interested in the appointment. Now comes the report, and it is believed that it is had from an authoritative source, that President Cleveland has no idea whatever of tendering this big appointment to the man who was defeated for confirmation by Senator Hill at the last session of congress.

The probable successor of Justice Jackson is one of the uncertainties of the future. Close friends of President Cleveland are of the opinion that he has in no way, by word or deed, indicated that he would nominate the New York jurist for this position.

President Cleveland, if the rumors that are wafted from Gray Gables to Washington can be relied upon, will be domiciled either at the White House or his summer home at Woodley within a few weeks. Had it not been for the recent hot spell, Mr. Cleveland would have returned to Washington from Gray Gables as early as Oct. 1. It may be a few days later than this date before he returns to Washington, to remain as long as his health will permit. The story is still reiterated that Mr. Cleveland is not in the best of health, and frequent jaunts from Washington during the coming winter are expected by him.

The women will find instruction in the discovery of a French chemist who recommends the use of fragrant essences in the form of effervescing powders. The perfume is poured on pulverized oxalic acid, which absorbs large quantities of the fragrant essences and retains the odors. The oxalic acid thus treated is divided into powders, each one being accompanied with a powder of bicarbonate of sodium. When both powders are placed in a glass of water, the fragrant constituents of the essence escape with the carbonic acid and are uniformly distributed about the room. Although the poisonous oxalic acid can be replaced by citric or tartaric acid, the first named is said to serve the purpose best.

Appendicitis has got to be so formidable a disease, and the cause of it so often attributed to grape seeds and other foreign bodies, that many have feared to eat these wholesome fruits. In a paper read before the Virginia Medical association, Dr. Hunter McGuire, a celebrated surgeon of that state, said that in all the operations he had performed for appendicitis he had never seen a single grape, tomato, or cherry seed, and he added that he was glad to make the statement since it might tend to allay the fears of the public as to the supposed danger arising from eating these fruits.

"What will become of 'Joe' Cannon in the next house of representatives?" This is a question that is being frequently asked in Washington just now. He is anxious to become chairman of the committee on appropriations. At one time it looked as though Mr. Reed would name him for this position, but the flight of a few months seems to have changed the situation. Messrs. Cannon and Reed are not so friendly as they were at one time, and some other man may be made chairman of this important committee in the Fifty-fourth congress.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, and other prominent bimetallists declare that the silver sentiment will be just as strong in the next congress as it was in the Fifty-second and Fifty-third congresses. They, however, do not anticipate that any law favorable to the white metal can be passed at the coming session which will meet the approval of President Cleveland. They will, nevertheless, keep the agitation up, hoping that when a new president takes possession of the White House he will recognize the importance of placing silver on an equality with gold.

The report of the meteorological council for 1894, just issued, claims for the forecast department an average "success" of fully 82 per cent on the predictions which are sent out each day at 8:30 p. m. "Total failure" occurred in only 5 per cent of the forecasts, and "partial failure" in 11 per cent. "Complete success" attended nearly 60 per cent of the prophesies, and in 25 per cent more there was a "partial success," amounting to correctness in more than one-half of the areas covered by the forecast.

The New York Mercury says: "One thing is certain, and that is that Brice and Campbell cannot both be upon the presidential ticket. The constitution forbids it." The Mercury should be more explicit. A careful reading of the constitution does not disclose any prohibitory clause. Both were born in this state. They are old enough. They are residents of different states—Mr. Brice, of New York, and Mr. Campbell, of Ohio. Where is the constitutional objection?

Do the results of a protective tariff in France differ from those of a similar tariff in the United States? The Evening Post of Sept. 20, in an editorial upon taxation in France, says: "It is fallacious, for instance, to assume that articles upon which there is an import duty are necessarily increased in price by the amount of duty." Yet the Post has been an ardent free trader in this country and has loudly declared that "the tariff is a tax."

The question of abolishing the old coac-body railway carriage and substituting the American end-door system on all railroads is being agitated in England. It appears that of the injuries to passengers on English railways no less than 75 per cent are due to jumping in or off trains in motion. In spite of the most stringent rules the high percentage of accidents from this cause is maintained from year to year.

A New York paper asserts that Parkhurstism is more or less ausgespielt.

Mme. la Comtesse de Castellane, nee Gould, is not recorded in the latest issue of the Almanach de Gotha, the only authority on the subject of nobility. For that matter, the Castellanes are not mentioned, either, although the grandmother of her husband was a Tallyrand. With a few thousand dollars this can probably be remedied.

The eyes of all Duluth are now directed towards the aldermen and their course on the water question will be closely watched. The people have voted in favor of building an independent plant, and they expect the council to obey their directions.

A gain of over 270,000 in Minnesota's population since 1890 is reported by the state census. And the largest increase reported by any county in the state is credited to St. Louis county, which has gained 32,625 people within five years.

According to the Chicago Times-Herald, Congressman Heatwole, of this state, will be one of the handsomest men in the next congress. The fame of the Minnesota Adonis is rapidly extending over the entire country.

The Durrant murder trial is now becoming interesting. The evidence against him is purely circumstantial, and the defense evidently proposes to show that there is equally strong circumstantial evidence against others.

The News Tribune is becoming more sensible. It now follows The Herald's lead in demanding that the construction of the supplementary water system be started at once.

The waterways convention at Cleveland is a very successful gathering and will have lasting results. Duluth has been well represented and has obtained much recognition.

The president of the French republic is entitled by law to ride free on all the railroads. The president of the United States usually pays his fare.

The supplementary water system should be put under construction as soon as possible.

A BET WITH NO TAKERS.

Grand Rapids Herald: The St. Cloud Journal-Press says it has taken the trouble to ascertain the sentiment in Wright, Anoka, Sherburne, Stearns, Todd, Morrison, Wadena and Crow Wing counties, and finds the Republicans overwhelmingly in favor of monometallism and opposed to the use of silver. The Herald will bet its body, boots and breeches against a two-bit piece that the Journal-Press is a liar, and we will leave the whole matter to the Republicans of the counties mentioned.

NEW CLAIM TO DISTINCTION.

New York Mercury: The "Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas" has another claim for distinction. While a contractor was grading a street in Duluth the other day he dug up a solid lump of native copper which weighed thirty-nine and one-half pounds. Such finds are not infrequent in grading the streets of that city.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Minneapolis Tribune: The question as to whether the Hon. R. G. Evans is a gubernatorial candidate, about which there has been some dispute, has at last been definitely settled by Mr. Evans himself. He declares in an interview in the Tribune, that he has never been a candidate and never expected to be.

WHY THEY TALK SO MUCH.

Galveston News: Stop the mouths of some candidates and they would float away like vast balloons.

DOCTORS WANT KOLA

If Assured That Fresh, Undried Nuts Are Used.

This Assurance is Given Them by the Compounders of Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets—Hence These Tablets Are Prescribed by the Best Physicians.

While no well posted man, at home or abroad denies the virtues of Kola as a specific against nervous diseases and an invigorant for blood, muscle and brain, it is a fact well known to all chemists that unless the fresh, undried nuts are used the value of the remedy is very largely lost. Hundreds of reputable physicians, who have long desired to use Kola in their practice are now prescribing Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets because the compounders guarantee that none but fresh, undried, especially imported Kola nuts are used in the preparation of the remedy. The tabular form is now acknowledged by everybody to be the best as well as the most convenient and many prophecy that in a few years liquid preparations will be obsolete. Two of Chicago's best physicians bear witness as follows:

Champlain building, 126 State street, Chicago, Aug. 29, 1895.

J. W. Skinner, manager Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing company, La Crosse, Wis.

Dear Sir: I have been using Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets in cases of nervous dyspepsia and cases where a general tonic to the nervous system is required. I am very well pleased with their action and from my experience think they are superior to any thing of the kind in the market. Very truly yours,

Henry S. Tucker, M.D.

State and Madison streets, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 21, 1895.

J. W. Skinner, manager Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing company, La Crosse, Wis.

Dear Sir: I have tried the Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablet on patients and find it a wonderful stimulant and so far as I have used it perfectly harmless.

Horatio S. Brewer, M.D.

Every woman possessing to any degree the love of art in dress, peculiar to the sex, as a rule revel in the art productions in headgear without restraint. Upon Saturday next we will have displayed for sale some 250 pattern hats which conjunctively represent the creations of nearly every famous artist known to the trade

Why some people never wear a stylish Hat!

It is because of a fear of of looking odd or unusual with some, with others it is a prowess, to buy or have made a style like someone had last season that was admired, etc. Both find out their mistake after the season advances but can blame no one but themselves.

Beautiful...

Is a very mild term to use in speaking of the styles in millinery this season. The richest of velvets, jewels, feathers, furs and ribbons are the principal materials from which the artist creates the hat and the result is the acme of exquisite luxuriousness and beauty, made so by the perfect blending of the dark autumn shades, with here and there a jewel to add life and character to the creation. But why talk farther, all this and more will be displayed especially for your enjoyment and consideration day after tomorrow, and all we ask is your esteemed presence.

THE ROUNDER.

"Look here," said a gentleman who is stopping at the Spalding, to the Rounder this morning, as he pulled a package of telegrams out of his pocket. "Just glance your eye over those and see what you think."

The Rounder looked at two or three of them which read:

"Congratulations, old man, long may she wave."

"Best love to the little one, hurrah!"

After reading the foregoing the Rounder guessed the cause and smilingly tendered his congratulations on the arrival of the heiress.

"Oh, get out," said the Chicago man. "There's nothing in it. You see when I left home my wife asked me to stop at an intelligence office on my way to the train and ask them to send up a girl for general housework. I did so and when I arrived at Spooner, I sent a message to my wife asking if the girl had arrived. She wired me: 'Girl arrived this morning, a beauty, all well, love.'

"Now, you see, I'm an old telegraph operator and as soon as the boys saw that message they told all over the country that I was a proud father. Hence I have been flooded all day with these messages and if I explain it will cost me a month's salary. It's tough luck."

GREAT DAY

Fine Sport for Lovers of Horse Flesh at Woodland Yesterday Afternoon.

Two Small Accidents Furnished Some Excitement for the Crowd.

Running Race Was Captured by One of the Carlton Horses.

The races at the Woodland Driving park yesterday were fully as good as the day previous, and the attendance was a little better, but not what it ought to have been. The day, which opening with threatening weather, turned out very pleasant, and the afternoon was a beautiful one. The attendance of ladies was larger than on the day previous.

At the opening of the afternoon's sport it was announced that the horsemen, who are not to leave until the latter part of the week, would give some races today. The plan is to divide the gate receipts between the horsemen, and the association. The horsemen are responsible for this and are doing it to help the association, which will hardly come out whole on the races.

The 2:40 class, trot or pace, purse $200, was the first event of the day. The entries were: St. Elmo, owner M. G. McGeehan, of Hurley; A. W., owner Orrin Casey, of Appleton, Wis.; Doc., owner Dr. Davis, of Duluth; Victor, owner W. L. Nichols, of Duluth; Laverty, owner George P. Rossman, of Ashland; Little Edgar, owner Bert Stetson, of Eau Claire. This heat brought an accident. The horses were sent off with a good start and had circled the track once, when Victor overturned his sulky and threw Will Randall, his driver, to the ground with great violence. His shoulder was thrown out of joint, but a physician, who was present, quickly pulled it in again, and he displayed remarkable grit by going on in the next heat and driving the race out. Victor, after the overturning of his sulky, went on around the course, and finished last. The second heat was a pretty one. A. W. took the lead at the start, but at the turn there was some crowding, caused by Doc. who was somewhat fractious. At the quarter, A. W. still led, with Little Edgar right at his heels, and Laverty not far away. At the half A. W. was still maintaining his lead. In the stretch Laverty made a fine burst of speed and closed upon A. W., but could not crowd to the front, and had to be content with second place. Little Edgar was third, and the other three were not in it at any time. In the third and deciding heat A. W. jumped to the front again. Laverty broke, but was quickly caught. St. Elmo had settled down to a nice, even gait and moved up to second place, with Laverty third and Little Edgar fourth. This order was kept until after the three-quarter pole was passed. As they rounded the turn into the stretch A. W. flew off his feet and the crowd thought him beaten, for Laverty shot forward into first place. The Appleton horse made a grand spurt, however, and again finished with an easy lead. Summary:

Laverty	4	2	2
Little Edgar	2	3	3
Doc	3	6	7
St. Elmo	5	4	4
Victor	6	5	6

Time, 2:31; 2:29¾; 2:29.

THE RUNNING RACE.

The running race was exciting and roused the crowd to great enthusiasm. It was best two out of three, half mile heats. There were five entries. Minneapolis, owner Paine & Co., of Carlton; Kickapoo, owner Ed Page, of Carlton; Butcher Boy, owner Hugh Fawcett, of Duluth; Bay Fred, owner Miles Lamphere, of Duluth; and Telegram, owner J. C. Carey, of Lakeside. Bay Fred was withdrawn just before the start in the first heat, after having thrown his boy rider. The horse was swinging along at a pretty fair pace when the horse suddenly slowed up. The youth went on over his head, taking the bridle with him. Fortunately he was not hurt. There was considerable rivalry in the race between the two Carlton horses, but Kickapoo, a coal black, spunky-looking animal, was an easy winner. He took the lead from the start in both heats and was never headed. Summary:

Kickapoo	1	1
Butcher Boy	4	2
Telegram	2	4
Minneapolis	3	3

Time, 56 seconds, 55 seconds.

THE FREE FOR ALL.

The free for all trot or pace for a purse of $250 was a lively race. Calliopsis, the gallant little mare that won in the 2:30 trot the day before, was withdrawn to the great disappointment of the crowd. Three horses started: Two Strike, record 2:10¾, owner Armstrong & Rossman, of Ashland; Belle Ewer, record 2:19½, owner Bert Stetson, of Eau Claire; Zoda, owner M. G. McGeehan, of Hurley. In the first heat Zoda had the pole, and climbed to the front at the start, with Two Strike close behind and Belle Ewer third. This order was kept all the way around until the stretch was reached. Then Two Strike began to close the gap and came down like a whirlwind. The pace was too swift for Zoda and she left her feet badly and failed to recover before the wire was reached. Two Strike finished first and Belle Ewer second. In the second heat Belle Ewer obtained a slight lead at the first turn. Zoda came up alongside of her and the two made a pretty race to the quarter. At the half Zoda was leading, but about that time Two Strike began to lengthen out and went to the front with ease. Zoda went off her feet again and was left out of it. Two Strike won with ease, his driver not using the whip at all. The third heat was taken in the same order, Two Strike first, Belle Ewer second and Zoda last. Summary:

Zoda	3	3	3

Time, 2:25½, 2:24, 2:19.

The quarter mile bicycle race was won by M. Barnham in 26 seconds, with W. Murphy second and Burnett, of Superior, third.

TODAY'S EVENTS.

For today a fine program as follows was arranged:

First race, trot or pace: Entries, Oberman, owner L. C. Tatro, of New Richmond, Wis.; John O, owner John Headman, of Ashland; Doc, owner Dr. G. W. Davis, of Duluth; Victor, owner W. L. Nichols, of Duluth.

Second race, trot or pace: Entries, Laverty, owner George P. Rossman, of Ashland; Little Edgar, owner, Bert Stetson, of Eau Claire; St. Elmo, owner M. G. McGeehan, of Hurley.

Third race, trot and pace: Entries, Two Strike, owner Armstrong & Rossman, of Ashland; Belle Ewer, owner B. Stetson, of Eau Claire; Calliopsis, owner Marie Bonville, of Ashland; A. W., owner, Orrin Casey, of Appleton, Wis.

Fourth event—Gentleman's driving race, best two in three heats, for nice blanket and whip.

Fifth event—Half mile running dash.

For household economy there is nothing like Dr. Price's baking powder.

"ON THE SUWANEE RIVER."

"On the Suwanee River," Edward J. Nugent's new production, which will be presented for the first time in this city at the Temple tomorrow evening, will be an attraction of remarkable novelty and originality, and will undoubtedly attract widespread attention. Fifty-eight people will be employed in this play, forty of whom will be genuine Southern negro singers, dancers and comedians. Although the piece has a coherent dramatic story, its main lines are in comedy and specialty entertainment. The theater-goers today desire opportunities to laugh, and "On the Suwanee River" will be found laden with hilarity. To add additional interest, Mr. Nugent has lavishly mounted the piece. The negro contingent of this great company is said to be the strongest ever seen in a comedy production. It comprises William McClain, the famous minstrel who produced "Black America," the great open-air spectacle, and all the leading colored performers of America.

COUNTERFEITER CAUGHT.

Prison Official Arrested in Jeffersonville Penitentiary.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Sept. 26.—Capt. Harry Patton, brother of Col. A. G. Patton, of the Hollow Ware Manufacturing company, contractors in the Columbus, Ohio, and Jeffersonville penitentiary, was arrested at the prison last night for having and passing counterfeit coin. When arrested Patton made a confession and told the officers how he came by the stuff, and said it was secreted at his home, where bogus money to the amount of $29.10 was found in a coal shed.

Capt. Patton came to the prison four months ago from Minneapolis, Minn., at the instance of his brother, Col. A. G. Patton, to take charge of the convicts engaged on the Patton Hollow ware contract. He admitted having disposed of 40 cents of the counterfeit money in his possession and said that he had been made the victim of a job trumped up by the convicts, many of whom had a personal grudge against his brother, Col. Patton, because of the strict discipline.

The money was sold to him by convict William Alsop, a notorious thief, in payment for tobacco. Alsop is on his fourth term, and is serving a ten-year sentence. Alsop a few days ago was caught in the act of making the stuff, and last night was taken before Warden Hert and made a confession. He is employed in the blast shed, adjoining the factory where he molded the coins. He has been engaged in the business, it is said, for three years, but was never caught.

DID YOU EVER FALL OVER A PRECIPICE,

Or hold up the Washington monument on the pit of your stomach—if a dream? Did you ever wake up in a cold sweat caused by some horrid phantasy? If so, the wisest thing that you could have done to renew your slumber undisturbed by the nightmare, would have been to take some Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which would have tranquilized you and relieved the indigestion, which was, perhaps, the author of your hideous dream. Insomnia, nightmare, indigestion are easily remedied by the Bitters. Resort to it, also, if you are troubled with chills and fever, liver or kidney trouble, constipation, neuralgia or rheumatism. If you have lost your appetite don't go to the expense of advertising for it, but take the Bitters. Then will "good digestion wait on appetite and health on both." Just before retiring is a very suitable time to swallow a wineglassful.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Is it Not a Case of Guilty Neglect?

A Terrible Responsibility Rests With Somebody.

A Serious Question to a Great Many, and a Sad One.

Who is to blame?

Surely someone is to blame for the enormous amount of sickness and suffering in the world. Too often people are prone to throw the responsibility for their condition upon some higher power. In nine cases out of ten this is wrong, for in most cases the blame lies entirely with the sufferer.

It has been shown by constantly demonstrated fact, proven by the experience of thousands upon thousands of people that most of the difficulties and diseases from which people suffer are easily and readily cured by the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which is, without doubt, the greatest medical discovery of modern times. It is sure to cure disease.

Mrs. William M. Strong, who lives in Waitsfield, Vt., says:

"About ten years ago I had a very severe attack of typhoid fever, which left one side of my body in a very bad condition. One limb swelled badly, and every time I bore my weight on that limb, it seemed as though my hip would unjoint. The pain was dreadful, and I have never been free from that pain during all these years.

MRS. WM. M. STRONG.

"About a year ago the trouble took a different form, going into my arm also. My arm pained me terribly, and when I attempted to lift anything with that hand, my fingers would let go and it would not grip anything. I had no strength in that arm.

"This condition of my arm and limb, both on the same side continued up to about six months ago. My head troubled me very bad. If anything came upon me suddenly; a fearful sensation came over me, starting from the top of my head, and for a short time I was entirely lost as though I was entirely gone.

"The same awful feeling would commence if I got very tired, or if many were talking at once. I do not know exactly how to describe my sensation in my head in words, but it was deathly and I suffered very much. Seemed to me as though something gave way in my head, and I was gone.

"I certainly felt a good deal alarmed about my condition and I could not have lasted a great while longer if I had not found help.

"I consulted and employed many doctors, who said there was no help for me, as it was the result of the typhoid fever, and did not so much as relieve the pain. My sister informed me of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and advised me to try it, saying that it had helped her greatly.

"The results are, that after three bottles the pain is all gone from my limbs and the pain and deathly feeling in my head is relieved. I am able to comfortably do the work in my family for five and six all the time.

"I do most heartily recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to anyone suffering as I was."

If our readers will take example from this case—and such cases are constantly being reported in the newspapers—much of the sickness and suffering which renders life a burden, will be removed. It is a fact that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy does cure.

It is not a patent medicine but the prescription of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

THEIR FIRST OFFENSE.

That Was the Excuse of all the Drunks Today.

Sam Rodgers came up to Duluth from Ashland last night and immediately became mixed up with various kinds of Point whisky. The liquor was too much on the heavyweight order for Samuel and floored him in a few rounds. In consequence he appeared before Judge Edson in the municipal court this morning charged with drunkenness. In reply to the questioning of the court, Samuel confessed that he had been over-influenced, but pleaded that this was his first offense. The alternative of $10 or ten days was offered him and being short of funds, he chose the latter.

August Anderson came before the court with a broad expanse of smile illuminating his countenance. August soon found that the funny part of his experiences were marred by cold, stern reality. He worked for the Cranberry Lumber company, he told the court, and, like his predecessor, had arrived in town only last night. In the course of his remarks he unwittingly let fall the fact that he always got drunk on arriving in Duluth. He was fined $10 and costs, but as his financial status was a trifle insecure, he parted with $10 and the costs were remitted.

John McKenzie, who looked entirely too young to be a "sport," was charged with visiting a house of ill-fame and had nothing to say in defense. He was sentenced to ten days in Sheriff Butchart's bastile without the alternative of a fine. J. F. Murphy, a seedy-looking individual, pleaded guilty to vagrancy and was fined $5 and costs. He went to jail.

The gray hair and mustache of Mike Britt quivered with indignation as he told the judge how it had been his lot all through life to be misunderstood. He had lived in Duluth thirteen years, but the unlucky number did not prevent the court from inflicting the usual $10 fine. Michael said he had worked in a restaurant for years, and that this was the first time he had ever been drunk.

Food experts pronounce Dr. Price's baking powder the acme of perfection.

WHOLESALE GROCERS.

Are About to Organize a Transportation Company.

A dispatch from Washington announces that George R. Newell and A. R. Pringle, of Minneapolis, P. H. Kelly, of St. Paul, and N. S. Ordway, of Duluth, are in the East endeavoring to organize a wholesale grocers' transportation company.

This is a step that has been under contemplation among the wholesale grocers for some time past, but for reasons of their own they have kept their movements very secret. The time has come when the dealers of this part of the country in the grocery line feel that the enormous shipment of goods from the Eastern markets demands that they shall organize and co-operate in looking after this very important branch of their business.

Supreme Court Ratifies Starkweather's Bounce.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 26.—Rev. Charles S. Starkweather, ex-mayor of Superior, recently ousted from office by the common council of that city, for irregularities, has failed to get into office through the medium of the supreme court.

He appealed from the council's action bringing the case to the supreme court on a writ of certiorari, argued at the last session. The court today affirmed the council's proceedings and order of removal.

MANY HORSES BURNED.

Canadian Forest Fires do Much Damage.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—The big forest fire that has been raging for the last two days in the forests of the county of Arthabaska, has destroyed hundreds of farm houses. The village of Brawlt's Mills is wiped out and not a building remains. Even the cattle were burned in the fields. The inhabitants fled terror-stricken and barely escaped with their lives. Hundreds of families became separated in the flight.

Most of the country from Brawlt's Mills to Ashton is a charred and blackened waste. The fire is eating its way still further into the interior and the sky is obscured by dense smoke. Forestdale and Moose Park on Mitchell's road escaped the fire entirely; but along the Arthabaska branch of the Grand Trunk, the destitution is pitiable.

TWO LIVES SAVED.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thomas Eggers, 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a terrible cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Duluth Drug company's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

An Absolute Cure for the Worst Cases of Rheumatism.

The Plain Language of Mr. Oscar Pike —The Greatest of All Remedies Accomplished His Cure After Many Months of Weakness and Suffering—No Tedious Waiting for Improvement.

Paine's celery compound is the one known specific for the cure of rheumatism.

And it does not need a tedious trial to prove it.

The effect of this best of remedies is straightway felt.

Not a week goes by before the pains of rheumatism diminish.

Thousands of men and women have told of the days and nights of pain and feebleness exchanged in a few weeks for activity and strength.

Paine's celery compound has won the reputation of being the remedy "that makes people well." Its good works extend from Oregon to Maine. In every state in the Union there has been piled up in the newspapers and medical journals a tremendous amount of indisputable evidence of the curative power of Paine's celery compound over all forms of nervous debility and diseases of the blood. It cures after nature's plan, by affording nutrition for every part of the body, overhauling the worn-out tissues, and supplying new brain and nerve material, sending pure blood through the veins, invigorating the whole system, and removing the cause of disease.

Oscar Pike, a well-known resident of Princeton, Maine, recently sent the following unsolicited letter to the proprietors of this wonderful remedy:

"Two years ago I was taken sick with what the doctors called the grip. I was improving when I took on a violent cold and chill. Then rheumatism set in, first in the joints of my shoulders, then down my hands and arms, then all over. Feet, hands and legs swelled. I could not put my hand to my head, could not throw the clothes off from me; could not dress or undress myself, nor get out of my chair without help. For a year and a half I tried all kinds of medicines and sarsaparillas, with little or no relief. I was 73 years old. Some one told me to try Paine's celery compound. After I had taken three bottles I found a marked improvement. I have now taken twelve bottles, and the result is I eat and sleep well, do my own work, and go about as usual, getting in and out of my carriage without help. I have been tempted to put an article in the local paper for the benefit of those that are afflicted as I have been."

Mr. Pike is well known in this locality. He is the founder and president of the North Washington Agricultural Society and Trotting association. When he goes for his mail, he says, people ask him what he has been doing that he is improving so of late, and he answers as do thousands of others throughout the country:

"Paine's celery compound has made me well!"

The October Prospectus.

What sort of weather we may expect October to bring forth it is rather hard to tell, as this is an extraordinary year. But the records for October during the past twenty-four years may be of some aid in telling what we may look for in a general way. The mean temperature for the month is 45 degrees. The warmest October was in 1879, when the mean temperature was 51, and the coldest was in 1887, when the mean was 41. The highest temperature in any October during the time was 80 degrees, which was attained October 7, 1889. The lowest temperature was 4 degrees on the 29th, 1885. The average date on which the first killing frost occurred is the 7th. The average precipitation for the month is 2.61 inches. The extremes run from .54 in 1893 to 4.99 last year, which was the dampest October of the twenty-four. The prevailing winds have been from the northeast, and the highest velocity was 48 miles October 28, 1874.

A HOUSEHOLD NECESSITY.

No family should be without Foley's Colic and Diarrhoea Cure, for all bowel complaints. Max Wirth.

In a recent letter to the manufacturers, W. F. Benjamin, editor of the Spectator, Rushford, N. Y., says: "It may be a pleasure to you to know the high esteem in which Chamberlain's medicines are held by the people of your own state, where they must be best known. An aunt of mine, who resides at Dexter, Iowa, was about to visit me a few years since, and before leaving home wrote me, asking if they were sold here, stating if they were not she did not like to be without them." The medicines referred to are Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds and croup; Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the side and chest, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. These medicines have been in constant use in Iowa for almost a quarter of a century. The people have learned that they are articles of great worth and merit, and unequaled by any other. Fulton, Mo., Sept. 26.—White Caps took William Massey, of this city, out of his house, and rawhided him badly. Massey raised a row in his family and ran his wife and six children off the place. Fifteen or twenty men were engaged in the flogging and as they were heavily masked it could not be ascertained whether they were black or white men.

THE GOODNESS OF GOODS IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE POORNESS OF PRICES.....

READY...

FOR THE NEW SEASON.

No other Clothing Store in the city ever dreamed of showing such a stock, and no other store has the same advantage of owning their merchandise as cheaply as this house. A mammoth factory to supply our every want, our ability to own merchandise at the first cost of production places us in a position to sell goods cheaper than any other store; being at all times able to save our customers the middleman's profit. Buy here and you deal direct with the manufacturers. No store in the state shall serve you so well. No store shall deal so liberally with you as this store.

MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS.....

Never were we in a position to do as well by you as this season in PRICE, QUALITY and GREATNESS OF VARIETY.

THE MEN AND YOUNG MEN
Who have been paying tailor's high prices

Are the very men we particularly wish to see our New Fall Stock. Our Fine Clothing is equal in every respect to fine custom work and better in every respect than ordinary tailor shop work. To save $5.00 to $15.00, yes probably $25.00, on your SUIT or OVERCOAT counts for something these days. At least it's worth an hour's time to have our polite and courteous salesmen show our stock to you whether you wish to buy or not.

Will Lay Heavier Rails.

The Missabe road expects to have a great deal of work this winter preparing for next season's ore shipments. Next month the road will get 1000 tons of new 80-pound rails, about eight miles, to replace the old 60-pound rails. A number of new sidings and passing tracks are to be built, and work on the ore dock will take a considerable number of men. The new station at Biwabik, which is a pretty one, will be finished this week.

BURGLARS

Midnight Prowlers Completely Ransacked the Merchants Hotel.

Barroom Was Entered and a Nice Wad of Cash Secured.

Police Think They Have a Clue, But Are Not Sure.

Burglars obtained entrance to the Merchants hotel between 2 and 4 o'clock this morning, and after prowling over the entire lower floors unmolested, escaped with $125, the contents of two cash registers in the hotel bar. The police believe they have one of the perpetrators in custody.

When the saloon porter went to open up this morning the two cash registers were found to be missing. A trap door behind the bar which led into the store room beneath bore evidences of having been opened. Descending the ladder the porter found pieces of the registers strewn about the store room. Entrance had evidently been gained through the Michigan street door, where a hasp had been pried off. Then there were burnt matches and other evidences that the men had wandered over the entire lower floors of the hotel before attempting the saloon. "There was from $125 to $150 in the registers," said Proprietor Meinhardt this morning. "It is the first time my place has ever been entered, and I hope it will be the last. The police say the work was done by old hands, probably the men who entered so many houses Saturday and Sunday nights. The burglars must have gotten in between 2 and 4 o'clock, because one of my men was in the place most of the other time."

About 3:45 a. m. one James Hall, alias Whalan, a 17-year-old youth living on Second street opposite the school house, was brought to the central station on a charge of visiting a house of ill-fame. On being searched about $5 in nickels and dimes was found on his person, and the police suspect the lad of being implicated in the robbery of the Merchants hotel. He pleaded guilty to the charge of visiting a house of ill-fame before Judge Edson in the municipal court this morning and was sentenced to ten days on the hill without the alternative of a fine, in order to permit the police to obtain more evidence.

Whalan told the judge that he had resided in Duluth three years and made a strong appeal for leniency. Chief Armstrong says that about a year ago the boy was wanted by the police. The family were living then on Fifth street, and when the officers visited the house Whalan dropped from a second-story window and escaped.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Members Would Like to Have a Physician on the Board.

There is considerable discussion now over the selection of a director of the school board to succeed A. R. McDonald, resigned. The members of the board would like very much to see a physician on the board, and one or two of them have suggested Dr. C. F. McComb as the best man to be found. Dr. Codding also has quite a following.

Some of the others whose names are mentioned are H. M. Myers, S. L. Frazer, J. K. Persons, D. A. Reed and J. D. Holmes. Mr. Persons is not in the city and his feelings are not known. J. D. Holmes thinks he would be willing to accept it. There are still ten or twelve days before the election of the member, and any number of candidates may bob up before that time.

Stole a Lap Robe.

About 11 o'clock last night Officer Terry saw a man come out of the alley between Superior and First streets, on Third avenue east, and start up the hill. He overtook the fellow, who had in his possession an imitation goatskin lap robe. The man gave his name at the station as Thomas Heich. An owner for the robe put in an appearance this morning in the person of Thomas Devine, who valued the robe at $6. In the municipal court this morning Heich pleaded guilty to the theft and was sentenced to thirty days in jail by Judge Edson.

AN AMBITIOUS LAD.

Started Out With Some Companions in Wild West Style.

Henry Gortszki, a 12-year-old-lad, who appeared to be about 8, stood before Judge Edson in the municipal court this morning and with tears of repentance listened to the reading of a complaint charging him with the theft of a $20 gold piece. The charge was preferred by the boy's mother, Mrs. Marcia Gortszki, who wanted badly to have Henry sent to the reform school. His step-father is in the employ of the Hartman General Electric company, and the family reside in an alley near St. Luke's hospital.

Mrs. Gortszki says that the boy took a $20 gold piece out of her bureau drawer Thursday, and gathering a band of juvenile would-be outlaws about him proceeded straightway to a hardware store and purchased a $2.50 revolver and cheaper ones for his friends. Then he bought some ammunition and candy and started in search of adventure. When captured by the police $10.79 of the stolen money was recovered. The boy appears to be a bright little fellow, but has not the slightest conception of right and wrong.

Glassford Awarded $7000 Against Weimer.

In the case of Angus G. Glassford against John B. and Nettie Weimer the jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for $7000 for the plaintiff. Weimer did not appear at any time during the proceedings, and there was no testimony in his behalf. The suit was for $15,990.

Judge Moer at noon was trying the case of L. H. H. Clifford against the Duluth Gas and Water company to recover $1314 for alleged damages to Clifford's property, caused by the bursting of a defective water main.

The other branches of court were engaged in the trial of court cases, and all the talesmen, except those engaged in the case before Judge Moer, were excused until Oct. 1, when the criminal cases against Mrs. Samuel D. Smith, George A. Elder and two minor criminals will come up for trial. Before Judge Morris this morning the case of Cant & Brigham against D. J. McDonnell was given to the jury and they were still out at noon. The trial has lasted five days.

The case of the Buckeye Iron company against Harry Mee et al was continued, and the case of the Duluth Trust company against the Duluth-Superior Realty company, to recover $1000 on a note, was on trial at noon. The Trust company claims that the note was given as commission for the negotiation of a loan, and the defendants claim that the company had no authority to make the loan.

The case of O. D. Kinney et al against the Duluth Ore company et al was settled and dismissed. The case of Herman Burg against S. R. Kerr was set for Monday. The case of John Barrett against Marshall Theodore was stricken from the calendar, there being no appearance by either party. Judgment was ordered in favor of W. E. George against S. R. Kerr. The case of the Consolidated Milling Elevator and Power company against Eckert, Williams & Co., to recover a carload of potatoes or their value was on trial before Judge Ensign at noon.

TERRIBLE ASSAULT.

A. T. Ross Attacks John Steele at the Race Track.

As the result of a race-track quarrel which occurred shortly after noon today, John Steele, a wiper in the employ of L. C. Tatro, of New Richmond, Wis., now lies terribly bruised and cut in a semi-unconscious state in a vacant stall at the Duluth driving park. A. T. Ross, who inflicted the injuries, is locked up at the central station charged with assault with intent to kill.

About 1 o'clock this afternoon Steele, who was slightly under the influence of liquor, walked up to Ross, who is the driver of a string of Ashland horses, and commenced to chaff him. Ross grew angry, and after the men had exchanged some words, he struck Steele twice in the face, knocking him down. He then kicked the prostrate man repeatedly in the face, inflicting terrible injuries, which, although not expected to, might prove fatal. One eye was nearly kicked out of the socket and the sight is probably lost forever, even if Steele recovers.

Most of the race-track employes were at dinner when the quarrel occurred. They came rushing out from the stables and surrounded Ross with loud shouts of "lynch him." Ross, after remarking as he gazed upon the prostrate body of his victim, "I'd give $50 if I had not done it," retired to one of the stables and locked himself in.

The injured man was hastily driven to Dr. Stewart's office in the Providence building, where his wounds were dressed. Steele's face was covered with blood and bruises and presented a shocking appearance as the result of the kicks from the heavy shoes worn by Ross.

"The man will probably recover," said Dr. Stewart, "but it is doubtful if the eye can be saved. The injuries are very serious and painful."

After Steele's wounds were dressed the semi-conscious man was again placed in the rig and driven back to the track, where he now lies. An officer was immediately detailed when the assault was reported to make the arrest.

Both the men are unmarried. Steele has been living at the tracks, sleeping with the horses under his charge, while Ross has been boarding in the city. Ross is not a drinking man, according to his associates.

COLLIDED

Serious "Sideswiping" Accident Between Two Passenger Trains.

Several Passengers Scalded and Bruised---One May Die.

Peculiar B. & O. Mishap Due to Misunderstanding of Signals.

Grafton, W. Va., Sept. 27.—Last night a few minutes after 11 o'clock quite a serious accident occurred at Tunnelton, a Baltimore & Ohio station, twelve miles east of this place. Passenger train No. 1 west, and the first section of No. 4 east, were to meet at this point. The station is at the east end of the big tunnnel, through which there is but one track. Trains are required to slow up at either end and await a signal before passing on to single track.

Train No. 1 approached the station while the first section of No. 4 was at the platform taking on passengers. The engineer claims to have mistaken a signal, and without stopping his train, to use a railroad term, "sideswiped" No. 4, overturning two passenger coaches and striking the sleeping car in front. The steam cocks of the colliding engine were knocked off, and a number of the passengers were injured, some severely, and others slightly. Following is the list of the injured:

G. B. Hart, Clarksburg, W. Va., toe smashed.

William Resse, Salina, Kan., right knee bruised and foot scalded.

Mrs. Carrie Hobart, Philadelphia, left leg and side injured.

Henry Thomas, Baltimore, Md., right hand badly cut.

W. A. Ohley, Charleston, W. Va., face and hands scalded and cut in the forehead.

A. D. Gardiner, Wheeling, W. Va., hands and face badly scalded.

Miss Mary L. Downtain, Charleston, W. Va., face and hands scalded.

R. C. Porter, South Lancaster, Mass., hands and wrist cut.

Mary Evans, Parsons, Kan., cut on nose.

Lee Hiesle, Charleston, W. Va., cut and bruised.

Mrs. O'Nell Fortney, Killingwood, W. Va., badly scalded about the face, upper part of the body and hands.

Owing to the similarity of names the name of Secretary of State Olney was at first sent out as injured. It was W. A. Ohley, of Charleston, and not the secretary of state.

THE CINCINNATI STORY.

Cincinnati, Sept. 27.—No particulars have been received here of the reported accident to trains that "sideswiped" near Tunnelton, W. Va., at midnight, except that the scraping happened to the flyers which run from the Baltimore & Ohio Southern, at Parkersburg, eastward on the Baltimore & Ohio. One train left here at noon yesterday and the other was due at 7:40 a. m., but the latter was marked at noon to arrive at 2 p. m. As the accident was not on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern lines, nothing will be known here until after the arrival of the west bound express.

WILL PUNISH THEM.

Killers of Bannock Indians to Be Prosecuted.

Washington, Sept. 27.—The attorney general has sent additional instructions to the district attorney of Wyoming, based on information furnished by the Indian office, which will probably enable the United States officials to commence prosecutions against the whites responsible for the attacks upon the Bannock Indians.

It is thought by the Indian office that the new material received at the department of justice will result in bringing to justice the men responsible for the recent trouble at Jackson Hole.

INTERNATIONAL CRICKET MATCH.

Cricket Grounds, Haverford, Pa., Sept. 27.—The English cricksters representing Cambridge and Oxford, past and present, began their third match in the vicinity of Philadelphia today in the handsome grounds of the Marion Cricket club at this place, their opponents being the gentlemen of Philadelphia, made up of Philadelphia's strongest cricket team. The team which the visitors played was the same as that which played in last week's match at Germantown. The only change in the home team was the substitute of E. M. Cregier, the winner of this year's bowling cup for Altemus. Last night's rain rendered the crease somewhat slow, although it was expected to improve.

PACING KINGS IN SIOUX CITY.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 27.—This is the big day at the Sioux City fair. The main attraction is the great pacing race for the $5000 purse between Joe Patchen and John R. Gentry. The track is in fine condition and a world's record is likely to fall. Gentry is the favorite in the pools, but Patchen has many backers. Crowds have been going to the grounds all day, and at 2 o'clock it is estimated that 12,000 people are there.

CATTLE THIEVES SURRENDER.

Denver, Sept. 27.—A special to the Times from Glenwood Springs, Colo., says: Green Fisher and Dave Fisher, members of the gang of cattle thieves, who escaped to the hills after a battle with a sheriff's posse a few days ago, have surrendered under promise of protection, and have been placed in jail in that town.

THE TREASURY CONDITION.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $153,457,708; gold reserve, $94,255,067.

WESTERN LEAGUE.

Minneapolis Ball Franchise---List of Clubs.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—The sessions of the Western Baseball league directors at the Tremont house was devoted to the consideration of the Minneapolis fight, and of the report of the circuit committee. The struggle of Messrs. Murphy and John Goodnow for the Minneapolis franchise was carefully considered and, while the decision was not announced, it was rumored that Mr. Goodnow had "won out."

The circuit committee refused to make its report public, but it was stated on good authority that the report would recommend the dropping of Terre Haute and the admission of Columbus, Ohio. It was also said that Toledo would again take its place in the league; Omaha bid for a franchise, but met with little encouragement. Manager McCabe, of Rockford, Ill., also asked for a place, but action on his motion was deferred.

It was rumored that the Columbus and Toledo clubs were likely to have trouble in playing Sunday ball, and in case either city is compelled on that account to drop out of the league, Rockford will probably be given the vacant place.

The make-up of the league for next year, as probably recommended by the circuit committee, is as follows: Toledo, Columbus, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Kansas City, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Detroit.

NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Considering the Resignation of the Receivers.

Milwaukee, Sept. 27.—The disposition of the resignations of the receivers of the Northern Pacific railroad, and the consequent decision regarding the administration of the great property, brought to the United States court room this morning a great array of eminent legal talent from all parts of the country, representing untold millions of dollars.

Brayton Ives failed to put in an appearance, and his absence caused considerable surprise and speculation, until it was stated that he had gone through to St. Paul last night on his way to Seattle, in order that he may be present in that court on Oct. 2. On motion of Attorney Turner a recess was taken until 2 o'clock. Judge Jenkins informed the counsel that the matter must be disposed of today, as his presence was required in Chicago tomorrow.

This afternoon Col. Turner, representing the Farmers Loan and Trust company, requested, if the court intended to accept the resignations of the receivers, that action be delayed, in order to give the opposing faction time to come to some understanding in regard to the matter.

Later—All the attorneys in the Northern Pacific matter, including Ives' representatives, have agreed to ask the court to defer action until they can hold a conference and agree on some plan to present to the judges along the line who would be called upon to confirm the appointments, with the idea of preventing the appointment of several sets of receivers. The indications are that Judge Jenkins will grant the request.

A BOLD ROBBER.

Daring Pullman Car Outrage in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—An unusually bold robbery occurred in a Pullman sleeper on the Wabash limited, as the train was leaving the city for Detroit last night. A well dressed man entered the Pullman and stopping at the first occupied berth, calmly climbed in at the same time choking into silence Mrs. George Mack, the occupant.

After securing the well-filled pocketbook, jewelry and clothes of the terrified woman, whose husband sat in the smoking compartment only a few feet away, the robber attempted to leave. Mrs. Mack clung to him, however, and he only escaped after knocking her senseless. He jumped from the moving train and was apparently uninjured, and escaped in the darkness.

AFRAID OF SILVER.

Evidently the Position of Senator Martin.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 27.—Comment here on United States Senator Thomas S. Martin's position, in declining to say how he stands on the silver question, has been increased by his speech last night before the state Democratic committee, in which he advised against admitting any speakers from outside Virginia to come here and agitate the currency question.

Senator Martin believes in ignoring that issue in the state canvass, but despite his views it is widely discussed.

TO INVESTIGATE A COMBINE.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Gen. John C. Black, United States district attorney, received instructions to investigate the alleged combination of Chicago packers to control the price of beef. The instructions came from Attorney General Harmon, who enclosed a statement of the suspicions regarding the alleged trust prepared by Secretary of Agriculture Morton. Gen Black refused to divulge the nature of the evidence, but said that if the investigation developed sufficient facts to warrant action, the matter would be placed before the federal grand jury.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY MATTERS.

New York, Sept. 27.—The members of the Southern States' Passenger association are holding a meeting today at the Hotel Waldorf. They will receive the report of the committee appointed yesterday in reference to the selection of a new commissioner. The members of the Southern Railway and Steamship association also held a meeting at the Waldorf today. It is thought that today this body will formally go out of existence to be reorganized as the Southern States' Freight association. A commissioner to succeed E. B. Stahlman, resigned, will also be elected.

LEAVES RAILROAD BUSINESS.

New York, Sept. 27.—Sol Haas, general traffic manager of the Southern Railway and Steamship company, has resigned. He wishes it understood that the warmest feeling exists between President Spryer and himself. He leaves the railroad business for good.

FURNITURE DEALER FAILS.

Lawrence, Kan., Sept. 27.—The stock of Charles W. Smith, one of the oldest furniture dealers in Kansas, was taken in charge this morning by mortgage holders. The stock will pay the indebtedness it is thought. A statement of the assets and liabilities is not obtainable at present.

DECLINED THE OFFER.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—S. R. Callaway, president of the Nickel Plate line, has been offered the general managership of the Grand Trunk system, and declined the same.

JOHN WANNAMAKER RETURNS.

New York, Sept. 27.—Among the passengers on the Augusta Victoria arriving today were ex-Postmaster-General Wannamaker, Philadelphia, and Mrs. J. P. Frensol, of Cincinnati.

DURRANT

Witnesses in Favor of the Accused Will Testify Today.

A Mysterious Lady Who Saw Him Enter the Church Alone.

Prosecution So Far Unable to Attack Durrant's Moral Character.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—The report that the defense in the Durrant case would produce a witness who would testify that she saw the accused medical student enter Emanuel Baptist church alone, on the afternoon of April 3, between 4:30 and 5 o'clock, which time Blanche Lamont is supposed to have been murdered, has been confirmed, but the few people to whom this witness confided the story, guarded her name sedulously. William A. Doud, a stock broker, knows the woman who may thus testify and is in possession of the nature of the evidence she will give.

Mr. Doud said: "I know of this witness because the story was told to me. Several others knew of it. All are pledged to secrecy. When the proper time comes, and to the proper authorities, the evidence will be given." The lady known in police headquarters is that this woman met a young man walking toward the church on that afternoon and at the time mentioned accosted him, mistaking him at first for a friend. She apologized, passed on, and then curious about her mistake, turned and saw the stranger entering the church.

Recently she is said to have identified Durrant as the young man she spoke to on that afternoon. Mr. Doud would neither deny nor confirm this. He said that he had no motive for concealing anything. The point with him was that the lady might be mistaken, and until she found she was not, it was unnecessary to bring her name before the public.

The following witnesses have been subpoenaed and will be called to the stand in the Durrant case today: Dr. Stillman and Dr. Rixford, and Students Wythe, Cross, Diggings, Carter, Graham and Walters, of the Cooper college; Seymour Woonden, Carpenter and Robert Maitland. Carpenter is an expert gasfitter, who will explain the workings on the sun burner in Emanuel church, and Maitland is an expert electrician, who will show by diagrams and charts how the electrical apparatus of the building is run.

The prosecution, during the presentation of its side against Durrant, was unable to present testimony tending to show that the accused was of immoral character, and had visited immoral resorts. When the time for rebuttal comes, however, it is the intention to present all of that evidence. It is claimed by the detectives that they have sufficient proof to offset everything that may be offered to prove a good character for the accused.

FIRED THEM OUT.

Two A. R. U. Men Expelled From a Cemetery.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—W. H. Applegman, who was tried for the murder of Engineer Clark in the famous train wreck near Sacramento, in which four United States soldiers were also killed, was arrested in the Presidio reservation by order of Gen. Graham and was expelled from the grounds. With him was C. E. Crandall, an ex-striker, who was treated in the same summary fashion. The two men visited the Presidio to view the famous monument erected to the memory of the murdered soldiers.

Gen. Graham had caused to be carved on the monument the inscription: "Murdered by strikers." The A. R. U. men have been trying to have this obnoxious sentence removed and have appealed to the war department. After inspecting the monument Appelman and Crandall wandered about the grounds, but were seized by soldiers and taken before Graham.

They protested that they were American citizens and had a right to enter the grounds, but the general ordered them out and they were escorted to the gate.

Gen. Graham says the men visited the monument and asked such questions of the guard as led him to believe that they contemplated mischief. The monument is guarded day and night to prevent its destruction by strikers.

GUADALUPE ISLAND.

Mexican Consul Alarmed at Breen's Expedition.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—The Mexican consul general located at San Francisco thinks the contemplated expedition to the Guadalupe island, off the coast of Lower California, by John Breen, the reputed owner, of sufficient seriousness to attempt to put a stop to it. He has addressed a letter to W. D. English, surveyor of customs, calling his attention to the matter, and asking that he refuse clearance papers to any vessel fitted out with an object in view of seizing the island. Mr. Breen laughed at the Mexican consul. "We are not going to seize any Mexican territory," he said. "Indeed, we will scarcely touch the island, either coming or going. We shall do some trading on the coast to pay the expenses of the trip, which will be made to perfect my title to the island.

"The papers referring to my ownership of the property will be carried on the trip and taken to the City of Mexico, submitted to the land department and the title made to myself. We will carry no firearms at all, but will take down a quantity of powder, fifty tons, to be landed at the little port of Atataia, which cannot be reached by large steamers. The powder is to be used in the mines. The vessel is now being scraped in Mission bay, and will be commanded by Capt. Benson, of East Oakland. Only men enough for a crew of a 200-ton schooner will be carried along."

The island which is worrying the Mexican consul is off the coast of Lower California 200 miles, and is 180 miles south of San Diego. It is twenty-six miles long and ten miles wide. Its area is 146,100 acres. According to Mr. Breen's papers, Enrique A. Meir, an officer in the Mexican army, in 1868 appealed to the Mexican government for possession of the island, stating that he desired to promote the prosperity of Mexico by raising cashmere goats on the island. In his appeal he stated his intention of forming a company, sinking wells and breeding goats. Carlos F. Galen, the acting governor of Lower California, drew up and executed a document which empowered Meir to solicit for possession of the island, but there are no papers with Mr Breen to show that the government granted Meir's application.

A DAUGHTER'S QUEST.

A Hopeless Hunt for a Missing Mother.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Charles Reiner, a young woman, who has until recently resided in this city, is engaged in a seemingly hopeless search for her mother, whom she has not seen since she was 3 years of age. The story of Mrs. Reiner's life is a peculiar one. Mrs Reiner's maiden name was Matilda Ralston, or Matilda Fisher. She was born and raised in Chicago, where her mother was living when last heard of.

In 1875, when she was 3 years old, Matilda was sent to the Home for the Friendless where she remained for one year when she was identured to a man named Lars Johnson, with whom she remained nine years, she was 9 years old. At that time she was in poor health and came to California where she met Charles Reiner and married him in Los Angeles. After their marriage Mr. Reiner became interested in his wife's efforts to find her mother. He engaged an attorney and a correspondence was begun between the attorney and the Chicago Home for the Friendless.

The letter that was sent to the home was answered by the superintendent who said that Matilda Fisher had been an inmate there. The letter also said that in 18[illegible] Matilda Ralston, the mother of Mrs Reiner, had been sent to the Bridewell to serve out a sentence of $100 for intoxication. Since then nothing had been heard of her. Previous to her imprisonment she had been known by the names of Matilda Ralston and Nellie Fisher, of Boston [illegible]. Reiner has not given up, but will satisfy herself, if she can, what has been the fate of her mother.

WHERE IS TAYLOR?

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—The disappearance of Edward Taylor, who was supposed to have been drowned in the Mississippi river, Sept. 14, which fact, however, the insurance companies doubted, is still shrouded in mystery. The prevalent opinion in the neighborhood where Taylor was last seen alive, inclines to the belief that he is not dead, but in some way managed to leave the river unnoticed by his two companions. Others, however, believe he was devoured by alligators that abound in the river.

APACHE KID LOCATED.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 27.—Apache Kid and his band of renegade Indians have been located thirty miles southwest of Los Cabeas, Sonora, Mexico, in the Sierra Madres. They attacked a party of prospectors, who escaped with the loss of their mules and baggage.

INFESTED BY BUGS.

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 27.—An invasion of bugs, amounting almost to a plague, took place in this city last night. Electric street lights were entirely obscured, and sidewalks and pavements were covered to the depth of an inch. The bugs even clogged the typsetting machines in the newspaper offices and drove the operators from their keyboards. The bugs were of several kinds.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 27.—The congregation of Share Israel, of Dallas, applied for an injunction to restrain Rabbi Jos Rosenbaum from conducting services in Fort Worth. Judge Harris granted a temporary injunction.

FISHER FAMILY'S NOTICE.

Pocatello, Ida., Sept. 27.—The following notice, posted here, has brought forth indignant protests to the department of the interior: "Notice is hereby given on A. W. Fisher, Mrs. A. W. Fisher, his wife, Jule Fisher, his son, or any immediate member of his family, to keep off the Fort Hall reservation. Thomas B. Tetter, United States Indian agent." The Fishers, who have considerable influence with the Indians, recently circulated a petition for the removal of Agent Tetter.

ADOPTED

Resolutions of the Deep Waterways Meeting at Cleveland Yesterday.

Prompt Action and Liberal Dealing Urged Upon Both Governments.

A Little Annexation Repartee Enlivens the Session in the Evening.

Cleveland, Sept. 27.—Late yesterday afternoon the deep waterways convention suspended speech making in order that the committee on resolutions might present their report. The report which was somewhat lengthy was adopted unanimously, and is as follows:

Recognizing the supreme utility of deep waterways throughout the lakes and thence to the sea, and reaffirming in full the platform adopted at the organizing convention held in Toronto in 1894, the International Deep Waterways association in first convention assembled, declare as follows:

1. That the public welfare demands the deepest possible channels between the several lakes and to the sea board to enable vessels of the most economical type to pass between lake ports, or between the lakes and the sea board, or to foreign waters without the necessity of transshipment.

2. That the said requirements call for at least a depth of 21 feet in all channels and the building of all terminal structures for a navigable depth of 21 feet or more in order that the water carriage may progressively and economically deepened to the ultimate necessities of traffic.

3. That the prompt action of the congress of the United States and the government of the Dominion of Canada providing for a joint commission to investigate and report upon the establishment and maintenance of a deep waterway between the great lakes and the sea conformable to the resolution adopted at Toronto in 1894 is a matter for congratulation, and that in view of the extended scope and great importance of the subjects to be examined by the said commission, this convention urges that the most liberal provision be made for the necessary expenses.

4. That the broadening of the channels through the connecting shallow between Lakes Erie and Huron and Lakes Huron and Superior, as recommended by lake carriers, is urgently demanded by the interests of commerce and is in line with the progressive development of a great trunk water route.

5. That the international interest in the great fresh water seas of the American continent, and the ship routes joining them to the ocean is recognized, and that the use of their waters and control of their levels are proper subjects for international regulation.

6. That pending the development of the best deep channel or channels to the ocean, the promised early completion by the Canadian government of the St. Lawrence canal, if possible with lengthened locks, will result in marked benefit to international commerce and the producers of the interior; and likewise that the movement in the state of New York towards lessening the cost of transportation to tide water by improving the Erie canal, which must have a permanent value, is noted with satisfaction by this convention.

7. That with respect to the several resolutions offered concerning local canal projects, all enterprises designed to extend marine commerce through lateral routes tributary to the great lake system are to be encouraged.

8. That this convention calls special and renewed attention to the desirability of establishing a permanent international court as set forth in the organizing convention at Toronto in 1894.

Immediately following the adoption of the report the committee on resolutions, Jay W. Gridley, of Duluth, offered a separate resolution respecting the Chicago drainage canal, which precipitated a lively discussion. The resolution was to the effect that, while recognizing the importance of that project, in view of the inimical report of the board of engineers appointed by the war department, and the printed opinions of other engineers, we urge upon the joint commission to be appointed by the United States and Great Britain, and upon both governments, the vital importance of the maintenance of the present lake levels.

Mr. Gridley made a fight for the adoption of the resolution, but when the vote was taken there was a storm of noes and only a few ayes.

The resolution of Capt. Livingstone, offered yesterday, demanding the widening of the channel at the Lime Kilns crossing in the Detroit river to 600 feet, was adopted, as were also resolutions approving the hydrographic service and asking for its extension.

The evening session of the convention was enlivened by a discussion of Canadian annexation which was precipitated by President Howland in a brief reference to the subject. A. P. McGuirk, of Davenport, Iowa, and E. C. Gridley, of Duluth, spoke of annexation in a flippant way, the latter saying that Uncle Sam ought to put on his best clothes and go courting to his fair neighbor across the lake. This irritated Mr. Howland who asked that the chair protect the Canadian delegate against such allusions to Canada. He said talk of that kind was unseemly and out of place and he remarked that Canada was satisfied with her conditions. That statement was challenged by James Fisher, of Winnipeg, and James Conquay, of Port Arthur, both of whom said Mr. Howland did not voice their sentiments.

Every Joint in His Body Racked by Rheumatism.

Could Not Move His Arm and Was in Constant Pain—A True Story of a Remarkable Cure.

William F. Maier, No. 18 Park place, Zanesville, O., writes: "About a year ago I had to quit work on account of rheumatism. I had the disease in my hips, back and arms—in fact, in every joint in my body. The pain was intense, and I suffered the most excruciating agony. My doctor could not do anything for me, and I tried every remedy that could be suggested; none of them did me any good, and finally my joints became stiffened and sore. At times I could not move my right arm and was in constant pain. I procured a bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure and within a short time was completely cured. I am free from stiffness and pain, and can cheerfully recommend Munyon's Remedy as the best I have ever known."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure acts almost instantaneously, curing many obstinate cases in a few hours. It is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, side, back or breast, or soreness of any part of the body in from one to three hours. It promptly cures lameness, stiff and swollen joints and all pains in the hips and loins, chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or pain in the back are speedily cured. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used.

Munyon's Homoeopathic Home Remedy company, of Philadelphia, put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

Conservatives Want to Make Memberships Elective.

London, Sept. 27.—The Daily Chronicle, an organ of the Liberal party, states in its issue of today that the leaders of the Conservative party intend to make the house of lords an elective body, either by adopting the principle already existing, in relation to Scottish peers sitting in the house of lords, or to have the house of commons elect an upper chamber from the peerage.

It is also, according to the Chronicle, intended to give peers the right to forego the house of lords prerogatives and enter the house of commons.

GOV. McINYTRE.

Colorado's Governor Calls the Humane Society Down.

Denver, Sept. 27.—Governor McIntyre has sent the following dispatch to William Hosea Ballou, of the Humane society:

Denver, Sept. 27.—No one but a fool or a knave could charge me with responsibility for the bull fight. We have no statute covering bull fighting nor to prevent them, except as the cruelty act may do so. It prescribes a penalty of fine and imprisonment for any act of cruelty already committed. It empowers officers or agents of the Colorado Humane society to interfere to prevent the perpetration of cruelty in his presence, and he is the only one under our laws who can act before cruelty is perpetrated. Thompson agreed to be present at the bull fight, but neither he nor any member, officer or agent of the Humane society was present. There was no resistance to arrest.

"Until the civil arm is unable to make arrests or serve process, or apprehend such inability, the military arm is without authority. The sheriff coolly informed me he was not impeded. The humane officer would have been backed by the sheriff, and if the sheriff had been resisted, I would have given him ample power. I had an officer present to take command of the troops, if they had been legally called for. Did not request removal. The facts are within reach of the society. They are responsible for his course unless they remove him.

"Albert W. McIntyre, governor."

RUSSIAN POWER.

Beginning to Be Supreme in Chinese Domain.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Reports coming here to officials and diplomatic representatives of Eastern countries indicate that the Russian influence is becoming dominant and that the Anglo-Saxon or English influence, which has hitherto been uppermost in the development of the East, is being systematically and surely eliminated from the control of China and the East. This evolution is regarded as of very great importance. A striking illustration of the change in China has come to the attention of the officials here.

An American gentleman has arrived in Washington, after being in China for some time negotiating for the building of a railroad with a million capital. He found the Russian influence so strong that he went to the Russian ambassador at Pekin to learn if the American project would be viewed with favor by the Russians. The ambassador said: "Yes, Americans and American capital will be welcome in the development of China, but no British capital is wanted." In the most emphatic manner the ambassador made known his opinion that British influence in China was at an end, and that Russia had openly entered upon her course in controlling and developing China.

In an indirect way the United States has become involved in this evolution of Chinese affairs. The present condition was foreseen by Great Britain some time ago, before the Rosebery government went out of office. Lord Kimberly addressed a note to this country suggesting joint action in the settlement of the China-Japan trouble. It has since been disclosed by British officials at Washington that the purpose of Lord Kimberly was to cement English as against Russian influence. The United States declined Lord Kimberly's overture, and as a result, the Russians have been left free to execute their broad plan of getting the Eastern world under the influence of the czar.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAW.

Strong Remarks From Ex-President Harrison.

Indianapolis, Sept. 27.—Gen. Benjamin Harrison has expressed himself on the enforcement of the law which is the chief issue in the present municipal campaign. He said: "The importance of an honest, economical business administration of city affairs and the firm enforcement of all the laws cannot be overstated. A city so managed attracts business and population. I believe we have now these things, and that we shall continue them if Mr. Trusler (Republican candidate) is elected mayor.

"The idea that a mayor or chief of police is at liberty to permit any law or ordinance to be violated is monstrous. We choose executives to enforce laws and not to repeal or suspend them at their pleasure. Their oath is so. It is subversive of our system and destructive of social order, and of the peace of our communities, to allow our executive officers to choose what laws they will enforce. It is not at all a question whether I like law or whether the officer likes the law.

"What sort of condition of society would we have if no man obeyed the law and no officer enforced it, unless he liked it? Such questions are for the legislature and the council. To find fault with an officer for enforcing the law is to repudiate our system of government and to vote against a candidate because he is pledged to enforce the laws is to associate one's self with the law breakers."

Reed, of the court of private land claims, leaves for Santa Fe tomorrow to open court which will render a decision involving an enormous tract of land in New Mexico and Arizona, estimated to be worth nearly $100,000,000. And whereas said default is a default in one of the conditions of said mortgage, it has become optional with the holder of said mortgage and the notes secured thereby by the terms thereof to declare the whole debt secured by said mortgage to be immediately due and payable, in the exercise of which option the whole debt secured by said mortgage is hereby declared and claimed to be due, and is due, owing and unpaid, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of four hundred twenty-two and 25-100 dollars.

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described and situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit: Lot number twenty-seven (27), of block number one hundred fourteen (114), in Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the 2nd day of November, 1895, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, together with fifty dollars attorneys' fee, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale as by law provided.

RUSHING

Work at the Duluth Manufacturing Plant is Vigorously Progressing.

Two Hundred Men Are at Work and Are Paid Regularly.

Steps Toward the Organization of a Choral Society Being Taken.

The Duluth Manufacturing company is rushing the work of building cars and manufacturing rolled iron for the market. A slight breakdown on election day stopped work for a short time but repairs have been made and everything is running smoothly again. A bushnelling furnace has lately been put in which adds to the efficiency and economy of the shops. About 200 men are now at work and Manager Simonds can without doubt prove to the court that as receiver he can run the plant on a paying basis. It is understood from one of the workmen that the men are regularly paid on stated pay days which is a pretty good recommendation for any factory at the present time.

A CHORAL SOCIETY.

The latest project in West Duluth is the organization of a Choral society. The leading idea in favor of the movement is to furnish music for the various churches. It is the intention to engage Professor A. F. M. Custance as leader and permit all who wish to attend. It will give a grand opportunity for the training of voices and supply a long felt want in the churches in furnishing suitable choirs. It is understood that Rev. G. E. Keithley is interested in the movement and that the trustees of the church will tender the building to the society as a place of meeting.

Owing to the inclement weather the anniversary exercises of the Orange lodges of Duluth which were to be held at Westminster church last Sunday were postponed until Sunday at the same place at 3 o'clock p. m.

Ed Prescott went to Milwaukee yesterday on business.

Mrs. George Fredericks returned yesterday from an extended visit in Michigan.

The quarterly conference of Asbury church will meet at the vestry on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

BASEBALL TOMORROW.

Duluth and Brainerd Will Play a Hot Game.

The Brainerd Ball club will arrive early tomorrow morning over the Northern Pacific and will play the first game in the series with Duluth in the afternoon. This is probably the strongest club in the state and claims the championship, but Duluth protests it and the coming series of games will probably decide who the champions really are. The fact that the games are for the state championship and are to be played on a percentage basis will certainly make them hotly contested and the "cranks" may look for some excellent and exciting ball playing. The Duluth boys will be out in full force and will have William Lambert, the North Branch pitcher, to assist them. Unless Marquette can be secured these games will probably be the last of the season. The following is the line-up of the two clubs for tomorrow afternoon:

J. Page.....	Short stop.....Fitch

Imposed a Fine

The revenue cutter Fessenden which is in port has imposed a fine of $200 upon Williams, Daugherty & Upham, $100 because the engineer of one of their tugs was without a license and $100 because the master's name does not appear on the enrollment papers. The fault, it is claimed, does not lie with the firm and an appeal will be taken. The engineer's license, issued as a renewal, is in the inspector's office waiting for the signatures of the inspectors who were out of the city until today. The fault for the non-appearance of the master's name on the enrollment papers is said to lie with the collector of customs.

CORNS AND WEATHER.

"Do you know that the best weather predictor in the world," said a well-known physician yesterday to a Philadelphia Record reporter, "is a well-developed hard corn on any one of the principal toes? I have one on the third toe of my right foot that informs me of a coming change in the weather far more reliably than the signal service man with all his wealth of scientific instruments. Of course, I keep the corn well pared, but that doesn't make a particle of difference with the merit of it as a prognosticator. Just about twenty-four hours before a change in the weather the corn begins its predictions by a sharp pain that I can only liken to a red hot needle thrust into the joint of the toe. The pain is intermittent, and for this I am thankful, for if it should pain without pause it would drive me daft. I can assign no cause for the phenomenon, nor have I ever been able to get a reason from the hundreds of doctors I know, many of whom are afflicted the same as myself. A great many of my patients are possessed of a similar infallible barometer, and many of them have come to me for relief. But the only relief I can suggest is to remove to a country where the weather never changes."

THE AVALANCHE.

Blackwood's Magazine: The guide gave the word to leave the channel of ice and take to the rocks on the side, for a snowball or two had rolled down from above, and he was afraid more might follow. Scarcely had we got out of our trough and up on the crags, when down came an avalanche with a vengeance, and we were within twenty feet of a tremendous discharge of thousands of tons of snow and ice, which swept down the track which we had just ascended. We were perfectly safe, but somehow the half hiss, half roar remained in my ears for some time, and for many nights afterwards, when indigestible suppers or bad Swiss beer produced evil dreams, the avalanche was sure to figure in them.

Panton & Watson's Opening.

Panton & Watson's eighth grand annual fall and winter opening began yesterday and will continue until tomorrow night. But then, anyone who has been on Superior street since the opening knows it is on, for nothing but one of Panton & Watson's openings could cause such crowds and result in such brilliant window displays as those now to be seen. The store is packed day and night—for it is open evenings—and the struggle for bargains is something interesting to witness.

N. P.'S CHANGE IN TIME CARD.

Taking effect Sunday, Sept. 22, trains of the Northern Pacific-Wisconsin Central route will leave Duluth at 4:20 p. m., arriving at Milwaukee 7:10 a. m. and Chicago 9:45 a. m. Northbound trains leave Chicago 6:05 and Milwaukee 8 p. m., arriving at Duluth 11:05 a. m. By this change in schedule passengers arrive from Chicago fifteen minutes earlier than heretofore and leave Duluth for Chicago and intermediate points half an hour later.

GREAT FREIGHT WAGONS.

The largest freight wagons in the world are now, it is asserted, made in San Leandra, Cal., for steam freighting in connection with traction engines—the capacity of these wagons being sixteen tons each—and with sufficient wheel surface to retain that amount without injury to the roads, says the St. Louis Star Saylings. The dimensions and details show the size of the axles to be four inches in diameter, front wheels four feet ten inches high and sixteen inches width of tire, rear wheels six feet high and tires sixteen inches wide; length of bed nineteen and a half feet, width four and a half feet, and six feet high. These are made wholly of iron and steel, except the bed, which is of wood. The front wheels track somewhat wider than the rear ones, due to the fact that the continual hauling over the road, and the wagons always running in the same tracks, naturally cut down the road into ruts to a certain extent, rendering it uneven. To overcome this the engine wheels are twenty-six inches wide and the front wheels of the wagon are so designed that the tracks will lap one-half the width of the engine wheels on the inside.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine.

GRAINS

Wheat Started Higher Today ---Weakened and Closed Without Change.

Four Vessels Chartered to Carry Wheat From Duluth to Chicago.

Flax Was Active Again and Declined Four and a Half Cents.

Wheat opened a little higher today but soon weakened, although it had an upward whirl later. Northwestern receipts were much lighter, cables were higher and shorts at Chicago were free buyers. The market ruled dull for the most part, but was occasionally enlivened by brief intervals of nervous activity. There was very little done in the May option, most of the trading being in December wheat. The Northwestern receipts of wheat were smaller by 74 cars than the same day last year. Liverpool sent quotations 1d higher, and London sent an advance of 3d per quarter, on cargoes off coast 6d per quarter and on cargoes on passage 4d per quarter. A New York message saying that Liverpool cables closed firm at ½d advance was hastily interpreted as ½d added to the 1d rise at the opening, and as previous to that a private cablegram had been received there reporting the Liverpool market as having lost its early advance, the price went up with a whirl, but it soon dropped back. A lot of the bullish feeling at Chicago was squeezed out by a dispatch from Duluth near the close reporting four vessels chartered here to take wheat to Chicago.

December opened firm and ⅛c higher at 58½c, but quickly slumped to 57⅝c. This loss was recovered and the price went up to 58¼c. After that it hovered around 58c until the last half hour when it dropped to 57⅞c but rallied and sold up to 58⅜c. May opened at 62⅝c and sold down to 62c. Business in cash stuff was fair. The shippers bought about 150,000 bus, and the mills took 15,000 bus. The close was ⅛c higher than yesterday for cash stuff and unchanged for futures.

The flax market was active but not as lively as yesterday. The first sales of October were at 96¼c, or 3c below yesterday's close. It declined at one time to 93¼c but recovered and closed at 95c bid. About 100,000 bus changed hands during the session. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 59½c; September, 59½c; October, 59½c; December, 59⅝c. No. 1 northern, cash, 57⅝c; September, 57½c; October, 57½c; December, 58⅜c; May, 62⅝c. No. 2 northern, cash, 54¼c. No. 3, 53½c. Rejected, 46½c. No. 1 durum—No. 1 hard, 59½c. No. 1 northern, 57½c. Rye, 37c. No. 2 oats 20c; No. 3 oats, 19½c. Flax—September and October, 95c.

BUYING BY MILLERS.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—St. Louis and outside millers today bought on the market 100,000 bus of wheat out of the local elevators' stocks. There has not been much offered recently to supply their needs, and for the elevators' stocks they paid as high as 61½c for No. 2 on the East Side track and the December price for No. 2 red in elevator. Holders of others cannot fill them, and the news of this caused much excitement and a decided advance both in the St. Louis and Chicago markets.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—On the strong opening in wheat, offerings were liberal. The majority of traders have as yet little confidence in the staying qualities of wheat and on every rally are disposed to take profits. The reaction of 1½c was greater than expected, but on the soft spots good investment buying absorbed the offerings, leaving the short interest about as large as ever. It acts like a bull market. Both city and country mills in the Northwest are reported to be running to their full capacity to supply the extraordinary demand for flour. Minneapolis and Duluth ground more flour the past five weeks than ever before in the same length of time. At St. Louis, Southern millers took 36,000 bus today, paying, it is said, 63¼c for No. 3 red winter and 64½c for No. 2. Receipts in the Northwest are again short of last year 74 cars today. It is claimed by the bears that the railroads are blocked, but a fortnight ago they were comfortably handling 50 per cent more and nobody has heard of the wholesale destruction of rolling stock since.

Corn and oats were heavy all day.

Provisions continue to gain friends and move up slowly, as if they meant to stick. There was good buying of both options by commission houses.

New York, Sept. 27.—Stocks have been fairly strong during most of the session, some of them gaining a point or more. St. Paul has been strong, and it may well be considered a purchase on any reaction. Reading has moved up and has been a favorite with traders. There is some talk of gold shipments Saturday, but exchange rates do not warrant heavy shipments. The stock has many hopeful signs.

IDEAS FOR SALE.

I'm in literary culture, and I've opened up a shop,
Where I'd like ye, gents and ladies, if you're passing by to stop.
Come and see my rich assortment of fine literary seed
That I'm selling to the writers of full many a modern screed.

I've bacilli for ten volumes for a dollar, in a bag—
Not a single germ among 'em that's been ever known to drag.
Not a single germ among 'em, if you see they're planted right,
But will grow into a novel that they'll say is out of sight.

I have motifs by the thousand, motifs sad and motifs gay.
You can buy 'em by the dozen, or I'll serve 'em every day;
I will serve 'em in the morning, as the milkman serves his wares;
I will serve 'em by the postman, or I'll leave 'em on your stairs.

When you get down to your table with your head a vacuum,
You can say unto your helpmeet, "Has that quart of ideas come
That we ordered served here daily from that plotman down the street?"
And you'll find that I've been early my engagement to complete.

Should you want a book of poems tha' will bring you into fame,
Let me send a sample packet that will guarantee the same.
Holding "Seeds of Thought from Byron, Herrick, Chaucer, Tennyson."
Plant 'em deep and keep 'em watered, and you'll find the deed is done.

I've a hundred comic packets that would make a Twain of Job;
I have "Seeds of Tales Narcotic; Tales of Surgeons and the Probe."
I've a most superb assortment, on the very cheapest terms,
Done up carefully in tin-foil, of A 1 "Trilby Germs."

So perchance if you're ambitious in a literary line,
Be as dull as e'er you can be, you will surely cut a shine,
If you'll only take advantage of this opportunity,
When you're passing by to stop in for a little chat with me.

You may ask me, in conclusion, why I do not seek myself
All the laurel and the glory of these seeds I sell for pelf.
I will tell you, though the confidence I can't deny is rash,
I'm a trifle long on laurels, and a little short of cash.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Minn., Sept. 27.—An extensive area of high pressure covers the central part of the country, and is attended with cool, fair weather from Canada southward to the Gulf states. Light frosts occurred last night in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The barometer has fallen decidedly in Montana where a storm of slight energy is now central.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 40; maximum yesterday, 53; minimum yesterday, 39; rainfall for twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m. today, 0.04 of an inch.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity until 7 p. m. tomorrow: Warmer today and tonight, with increasing cloudiness; showers Saturday; light southerly winds backing to fresh to brisk northeast.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Officer.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Forecast until 8 a. m. tomorrow: Wisconsin: Fair, followed Saturday by cloudy in west portion; variable winds. Minnesota: Fair, followed Saturday by showers; southwest winds.

Depth of water over miter sill in St. Mary's ship canal 14 feet 7 inches and it will fall. Upper lakes: Fair; northwest winds becoming light and variable.

The temperature has fallen generally east of the Rocky mountains except in Montana and was below freezing this morning in the Red River valley. Rising temperature with increasing cloudiness and showers Saturday, is indicated for the Missouri valley.

DISFRANCHISING CITIZENS.

There are three plans before the constitutional convention of South Carolina for disfranchising the colored citizens of the state and of the United States. The Kansas City Star gives a summary of these plans. One method is the adoption of an educational qualification—viz: that the voter must be able to read the state constitution printed in English and write his name in a legible hand; another, that the party must pay taxes on $300 worth of property. The objection to both of these provisions is that if enforced they will disfranchise many white persons in South Carolina who cannot read or write and who own no property, while there are many negroes who can read and write and who own property to the amount specified. A device to let in the poor whites and keep out the learned and wealthy blacks is the provision that every male of requisite age shall vote who served in the Confederate army, or whose ancestors served therein. Another scheme is to give the legislature the power to confer on any person, otherwise barred, the right to vote. The blacks being shut out by the property and educational clauses, the legislature could let in the white "crackers" by special act.

Discussing this deliberate attempt to disfranchise all the negroes in the state, the Star says: "All these proposed provisions are mere tricks, greatly beneath the chivalric genius of South Carolina, of which we have heard so much. The matter can be settled without any of these subterfuges. The constitution may provide for boards of election empowered to decide who shall vote and who shall not; and of course these boards will do their whole South Carolina duty and see to it that white men vote and black men do not. If South Carolina intends to practically nullify the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, that is as simple and easy a way to do it as can be devised. There is no need of all this circumlocution."

The Herald believes that there should be some way provided for preventing this flagrant violation of the federal constitution. The fourteenth amendment says: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." The fifteenth amendment to the constitution says: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States of by any state, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude." It is provided that congress shall have power to enforce these articles of the constitution by appropriate legislation. It may be possible that congress may discover a plan to negative the action of the South Carolina whites in disfranchising the colored citizens of the state.

A DESERVED HONOR.

Frank A. Flower, of Superior, was re-elected executive secretary of the Deep Waterways association, the position he has so ably filled during the past year. It was an honor which he did not seek but which was worthily conferred upon him. No man in the country has done so much as has Frank Flower during the past year to advance the movement for the improvement and extension of the lake waterways, and the Cleveland convention very properly recognized his labors and ability by a unanimous re-election to the secretaryship and a place on the executive board.

If Governor Upham, of Wisconsin, had been wise, he would have appointed Mr. Flower to the office of waterways commissioner created by the last legislature of that state instead of giving it to a man who is practically ignorant in regard to the waterways question. Mr. Flower's freely given services to the great movement which he has done so much to advance entitled him to the office. But the man who was "turned down" by Wisconsin's governor was accorded the highest honors by the Cleveland convention, while the Wisconsin waterways commissioner, who is said to have been at the convention, was never heard from or even mentioned.

EX-MAYOR STARKWEATHER.

Mr. Starkweather will remain ex-mayor of Superior. His appeal to the supreme court from the action of the council unseating him has resulted adversely to his claims. The decision of the court, which was briefly telegraphed to The Herald yesterday, sustains the council on every point. The court holds that the council had full authority to try the mayor on a charge of malfeasance in office and to oust him from office should he be found guilty, and that the objections raised to the regularity of the proceedings of the council are not sustained.

The most interesting part of the decision is that discussing the question whether the evidence sustains the conclusion of the council that the mayor was guilty of malfeasance in office. The court sustains the council's decision and says: "The mayor admits the receipt of the money, but says he only took it after learning that there had been no compulsion, and that the men gave it voluntarily and not to secure their positions. Granting the honest intention of the mayor, it is apparent that he erred grievously. It needs no argument of authority to show that the receipt of money from city employes, who were subject to the mayor's power of removal at any moment, was a serious offense against his oath and the duties of his office. The fact, if fact it be, that the mayor himself cannot appreciate nor understand that there is anything reprehensible in his action simply demonstrates his unfitness for the office to which he was elected. Upon the whole case it seems to us that substantial justice has been done, and that the order of the common council removing the relator from office must be affirmed."

This statement of the facts by the courts will receive very general approval. The mayor committed a grievous error when he countenanced the collection of money from city employes for his election expenses, and he exhibited a peculiar lack of appreciation of the fitness of things when he accepted money from such a source. While his intentions may have been perfectly honest, and his attitude towards the city employes may not have been affected by the receipt of the contributions, he committed an error of judgment which shows that he does not possess the proper qualities to fill the position of mayor. It is no excuse to plead that he followed the usual custom in Superior. There is no doubt that the condition of municipal affairs across the bay has been very rotten and that such practices were the rule, but this fact cannot be pleaded as a defense. Mr. Starkweather has been a clergyman for many years, and it was naturally expected that he would not drop into the old rut traveled by the corrupt politicians. For this reason many people voted for him and elected him to the mayoralty. They considered him honest and upright, and they looked to him to weed out the same evil customs which caused his downfall.

LOUIS PASTEUR.

The Dix Neuveime Siecle announces that Louis Pasteur, the famous chemist and discoverer of the Pasteur treatment for the cure or prevention of rabies, is suffering from paralysis of the legs, and asserts that there are no signs of his condition becoming improved. It is evident that he cannot recover and that his end is not long distant. His decease will mark the close of a valuable life. His contributions to science have been of the greatest importance and the paralysis from which he is now suffering in his 75th year is the direct result of his close application to the pursuit of science along those lines which have made his name famous.

While most people think of Dr. Pasteur as the most prominent of physicians, it is in his great commercial discoveries that he has accomplished some of his greatest work. His whole career is the working out to its logical ends each bit of knowledge that came to his hand. His career was not mapped out in advance, but from the humble home of a tanner, he went forth to his studies, which shaped themselves in the direction of his greatest bent, chemistry. The theory by which he has revolutionized the world of medicine, came to him in the simple study of crystallography. His forming crystals were eaten away by a little animal, the original microbe of modern bacteriology.

The nursery of his life—saving theories was the mundane process of the fermentation of wines, beer and vinegar. While he was professor in the university of Lille, the center of a great wine-growing district, he worked out his ideas that fermentation and disintegration, a process then much in dispute among scientists, were the results of certain animal or vegetable life. His unpatented processes for the preservation and cure of the various maladies of wines and beer were in themselves a rich commercial discovery. The theories which he applied to chemistry he was not slow in applying to animal life, and another of his works involving the saving of millions was his staying of the disease among the silk worms, which in but a single year of its ravages caused a loss to that industry of $20,000,000. It was, in fact, from the excessive use of the microscope in effecting this last discovery that he suffered the stroke of paralysis, a return of which is now again reported.

It was thought for a time that death was about to claim him but by the aid of a strong constitution he regained his health and entered upon the greatest work of his life. Through the cure of the humble hen cholera, the infectious diseases of cattle and sheep, to the noble work of blotting out those afflictions which follow the surgeon's knife, as gangrene and the like, the establishment of the antiseptic principle, Pasteur finally arrived at the work which has brought him the greatest reputation, the cure of hydrophobia. A great institute for the treatment of those in danger of hydrophobia was established in Paris, and there are now Pasteur institutes in this country which have saved many lives.

Col. Albert A. Pope, who has done such grand work for the national good roads cause, writes: "It would be a good thing if the government would extended the good road work in the department of agriculture and build the great national highways. Then, if the states would follow the example of New Jersey and Massachusetts and build state roads, leaving to towns and cities the streets, we would, in the course of time, develop a system of highways not excelled by any in the world. It has got to come. Perhaps we may not see it, though I hope to. Horses have seen their best days. Electricity and bicycles have partially done away with their use, and before this century expires practical motor carriages will be in use. Then the demand will be for still better roads and good roads in all directions, and the poor old horse will be relegated to the country, where he belongs."

Senator Palmer will not have an easy time in securing a re-election to the United States senate, if the Illinois legislature, which elects his successor, should be Democratic. Ex-Congressman Ben T. Cable is an aspirant for Mr. Palmer's seat. If the legislature is Democratic, Mr. Cable is of the opinion that he can win his senatorial toga, but it is said the ex-congressman has failed to count Governor Altgeld in the race. If this unique official has any following in the legislature which elects Gen. Palmer's successor, it will be well for Mr. Cable, as for Palmer, who is a candidate for re-election, to keep an eye on the present governor.

The old sand-lot leader, Dennis Kearney, has slipped from sight the past ten years, but bobbed up very cleverly during the California railway commission's inquiry into Collis P. Huntington's salary. It was stated that Huntington had derived only $10,000 a year for all his services to the Southern Pacific system, and this appeared very well to the credit of the unselfish millionaire until Kearney's question compelled the statement that he was paid $47,500 a year as vice president, financial agent and attorney.

Ex-Speaker Reed is said to be making great progress in bicycling. He has had a machine—twenty-eight pounds in weight—especially designed and constructed for him. Clothed in a white sweater and knickerbockers, he starts out on this early every morning and practices for several hours. As yet the exercise has not done much toward reducing his weight, the last official record being 269 pounds.

Senator Allison has announced that he is a candidate for re-election to the senate and no other honor and consequently that he is not in the race for the presidency. This fact being established Iowa should swing into line for Cushman K. Davis, of Minnesota. If the Northwest will go to the national convention solidly supporting Senator Davis he can be nominated.

The senatorial fight in Wisconsin is going to be a lively one. If the legislature is Republican, of course Senator Vilas, the present senior senator, is out of the race. If the legislature is Republican there will be candidates galore. Governor Upham, ex-Senator Spooner, ex-Governor Hoard and a long list of candidates of lesser prominence would be in the field.

The Anoka Herald says that "the dry and hot weather hasn't produced any effect upon the luxuriant crop of gubernatorial candidates, and when the time comes to harvest it, the people will find the market too small for the supply. Only the best will be sorted out and that portion of it will consist mostly of David M. Clough."

The Minneapolis Gold and Silver club is in a flourishing condition. It is holding numerous meetings and constantly adding to its membership. Up to date the editor of the Minneapolis Tribune has not joined the club, but he will probably do so when he learns something about the money question.

The beneficial effects of the Cleveland waterways convention will be discerned at the next session of congress. The senators and representatives who attended the convention must have been convinced of the great importance of the lake waterways and the necessity of an outlet to the Atlantic.

The Herald of tomorrow will be the most interesting paper published in Duluth this week. Do not fail to secure a copy.

A gentleman who was supposed to be "an angel" in an Appleton City, Mo., poker game covered up his apparently steep losings by changing in considerable Confederate scrip during the early morning hours when the players were very tired. And now there are six more gold monometallists.

Meanwhile let not the aldermen forget that the people demand that immediate steps towards constructing the supplementary water system be taken, including a new intake pipe where pure water will be assured.

The Atlanta papers are praising the splendid speech made at the opening of the exposition by the negro orator, Booker T. Washington. There has been a great change in the "New South" in recent years.

State Auditor Dunn is receiving considerable mention as a candidate for governor next year. He would make a good governor, but he should first be allowed to finish his term as state auditor.

Col. Gridley stirred up a little row with a Canadian delegate at the waterways convention yesterday. The colonel was talking with his usual enthusiasm, and the Canadian delegate did not understand him.

Lieut. Peary says that he will not do any more Arctic exploring. This is a sensible conclusion. There is little of value gained from Arctic expeditions in comparison with the hardships and dangers.

In marine news as in all other classes of news, The Herald has no rival at the head of the lakes. Vesselmen agree that its marine department is the best published in the West outside of Chicago.

Russia has decided to follow South Carolina's example and abolish the private saloon. Hereafter the sale of all intoxicating liquors will be controlled by the government.

It is said that when he was a young man, Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, attended the Methodist church. May his political success be ascribed to this fact?

A London paper publishes an editorial on the "Dangers of Water Drinking," but there is no evidence that it was written by Bond Broker Lamb.

Ethelwynn? Well, not to any great extent in yesterday's yacht race.

Duluth made a good showing at the Cleveland convention. The representatives of this city made themselves heard and their influence felt.

Mr. Starkweather failed to regain the Superior mayoralty through the courts, but possibly he may be more successful in the next election.

Mowbray, the anarchist, complains that speech is freer in Europe than it is here. Well, there is no reason why he should stay here.

For a man who says he has counted himself out of active politics, Roswell P. Flower appears to be quite active politically.

Happy Kansas City! Her baseball club has disbanded.

The next congress will be a waterways congress.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Only once in the last fifteen years has the official income of the British attorney general been less than $50,000; in 1893-94 it was over $100,000, though the salary is $25,000 a year. The solicitor general's salary it $20,000.

Pyritine is a new explosive, invented by a man in Bordeaux, who says it is much more powerful that melinite, and will so reduce weight of ammunition that each man will be able to carry 240 rounds without trouble.

St. Martin's at Ludgate, one of London's oldest churches, is to be opened again after being closed for six years. The earliest mention of the church is in 1237, but the present building was erected by Sir Christopher Wren at the end of the seventeenth century.

Jewish conversions come high in England. It took $178,000 out of $212,000 contributed to the London Society for Promoting Christianity among the Jews to meet the annual expenses; the result was six baptisms, one adult and five children, and thirteen confirmations.

Germany's mercantile marine is now far greater than that of France, and is second only to the British. In 1891 it measured 1,385,000 tons to 9,383,000 tons for England. The steamer tonnage, which in 1888 was less than the French, amounted to 889,000 tons to 466,000 tons for France.

On the Siberian railroad beyond Tomsk convict labor is being used for construction. Every hour's work on the railroad counts for two of prison work, and when the men's sentences expire they will receive 35 per cent of the wages they would have been entitled to if free laborers.

An innovation in the awarding of prizes is being tried at the Venice art exhibition. The jury of five members consists of art critics, with no professional artists. William Michael Rosetti is the English member; the others are a Dane, Professor Lange; an Italian, a Frenchman and a German.

Invitations to the Olympic games will be sent to foreign athletic societies through the Greek embassies and consulates in estimated that there are 2500 societies in the civilized world, all of which will be invited to take part. The acceptances must be in by the end of November next.

A degenerate Frenchman, M. Furetitrees, has attacked the national soup. He asserts that it causes a distention of the stomach that is fatal to the digestion of the solids that follow; that it has little or no nourishment in it, and that, as it is usually eaten hot, it injures the enamel of the teeth.

Admiral Count Haydn, who is now 96, is the only person living possessing portraits, set in diamonds, of the three Russian emperors, Nicholas I, Alexander II and Alexander III, which are granted to high Russian officials on the occasion of the czar's coronation. He hopes by living until next April to add to them that of a fourth czar, Nicholas II.

Pere Enfantin's house at Menilmontant, "Les Tilleuls," where the Saint Simonians in 1832 tried to put into practice their theories of communistic life, is about to be torn down. It was turned into a restaurant that was famous until Menilmontant was absorbed in Paris, and of late years had been used as a hall for public meetings.

An old country doctor named Sauria, who died recently at 84 in the department of the Jura, invented sixty years ago matches made with chlorate of potassium, phosphorus and sulphur, but was too poor to pay for a patent and his invention was made use of in Germany. He applied ten years ago for some reward from the French government, but only got the right to keep a tobacco stand.

M. Goron, who has just resigned as head of the Paris detective police, has brought together a strange collection of criminal relics. It includes the girdle with which Eyraud strangled M. Gouffe in a railroad train to Versailles; the veil worn by his accomplice, Gabrielle Bompard, who pleaded hypnotic influence as a defense; the knife used by Pranzini, the courier, to butcher his three mistresses; a portrait of Cartouche, the highwayman; counterfeit coins made by Ravachol, the anarchist, and a hangman's rope from England.

Why some people never wear a stylish Hat!

It is because of a fear of of looking odd or unusual with some, with others it is a prowess, to buy or have made a style like someone had last season that was admired, etc. Both find out their mistake after the season advances but can blame no one but themselves.

Beautiful...

Is a very mild term to use in speaking of the styles in millinery this season. The richest of velvets, jewels, feathers, furs and ribbons are the principal materials from which the artist creates the hat and the result is the acme of exquisite luxuriousness and beauty, made so by the perfect blending of the dark autumn shades, with here and there a jewel to add life and character to the creation. But why talk farther, all this and more will be displayed especially for your enjoyment and consideration day after tomorrow, and all we ask is your esteemed presence.

RED LAKE SURVEYS.

Strong Efforts Towards Opening the Reservation.

The work now being pushed in the vicinity of Red Lake and the Lake of the Woods indicates that strong efforts toward opening the Red Lake reservation are under way. Col. T. R. Hinsdale, chief of the corps of United States land office surveyors, has just returned from townships 151 and 152, ranges 27 and 28, where he examined the surveys of Messrs. Crampton and Nutter, and decided that C. A. Nutter should go ahead and finish his survey as quickly as possible. Col. Hinsdale's report had gone on to Washington, but he said that it would tend to greatly expedite the opening of the plats of these three townships. He said that it was evident that there is an active movement at Washington to open the Red Lake reserve.

Col. Hinsdale and his three assistants go via the Great Northern to Stephen, Marshall county, Minn. From Stephen they go to Roseau and fit out there for the Lake of the Woods, where on the south shore they will examine the surveys of eleven townships, the appraisement of which is to follow immediately after the approval of the surveys. A new townsite is a part of the program. From there they will go down Rainy river to township 70, range 24, where they hope to complete their examinations before snow flies.

Concerning the reports just received from Washington that the Red Lake reservation may be opened this fall, Col. Hinsdale said it is in line with the demands and possible, but that on account of the examinations and records that should first be completed it is more probable that the much-wished-for proclamation will be issued just about one year from now.

Football Tomorrow.

The Adelphic and Olympic Literary societies will meet in deadly combat in the foot ball field at Glen Avon tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The societies are great rivals as will be shown by this match not only in a literary way but athletically also. The Adelphics seem to have a better team but the Olympics are confident of winning. No admission will be charged. The teams will line up as follows:

Olympics.	Position.	Adelphics.
Holliday	Left tackle	Hackett
Lettau	Left guard	Richardson
R. Bailey	Center	Smith
Lefans	Right guard	Brewer
Palmer	Right tackle	Tennis
Connell	Right end	Talbois
Morrison	Quarter back	Goodmansen
Bailey	Half back	Steward
Kelly	Half back	Herman
Miller	Full back	Smith

Tonight's Fight.

Tonight at the Parlor theater Danny Needham and Tom Norton are to fight a 20-round contest. Needham is matched to fight Dick Moore to a finish within fifty miles of St. Paul next Saturday, and of course he is in good condition. The fight is understood to be an exhibition affair, as Needham is not likely to get himself hurt so close to a more important fight. Of its kind it will be a good contest, however, as Needham is a clever fighter and Norton is good enough to bring out some of his opponent's cleverness.

Will Build Two.

Word was received yesterday that the American Steel Barge company would build this winter two large whaleback barges. This will give work to a large number of men through the winter, as the boats are to be finished by spring. The whalebacks are to be the largest yet built. The dimensions are: Length, 380 feet; beam, 45 feet; depth, 28 feet. One is to be a steamer and the other a barge.

He staged the great open-air production, "Black America," at Ambrose Park, Brooklyn, New York, arranging original entertaining features in which over 800 colored people took part. He also superintended the production of this great spectacle in Boston. Mr. McClain and his wife, Mme. Cordella, head the colored contingent of "Down on the Suwanee River," which consists of forty Southern negro singers, dancers and comedians.

PREVENTION OF DISEASE.

Keep the Stomach Right.

It is surprising what a safeguard a healthy stomach is against disease. And again it is not so surprising when it is remembered that the only way we get pure blood, strong nerves and firm flesh is from wholesome food, well digested. It is the half digested food that causes the mischief. When the stomach is weak, slow, inactive the food lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting, forming gases which poison the blood and the whole system, causing headache, pains in the back, shoulder blades and chest, loss of appetite, palpitation, biliousness.

The safest cure for indigestion is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, composed of vegetable essences, fruit salts, pure pepsin and golden seal. Dissolve one or two of these tablets in the mouth after each meal. They are pleasant tasting and mingling with the food so assist the weak stomach that the food is perfectly digested before it has time to ferment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion and increase flesh because they digest flesh forming foods like meat, eggs, etc.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package. Absolutely safe and harmless.

A Drunken Wanderer.

Joseph A. Miller had a little surprise party at his house at 13 Eighteenth avenue west last night, which had a police court denouement. Shortly after midnight Miller heard some one prowling about down stairs, and arming himself with a chair, went in search of the marauder. Both groped around in the darkness for a while, and finally the householder rushed out for help. In the meantime Miller's son, aroused by the noise, came down stairs and ran into the arms of the man, whom he seized and held until help came. The intruder proved to be an almost helpless drunken man who had wandered in through a door left open and fallen asleep in a chair. He gave his name at the station as Peter Dahl, and was given a suspended sentence this morning for drunkenness by Judge Edson.

Long List Today.

There was an unusually long list of offenders in the municipal court this morning. John Peterson, Peter Hanson, Jack Westelum and James Ransom were fined $10 and costs each, and Judge Edson gave suspended sentences to John Johnson, Mike Orsby and Peter Johnson. All had been drunk last night and yesterday. Of the seven five were woodsmen.

Amey Fieldin and Carrie Hamilton, denizens of the Point, became involved in a quarrel over their respective merits last night, which became sufficiently heated to warrant Judge Edson this morning in imposing a fine of $10 and costs each on charges of being inmates of a house of ill-fame.

There will be a meeting of the citizens' committee favoring the erection of a new water system at the headquarters, No. 200 Burrows' building, on Saturday, Sept. 28, 1895, at 4 o'clock p. m. The members of the executive committee, the ward chairmen and the members of each precinct committee are requested to be present.

THE LECTURE COURSE.

Selection of Reserved Seats Began This Morning.

The selection of reserved seats for the Star lecture course at the First Methodist church began this morning at Chamberlain & Taylor's and there was quite a rush. The number reserved was very large but there are still many left. The arrangement of the church is such that there are no seats that are undesirable.

The course is one which will commend itself to everyone. It will be opened on Oct. 11 by Hon. John B. Gordon, United States senator from Georgia. He was chief of staff of Gen. Robert E. Lee and had the rank of general. Gen. Gordon lectured here last year and made a great impression as an orator and thinker. The subject upon which he will speak this time is "How Long Will This Republic Live?"

The lecturers who will appear in the course and their subjects are: Hon. George R. Wendling, of Washington, D. C., "The Man of Galilee;" Rev. Sam P. Jones, the famous evangelist, "Manhood and Money;" Rev. A. J. Palmer, of New York, "Co. D, the Die No Mores."

Leland T. Powers, the great impersonator, is also to be in this year's course. This time he will give impersonations of the characters in "The Rivals."

The Redpath Grand Concert company will also be here. This is composed of Mrs. Genevra Johnstone Bishop, the famous soprano; Miss Clara Murray, the harpist who made such a hit with Mrs. Scott-Siddons; Miss Maud Powell, the finest lady violinist in America, and Rudolph von Scarpa, of Vienna, a pianist of great note. The Temple Quartet Concert company, of Boston, is also in the course. It is composed of M. E. Spears, first tenor; E. F. Weber, second tenor; Robert Bruce, baritone; L. B. Merrill, basso; Miss Katherine Ridgeway, reader.

There are eight attractions in all in the course and the price of season tickets is but $3.

Dog Frightened Them.

Shortly before midnight thieves broke into the basement of Alderman N. N. Ole's building at 427 Twenty-sixth avenue west but were frightened off without securing any booty. The family watch dog which was in the house, evidently hearing the noise, became restless and was put out of doors. The thieves fled, leaving behind them a large quantity of canned goods which they had prepared for carrying away. Entrance was obtained through a half open basement window.

PEACEFUL

Differences in the Commercial Club Amicably Healed Last Night.

Factions Came Together and After a Parley Reached an Agreement.

Sloan Block Was Selected as the Place of Meeting Hereafter.

Ever since dissension has hovered like a black cloud over the Commercial club of the West End there have been two commercial clubs. The scathing denunciation of Messrs. Pierce, Allen and Whitely by Alderman Cox at a council caucus tended but little to promote good fellowship among the gentlemen named, and when the redoubtable alderman from the Sixth applied for membership his application was handled without gloves. Besides, there was some dissatisfaction with the quarters furnished by the Duluth Press, where the club met.

In consequence of all these weighty matters of dissension, a wing of the club lead by the triumvirate seceded at the last meeting and headed by Secretary Whitely, carrying the books, went into the club business for themselves in a little hall in the United States block. The other faction remained in the Press building and elected new officers. And so it happened that business verged on a standstill at the West End, while the quarrel between the two bodies, each claiming to be the simon-pure Commercial club, attracted the attention of the Sixth ward.

ALDERMAN COX NOT IN IT.

Last night the Commercial club met at United States hall with nine members present. W. M. Hubbard was elected president pro tem, and J. H. Whitely acted as secretary. A suspension of the rules was moved and on motion a committee, consisting of Alderman Ole, J. L. Preston and Gust Bergquist was appointed to wait on the other branches with full plenary powers. One condition, however, was insisted on. Alderman Cox must not be admitted to membership.

The Commercial club also met last night at the old quarters in the Duluth Press building with sixteen members present and they were discussing matters in general when the United States hall committee filed in bearing a large sized olive branch.

Then Mr. Wetmore arose and denounced what he called the three mutineers, and rhetorically ripped Messrs. Pierce, Allen and Whitely up the back. The others he was willing to receive again into the fold. Then ensued a hot discussion, participated in by E. G. Swanstrom, Alderman Cox and A. Swordling, while the peace committee sat and wondered.

MR. ALLEN APOLOGIZED.

At this juncture W. W. Allen walked in and apologized for his remarks at the previous meetings. The apology met with a prompt reception, and after a general hand-shaking bout a committee of three was sent across the street to deliberate. It was finally decided to meet in the Sloan block and compare grievances.

Here it was discovered that there was no grievances, but a vote was taken on a new meeting place. The matter was decided by ballot, and the Sloan building was unanimously selected as the regular meeting-place for the re-united club. Then an adjournment was taken until Thursday evening. Meanwhile all is peace and the lion and the lamb lie down together.

A BAD OFFICIAL.

Number of Charges Alleged Against Austin Lathrop.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 27.—John M. Weaver and J. B. White, of Plattsburg, have presented a petition to Governor Morton asing for the removal of Austin Lathrop, superintendent of state prisons. The petition embraces thirteen counts, and the charges are founded in part upon the evidence taken before the investigating committee appointed by the last legislature. The petitioners claim that Mr. Lathrop has not attended to his duty in permitting the warden of Auburn prison to purchase large quantities of beef for the use of the prison, at prices much higher than it could have been purchased for, and that the beef was of poor and inferior quality.

They allege that such warden sold a large quantity of scrap iron and brass and a large number of horse collars for much less than the property was worth; the general ledger book used at Auburn was not properly kept for the years 1892 and 1893; that subordinate officials at Auburn have been permitted to draw more than one salary each, contrary to the law; that profits to the state from the hollow ware and cast iron industries, amounting in 1892 to $50,000, were lost to the state by the abandonment of the state account system and the transfer of these industries to a citizen of Baltimore.

It is also alleged that the law relating to the labor of prisoners has been violated by so operating under the "piece price" system, that the labor of the prisoners was substantially let at a given price per day, and that many other irregularities have existed in the management of the prisons.

Refuses to Prosecute.

The injuries of John Steele, the race-track man who was assaulted yesterday by A. T. Ross, proved to be less serious than was at first thought. Ross was arrested and released last night under $100 bonds, to give Steele a chance to swear out a complaint. This the injured man refuses to do. Ross will probably be arraigned and the matter dropped. His friends declare that Steele is an ex-prize fighter and was looking for trouble when he found it.

The market is full of cough mixtures, but one trouble with most of them is that when they do a little good the patient has to take so much that he gets to loathe the taste. The Pineola Balsam is superior to other cough remedies because it is agreeable to the palate and its good effects are immediate. In a few days an ordinary cough is gone altogether. Bronchitis and asthma are more stubborn, but they too are cured by Ely's Pineola Balsam. A remedy worth trying. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.

THE ROUNDER.

Chauncey Depew likes nothing better than to tell a good story and his stories are generally good ones, too. The other day he told one in New York about his experience with Duluth newspaper men and the New York Herald relates it as follows:

"If you were to discover Dr. Chauncey M. Depew scaling the Pyrenees—he was doing it recently, by the way—your appearance would remind him of a little story.

"So the other night when twenty reporters, who had reached the steamer Paris off Quarantine in twenty different ways, confronted the returning traveler, it reminded him of an occasion when he was traveling in the West.

"'I was approaching Duluth,' he said, 'and happened to pick up a paper printed in that town. It contained an editorial warning the inhabitants of my approach. The editor said I was the most unmitigated nuisance at large, that I contrived to get myself interviewed by the use of violence, or strategy, or bribery, or anything else; that, in fact, the only relief for a Depew-ridden community lay in a combination of newspapers looking to my suppression.

"'The plan, he said, was to drop me, omit my name on all occasions, and, indeed, refuse to recognize me. Then he said I would perforce drop into the obscurity where I belonged.

"'As we neared Duluth a young man entered my car, bustled down the aisle, nodded to me, and said in a most businesslike way: "Good morning, Mr. Depew." I returned the greeting, and he said at once: "Now I want a column and a half of good stuff, and I want it in a hurry."

"'What paper do you represent?' I asked.

"'That one you have in your hand,' he said.

"'How about this editorial?' I asked, holding it up.

"'Oh, hang the editors!' he replied. 'They don't know anything. The reporters make the newspapers in Duluth.

"'He got his column and a half in a hurry,' Dr. Depew concluded."

Whatever may be the complexion of other stories of the humorous Dr. Depew this one is true. The editorail was one of R. C. Mitchell's and appeared in the Tribune of which he was owner and editor at that time. D. L. Stinchfield was city editor of the Tribune at that time and is the reporter who interviewed the genial Chauncey.

* * *

"Speaking of making mistakes in state rooms," said Capt. Robertson, the genial commander of the steamer Monarch, to the Rounder the other day. "We had one on board on one of our trips down this season that was a hummer.

"A party of Duluthians were chatting and having a good time in the cabin among them being a nurse from one of the hospitals, a young medical student and an old gentleman of about 90 years, who was making the trip as a 'bracer,' he said. After an hour or so in the cabin the old gentleman retired to his state room, and being one of those persons who desire a good deal of air, he left the door slightly ajar.

"Shortly after he had retired a gentleman in the forward part of the cabin was taken with a chill. As soon as the medical man and nurse heard of it they rushed down stairs to get some hot plates. The nurse wrapped them in a piece of cloth and rushed wildly up the stairs, burst into the old man's room and before he could open his mouth to object had clapped the plates on his breast and commanded him to lie perfectly still. By this time the old gentleman had managed to get in shape so he could object.

"'I don't want them,' said he.

"'You must have them,'" retorted the nurse, but just then the young medical student, attracted by the disturbance in the room, rushed to the door and said: 'This way, Miss ——, you've got the wrong man.'

"The young lady dropped the plates with a shriek, while the horrid men passengers stood and grinned. After it was all over the old gentleman was heard to say: 'Captain, you have some very kind passengers on board this trip. No danger of my taking cold.'"

RATES ARE STRENGTHENED.

So Says President Gould in an Interview.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—President George Gould, of the Missouri Pacific and Mountain Iron, accompanied by a party of friends, arrived in the city last evening by special train over the Wabash from Chicago. The party includes George Gould, Maj. Crawford and Hugh Kelly Belfast, of New York. Mr. Gould and his friends have been hunting in the Northwest.

Mr. Gould said he might take a trip over the Gould lines before returning East. The outlook for business, he said, was most encouraging. The rate situation in the Southwest had been materially strengthened, and it was hoped that the Western rate situation would be speedily improved.

HOP PRICES ADVANCING.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 27.—The hop market is firmer and prices are slowly advancing from the low figures which ruled at the opening of the season. Theodore Bernheim today made two large purchases at 6¼ and 6½ cents. Mr. Bernheim says Oregon will produce 80,000 bales this season. If the weather had been better and prices had warranted it, the yield would have reached 110,000 bales. The quality on the average is not quite so good as last year. Prices are firm for choice hops, while poorer grades are neglected.

STANLEY IN VANCOUVER.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 27.—Henry M. Stanley, the well-known explorer and member of the British parliament, has arrived here. He is accompanied by his wife, and says he is simply touring for pleasure. Stanley spent several days here and probably will visit the Puget sound and other towns.

TO ENLIGHTEN WOMEN.

Gen. Harrison is Pushing His Literary Work.

Indianapolis, Sept. 27.—Gen. Benjamin Harrison is devoting himself daily to an important series of literary articles which he contracted for while in the East last spring. The work up to date include magazine articles, which will have for their aim the enlightenment of women upon national questions, and give them a better conception of government affairs.

Its scope will be wide enough to touch upon all national questions of great interest. It now appears that the general has given all his time, between deer hunts, to this work and is still busy and will be for some weeks with his secretary in getting the matter ready for a Philadelphia publishing house.

TWO SANK

The Steamer Montana, With Flour, Sank at Portage Lake Canal.

The Mark Hopkins Collided With the Vanderbilt and Went Down.

Lies in Thirty-One Feet of Water in Hay Lake.

The steamer Montana, one of the oldest boats of the Western Transit, sank at Portage Lake canal yesterday afternoon. A special dispatch to The Herald from Houghton, Mich., gives these particulars: "The steamer Montana struck heavily on the bank on entering the Portage Lake canal yesterday afternoon. The steamer lost her rudder and shoe, and immediately filled. She is now lying on the eastern side of the canal, about half a mile south of the entrance in sixteen feet of water. The Montana was bound from Duluth to Buffalo, and her hold is filled with flour."

She left Duluth about midnight Wednesday, and must have struck about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Intelligence of the disaster was received by the Western Transit's Duluth agency at 6 o'clock last evening. The Montana carried 12,500 barrels of flour for Buffalo, and she was to have taken copper at Houghton.

SUNK IN HAY LAKE.

The Mark Hopkins Went Down in a Collision.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Mark Hopkins collided with the steamer Vanderbilt at Nine Mile point in Hay lake today. The Hopkins went down in two minutes. The Vanderbilt was but slightly injured. The Hopkins was insured for $40,000. Her owner is E. C. Recor, of St. Clair, Mich. The Hopkins was bound down with ore and the Vanderbilt up with merchandise. The Hopkins was struck near the bow and was cut in two as far as the windlass. She rests on a clay bottom in thirty-one feet of water. The collision was caused by the steamer Spokane passing the Hopkins, causing her to sheer directly across the bows of the Vanderbilt.

The sunken boat was commanded by Capt. H. A. Lyon. She had on board a cargo of ore from Marquette for South Chicago. She had a gross tonnage of 732 and was built in 1888 at Grand Haven, Mich. She was insured for $40,000.

ORDERED TO DULUTH.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Nicholas, chartered by the Anchor line, has been ordered direct to Duluth from South Chicago.

COAL CHARTERS.

Buffalo, Sept. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Coal charters: Mariska, Duluth, 30 cents.

THE ORE RATES.

Cleveland, Sept. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brokers are trying to advance the Escanaba rate to 90 cents and the Marquette rate to $1.15, with good prospects of success.

THE NAHANT SAFE.

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 27.—The steamer Nahant, sixty hours overdue, arrived today. She was detained at the lower end of Lake Michigan by unfavorable weather.

THE RATE SITUATION.

The freight situation is practically unchanged, with good prospects. In the course of a few days a new element will enter quite a figure until the close of navigation. The Manitoba wheat shippers will then be on the market for tonnage from Fort William, and on account of low water in the Welland canal and St. Lawrence river, the probabilities are that most of this wheat will go East by way of Buffalo.

THE BIELMAN DAMAGED.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 27.—The steam barge Bielman while entering the upper end of the Canadian lock yesterday afternoon, down bound with ore, struck the pier under water or floating timbers guarding the masonry piers and broke three buckets off her wheel.

THE CUMBERLAND SAFE.

Milwaukee, Sept. 27.—The overdue steamer Cumberland arrived here at 5 a. m. with her consort, the Bruce. The latter had not been ashore, but was anchored off Trout island with her rudder disabled.

MARINE NOTES.

The dry dock is doing quite a business this week. The J. C. Lockwood and the Colgate Hoyt are each having repairs on their wheels, and the Charles Foster is to have her center board box repaired.

There has not been an arrival in port for thirty hours.

The steamer Yale yesterday took out 3116 gross tons of ore, equivalent to about 118,000 bushels of wheat.

According to a letter received at Milwaukee, F. N. Whipple, of Detroit, has bought the steamer City of Glasgow from Capt. James Davidson, of West Bay City. The price is not stated. The City of Glasgow is the only one of the "big four" steamers which remained on Capt. Davidson's hands.

On Oct. 7 the lake lines will advance the rate on all package freight from Lake Michigan and Lake Superior points 2½ cents per 100 pounds. This will advance the through flour and grain rate from Minneapolis and St. Paul to New York from 22½ cents to 25 cents per 100 pounds.

Capt. William Pringle has resigned as master of the steamer Superior. He will be succeeded by Capt. James Lawless.

The small steamer Imperial has been libeled at Depere on a claim for $200 and will be sold under the hammer of the United States marshal Sept. 30.

The owners of the steamer S. F. Hodge have libeled the schooner W. H. Rounds at Detroit on a salvage claim of $2000.

John Gordon has paid one or two visits to Cleveland of late, and there is every reason to believe that the newly organized or reorganized Union Transit company will very soon place an order for a package freighter of the most modern design and with the best equipment known to the trade.

Capt. Thomas Carney has been given command of the John Oades. Capt. Carney formerly commanded the tug Baltze, and is succeeded on that boat by Capt. John Tobin.

Duluth clearances: Northern Queen, 50,000 bushels wheat, North Star, 10,500 barrels flour, Badger State, 8000 barrels flour, E. P. LOST HIS SITUATION.

Eastern Minnesota Gets a Young Man In Trouble.

As a result of the unfriendly feeling which exists between two of the railroads which compete for the passenger traffic to St. Paul Otto Smith, one of the employes of the Spalding, is mourning the loss of his situation. This occurrence which caused it is the talk of all the railroad officials in the city.

The two roads are the Eastern Minnesota and St. Paul & Duluth. The former suspected the latter of cutting the agreed rate between Duluth and St. Paul. Accordingly Northern Passenger Agent Harper and Assistant Manager James concocted a scheme to catch Northern Passenger Agent Ross, of the rival road. Otto Smith was sent over to the Duluth road's office and did secure two tickets to St. Paul at reduced rates. He took them to the Eastern office and there was great rejoicing.

Now comes Mr. Ross' side of the story. He says Smith came into the Duluth office and asked for two tickets saying he wanted them for his mother and sister. It is customary for all roads to make a reduced rate to hotel men and Mr. Ross, who knew the boy, asked if Manager Frisbee had sent him over. The boy replied that he had and Mr. Ross issued the tickets. As the boy went out it struck Mr. Ross that he had acted rather strange and he went out, followed him and saw him go into the Eastern office and lay down the tickets. Mr. Ross went to the hotel management and reported the representations made by Smith. The hotel management thereupon discharged him.

This was a little more than the Eastern people had counted on and there is any amount of unfavorable comment among railroad people upon their action. Meanwhile Smith continues to be out of his situation.

MORA DRAFT PAID.

Cashed in Gold in London This Morning.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Secretary Olney received information today that the Mora draft for almost $1,500,000 had been paid in London today by the Spanish financial agent. The money was paid in gold and probably will be transferred to this country by cable draft and placed to Secretary Olney's credit in the New York sub-treasury.

HINSR FOR YOUNG AUTHORS.

Do not be in haste to send some busy editor the story which you have just written. Never send anything to an editor until you have written it four or five times over, and are satisfied that it is the very best thing that you can do, and that it is expressed in the briefest possible compass, says Harper's Round Table. The money one earns by writing is the smallest part of the pleasure it gives. Several girls inquire of me what price they ought to put on their poems and stories, and what sort of letter they should send with a contribution when addressing an editor. All that is really necessary in the case is to write your full name and postoffice address plainly at the top of your opening page, in the right hand corner. In brackets at the other side you may, if you choose, write "offered at usual rates."

Be sure always to write only on one side of the paper, to send a folded and never a rolled manuscript, to have it typewritten, if you can; if not, to have your writing very legible, and to send an envelope addressed to yourself and enough stamps to pay return postage should your manuscript be declined. The stamps may be loose, or may be attached to the envelope, as you prefer. As a rule the first contributions of young people are worth very little money, and it is not good form to set a price on what you write unless you are an author of assured reputation. You must remember that publishers pay for work according to its market value, just as we pay for sugar and soap, and calico and note paper, chairs and tables, or anything else we buy.

When you go to a shop you always try to get good value for the money you give in return for goods. It is the same with articles and poems which are offered to the press. Hundreds of thousands of people are writing, and you must expect to face difficulties and have a struggle before you find your place, even if you are very well prepared for it.

SILENCE.

When the cup of hope brims over
And the soul has drunk its fill,
When the loved-one meets the lover
And their hearts in sunshine hover
With one impulse and one will—
Then the useless tongue is still.

When the heart is bare of gladness,
And the helpless sense of ill
Goads the apathy of sadness
Onward, through a whirl of madness
To a darkness drear and chill—
Then the palsied tongue is still.

When the soul for power sigheth,
Struggling for art's fuller skill,
And the prophet heart o'er flieth
All the agony that trieth,
All the teardrops it must spill—
When the tranced tongue is still.

When two hearts that love are parted,
And truth lingers but to kill,
When they strive to be hardhearted
And the props of life are started
With a terror and a thrill—
Then the choking tongue is still.

When our souls youths dream-chains shiver,
And we leap the world's scant rill,
Which had seemed a mighty river
Roaring on and on forever
'Tween us and self-trust's steep hill,
Then the trembling tongue is still.

O, sweet silence! they belied thee
Who have called the pain and weak:
Speech is emptiness beside thee,
Joy and woe have glorified thee,
Love and longing never seek
Any better way to speak.

All the deepest thoughts and feelings
Which the roots of life enfold,
Passion's sudden shocks and reelings,
Love's first tremulous revealings,
Never can be fully told,
Save by thee, revered of old!

—James Russell Lowell.

A VANISHING TOWN.

J. M. Davis, member of the Kansas state legislature from Kiowa county, gives a doleful account of the condition of his section of Kansas, and especially of his own town, says the Chicago Record. Five years ago Greensburg had 2500 inhabitants; now there are 125. There is a bonded debt on the municipality of $74,000 and practically no valuation to pay it with. These bonds were issued for waterworks, lighting and other improvements demanded by the progressive people who were trying to make a city. The few people there now decline to pay their taxes and lots and buildings are being sold by the county treasurer, or rather that official tries to sell them.

Farmers come into town and buy tax certificates for comparatively nothing. These they desire for the buildings, which they remove, caring nothing for the lots. Five years ago a flouring mill was erected at a cost of $2500, the city giving $3000 in cash. Recently this building was purchased for a few dollars and removed to Colorado. Small as Greensburg now is, its population may soon be indicated by two figures and then possibly by one. In the meantime the owners of $45,000 worth of bonds will be looking for someone to pay interest and principal when due.

FREIMUTH'S

SHEEHAN

Said to be Slated for the Leadership of Tammany's Forces.

Richard Croker's Friends Will be in Control of the Organization.

Important Changes to be Brought About at Tonight's Meeting.

New York, Sept. 27.—It was stated this afternoon, on excellent authority, that one of the results of the visit of Richard Croker to this country will be a material change in the leadership of the Tammany hall organization. For some time past the affairs of Tammany hall have been guided by ex-Police Commissioner James J. Martin and ex-Mayor Thomas F. Gilroy, and it is stated that these gentlemen are to be requested to take a less prominent part in the organization.

The man whom Mr. Croker's friends have decided to place in the position of leader, as chairman of the finance committee, is ex-Police Commissioner John C. Sheehan and it is stated that Mr. Croker's friend, Lawrence Delmour, will be given the chairmanship of one of the other important committees.

The friends of Richard Croker and ex-Mayor Grant are said to be acting together to bring about the changes which may be effected at this evening's meeting at the general meeting in Tammany hall.

TERRELL WAS PROMPT.

He Will Investigate an Armenian's Case.

Constantinople, Sept. 27.—An Armenian named Guedejian, who claimed to be a citizen of the United States, was recently sentenced to a long term of imprisonment upon the charge of being an emissary of an Armenian revolutionary society. The United States consul at Aleppo, where Guedejian was confined, was not allowed by the authorities to visit the prisoner. United States Minister Terrell demanded of the sublime porte that sentence in the case be suspended until it could be ascertained whether or not he had forfeited the right to protection by the United States. The porte has now telegraphed to the officials to allow the consul to investigate the case and to see the prisoner.

ARMENIAN PERSECUTIONS.

Atioche, Sept. 27.—Ottoman officers here, it is said, have succeeded in exciting Musselmen with a report of an impending massacre by Armenians. As a result of this Musselmen accompanied by police raided an Armenian church and searched the building for arms. The Armenians resisted, and in the conflict which ensued ten of them were killed. A reign of terror prevails at Kemakah and Erzengen, owing to oppressions by the Turks. Many Armenians have been arrested.

MRS. CROOK BURIED.

Resting at Arlington Beside Her Brave Husband.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Mary Daily Crook, widow of the late Gen. Crook, was buried at Arlington, beside her husband today. Funeral services were conducted at Oakland, Md., yesterday. The remains were met at the depot by the pall bearers, Secretary J. Sterling Morton, Gen. M. R. Morgan, Gen. T. H. Stanton, Col. H. C. Corbin, Col. C. E. Schofield, William Crook, John F. Waggaman, Lieut. J. W. V. Kennon, Lieut. Lucien Young and Logan Carlisle.

There were also present Gen. Batchelder, quartermaster U. S. A.; Gen. Williams, Maj. Charles Porter, Gen. Stanley, governor of the soldiers' home, who was a classmate of Gen. Crook at West Point; Gen. H. V. Boynton, Senator A. P. Gorman, Judge Jeremiah Wilson, and a delegation of the Loyal Legion. The remains were interred with the burial rites of the Episcopal church.

The only relative present was the sister of Mrs. Crook, Mrs. Fanny Dailey Reid.

CULBERSON'S COUP.

Occasions Great Surprise Among the Politicians.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 27.—Governor Culberson's proclamation issued late last night convening the legislature next Tuesday, to enact an anti-prize fight law, was a great surprise. There was some talk today that the Populists and other political opponents of the governor, may defeat the object by making a law to go into effect in ninety days. It requires a two-thirds vote to give immediate effect.

Representative Ben Ward, a leading member of the house said that the legislature undoubtedly would pass a law to go into effect at once, and that it would make prize fighting a felony. He thinks that the law will be passed within a week after the legislature meets.

A HOSPITAL HORROR.

Coffins Filled With Bricks and the Bodies Sold.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Maggie Dalton, the servant girl, has made a statement to the police concerning the present management of the female hospital, the details of which are so shocking as to be almost incredible. The girl gives the names of four attaches of the hospital at the time Dr. R. M. Kerley was superintendent, and accuses them of having made a practice of selling the bodies of patients who died in the institution.

Coffins filled with bricks, she says, were palmed off on the man who buried the dead, and the bodies were shipped away from the city to various medical colleges.

Dr. R. M. Cooley, formerly superintendent of the hospital, denied the story as a preposterous lie.

A SHAKY CONCERN.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—State Treasurer Lon V. Stevens applied in the circuit court today for a receiver for the Peerless Building and Loan association, alleging that it is bankrupt.

ST. ANDREW'S BROTHERHOOD

Second Day of the Convention at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 27.—The second day of the convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew met this morning in communion at Christ's church cathedral, the Rt. Rev. D. Nichols, bishop of California, celebrant. The morning business session opened promptly at 10 o'clock at Library hall. Rev. Richard McCredy, of Owensboro, offered the opening prayer. In regard to the resolution offered yesterday, to have the convention held earlier in the year, because this time interferes with the work of ministers at the beginning of the year, and also of delegates who are engaged in business pursuits, the committee recommended that this be adopted. Accepted.

The committee recommended that the resolution offered yesterday to have the next convention international in character be adopted. This was accepted. In regard to the different resolutions offered yesterday as to the place where the next convention shall be held next year, the committee made the following recommendations: That all suggestions and resolutions with reference to the time and place of holding the next annual convention and other details of the same be submitted to the incoming council for action; and that at tomorrow morning's session ten minutes be allowed the delegations from each of the cities asking for the convention to put in their respective claims. This was accepted with the amendment that the Canadian delegation be allowed to speak on the subject. The following resolution was adopted:

"We protest against the atrocities committed by the Turkish authorities against the Christians of Armenia, and express the hope that the English and American churches will use all possible means to prevent any further repetition of these outrages."

WILL SERVE HIS TERM.

Surveyor General Compton Will Not Be Disturbed.

Washington, Sept. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A high official of the interior department stated late today that a surveyor general for Minnesota to succeed Gen. Compton, the present Republican incumbent, would not be appointed until after Jan. 15, 1896. On account of this statement the action of Pat Kelly, of St. Paul, in urging the appointment of J. J. Ryder, in opposition to ex-Senator Durant, of Stillwater, or P. H. Kerwin, of Renville county, will not be complied with.

Gen. Compton, whose term does not legally expire until Jan. 15, will probably not be deposed before that time for the reason that no charges have been preferred against him.

HE WOULD BE SENATOR.

Ex-President Harrison Would Return to the Senate.

Washington, Sept. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—If ex-President Harrison is unable to secure the Republican presidential nomination next year, the understanding of Indiana politicians in Washington seems to be that the ex-president does not propose to be retired to political obscurity. His idea is, in the event that he fails to secure the presidential nomination of his party in 1896, that if the legislature elected in that year is Republican he can succeed Senator Voorhees in the United States senate.

Mr. Harrison proposes either to win the presidency or a United States senatorship. This can be put down as certain.

MADAGASCAR'S WAR.

French Have Not Yet Defeated the Hovas.

London, Sept. 27.—Col. Charles Robert Shervinton, formerly commander-in-chief of the Malaga service, which he resigned in April last, has been interviewed by the Daily News regarding the war in Madagascar. He told the reporter that the Hovas intend to fight to the bitter end, and that he is convinced that French accounts of their victory over the Hovas at Majunga have been exaggerated for the purpose of cheering the French people.

Col. Shervinton said, further, that it was ridiculous to suppose, as was stated in official dispatches from Madagascar this week, that the main body of the Hovas army had been met forty miles from the capital and defeated. The Hovas, he said would never expose the capital by dispatching the main body of the troops to the front. The French expedition has not met the Hovas army, he said, and will not do so until it is within twenty miles of the capital. Then there will be a desperate battle.

UNITED STATES CATTLE.

South American Stock Coming in Competition.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Dr. Way, the representative in London of the United States department of agriculture, reports that the admission of cattle from the United States may be considerably affected by the question now up as to removing all restrictions on the admission of South American cattle. He says the opinion of well informed persons is that if the South American governments demand unrestricted admission. Great Britain will be required to pass a bill to require all foreign cattle to be slaughtered at the foreign cattle markets of England.

Dr. Wray thinks that strong pressure is being brought to bear in favor of such a bill. He adds that up to the present time no contagious disease has been discovered among South American cattle, so that without such a bill the British government could hardly refuse to let South American cattle in free of restrictions, if the privilege was asked.

Dr. Wray also makes a report on the new project to ship live stock from Australia to England which, if successful, would add to the competition against American cattle. A consignment has recently arrived from Sidney, N. S. W., the distance of transportation being 12,000 miles. The loss in transit was very great, that on cattle and horse being over 10 per cent and sheep 15 per cent. The cost of transportation was $70 each for horses and cattle and $6 for sheep. The original cost in Sydney of the steers in the shipment was $20. This original cost and the cost of transportation was about the price South American cattle were bringing in the London market.

FINE OLD CIDER.

Boston Commercial Bulletin: "How d'ye like that cider?" asked a close old farmer of a poor fellow that he had given a glass instead of a tip for a job.

"Pretty good; but it's a pity you didn't have another apple."

"Another apple! Why?"

"Because you could have made another barrel of it, you know."

A COLORADO MILLIONAIR

Who Walks the Floor Trying to Reduce His Income.

Probably the most interesting character in Colorado today is W. S. Stratton, who owns the Independence mine, and an interest in a number of other properties, says the San Francisco Examiner. He is the only man of my acquaintance who is just now walking the floor trying to reduce his income and keep it under $100,000 a month. This is certainly a pathetic case and the strangest thing about it is that it's true. Last month he made nearly $200,000 and it frightened him. He prefers to have it come slower and last longer. I saw him often at the hotel in Denver—a small modest looking man, with iron gray hair and a suit and hat of the same color and a moustache to match. When he entered from the street with his grip in his hand the little boys made a dash for him that resembled a football team after a ball. He seemed to have nothing about him but money. If he sent a boy to bring a newspaper he gave the boy $1 and had the paper charged in his bill. He usually handed a silver dollar to the hat boy when he came from the dining-room. His hat costs him $3 a day, but it is a good way to spend money. His presence was enough to keep all the servants in the house happy.

One day some children were playing near the mine when the gold king called them all up and gave each of them a $5 gold piece, saying it was dangerous for them to play there. Presently a little boy came back with the money and said that his father objected to his receiving money that way. The man took the coin, but as the little fellow looked up at him with traces of tears on his face and his chin trembling, the miner took a $100 bank note from his pocket, folded it carefully, placed it in the child's hand and said: "There you can have that if you don't like gold. Tell your father that came up on the last bucket, and that I want you to have it."

This new-made millionaire is never happier, they say, than when he is entertaining a party of ladies. One lady is entertaining him now in a breach of promise suit for $200,000. Not long ago he wired Pullman's superintendent for a private car and crew. He wanted to send a party of ten young ladies to California. The superintendent wired him that it would cost $100 to get the car from Chicago to Denver.

"What is that to you?" said Stratton, by wire. "If it cost $100,000 and I want it I can have it, can't I?"

He got the car and the ladies got their picnic. This man was a carpenter, and it is related of him that three years ago he walked from Colorado Springs to the new camp, a distance of thirty miles, to save the $4 car and stage fare. He has made his own place in the world and seems perfectly capable of taking care of himself. It is hard to say what the Independence mine is worth. An English expert made an examination of the property a few weeks ago and gave it as his opinion that there were $2,000,000 in sight. If Stratton had an offer of $10,000,000 in cash for his claim today he would probably refuse it. Why should he sell? As long as he can take out $1,000,000 a year net, he can live comfortably.

The mines of Cripple Creek are not located on veins; they don't care anything about veins in there. What they want is an ore-chute, or "blow-out" as it is sometimes called. There are a number of "blow-outs" in a mine like the Independence.

Mr. Stratton's team was running away in Colorado Springs not long ago. The carriage behind them held some women and children. A young man got hold of the lines and succeeded in making a remarkably difficult turn at a street corner without spilling any of the passengers and finally stopped the team. He got $1000 for that.

PLOT FOR A NOVEL.

Event in India Which Would Form a Romance.

A Brahmin traveling between Chittur and Nemara was belated in the road and asked for shelter for the night at a house, where he was received by two Nair women, says the Cochin, India, Argus. He entrusted to the elder sister 1000 rupees for safe keeping. This roused her cupidity, and induced her to propose to the younger sister to make away with their unsuspecting guest and pocket the money. The latter, however, stoutly refused to take part in the crime. Later in the night the husband of the elder woman arrived on the scene, when he readily fell in with the proposal of his wife.

In the meanwhile, the younger woman, determined to avert the murder, roused her unsuspecting guest, who was sleeping in a veranda, warned him of his danger, and locked him up in a cullum attached to the house. The brother of the two women returned toward midnight, and, fatigued with his journey, seeing the house silent, quietly went down and slept on the mat vacated by the Brahmin. Soon after the would-be murderers, utterly unconscious of the change made in the occupant of the mat, settled the sleeper with one blow of the rice pounder, and buried the corpse in the dark without knowing of their fatal mistake, and effaced all the traces of the blood that was split retired to their guilty repose.

In the morning the Brahmin was released by his fair rescuer, and words cannot describe the surprise and horror that overcame the murderers when their supposed victim appeared before them and demanded the money. Dumb with horror, they restored it to the Brahmin, who gave information to the police of his intended murder. While police inquiry was in progress it transpired that the brother of these women had mysteriously disappeared. The police accordingly made a vigorous search and unearthed the corpse of the deceased, and found some blood stain at the doorstep, which had not been washed or removed. The police have accordingly arrested the culprits, and the matter is under investigation. To conclude the interest of the narrative we have only to add that these revelations have impressed the Brahmin with a due sense of the extent of the danger he escaped and the magnitude of the service rendered to him by his rescuer. He, therefore, made her a present of the 1000 rupees, which was the original incentive to crime on the part of the murderers.

WINTER WINDOW GARDENS.

No other plants available for window gardens yield so generous a return for the slight care required as those with bulbous roots, writes Carroll Watson Rankin in the September Ladies' Home Journal. No other plants are so fascinating or so beautiful, or so easily grown. Most bulbs will thrive and produce an abundant harvest of glorious bloom in a temperature that would reduce a geranium to a state of chronic invalidism, yet many people have an idea that it is a difficult matter to grow them without a greenhouse. That is a mistake. All one needs is a little common sense—and the bulbs. Bulbs should be ordered early in the fall. The Bermuda Easter lily and the freesia should be planted in August if they are wanted for the holidays. All other bulbs should be ordered early in September and planted at intervals.

After potting the bulbs in good garden soil they must be placed in the dark to make roots. This is of the utmost importance. A dark, cool cellar is the best place, but a dark closet or a cupboard, or even a bureau drawer will do nicely. The even a bureau drawer will do nicely. The aforesaid common sense will tell you how often—and the pots must remain in the dark for at least four weeks. It will do no harm to have them there for three or four months, provided they are not allowed to dry out.

There are a number of bulbs that may be grown successfully by the enthusiastic amateur, which, if given proper care and treatment, may be relied upon to furnish flowers for Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, Easter and for innumerable birthdays.

A PETRIFIED QUEEN.

An Alaskan Trader Tried to Steal Her.

A curious tale is told by passengers just arrived at Victoria, B. C., from Alaska on the steamer City of Topeka of the discovery made by one of their number, a Seattle man named Brennan, on Prince of Wales Island, says a correspondent of the San Francisco Examiner.

Brennan went North some time ago with a small sloop laden with a miscellaneous cargo, on which he realized a good profit, trading among the natives of the Northern coast. It was on this exhibition he chanced to visit one of the least accessible villages of the isolated tribes on Prince of Wales Island, and while there to see the mysterious divinity that is supposed to keep watch and ward over the tribe, a former priestess or queen, who by some rare action of the peculiar soil in which her burial place was made, was not turned into dust, but into solid stone.

Years later the rude grave was uncovered by chance, and the petrified body was found. The natives hailed it as an omen of good, and, carefully examining it, enthroned it in a place of honor in the village, the idol so rescued being ever since more honored than the oldest totem.

Brennan claims to be the first white man to see the statue, but so far from feeling awe or being moved to adoration, he at once realized that if it could be safely transported to the United States it would be worth a mint of money for exhibiting purposes. The petrified woman, according to his account, stands as though frozen into granite while in the act of directing some important movement of her subjects. The features as well as the limbs are clearly defined, as though life was still in the body, and the whole aspect of the strangely preserved body is almost regal, although the goddess was mistress only of a savage tribe.

So much did the commercial value of the image impress the shrewd trader that a few words incautiously dropped partially revealed his mind to the tribe, with the result that he was obliged to take to his sloop and sail out into a thickening storm in order to save his life. He has now sold his sloop, and with the proceeds of the sale, added to the profits of his cruise, he proposes to purchase a fast steam launch with which to return and bodily abduct the uncanny diety. According to present arrangements he will buy his launch on Puget Sound and return as quickly as possible to Prince of Wales Island, waiting opportunity to land, seize the idol, and escape before the natives can discover his presence and frustrate his plan. The "stone queen" has, according to the tales of the tribe, watched silently over their declining fortunes for upward of four centuries.

WEST VIRGINIA CYCLONE.

Huntington, W. V., Sept. 27.—A cyclone passed over Green Bottom yesterday, doing great damage to property. Sixteen men were in one barn, which was blown away, and John Nance and Will Gimbo were horribly injured by falling timbers. Timothy Blake and Isadore Clark were seriously injured. The storm lasted only a few moments.

BUNKO MEN FOILED.

Maine Lawyer Who Put Them to Rout.

"Laugh? Laugh? Why, I haven't laughed so much in a week of Sundays," said the genial Benjamin F. Hamilton, the noted criminal lawyer, as he sat in a cozy rocking chair at Swett's hotel last night. "The next thing that will happen to me will be an effort to induce me to purchase a gold brick."

Mr. Hamilton came into Portland last evening from his farm in Dayton and was on his way to a downtown stable to purchase horses to be used on his farm, says the Portland (Me.) Advertiser.

He crossed Monument square and was walking down Federal street and when nearly opposite the 5-cent lunchroom a young man touched him on the shoulder and said: "I beg your pardon, my friend, but you have just lost your glove, haven't you? I just picked this one up off the sidewalk and I supposed you dropped it."

Mr. Hamilton felt in his pocket and finding that none of his gent's furnishing goods was missing turned upon the two young men who were endeavoring to trap him and said: "I thank you for your thoughtfulness, but that glove that you have just picked up is not my property."

"But listen just a moment," said one of the young men, "here is a ring in one of the fingers of the glove. It's a diamond and must be worth a cool hundred at any rate."

The well-known lawyer then became interested, and just for amusement thought that he would see the farce through.

"This stone is a beauty, and if you didn't drop it some wealthy person did. It's worth at least $60 anyway."

"That's so," said the capper, who came to the front side. "Say, mister, you can't get a good bargain on that stone. Some lady or gent probably dropped it, an' me friend was lucky enough t' find it. You'd better buy it?"

"Well, how much do you want for it?" asked Mr. Hamilton.

"Well, it's wort' sixty cases 'cause we're playin' close t' th' board."

"I'll give you five," said the prospective victim as he started to walk away.

"Hold on, you can have it," replied the crooks, but the famous lawyer, instead of calling an officer, merely said: "You youngsters are poor judges of human nature; you'd better exercise your pedal extremities."

And they exercised.

The affair suggested to the reporter's mind several famous criminal cases in which this celebrated lawyer achieved distinction and gained for himself the respect of both the York and Cumberland county bars; but years ago this well known criminal lawyer had a case wherein a man was arrested and arraigned for robbing a jewelry store and stealing a lot of watches. The court assigned him to defend the prisoner.

"I didn't do it," the latter told the lawyer. "I wouldn't do such a thing as that on my life. Really, Mr. Hamilton, I didn't do it. You can take my word just as you hear me tell you, but I suppose they'll railroad me."

The trial took place before the late Judge Virgin. The prisoner was acquitted and when he met the lawyer in the anteroom of the court room the accused man said to the lawyer:

"What is the amount of your bill?"

"Well, about $100," replied the lawyer.

"Would you take twenty-five?" asked the free man.

"Well, that's better than nothing," thought the lawyer and he said: "Twenty-five it is."

They stepped outside and the discharged man said to the lawyer: "Say, if you'll wait until I get to Boston so I can sell these watches I'll send you the twenty-five."

A week later Mr. Hamilton received his twenty-five.

Some of these conventions will be held as late as Oct. 12.

HIGHTON

He Has Returned to Duluth and Is Now Seeking Satisfaction.

Walter Whitten the Individual Upon Whom He Wishes to Begin.

Is Endeavoring to Secure a Warrant Charging Him With Perjury.

A. G. Highton is back. Mr. Highton may be remembered here as the gentleman who made a somewhat sensational exit from the city a year ago on a special car on the Omaha, for which Ticket Agent Walter S. Whitten was said to have paid. Mr. Highton was afterwards brought back to Duluth and sentenced to six months in the state prison, which sentence he has completed.

Mr. Highton is now after satisfaction for his grievous wrongs. A number of papers made the mistake of saying that he was accused of forgery, which was untrue, and most of them have been retracting upon receipt of a request to do so. Now, however, Mr. Highton has come prepared to move heaven and earth for the sake of getting the aforesaid satisfaction, and as an initiatory step he wants Ticket Agent Walter Whitten arrested for perjury in connection with his testimony against Mr. Highton on his trial in district court.

"He is no longer in the high-rolling business, he says. He appeared in district court this morning resplendent in good clothes and a pair of yellow shoes. He waited in Judge Ensign's room until court was done, beguiling the time with a peaceful dose. Then he approached the court and stated his case. Judge Ensign referred him to the municipal court, stating that while the district court had jurisdiction, it could scarcely stop in the middle of a term to oblige Mr. Highton.

After a little remonstrance Mr. Highton contented himself with this. The perjury he charges consists of Whitten's statement on the stand that he never received Heighton's tickets to Portland, and that he was not reimbursed for the special train. Highton claims that Whitten sold the tickets for $45, and that $70 more was given him by Highton's friends, and that he did not lose a cent.

HAS ACTIVE FRIENDS.

Dr. C. F. McComb Being Urged for School Director.

The canvass for the vacancy on the school board is becoming quite active, and the friends of Dr. C. F. McComb, from the manner in which they are urging his candidacy, seem to think that they know just the man for the place. They may be heard on the street in all quarters, and a delegation of them were in The Herald office this afternoon to announce that Dr. McComb was a candidate for the position and that they were working to give him the place. This is very evident from the way they are urging his name and the many kind words they have to say of him. They say, and their statements are not questioned, that he is not only a progressive and energetic man, but that his scholarly attainments eminently fit him for the place. There are many things in connection with the duties of the board which require a physician's judgment, and they say that Dr. McComb is the man for the place.

Trying Court Cases.

Every division of the district court except that of Judge Moer's was engaged in the trial of court cases this morning, and as a consequence the proceedings were somewhat dry. Judge Moer was still hearing the case of L. H. H. Clifford against the gas and water company. Before Judge Morris the jury in the case of Cant & Brigham against D. J. McDonnell returned a verdict for $712.45.

The case of C. C. King against Hiram Parsons et al was on trial at noon. Judgment was rendered for Henry S. Smith against Milton George et al. In the case of W. H. H. Stowell against Cannon & Holmes, judgment for $968.61 was rendered against Holmes. The case of R. H. Fagan against John McCarthy was on trial at noon before Judge Ensign.

A QUIET OPENING.

Two towns were opened for settlement at the United States land office today, but there was no great rush. About twenty were in line and they began arriving as early as 7 a. m. Thirteen applications were received, and of these six were conflicting and seven were allowed. Of these seven four were entered with Indian allotments and three were homestead entries. None of the roughs were on hand this time to create trouble in the crowd.

USEFUL INVENTION FOR KITCHEN.

R. F. Belleperche, of this city, has just secured entire control of an adjustable kettle cover which is a very handy article in the kitchen and which promises to be a money maker for its owner. This cover was patented a few years ago, but never introduced nor sold to any extent. Mr. Belleperche proposes to place it on the market through wholesale houses or general state agents.

The Bank Statement.

A schedule of assets and liabilities of the Iron Exchange bank was filed yesterday, showing liabilities of $43,892.90, and assets of $83,440.54, the estimated value of which is $50,000. The debts are itemized as follows: Open accounts, $42,089.29; demand certificates of deposit, $658.01; time certificates of deposit, $1015.33; salaries, $85.32; rent, $45.

The county is the heaviest creditor, with a deposit of $38,621.50. The assets are as follows: Bills receivable, paper in bank and in hands of its attorneys, $55,559.34; bills receivable, in hands of H. E. Smith, $27,885.71; cash on hand, $8649.78; furniture and fixtures, $5167.48. There is also $37,434.67 charged to profit and loss.

Goes to Europe.

John L. Stevenson, who has been superintendent and chief engineer of the Ironton Structural Steel company for the past four years, leaves tomorrow with his family for Europe where he will represent the company. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, during their residence here, have made many warm friends who greatly regret their leaving. This morning both Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson were presented with handsome gold-mounted umbrellas, bearing inscriptions, by the management and employes of the plant.

Mr. York is now in the East and a new superintendent will soon arrive and succeed to the position vacated by Mr. Stevenson's promotion.

RECEIVERS

Judge Jenkins Appointed Two New Ones for the N. P.

F. G. Bigelow, of Milwaukee, and Edward McHenry, of St. Paul.

Eminent Judge Would Take no Chances by Appointing Tom Lowry.

Milwaukee, Sept. 28.—Frank G. Bigelow, of Milwaukee, and Edward McHenry, of St. Paul, were this morning appointed by Judge Jenkins to succeed Henry C. Payne, Thomas F. Oakes and Henry C. Rouse as receivers of the Northern Pacific. Mr. Bigelow is to be known as the financial receiver and will have charge of all matters pertaining to the finances of the property. Mr. McHenry, who for years past has been chief engineer of the Northern Pacific and who knows every inch of the road, is to have charge of its operation. The new receivers are ordered to file bonds in the sum of $500,000 each within ten days and to report to the court in the same manner as their predecessors. If at any time the appointment of a third receiver is necessary, the appointment will be made.

In making the appointments, Judge Jenkins disregarded the wishes of the trustee and the different bondholders. He said that the history of receiverships demonstrated the inadvisability of appointing receivers who were connected with contending factions. Receivers were officers of the courts and not the agents of the parties interested in the property, and for this reason they should have but one single object—to subserve the interests of the property entrusted to them and should hold no other allegiance than to the court.

When Judge Jenkins concluded his remarks, Herbert E. Turner, attorney for the Farmers Loan and Trust company, expressed his satisfaction at the wisdom displayed in the appointment, which he stated would be most satisfactory to the interest he represented. W. D. Van Dyke, who appeared for the second and third mortgage bondholders, opened with the suggestion that unless the court had already fixed upon the appointments, Thomas F. Lowry, of Minneapolis, be appointed. Mr. Lowry, he stated, was satisfactory to the parties he represented.

"It was suggested," began the court, "that only two receivers would be necessary to take charge of the property, instead of three. The court is not sufficiently informed to be able to declare that the labors of the management of the vast property can be properly performed or should be imposed upon two persons, but being desirous of keeping expenses down to a minimum, and the suggestion being uncontroverted by counsel, the court will venture the experiment and test the practicability of the scheme and will appoint but two receivers. If at any time the welfare of the interests involved for any reason demands the appointment of a third receiver, the matter will be considered.

"I have given much thought to the suggestions of Mr. Lowry and of other names that have been suggested to me and that have occurred to myself. The court thinks it pertinent to say by what I consider that it should be guided in making the appointments of receivers. To a certain degree the practice of railroad receiverships has obtained for parties to agree on one or more names and suggest them to the court. The appointment usually follows as a matter of course, for if the parties concerned are contented the court may well be satisfied.

"Such receiverships have severally represented conflicting interests uniting for one purpose. As the fight waxes warmer between the factions, the heat of the conflict extends to the receivership, which in time becomes a war of factions among the officers of the court.

"Now comes the question in hand. The receivers to be appointed by this court must come within the definition of the law as I construe it. They must be men entirely indifferent to the contending factions; they must have no connection with this fight; they must be men who are strict and impartial, and who will perform the duties in single devotion to the trust and with no ulterior motives to serve. They must be men of high character, capable of commanding the respect and confidence of the great public they are to serve.

"With respect to the name of Mr. Lowry: He is at present president of the Soo railroad, a line supposed to be operated by and in the interests of the Canadian Pacific, which is a competing line with the Northern Pacific, and although it has been suggested to me that Mr. Lowry, if appointed, would resign that position, the court is still very desirous that the men to be named should, if possible, be like Caesar's wife—'above suspicion' and free from any relations with anything antagonistic to the Northern Pacific."

When he concluded, Judge Jenkins instructed the attorneys to draw the order and he would sign it.

TOM LOWRY SURPRISED.

Minneapolis, Sept. 28.—Thomas Lowry was a very much surprised man when he received the news this morning that Judge Jenkins declined to appoint him one of the receivers of the Northern Pacific railway. He said: "I consented to the use of my name at the request of a meeting in Chicago Thursday, where all the security holders were represented.

"They had sent for me and their request was a totally unexpected one. Personally it is a matter of indifference to me, but it seems that the wishes of the security holders should at least influence if not control the court in the appointment of a receiver. I can imagine that some of the security holders are feeling rather uncomfortable over the way their wishes have been disregarded."

Judge Kerr Upsets the Railroad and Warehouse Commission's Order,

And Does Not Believe Determination of Rates Rests With Courts.

Victory for the Railroads in the Steenerson Wheat Cases.

St. Paul, Sept. 28.—Judge Kerr, of the district court, has decided the "Steenerson wheat rate case," reversing the order of the state railroad and warehouse commission establishing certain freight rates on grain. Steenerson is a farmer in the northern part of the state and applied to the commission for a reduction of rates from Crookston, Fisher and East Grand Forks to St. Paul and Minneapolis, and upon a hearing the commisssion made a new general schedule for the Great Northern road.

The railroad appealed to the district court. The case was heard this summer, and the arguments were long, close and exhaustive. The questions to be decided were so complex and complicated that Judge Kerr has given them all of his time for two months and has finally filed an able opinion and memorandum, both of great length and fully covering the points discussed. From the memorandum the following extracts are taken:

"It is with extreme reluctance that I interfere with the decision of so able and honest a body of men as comprise the railroad and warehouse commission of this state, and it would not be done were not the conviction forced upon me by a careful review of the testimony that the effect of the rates fixed by them would be to deprive the railway company of any net returns from the operation of the road in question.

"I have refrained from any attempt to indicate what would be a just and reasonable rate between the points named; this because I believe it to be without the province of act of law to determine such a question. I adopt the views, in that behalf, of the supreme court of the United States as expressed in Regan vs. Farmers Loan and Trust company, 154 U. S. 562.

"Evidence was introduced by the state tending to show that the property leased by the Manitoba company to the Great Northern had been acquired by the former company for much less than its value or cost of production. Aside from its effect, as a circumstance bearing upon the question of valuation, the only theory upon which evidence would be admissible is that the amount the owners of the railroad property are entitled to receive from the property as measured by what it actually cost them without regard to present value. Such a doctrine is opposed to both reason and authority, and cannot for a moment be sustained.

"A rule to be good should work both ways. What would be said of a rate being fixed for the Northern Pacific Railway company, to a claim by the company that it is entitled to earn a fair dividend on a valuation of $62,000 per mile, because that much was actually paid for the construction and equipment of the road, or because that sum per mile is outstanding in bonds in the hands of innocent purchasers? Or, what would be said by a farmer who, through shrewdness, chance, or favorable circumstances, had secured his land for $2.50 per acre, to a claim that he, in justice, should sell his crops for less or pay higher freight rates than his neighbor who, for any cause, had paid $20 an acre for his farm, the two places being equal in present value?

"The only rule recognized in business life and the only one that will stand the test of fairness to all concerned, is that all men, whether their property consists of railroads, farms or factories, shall be left free by the law to earn a fair return upon the present value of what they own, and to reap the benefit of their shrewdness and their foresight, and their good bargains. What difference can it make in this case then whether the Manitoba company earned for the property in question more or less than it was worth?

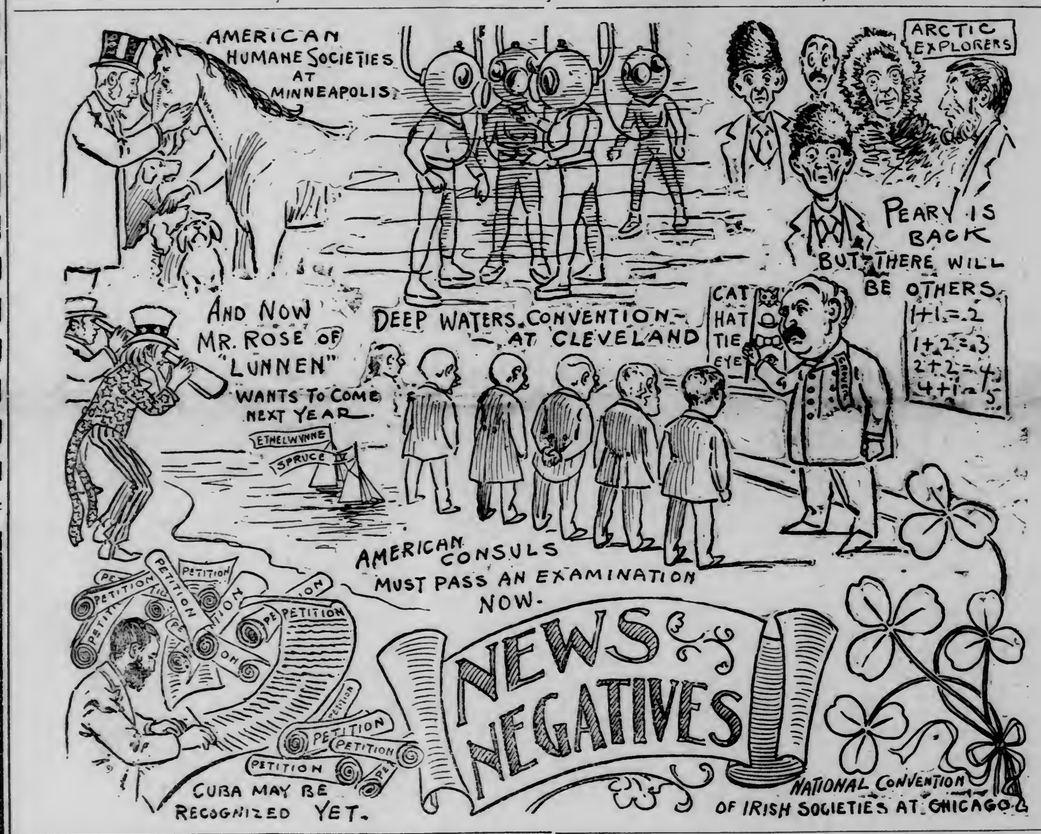
"The rule which should govern is clearly expressed by the interstate commerce commission in volume four of interstate reports, section 6666: 'A railroad should be permitted to earn a fair rate of interest on a fair valuation of their property at the present time and to gradually be enabled to improve their property as the increased tonnage and requirements of the public demand.' The most difficult and perplexing task is to properly differentiate the earnings arising from state and interstate traffic.

"If the jurisdiction of the state of Minnesota extends to Puget Sound, the question of rates would be considered in connection with the entire line, and be determined under the relation of income to expenses. The problem then would be a comparatively simple one, but such is not the case. The line extends across Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, and a part of Idaho and Washington. Each state has jurisdiction over the matter of local rates, and the United States commission has jurisdiction exclusive of state jurisdiction over the matter of interstate earnings as an entirety.

"As to the methods adopted by the company in its reports to the commission, the company contends that the computation then was simply for the purposes of taxation, as a basis for the 3 per cent tax required by law, and it was a matter of indifference to the company what proportion of its taxes on the earnings was paid to the state. I realize the importance of the question, not only as affecting the rates in question here, but future action on local rates.

"It was urged by some intelligent farmers from the Red River valley, who appeared before the court as witnesses, that inasmuch as the price of wheat for several years has been, as claimed by them, below the cost of production, the rates for transportation should be correspondingly, or at least materially reduced, and that as a general rule, when times are stringent and business depressed all branches of business, railroads included, should be content to receive smaller profits. This principle is recognized in most private transportation enterprises, concessions are made in rates to prevent business from being abandoned in the hope, generally realized, that future advance in prices will justify increased rates for transportation.

"But it must be remembered that the question before this court is not a private but a public one. It is not what the railroad company might, as a business proposition, feel justified in voluntarily conceding to the shippers, but what it shall be compelled to do."



EPISCOPAL UNIVERSITY.

National One May be Built in Washington.

Minneapolis, Sept. 28.—The Journal this afternoon says on the authority of a prominent churchman, that one of the principal matters to come before the Episcopalian convention, to open here Oct. 2, will be the establishment of a great national university at Washington, somewhat similar in its general plan to the Roman Catholic university. This has long been a cherished plan in the inner circles of the church and the time now seems ripe for carrying it out.

It appears that an endowment of $800,000 has already been collected from a number of sources, although no effort whatever has been made among the monied men of the denomination to secure a fund. Moreover a fine site in Washington was secured for the church some years ago. This is claimed to be, if anything, a better site for university purposes than that of the Roman Catholic university. The convention has always maintained a body known as the church university board of regents, whose duties have been hitherto confined to the supervision of the small educational institutions of the church.

It is now proposed to give into this board's hands, the work of establishing the university. It is understood that the most active layman behind the plan is George Vanderbilt, who, besides being very wealthy, is an earnest churchman. It is not, of course, known whether the convention will approve the plans that have been formulated, but it is certain that a very influential sentiment in their favor has been created.

BURNED AT TOWER.

The Excursion Steamer Comfort Totally Destroyed.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The excursion steamer Comfort, plying on Lake Vermilion, was burned to the water's edge yesterday morning. The boat, which was owned by I. A. Felter, was loaded with hay. Loss, $3000; no insurance.

Two inches of snow fell here last night, and still continues. It will cause considerable damage to crops in this vicinity.

A pleasant dance was given in the city opera house Tuesday evening. Music was furnished by an orchestra led by Professor J. H. Flaaten, of Duluth. The party was given in honor of three of Tower's young men who were about to leave.

Charles E. McNamara left Wednesday to resume his duties as stenographer in the United States marshal's office in Fargo, N. D.

City Recorder Marion was called to Owatonna, this state, the fore part of the week, by the sudden death of his father.

DISASTER

The Steamer Robert L. Fryer Sunk This Morning in Hay Lake.

Was in Collision With the Corsica, Which is Badly Damaged.

Schooner C. A. King Sprung A Leak on Lake Huron and Went Down.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Robert L. Fryer was sunk near the dyke in Hay lake this morning by collision with the steamer Corsica. The Fryer was cut clean to the foremast, and her bow is nearly all gone. The Fryer was bound to Duluth with coal, and the Corsica was bound down with iron ore. The Fryer is owned by Mitchell & Co., of Cleveland, was worth $95,000 and insured for $90,000.

The point where the boats came together was two miles below the dyke. As to the cause of the collision no two agree as to how it occurred. The Corsica left here at 5 o'clock this morning, and was following the Sauber down. After the Sauber met the Fryer and passed her, the Fryer took a sheer to port, over onto the Corsica's course. The Corsica is badly damaged. Her port bow is all stove in, and the forepeak is full of water and opened up two feet below the water line. After the collision she returned to the Sault.

The Fryer was struck on the bluff of the starboard bow, and sank in two minutes in twenty-three feet of water, even with her upper decks. She rests in the same place where the Alva was. The wrecking tug Swain has gone to her, but the Favorite will do the wrecking work.

SCHOONER KING SUNK.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 28.—The steamer E. C. Pope arrived late yesterday afternoon with the crew of the schooner C. A. King, of Detroit, consisting of Capt. James Glenn, four men and one woman, whom they picked up off Point Au Barques at 10 o'clock Thursday night. The King was bound from Toledo to Bay City, coal laden, and encountered a severe gale which started her leaking. The pumps became choked with coal, and she sank. The crew were rescued by the Pope after two hours' hard work. Capt. Glenn owned the King, which was not insured.

VERY HOT

London, and in Fact England, Is Sweltering in Summer Heat.

Homeward Rush of American Tourists is Ended for This Year.

A Desperate Duchess Who Wants to Have Her Daughter Marry.

London, Sept. 28.—(Copyright 1895, by the Associated Press.)—The extraordinary hot weather has eclipsed all other topics in England this week. On Tuesday the thermometer indicated 86 degrees in the shade in London, and 135 in the sun. The record is 20 degrees above the September average and 4 degrees higher than on any previous day of this summer. The weather since Tuesday has shown little improvement, the mercury on each day rising to 84 degrees or higher. There have been numerous cases of sunstroke during the week and several fatalities have resulted in various parts of the country.

At Newmarket where the first October race meeting opened on Tuesday, the heat has been terrible, 90 degrees in the shade having been recorded. This has had a disastrous effect upon the horses, and has greatly affected the attendance. Only a handful of people witnessed the big event of the meeting on Thursday, the Jockey Club stakes, in which last year's and this year's derby winners ran. The majority of men on the ground followed the example which was set by Lord Rosebery and wore white flannels and carried white umbrellas. Throughout the country the suffering from heat has been extreme. Many large factories have found it necessary to suspend work.

The great rush homeward of tourists from the United States seems to be over. None of the steamers which sailed this week was quite full. The Lahn took Mrs. William Walter Phelps, of New Jersey; Mrs. Brander Matthews, of New York; Norman Williams and family and Clifford Johnson, of Chicago. The latter is returning after an absence of eighteen months, which he has spent in making a tour around the world. M. H. De Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, and Mrs. De Young, sailed by the Aurania. Mr. De Young has secured many additional treasures for the California museum, among them being the throne chair of Napoleon the Great.

It is rumored that Mrs. Langtry contemplates marriage with Sir Robert Peel in the event of her securing a divorce in the courts of California. It is openly hinted in society papers that Sir Robert, whose visit to New York last year was the occasion of a great deal of gossip on both sides of the water, was worth little beyond his title, but Mrs. Langtry is still rich. Sir Robert is 28 years of age, while Mrs. Langtry is in her 44th year.

Many protests, more or less serious, are appearing in the newspapers of London on the depletion of the ranks of eligible noblemen by marriage with American women. In connection with the Marlborough-Vanderbilt engagement, Truth prints an amusing letter signed "Dowager Duchess" in which the writer says that she has converted her home into a judicious combination music hall, burlesque stage, gambling rooms and club, and has had her daughters instructed in the most seductive steps and highest kick. They have been, she says, encouraged to sing the broadest songs, and no restraint whatever has been attempted on their conversation. They have dined at all the fashionable restaurants and sat almost beside the most notorious women of the town, yet eligible noblemen persist in marrying either actresses or Americans.

The Daily News says that the engagement of the duke of Marlborough and the millionairess, Miss Vanderbilt, gives additional support to the theory that the principle of equality is doomed in America.

It has been decided by Beerbohm Tree to reopen the Haymarket theater with "Trilby" on Wednesday, Oct. 30. Meantime the dramatic critics are striving to induce something on a "Trilby" boom in anticipation of the event. Mr. Tree has appeared in the play many times during his provincial tour, having this week been seen at the Court theater, Liverpool. The concensus of opinion in regard to the production is, that while the play is interesting, it is also weak and is only saved from mediocrity by the acting of Mr. Tree.

Sidney Grundy's comedy "The New Woman" has been played during the past week with fair success by Comyns Carr's company at the Theater Metropole, Camberwell.

A TOUT'S LIFE.

His Brother Reveals His History and Name.

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—About two years ago the swellest of all the touts at the Bay District track was George Lewis. His patent leather shoes were brighter than any, and he rarely wore the same pair of trousers two days in succession. He was rather a handsome fellow and popular with the followers of the races. One day he disappeared and nobody seemed to know where he had gone. One or two of his closest friends said that he had gone to St. Louis, and the matter was allowed to drop.

There was reason for his leaving. He did not care to face a man who had given him some money to bet. A man for whom he had been in the habit of placing considerable money had given him $65 to put on Sir Reginald at odds of 30 to 1. Lewis thought Sir Reginald had no chance whatever, so he put the money in his pocket, giving his friend a "pony" ticket calling for $2215. Sir Reginald won, but of course the man could not cash his ticket, and went about looking for Lewis. That $65 was just enough for Lewis to buy a ticket to St. Louis. Since then very little has been heard from him.

Once in a while some horseman from the East would mention that he had seen Lewis about St. Louis. For a while he was connected with Porter Ashe's stable, but when that gentleman came West Lewis did not follow. Recently there appeared a young man at the track who looked so much like Lewis that several of the latter's old friends went up and spoke to him. "My name is not Lewis," he said, "but I have a brother who went by that name. I have come all the way from New York to find him." Then the brother of the missing man told all about Lewis' history before he became a "tout" and race track follower. His true name is not Lewis, but Hauser. His father is a wealthy retired glass manufacturer of New York, and the brother who is now here holds a responsible position in a New York bank.

George, when a lad, evinced a remarkable talent for music and was a clever violinist. When he was here he quietly displayed it for the amusement of his friends. So eager was his father to have him develop his talent that a trip to Europe for the purpose of studying under the masters was proposed. George was apparently much pleased and eager to start. But for some time previous to this he had, unknown to his father, been playing the races at the various New York tracks and had become fascinated with gambling on horses. So when his father gave him the money with which to purchase his ticket and to pay his expenses in Europe, he took it directly to the track, bet it all and lost. Then he was afraid to see his father again and adopted the life of a tout.

WINTER RACE TRACK.

San Francisco's New One About Completed.

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—An enormous amount of work has been accomplished at the Ingleside race course during the past week, and the officers of the Pacific Jockey club are now confident that everything will be in readiness for the opening day of Saturday, Nov. 2. There is no doubt that San Francisco will shortly have one of the best equipped race tracks in America and certainly the best winter track. Three hundred men are now at work at the new track. The grand stand is fast approaching completion while the stables have come like mushrooms in the past few days. Both tracks will be ready inside of a week.

This has been an herculean task as 365,000 cubic yards of dirt were used in the construction of the tracks. There is a perpendicular fill of sixty-four feet on the first quarter, which is over twenty feet at the base. Five times as much dirt has been utilized in making the Ingleside track than on any other course in America. A steep chase course in the shape of a figure "eight" has yet to be constructed inside of the two regular tracks.

Four hundred thousand dollars will have been expended by the jockey club before the gates are thrown open to the public in November. This club will race twice in a month, when the Californians and the Pacifics will alternate every two weeks during the season.

SEEKING HER MILLIONS.

San Francisco Woman's Share of an Estate.

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—W. H. Hart will soon go East to prosecute the claim of a client whose case bids fair to become as celebrated as has the contest over Blythe's millions. Mr. Hart has been retained by Mrs. Elizabeth Dale, of Mountain View, to support her claim to one seventh of a vast estate in Philadelphia, which is said to be worth $56,000,000. Mrs. Dale has waited over four score years for her millions, and the announcement that the passage of time will soon make it possible for her to put in her claim to the estates of her ancestors, comes rather too late for her to fully enjoy her fortune.

She is a descendant of Edward Findlay, who lived in Philadelphia in the early days of the nation. He owned thirty-four acres of land on what was then the outskirts of a little village, and as was not unusual in those days of longevity, he granted a lease on it for ninety-nine years. The term of lease will expire on Nov. 1 next, and Mr. Hart is now engaged in collecting proofs of the kinship of his client to the original owner of the land.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

When from the Vista of the Book I shrink,
From lauded pens that earn ignoble wage,
Begetting nothing joyous, nothing sage,
Nor keep with Shakespeare's use one golden link;

When heavily my sanguine spirits sink
To read too plain on each imposter page
Only of kings the broken lineage—
Well for my peace if then on thee I think,

Louis, our Knight of Letters, very knight
With whore white baldric singing Hope is girt,
And from whose brows her own assume the bay:

Truer I am, and must be, since thou wert;
And in that ransom, in that young known light,
Go down to dust, contented with my day.

SCHOFIELD

Tomorrow the Veteran Lieutenant General Will be Retired.

End of a Public Life Conspicuous for Sterling Worth.

Forty-six Years Spent in Livery of the United States.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Tomorrow Lieut. Gen. Scofield retires from active service and goes on the retired list after an eventful career in the army. For more than seven years he has been in command of the army, but since Feb. 8 last he has had the exalted rank of lieutenant general, by special act of congress. Gen. Schofield was born in Chautauqua county, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1831, and was appointed to the naval academy from Illinois in 1849. Entering the artillery branch as a second lieutenant in 1853, the outbreak of the civil war had him a captain of the first artillery in 1861.

He was in active service in the West throughout the hostilities, and in 1864 was a brigadier general in command of the Army of the Cumberland. During reconstruction times he was in command of the Fifth military district (state of Virginia), for little over a year, and for ten months was secretary of war, from June 2, 1868, to March 14, 1869, in which latter year he became a major general, and after commanding several of the army departments he became commander of the army in 1888 upon the death of Gen. Sheridan.

Gen. Schofield is the last of the veterans of the war who commanded an army and who fought a battle himself as such, and the record of his active service in the field is full of brilliant achievements. But in addition to those he has accomplished, in an administrative way, matters of such substantial benefit to the army that his reputation might safely rest alone on them.

First of all, he has been an artillery officer and has kept constantly in view the importance of bringing this arm of the service up to perfection. He was the senior member of the fortifications board, and as such, since its creation, he has lost no opportunity to encourage development of modern ordnance and coast defense. He has inaugurated a system of higher education among the younger officers of the ordnance and artillery branches that has had remarkably successful results. Young officers who showed special aptitude in the schools have been sent to the arsenals by his orders; lyceum instruction has been afforded others and a complete instruction in special branches has been given to non-commissioned officers of the army by means of carefully prepared studies, under Gen Schofield.

In the wider field of army reorganization the general has played an important part. He has for years been an earnest advocate for the three batallion organizations, and to him is owing the adoption of the policy of concentration of troops in the great railroad centers and on exposed points on the coasts and the abandonment of small posts. It is also a notable fact that under his administration of the army has come an end of the Indian wars that have ravaged the Western country since its settlement, which may be, at least in part, attributed to the skillful handling of the troops that has made it manifest to even the Indians that their struggle would be hopeless.

In time of civil disturbances the general has shown himself a most wise and discreet commander. He is largely responsible for the admirable construction of the posse comitatus laws, which have never been disturbed by the courts, and during the great labor strikes of last year it was his wisdom in the administration of these laws that prevented any serious conflict between the national and state authorities while using the army to afford proper protection to national interests.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

May or May Not be Out of Politics.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 28.—C. P. Huntington arrived here last night. He said that the Southern Pacific was out of politics, but if any candidate announces that he intends to cinch the road, we will fight him and try to defeat him, but we will do it openly.

Concerning the action of the railroad commissioners reducing local rates, Mr. Huntington spoke calmly of his purpose to test the issue in the courts. He said nothing at all about Dr. Stanton and Mr. Larue personally. "The efforts of a few people, because I do not think there is a public demand, unwarrantably to reduce our local charges, cannot succeed. Similar efforts in Texas, Minnesota and other states ended in failures. They must necessarily so end in California.

"Such acts amount to a confiscation of property and railroads under that law are entitled to the same protection as other property. An arbitrary reduction in rates is an illegal assault on railroad property, which the courts cannot and will not permit. I will trust to the courts for protection and throughout my life I have relied upon the cold, impassioned justice of our courts to such an extent that I have always tried to impress upon people the great need of intelligent, honest men for the judiciary."

AN EDITOR'S PERIL.

Whatever may be the truth or the falsity of the stories that are told of the scarcity of funds in a country editor's pocket or the scarcity of food in his stomach, the stories are always told, and neither the progress of education nor the growth and development of the press seems to have any effect upon the crop, says Harper's Editor's Drawer. One of the latest comes from Kentucky, where the mountain editor, at least, rarely develops into a Croesus or an Apicius, and this one is concerning a mountain editor. A subscriber had remembered him very kindly, and a day or two later a visitor called at his office.

"Can I see the editor?" he inquired of the grimy little "devil" roosting on a high stool.

"No, sir," replied the youth on the stool, "He's sick."

"What's the matter with him?"

"Dun'no," said the boy. "One of our subscribers gave him a bag of flour and a bushel of pertaters t'other day, and I reckon he's foundered."

REALTY

Over $350,000,000 Recently Invested in Real Estate in Thirty Cities.

This Vast Sum Invested Within Six Months and Millions Left.

What is Duluth Doing to Draw the Attention of Investors?

To the Editor of The Herald:

In reading the editorials of The Herald on "Renewal of Activity" in the various lines of trade and the "rise of values" generally, I wondered what was being done in real estate, the basis of such a vast amount of the securities of the nation, so began looking into the subject. From the American Land and Title Register I learn that in the following thirty cities, during the past six months, March to August, both inclusive, there were real estate transfers as follows:

New York	$89,964,382
Chicago	72,155,000
Philadelphia	51,355,57[illegible]
St. Louis	20,049,731
San Francisco	9,744,72[illegible]
Buffalo	11,887,48[illegible]
Pittsburg	7,274,07[illegible]
Washington	12,458,80[illegible]
Detroit	12,392,52[illegible]
Minneapolis	7,228,66[illegible]
Louisville	3,950,67[illegible]
Omaha	4,078,83[illegible]
Rochester	1,441,90[illegible]
St. Paul	3,676,57[illegible]
Kansas City	6,037,59[illegible]
Denver	6,523,75[illegible]
Indianapolis	1,236,46[illegible]
Portland, Ore	2,471,92[illegible]
Toledo	2,442,17[illegible]
Nashville	2,047,37[illegible]
Lincoln, Neb	1,643,59[illegible]
Atlanta, Ga	2,834,27[illegible]
Los Angeles	3,856,03[illegible]
Seattle	2,876,75[illegible]
Dallas	3,391,55[illegible]
Tacoma	2,547,19[illegible]
Galveston	1,293,25[illegible]
Sioux Falls, S. D	960,62[illegible]
Niagara Falls	1,618,50[illegible]
Grand Rapids, Mich	2,361,51[illegible]
Total	$350,639,28[illegible]

Over $350,000,000 invested in real estate in six months in the above thirty cities the list not including Boston, Brooklyn, New Orleans, Baltimore, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and the numerous other cities as large as some of the above. If $350,000,000 were invested in the above thirty cities how much would the entire country aggregate?

And yet the pessimist, the man with the impoverished mind, says "Capital is not ready to go into real estate."

In the early part of 1894 real estate began to be very active in New York and has been so ever since, the amount of transfers being greater this year than last, and prices have increased considerably. Philadelphia has awakened, showing percentages of increase over same months of last year, June 20, July 49, August 51, there having been sold this year up to Sept. 1, $66,768,137 worth of realty, being an increase of $32,020,653 (25 per cent) over same months of 1890, which heretofore had been a banner year. We also learn from the American Land and Title Register of September 7 that "West Philadelphia is continually being hunted over by real estate speculators and wealthy syndicates in the desire of finding sites whereon there may be erected not a dozen or fifty houses but entire blocks running into the hundreds."

"The activity in real estate in the suburbs of Baltimore has been so pronounced this season that the city is attracting much attention among real estate operators throughout the country. Cleveland and Buffalo parties have organized the Lyndhurst Land company and purchased 250 acres six miles west of the city and about $250,000 will be invested in its improvement. Forty-six acres near Walbrook suburb were sold to a syndicate for $171,000. To put the matter in a nutshell, since March 1 of this year, 390 acres of unimproved property lying just inside or outside the city line have been purchased for an aggregate of about $1,500,000. When it is stated that the aggregate area sold this spring for the purpose of improvement is larger than the total aggregate for several years past some idea of what might be termed the boom in Baltimore real estate, can be gained."

There are percentages of increase over same months of last year, Pittsburg, July 52, August 71; Chicago, June 87, July 40 August (with $9,360,000), 10 per cent; Portland, Ore., May 75, June 29, July 81; Nashville, July 114, August 77; Dallas, March 43, April 63, May 82, June 27, July 4, August 145. Indianapolis "has a fair trade in real estate." Minneapolis, Mich., increase for August, 65 per cent; In Los Angeles prices have advanced considerably this year; "business in real estate for August has been the best since the summer of 1887." Buffalo realty has been active for several years, yet this year leads the last, while adjoining towns of Depew and Niagara Falls have also been very active, the latter showing an increase of 51 per cent in August over same month 1894. In Cleveland business property has advanced in price during the summer and the sales have been many; suburban property selling from 100 to 200 per cent higher than it was held in the early part of the year.

Detroit has been reached by the Western movement, the July increase being $5, and August 251 per cent over same months of 1894. The transfers of August, $3,813,285, were in amount the largest for any single month in the history of Detroit." From all this there can be but one conclusion, real estate is becoming active throughout the country. Instead of Wall street and its "Atchison," "Northern Pacific," "Reading," "Cordage" and like securities (?) investors are turning to real estate, and wise they are in so doing, for security and returns, there is no investment equal, "year in and year out," to good realty.

That we are not having more activity in real estate in Duluth is the fault of our own people. There are in our midst enemies of real estate, unintentional perhaps, yet enemies nevertheless. Of these some are real estate men themselves who are beating down prices, thinking the sooner we "reach bottom" the better, and so recovery will be the more speedy. This is a great mistake, for the lower prices get so much longer will it take to recover, and for years will investors hesitate to buy in a town where prices depreciate greatly in times of depression. Our financial institutions gain nothing by depressed prices; for would it not be better to have notes paid instead of carrying increasing amounts of "real estate" as assets?

A few men of the moneyed class think it an evidence of great financial acumen to decry or speak lightly of everything save their own particular lines. They mistake pessimism for conservatism. If at critical times real estate men had treated some men (I am glad to say there are not many such) "in kind," there might have been some goodly sized pelts hanging on the wall. Let men confine themselves to those things with which they are familiar. It is not wise to assume all and to pass judgement upon all things. There are some people who have been defrauded by dishonest real estate men, yet are there not constant defalcations by bank men throughout the country? These are exceptions, not the rule. To those who know nothing about real estate I would suggest, when asked as to the value of a piece of land, that they inquire of reputable men who deal in that vicinity as to values, then make answer "I am informed by reputable dealers, etc," thus avoiding doing an injustice and perhaps blocking the establishment of an enterprise. Now as to real estate men, I mean brokers, agents, dealers and all who hold realty for profit.

Governor Clough rightly says: "The people here ought to be ashamed of the results achieved in twenty-five years. You business men will have to get a hustle on you. You must wake up to the realities and possibilities that are before you and before your city." Apparently real estate men have lost faith in themselves and in their city, the greatest point for realty investments on the continent. They are holding up their hands and bemoaning "hard luck" when united, systematic effort would work wonders in bringing in the stors who are almost at our doors. Several have been here this summer but have been frightened away by our people: men do not invest in any enterprise where has not the cordial support of local business men. Concert of action there must be and soon. There are many, many millions of dollars seeking investment. There are millions upon millions of dollars going into real estate monthly throughout the country, and we will begin to get some of this capital just as soon as we make proper effort. Unless we have faith, how can we expect others to believe that now is the time to invest, that the city is now ready to move ahead? A city is just what its people make it, no more, no less. True, we can sit about like so many old women telling of our aches and pains, and in time others will come in and do what we ought to be doing; but would it not be better for us to move and be in the procession than to sit idle watching it pass? If with faith in our town we seek investors we can get them, for they are in search of investments. We can get factories, for there is money to be had to build them. Are our people ignorant of the fact that manufactories are moving into the channels of commerce? Is anything heard about getting any of the numerous iron plants incidental to such a mill as has been built by the Ironton Structural Steel company? No, we are lifeless as the wooden Indian in front of a tobacco stand.

Our property is cheap—ridiculously so. Think of the best business property at its prices. Think of fine residence lots on paved streets with water, sewer, gas and electric light, in a neighborhood of wealth, culture and refinement selling for the paltry sum of $50 a front foot. It would sell at twice that sum in a dead Eastern town of half our population. Our prices are high in comparison with those of "Poke Hollow" or "Slabtown," but where are they in comparison with progressive towns which have not one iota of our possibilities? Every acre within five miles of Duluth's center is worth $100 for farming. Remember also that our town can grow only in one-half of its surroundings.

I think I am safe in saying that by far the greater part of our institutions where labor is employed were brought to our city by real estate interests, or were erected by them. All of our land companies worked hard trying to get factories here. So it will be again as soon as they shake off their lethargy, and this being an upward market greater success will attend their efforts than during the years when affairs throughout the country were contracting. More investors with greater capital than ever before will come to us just as soon as we show them that we are ready to go ahead again. This means prosperity for every man in Duluth. It means sure collection of the many usurious notes and mortgages, for there is no pleading usury in times of prosperity. It means fair prices for realty; factories of various kinds, making necessary by the increase of population, business houses and residences, thus adding largely to our taxable property and lessening our now burdensome tax rate. This is the surest and quickest way of lessening taxation.

Don't you think it about time for the pessimist and "calamity howler" to cease injuring the town? Is it not about time for real estate men to be up and doing? When real estate men bestir themselves, are progressive and energetic, earnestly striving to upbuild the city just so soon will we prosper and not before. "The gods help those who help themselves." Yours truly,

Real Estate.

A PECULIAR APPLE.

A peculiar species of fruit now in the Norwich, Conn., market is the "Mike" apple, says the New York Herald. It has a fair flavor, an excellent flavor and is extensively propagated thereabouts. Each individual apple exhibits somewhere in its pulp a red speck, like a tinge of fresh blood, and thereby hangs a strange legend.

The apple obtains its name from Micah Rood, a farmer who lived upon the outskirts of Connecticut town in the eighteenth century. The son of Thomas Rood, one of Norwich's early settlers, Micah Rood his fertile acres with all the zest of youthful ambition.

But of a sudden his habits changed: he grew idle, restless and intemperate. He lost all interest in both work and worship, his cattle were neglected and his neighbors shunned. Some attributed this change to witchcraft; others hinted at insanity.

Winter wore away, spring returned and the orchard of Micah Rood burst into blossom. On one tree, is was then observed, the flowers had turned from white to red. Some superstitious neighbors wondered, especially as Rood seemed drawn to this tree by some resistless fascination. August came and the red blossoms developed into fruit. When the large yellow apple fell from the branches each was found to contain a well-developed globule, known thereafter as "the drop of blood."

The freak of the apple-tree deepened the mystery of Micah's behavior. Conjecture allowed surmise, and soon it was remembered that during the previous fall a foreign peddler had passed through Norwich and had spent the night at Micah Rood's. He had never been seen again. Some one suggested that the young farmer had murdered him for his money and buried the body under the apple tree.

Search was made for the body of the stranger, but in vain; nor was any trace of his stock found among the possessions of the unhappy Micah. If a load of crime rested upon the conscience of the suspected farmer it never forced a confession from his lips. His farm drifted gradually to decay, and, too broken down to retain it, he wandered about town, disordered in mind and body.

He died in 1728, but while the blood-spotted apple continues to grow his name and history will be perpetuated.

A TALK ABOUT BEER!

When Certain Effects Follow Beer Drinking, Then Look Out.

WHAT IT MAY INDICATE.

How Beer Affects Various People—A Strange Fact Familiar to Most Doctors, But Not to the Average Man Who Quaffs the Foaming Lager.

Drink beer! Don't drink beer!

This seems like very contradictory advice, but, nevetheless, it is the condensed opinions of two great classes of people. There are some who believe that a glass of beer is a healthful, invigorating beverage. There are others who regard beer as a sort of disguised poison. And the strangest thing about it is that both opinions may be right under certain conditions.

The fact of the matter is that a glass of beer may be either a benefit or a curse, according to the health of the person who drinks it. If a man or woman is in sound health it may do good. If, on the other hand, there is a weak spot in the liver or kidneys, injury will result from the drinking. One of the greatest proofs that liver complaint is more common than we suspect is the oft-repeated remark of beer drinkers: "I wish I hadn't taken that glass."

In this way, beer acts as a barometer which shows the state of the health. If you drink a glass of beer and soon after commence to feel that something is wrong in the small of your back, or have a dull, heavy feeling, a bad taste in the mouth, and, perhaps, the first stages of a headache, you may be sure that your liver and kidneys need prompt attention. Neglect the warning, and more serious results are bound to follow sooner or later.

These great vital organs are the first to indicate disease, and when they are out of order the miserable sensations above described are sure to be felt. When this is the case, it is cheaper and wiser to remedy matters before more serious consequences follow. Then it is time to tone up the body, purify the blood and restore healthy action to the liver and kidneys. For this purpose there has never been but one remedy, and that is Warner's Safe Cure, which for years has been recognized as the greatest and best health restorer in the world. Physicians everywhere acknowledge it. Thousands of men and women gladly testify to its splendid effects. It is, and always has been, unsurpassed.

EXPIRED

Sergeant Moen Died at West Duluth Today From Heart Failure.

He Had Been Suffering With Typhoid Fever for Several Weeks.

Tomorrow Dr. Forbes May Possibly Officiate for the Last Time.

Sergt. Moen, of the police force, died about 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Newel house. The immediate cause of death was heart failure. The deceased was taken with typhoid fever a few weeks ago, and after the fever abated pneumonia set in. Improvement was noted a few days ago, however, and there were bright hopes for his recovery. His death so soon was entirely unexpected and was a great shock to his friends. He was a native of Norway and about 35 years of age. He first became connected with the Duluth police department in May, 1889, and has served continuously on the force since that time. In 1894 he was promoted to his present position. He was an ideal officer in looks as well as in action. His manner was quiet, reserved and uniformly courteous. Since he came to West Duluth he has carried himself with becoming dignity and won a host of friends.

DR. FORBES' MOVEMENTS.

Dr. Forbes will preach tomorrow morning and evening at Asbury M. E. church and at Proctorknott at 4 p. m. This finishes the church year, and unless Dr. Forbes is returned this will be the last opportunity to hear him for some time in West Duluth. On being asked in regard to the matter, he said he would be satisfied to remain here, but he did not know what disposition would be made of him by the conference. Under his pastorate Asbury church has progressed wonderfully, considering the hard times. The church debt has been largely reduced, and the congregation appears to be well pleased with their pastor and desires that he be retained another year.

FILLING THE TRACKS.

The filling in of the St. Paul & Duluth tracks from the Superior bridge to Stowell is progressing finely and will be finished in another month. The foundation of the fill is made of slabs, and about forty car loads have been supplied each day for several weeks past from the various mills. After the foundation is raised above the water level a sort of trough is made, and into this is forced water and earth at the rate of 20,000 gallons per minute by a hydraulic excavator. The water runs off and leaves the earth, which forms a solid surface over the slab foundation.

Will Say Nothing About Col. New's Interview.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 28.—Governor McKinley declines to be interviewed as to the withdrawal of Gen. Harrison as a presidential candidate, nor will he express an opinion as to the possible or probable effect of such withdrawal.

After reading carefully Col. New's interview, and dwelling especially upon that part of it which said that Gen. Harrison would favor neither McKinley nor Reed as the candidate the governor said: "I do not think it is necessary, nor do I believe it would be proper for me to talk for publication about this. I simply have nothing to say."

COL. NEW'S INTERVIEW.

Indianapolis, Sept. 28.—Col. John C. New, who managed ex-President Harrison's campaign for the presidency and was consul general of the United States at London, during the Harrison administration, in an authorized interview today said: "Gen. Harrison does not desire to run for the presidency, and is in no sense a candidate, and the stories that he has withdrawn in the interests of any one are without foundation, in fact, was his advice solicited, he would select neither Mr. McKinley nor Mr. Reed as the Republican candidate for president." Col. New declined to state whom Gen. Harrison would prefer as a candidate.

NEWS FROM DENBY.

Viceroy Will Be Degraded and Officials Punished.

Washington, Sept. 28.—United States Minister Denby cabled the state department today from Peking as follows: "Yamen have telegraphed authorities of Shansi and Cudi and Shensi to appoint an officer to escort commission. Edict will issue in a few days punishing officials and degrading viceroy. Will telegraph it."

This message refers to the independent American commission which has been formed to investigate the Cheng Tu missionary riots. The edict to which reference is made, is supposed to be about to issue as the result of the French investigation of the Cheng Tu affair and the viceroy concerned is probably Lieu. It is expected that our commission headed by United States Consul Reade, will be on the road from Tien Tsin to Cheng Tu in a few days.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop.

Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs, wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. TWENTY INDICTMENTS.

Only One Conviction in Fergus Falls Court.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 28.—The United States grand jury has adjourned after finding twenty indictments, nearly all of which were for selling liquor to Indians or trespassing upon timber lands. A. J. Smith, of Sauk Center, was indicted on two counts for sending a dunning postal card to a debtor through the mails in which he underlined certain threatening words. He demurred to the indictment and the demurrer was taken under advisement by Judge Nelson, with the understanding that if he held the indictment good, Smith was to plead guilty.

Out of six Indian liquor cases which have been tried, but one has been found guilty and the prosecuting officers are not at all pleased with the present petit jury.

A BURGLAR KILLED.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Dr. Andrew Stewart was awakened early this morning at his residence by three burglars, who had entered his room. He grabbed a Winchester rifle near his bed and opened fire on them. Two of the trio immediately fled, but the third retreated to a bath room and began throwing its furniture at the doctor, who continued firing and after several shots brought the burglar down with a wound in his head that resulted fatally. He was a mulatto, apparently about 30 years old, name unknown.

THE ETHELWYNN WINS AGAIN.

Center Island Club House, New York, Sept. 28.—The Ethelwynn and the Spruce IV started on their fifth race today. The course was the triangular one, two miles to the leg and repeat, twelve miles in all. The start was made at 12:45, the little half rater going to windward in a spanking breeze. The Ethelwynn led at the first mark by 2 minutes and 50 seconds, and crossed the finish line a winner at 4:15:10 unofficial.

MRS. MONNIER'S MISTAKE

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—Mrs. G. Monnier, wife of a French liquor dealer, says that on the afternoon of April 3 she saw Theodore Durrant enter Emanuel church. He was alone. Mrs. Monnier says she was on her way to her dressmaker's that day. Investigation proves that Mrs. Monnier not only did not see Durrant enter the church, but that she never saw him until the trial commenced. It is believed her mind is deranged.

HIGHER

Wheat Was Strong and Active Today and Made an Advance.

Large Export Clearances Reported and the Cables Were Higher.

There Were Also Reports of Crop Damage in Argentine Republic.

Wheat was strong and active today, mainly owing to the large export clearances, higher cables and reports of crop damage in Argentine. Chicago receipts were 67 cars, 3 of them from city houses and only 11 of the remainder new red winter. Minneapolis reported 672 car loads and Duluth 464, or 1136 at the two places, against 957 a year ago. Primary market receipts amounted to 917,000 bus against 853,000 bus a year ago. The clearances of wheat and flour from the seaboard for twenty-four hours were equal to about 240,000 bus and for the week from both coasts, wheat and flour together, amounted to 3,152,000 bus, against 2,562,000 bus, as reported by Bradstreet's.

The main feature of the local market was the great strength in September wheat, cash and September stuff selling within ⅛c of December and at times within ⅜c. The shippers were paying 2c over No. 1 northern for No. 1 hard and they bought a large quantity of wheat. December opened ¼c off around 58¼c, sold up to 59⅞c, eased off ⅛c, recovered and advanced to 60c. May started at 62¼c, advanced to 62⅞c, declined ¾c and then firmed up, selling to 64c. The close was 2c higher than yesterday for cash and 1⅝c higher for late futures. The flax market continued active. October flax sold from 95¼c down to 94¼c and closed at 93¾c bid. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 61½c; September, 61½c; October, 61½c; December, 61½c. No. 1 northern, cash, 59½c; September, 59½c; October, 59½c; December, 60c; May, 64¼c. No. 2 northern, cash, 56½c. No. 3, 53½c. Rejected, 48½c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 61½c; No. 1 northern, 59½c. Rye, 38c. No. 2 oats, 20c; No. 3 oats, 19½c. Flax—October, 93¾c bid.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—After a quiet and featureless opening in wheat a number of prominent local operators were sellers of both short and long stuff and for a time it looked like a repetition of yesterday's erratic market, but the offerings quickly disappeared, and when the pressure was withdrawn the market became strong and active, advancing materially and holding the advance well. While the market lacks broadness, it appears to be gaining strength daily and the short interest is unquestionably large. The spring wheat movement has been the mainstay of the bears of late, but the mills do not seem to grind fast enough to fill their orders and stocks do not accumulate. The prominent local trader who was run in on the last bulge was a free buyer again at today's close.

Corn and oats were quiet but firm in sympathy with wheat.

Provisions easier on realizing sales and some selling by foreign houses.

The stock market was dull and unchanged from yesterday's close.

Puts, December wheat, 61¼c.
Calls, December wheat, 64⅜@⅝c.
Curb, December wheat, 62¾@⅞c.
Puts, May corn, 29⅝c.
Calls, May corn, 30c.

gross tons of iron ore from Ashland, the equivalent of 4399 net tons.

Capt. Wesley Brown, of the steamer North West, denies that he is to succeed Capt. Killoran as superintendent of the Northern Steamship company.

Eye witnesses of the sinking of the Mark Hopkins state that the Spokane and Hopkins were going down the narrow channel almost abreast, which made it appear to eye witnesses that they might have been racing.

Duluth clearances: Gratwick, 29,000 barrels flour, Buffalo; Stafford, 1000 tons ore, Buffalo; McWilliams, 1400 tons ore, Ashtabula.

The steamer Montana, sunk at Portage Lake canal, was not insured.

No insurance is carried by the Western Transit company on its steamers. The cargo is insured by the British and Foreign syndicate companies on a low-rate contract made last spring.

Capt. Robert McLeod, of the Colorado, has been appointed master of the car-ferry Shenango No. 1, at Port Huron. He is succeeded by Capt. John McLeod, of the Osceola. Capt. John McLane, mate of the steamer Cadillac, takes command of the Osceola.

The charter for the largest cargo of grain ever carried on the lakes was made at Chicago yesterday. It was for the steamer Yale, which was placed for 120,000 bushels of corn and 65,000 bushels of oats for Buffalo from South Chicago.

Walter Harris, a fireman on the steamer North West, was badly scalded by the explosion of a steam pipe in one of the steamer's battery of boilers. The injured fireman says that this is the third accident of the kind in the past two weeks, and that a fireman was scalded in each instance. The steamer was on her last trip and was abreast of Cleveland when the accident occurred.

The North West came in this morning and laid up for the winter beside her sister ship, the North Land. She went directly to the St. Paul & Duluth slip.

The steamer Olympia, five hours out from Two Harbors, lost a bucket from her wheel last night. The sea was comparatively calm, so it was supposed that the bucket had been loosened during the gales encountered on the way up. The Olympia came to Duluth this morning and is having a new bucket put in.

REED'S FAMILY.

Buffalo Courier: Asked not long ago regarding his family, Thomas B. Reed replied: "My family is very easy to describe. There's my wife, my daughter and a sister married, who lives in Portland.

"My father, my grandfather, as well as all my great grandfathers back 200 years, have one and all been fishermen and sailers and sea-goers and comers of various sorts. I never heard of any of them being rich, either.

"My father was a fisherman. At one time he was captain of a little coaster. When the steamboats drove out the coasters he was mate on an ocean-going boat, and he made deep water voyages to all parts of the map.

"One of my ancestors, I'm proud to say, held an office. He was a Reed, an Englishman, and the first of the family to come here. He settled in the Casco Bay country, where my people have always lived, and became a delegate to the little congress which the colonies coming under the head of 'Massachusetts Bay company' held once in a while at Boston.

"As I say, my ancestor was a delegate; but if I have the story aright, they wouldn't let him sit with them, so it was all a very empty honor."

Harper's Bazar: "It was a dreadful moment," said the dentist. "I was bathing quietly when the great cavernous jaws of the shark opened before me."

"What did you do?" asked one of the ladies.

"I took my forceps out of the pocket of my bathing suit and pulled his teeth before he had a chance to seize me. It was the quickest and neatest work I ever did."

AWAKE AND ACT.

On the second page of this issue will be found a communication showing the great activity in real estate that prevails in numerous cities throughout the country and urging Duluth people to take action that will direct the tide of investment towards the city, the greatest point for realty investments on the continent at the present time. The Herald's correspondent presents some startling figures showing the great movement in real estate in other cities. He cites thirty cities where over $350,000,000 has been invested in real estate during the six months from March to August, both inclusive, and this list of cities does not include Boston, Brooklyn, New Orleans, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and other prominent cities. All of which goes to show that real estate is becoming active throughout the entire country. What is Duluth doing to get a share of the vast sums that are seeking safe investments in realty?

A lecture to the people in Duluth who are injuring the city by their pessimistic talk is read by our correspondent. It is a lecture that is well deserved, and he is not severe enough in denouncing those who are doing so much to retard the growth of the city and keep back the return of the prosperous times which should exist here. "Unless," he pertinently says, "we have faith, how can we expect others to believe that now is the time to invest, that the city is now ready to move ahead? A city is just what its people make it, no more, no less." Every word of this is true. The residents of a city have it within their power to make or undo it. If they will unite, they can do much to secure the return of the prosperity that the city should enjoy, but if they sit down and tell their tales of woe to each other and do nothing, they cannot expect to secure any share of the prosperity that is sweeping over the rest of the country.

We must be up and doing. We must have concerted, energetic action. Let the property owners, the real estate men and the business men awake and get on their old-time hustle. The time is propitious to move ahead. With millions upon millions going into realty all over the country and many millions more awaiting investment, we should let the world know that Duluth is alive and presents the most favorable pint for realty investments in the entire country.

THE NEW WATER PLANT.

The West Duluth Sun, which was one of the advocates of the purchase of the company's water plant, has sensibly concluded to bow to the will of the majority and to do all in its power to have the expressed will of the people carried out. Introducing an article with the statement that it makes no difference what his ante-election convictions were, every good citizen is now in favor of building, because the people have declared by a good majority that they want to build, the Sun says:

"Regardless of our personal convictions we should respect the will of the majority as expressed at the polls, and upon the city council devolves the highly important duty of carrying out to the letter the popular will so expressed. And there should be no unnecessary delay in the premises. They should be prompt and determined in their efforts in that direction. Failure on the part of the council in so doing will make it necessary at the next opportunity to change the conditions and institute in Duluth a government of, for and by the people. Such a government will not trifle with the will of the majority so emphatically expressed at the polls. Let building of a new plant be commenced at once."

This is the right sort of talk. The vote in favor of building was so overwhelming that there is no question as to the desire of the people, and now that this point is definitely settled and the program decided upon, every person should loyally unite to have the work of constructing the supplementary system begun at the earliest possible date. The citizens' committee, which had in charge the campaign in behalf of building, intends to continue its labors until the work of constructing the system is at least under way. The people now look to the aldermen to take the initiatory steps at their meeting next Monday evening. The Herald has been assured that the council will carry out the voters' directions and it knows that Mayor Lewis stands ready to approve all the council may do in this direction.

FOR THE ALDERMEN'S EYES.

The Herald has already shown the folly of erecting market houses in different parts of the city and has pointed out that the council would be indulging in gross extravagance should it direct the building of a market at West Duluth at a cost of $3000 as is now proposed. With a prospective deficit of $70,000 in the city treasury at the close of the present fiscal year and a possibility that it will reach larger figures, it is absolutely criminal to plunge the city still deeper in debt. If it were decided to build this market it would be necessary to issue $3000 or more of city certificates bearing 7 per cent interest. This is an additional burden to which the taxpayers enter an earnest protest.

The true policy is to erect one market house in a central place, which would be ample for the needs of the city for many years. There is but one public market building in St. Paul and but one in Minneapolis, and they are larger cities than Duluth is now. Why then should Duluth have several public markets? The idea is absurd. But The Herald does not believe that it would be good policy to erect the central market building this year. The state of the city's finances does not warrant such a heavy expenditure at this time. There is no special demand for it at present. It is something for which we can afford to wait until the city treasury is in a more prosperous condition. The Herald looks to the council to promptly squelch any attempt to order the erection of any market building this year or the incurring of any additional obligations by the city which can be avoided. Retrenchment and economy must be the order of the day, if we are to maintain credit and our financial standing, and if we hope to attract the attention of the investors in realty.

There is considerable pressure being brought to bear in behalf of the erection of a combined market and armory. There is no more call for the building of an armory now than there is for a public market building. The city already possesses a splendid place for an armory, which will accommodate every company of the National Guard in the city. The Herald has reference to the third story of the central fire hall. There is no finer place in Duluth for an armory. It is not needed and is not used by the fire department. The hall is about 70 by 120 feet in dimensions and as the building is heated by steam it would be a splendid place for the meetings of the militia. The city is now paying $115 or more monthly for armory purposes, and this expense should be saved. The Herald would direct the attention of the aldermen to the advisability of setting apart the third story of the central fire hall for the use of the militia as an armory. No tenable objection to its use for this purpose can be offered, because it is not used and will not be needed for fire department purposes.

COMPETITION NEEDED.

The McIntosh, Minn., Times of this week says: "Owing to the busy season the meeting called for last Saturday to discuss the probabilities of securing a competing line of railroad from the Red River valley to Duluth was but lightly attended and no action was taken. The sentiment, however, was very strongly in favor of anything that will insure us direct communication with the head of the lakes and a consequent reduction in freight rates to all Eastern points. Owing to the present damnable policy of the Great Northern we are, though within about 200 miles of Duluth, practically isolated from it and compelled to pay a freight rate of 16½ cents per 100 on all grains, etc. * * * What we want is more direct, not more indirect, communication with the markets of the world. A direct line from any point in the valley to the head of the lakes would give us this and insure us a reduction in Eastern rates. This means more money for our produce, and that is why we are heartily in favor of encouraging any and every move in that direction, regardless of the location of the line."

Here is abundant evidence of the value of railroad competition. Without a competing line the Great Northern charges the people of that section 16½ cents a hundred to carry their grain to Duluth, a distance of about 200 miles. Does any one imagine that if competition existed the freight rate would not be reduced? If the people of McIntosh and the surrounding country had direct communication over another road to Duluth, the Great Northern's carrying charges from that point would be dropped suddenly. Yet there are some papers in the Northwest, including the Hill organs in St. Paul and Duluth, that assert that the consolidation of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific roads, which would throttle competition through a large section of the country, would be a good thing for the people along the lines of these roads.

What the Northwest needs is more railroad competition, and not less, and the action of Attorney General Childs, in asking for an injunction to restrain the Great Northern from proceeding with the consolidation scheme until the suit now pending on behalf of the state can be determined, will be heartily approved by the public. Mr. Childs has shown a commendable desire to preserve the rights of the state, and he does not intend to let Mr. Hill go ahead with his scheme until the courts have passed upon its legality. Mr. Childs has based his action not only upon constitutional points, but also upon the broad ground that the proposed consolidation is against public policy—in other words, that it would destroy competition and thus prove injurious to the Northwest. The case of the people of McIntosh referred to at the beginning of this article shows how the lack of competition results in excessive carrying charges, and it furnishes a complete answer to those who say that if Mr. Hill were at the head of the consolidated roads, freight rates would not be increased. When he maintains high rates at points where he has no competition, he certainly would raise rates at points where competition was removed.

Mascagni, the composer, is almost as bitter against the critics as was Disraeli at times. In a recent magazine article, he declares that he offered 1000 francs to one fellow to quit puffing, and he continues: "As vinegar is only wine gone wrong, so musical critics are but composers gone astray, and that is why I can not stand the former at the table and the latter in the theater. If you asked what I understand by musical criticism and what should be my ideal of a musical critic, I should be very much embarrassed, for I swear I never could understand what criticism means; at least as it has been done so far, and as it is now done in my time. But I believe firmly that the only ideal critic is the public, which, taken as a whole, judges dispassionately and is always right."

One of the Connecticut state senators is credited with being a member of more secret orders than any other man in the state. He prints a list of them on the back of his visiting cards, under the heading, "Some reasons why I am out nights." There are nine organizations of Odd Fellows, six of Masons, one of Knights of Pythias, one of Foresters, one of United Workmen, one of Red Men, one of Good Fellows, four political, and twelve which cannot be classified.

The sonnet by Charles Dudley Warner in Harper's brings the life of the Orient strongly to our occidental understanding. It is not given to every poet or traveler to be sleeping in Africa when the news comes by night of a sultan murdered; or to hear the guard bid the desert horseman who brings the word keep silence until morning since "the city lies asleep" and "to Allah, all-knowing," no news can come.

A Chicago girl announces that she will skate in bloomers next winter. Whereat a St. Louis exchange says it cuts little ice with anybody as to what Chicago girls do, but somebody should warn that girl that the average Chicago foot is provocative of falls, and that for the purpose of cutting stars bloomers are not at all as comfortable as the old-time costume with the bustle.

The Wright County Times very pertinently remarks: "We notice that those newspapers who have been jumping on Congressman Towne for his views upon the silver question, are letting up. The newspapers which have jumped the hardest know but little about the financial question, and are waiting to see which way the cat jumps before making any more wild breaks."

Surprising advices come from China to the effect that the customs revenues of the empire have increased greatly in the several ports, and that in the interior millions of subjects of the Son of Heaven have neither heard about the recent war nor felt the heavy hand of the extra tax gatherer. Under these circumstances "the gloomy strength of China" acquires a new significance.

The departure of Rev. Dr. Thoburn, who will preach his last sermon at the First M. E. church tomorrow, will be a serious loss to Duluth's religious circles. Dr. Thoburn has made a multitude of friends during his residence here and they regret that his family's health requires a change of climate. He is a vigorous, incisive speaker and a thinker, and he will be a valuable addition to the clergy of Detroit.

Senator Davis' boom for president is in a healthy condition, despite the sneers of the Minneapolis papers. The Davis vote will be of respectable size when the date of the national convention comes around.

The Sixth district is the largest in the state. When the next federal census is taken it will be large enough for two districts. Then there will be a Duluth district in fact as well as in name.

The Herald invites a comparison of today's issue with any paper published at the head of the lakes today or tomorrow. It fears no rival.

The country needs a statesman like Cushman K. Davis in the White House. He would make this country respected abroad.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ACROSS THE TEA TABLE.

"And still, as a mist of incense, as a smoke of universal sacrifice, perpetually ascends to heaven from all the lands of earth, the pleasant vapor of T E, created for the refreshment of mankind." The words came to me as I lazily watched the vapors rising from my tea-table, and I quoted them to the one who sat across from me, the Modern Woman. She did not know them, and I taught them to her with proud joy, remembering well the pleasure I had in learning the tradition of the tea plant.

"Lo! The fame of thee shall yet spread unto the ends of the earth; and the perfume of thy life be borne unto the uttermost parts by all the winds of heaven! Blessed be thou!" This little legend was rescued for us by one who is a master of English, who possesses a most subtle power in his inspired handling of words. He has found in Japan his ideal home, and now and then he writes to us most charmingly from there. Once in a swift journey from Montreal to Yokohama he found himself on the shores of our great lake. Frozen and silent it lay, causing only fearsome shudders to him who loves the glow, the fire, the langourous delights of the "Land of the Sun."

But I am forgetting my teapot, and I can assure you it is not like old Lady Kew's, when she came to town, and was not in town; no one could call it a "furtive tea-pot," for the perfume of its tea leaves proclaims its presence to all the ends of my room; it ministers unto my senses, it is full of memories, it brings me the most subtle suggestions, it is positively inspiring, as it should be by the promise of the legend, and you and I love this particular fleshpot of the Orient, do we not, my dear Modern Woman? You who walk your six and seven miles a day up hill and down dale in Duluth need the substantial and inspiring things of life to keep the glow of health in your pretty cheeks, the light in your bright eyes, and the exquisite texture of your skin. Duluth women are noted for this same beautiful complexion, and so I send you the perfume from my teapot to mingle with the vapors from yours when you come in with the tang of the fresh air on you, and gather round your tea table with kindred spirits to brew the pot of tea, the vapors of which rise as a sweet perfume and as a mist of incense.

Speaking of perfumes, is there no balm in Gilead, is there no physician who will prescribe a means of curing the insane delight some women take in coarse perfumes? I am positive that I was made ill at the theater this last week, that sweet Viola's charming personation was lost in the "green and yellow melancholy" caused by my neighbor, who smelled to high heaven. Philosophers tell us that there is no sense which so speedily rouses memory as the sense of smell, and I could faithfully add that there is nothing which so speedily rouses what Mr. Yellowplush describes as "a fealin in the fust place singlar, in the next place painful, and at last compleatly overpowering; a sityouation which Dellixy for Bids me to describe." The woman who is truly dainty in her personal appointments and refined in her feelings wears no perfume but that which comes from exquisite cleanliness and the purest and most scentless soaps. Toilette waters are refreshing, I grant you, and should stand on the toilette table of every woman who aspires to that personal cleanliness which is the handmaiden of good health. Farina cologne, and by the way, always get the octagon-shaped bottles, numbered 1497, if you would be sure of your cologne; Conday's eau de lavande, put up in pale green bottles and colorless, and some of the violet toilet waters are worthy an honored place beside the bottle of best bay rum. A few drops of any of these in a bowl of warm water is intensely refreshing when one is fatigued, or some bay rum poured on a fine linen cloth and used to remove dust from the face, will both cleanse and stimulate the skin. Do not, I beg you, clog the pores of your skin with "creams" and "balms." Nothing is more disgusting. Probably they do remove the dirt, but they also leave grease to collect more dirt. Soft warm rain water, with a touch of stimulant for weary facial muscles, is nature's own restorer; I've tried it, and I know. The creams actually made my face sore when I was deluded into trying them.

As to perfumes, the greatest authorities in Paris have been for some time experimenting on the subject of the effect of perfumes on the nerves, and unhesitatingly pronounce them noxious to some people, probably to all. Many physicians will cite instances within their knowledge of the deleterious effects upon people peculiarly susceptible. Miss Woolson, in her novel, "East Angels," described some years ago the exhausting effects of the perfumes of blossoms in the Southern swamps and forests, and we are told on good authority of a singer who lost her voice from the odor of a quantity of violets which she wore. Patti refuses to sing in a close atmosphere laden with perfume of either flowers or essences, and witness the hay fever patients, who invariably sneeze in such an atmosphere. The faint suggestion of the best sachet powder is sometimes agreeable, notably that of orris-root, and a drop or two of violette du czar, which, however, is not to be purchased in Duluth, is not unpleasant to any one, I am sure, but, my dear Modern Woman, bury the perfumes of the cheap counter "in the deepest dungeon beneath the castle-moat," and let the sweet influence of your presence in dainty, healthy, cleanliness proclaim their absence.

Did you read the proceedings of the medico-legal congress in New York; did you see all of the nice things that Dr. Pepper said of the modern woman, and her healthful progress toward perfect womanhood? He certainly is not pessimistic about us, nor does he join hands with the great apostle of decadence; and Dr. Pepper knows wereof he speaks; he is an undoubted authority on womankind from the physician's standpoint. And so we walk, and ride and bowl, and take to tennis, and golf, and the bicycle, and forget our nerves in the open air; we are no longer noted among foreign nations as thin, fragile, nervous, pallid, stay-at-homes; but the American woman has come out as the all-conquering woman of the world, healthy, strong and even athletic. We know how to take our climate now, and woman with perfect health and strength has found her kingdom. But do we know how to walk, or is the modern walk of the society girl a mere ephemeral affectation? If she knows how to hold her head and shoulders, and to walk from the hips why is it that she acquires a walk that would shame a Chinese woman, and bears a resemblance to nothing so much as the strut of the queen of the barnyard, the gentle domestic hen? Walk your miles, my dear up-to-date girl, but learn to carry your head and shoulders as does the English girl who is taught pose from the days of babyhood, and head and shoulders borne a la princesse give her a fine carriage, and necessarily a good walk if she abandons her affectation—the mannish stride. We hurry, we rush, we have, as Ruskin says, no repose; and truth to say walking in Duluth through the winter months of the year is rather a difficult feat to accomplish, but let the light of your eyes shine from a head well poised, and shoulders held as nature intends you should, breathe in full measure our glorious ozone laden air, swing your arms if you must, and send the blood coursing through your pretty cheeks, but walk, don't wriggle.

Once upon a time, I saw the matrimonial "kiste" of a German maiden. All of the beautiful linens were woven on the parental estate, and as she was very high born and society had claimed her for its own, not much of it was done by her own fair fingers, as befitted the well brought up maiden, but by skilled needle-women. The embroidered monograms and crests were to me a liberal education; each dozen napkins, towels, sheets, or any of the household linen was tied in shapely bundles with pink cotton tape under which lay a neatly written descriptive slip. Ah, those linens! I began when near them to break a commandment, and to this day I still covet those treasures; but straightway I began to accumulate; I too, set up a matrimonial chest, and filled all my waking hours with fine needle work, solacing myself with the thought that my growing bump of acquisitiveness was adding symmetry to my head, and strong in the assertion of Hawthorne who tells that a pretty hand is never so pretty as when directing the swift flights of a needle through a bit of dainty needle work. I spent all of my spare pence on linens, and took to cultivating my hand. I understand now the passion of the German "hausfrau." I know the delights of a well-filled linen closet, and shall I confess it? —I have sympathetic touches of feeling with the gloating miser over his gold. I never pass the door of that closet that I do not open it and take a peep. Adam, thus I call him because he is the first man to me, has dubbed that the Blue-beard closet, because I keep it closely locked and allow no one the key. He says I go and gaze upon my victims done to death by stabs of my murderous needle. Among my treasured sheets, pillow cases, and bed spreads I lay bits of sun warm geranium and rose leaves, and sprigs of lavender, and when "nature's soft nurse weighs my eyelids down, and steeps my senses in forgetfulness," ah then, "I wrap the draperies of my couch about me, and lie down to pleasant dreams."

* * *

Those are the useful things, now comes fashion with the ornamental. Linens with heavy Bulgarian and Russian embroidery for luncheon and tea cloths are out of date. Peace to their ugly threads! If you have them, my dear M. W., put them upon the shelves of your Bluebeard closet and wait until fashion turns her wheel toward them again. Listen to her latest decree! Here are your luncheon and tea cloths; damasks of the most exquisite silky fineness, in pale blue, lilac, pale pink and yellow embroidered in garlands of flowers in a deeper shade of silk. Some few cloths have insertions of guipure lace, and all are accompanied by napkins to match. Upon these must be embroidered the monogram, or initials, as you please. Could anything be more appetizing? You who would present a gage d'amour must no longer waste weary hours upon embroidered soft pillows, cravat holders, mouchor cases and other like abominations, but must have your counterfeit presentment portrayed for your lover's heart pocket. And though Amelia Kussner may not have put her sign manual upon it, do not despair; there are others equally good and clever who will for a consideration transfer your loveliness to ivory, vellum, gold or copper, what you will. Robert Keeting, the great great grandson of Sir Robert Peel, is far more "modish" even than the celebrated Amelia, and his collection of noted beauties is said to be a veritable dream of fair women. One of my earliest remembrances is of an old maid—I beg your pardon, my dear Modern Woman—an unmarried woman, who wore upon her thin and hollow chest, a breast-plate, the minature of a queued old gentleman whom she proudly informed the inquiring mind of childhood was a celebrated revolutionary officer; he was set and framed in gold, and this was her one sole ornament, her pride and joy, all day long, and every day she proclaimed this ancestral pride by a display of her ornamental grandfather tied by a blue ribbon about her neck. Youthful fancies led me to believe that I should prefer to be flung into the sea with this mill-stone rather than wear its effulgent radiance about my neck, but evidently she thought differently. A collection of old family minatures is now-a-days almost a patent of nobility, and there are two or three families in Duluth who own some very pretty trifles in this way. The most beautiful collection I ever saw was gathered together in Baltimore; the head and front of all these gold and pearl and diamond-encircled beauties were the three famous McTavish sisters, and Madame Patterson Napoleon. Save up your pennies, my dear Modern Woman, and have your minature painted, set it in pearls and precious stones, and give to the coming man or the new man whichever you choose to call him.

Let me suggest tomorrow night's supper for you, gather the berries while you may, these great gorgeous drooping red bunches which are pendant on the mountain ash, put them in a bowl with their own bright green leaves, and crown your supper table with them; let your teapot sing its song of welcome surrounded by its own dainty companions, the treasures of your teatable. Get the largest green peppers you can find on sale, open and remove the seeds, under water, or you will have burned your hands, lay them on the ice, and prepare a thick creamy maponnaise into which at the last moment you toss with your silver fork, finely cut celery —don't chop it, cut it—fill your peppers with this, set them in crisp, dainty washed and dried lettuce leaves. On the top of your generously filled pepper dust some finely chopped parsley and lay within these green shells, one or two freshly picked nasturtium seeds, hide in the curled corners of your lettuce some late growing nasturtium blossoms. On a dainty cut glass saucer, place a generous slice of best Roquefort cheese; beside it place your glistening silver cheese knife and with hot toasted crackers, you have as appetizing a supper as one cares to eat. Of course if you wish it more elaborate, add a sweet, and a bit of cake, an iced cream flavored with curacoa or maraschino, or some sliced sugared peaches upon which you dash a bit of kirsch—and he who sups with you will let "good digestion wait on appetite and health or both." —Agate.

A. G. Bartley, of Magic, Pa., writes: I feel it a duty of mine to inform you and the public that De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of a very bad case of eczema. It also cured my boy of a running sore on his leg. S. F. Boyce.

GOD!

O Thou Eternal One! Whose presence bright
All space doth occupy—all notions guide;
Unchanged through Time's all devastating flight—
Thou only God! There is no God beside.
Being above all beings! Mighty one!
Whom none comprehend and none explore;
Who fill'st existence with thyself alone,
Embracing all—supporting—ruling o'er—
Being whom we call God and know no more!

In its sublime research, Philosophy
May measure out the ocean deep—may count
The sands or the sun's rays—but God, for Thee
There is no might nor measure; none can mount
Up to Thy mysteries. Reason's brightest spark,
Though kindled by Thy light in vain would try
To trace Thy counsels infinite and dark;
And thought is lost ere we can soar so high,
Even like past moments in eternity.

Thou from primeval nothingness didst call
First, Chaos; then existence—Lord in Thee
Eternity had its foundation; all
Sprung forth from Thee—of light, joy, harmony,
Sole origin—all, all beauty thine;
Thy word created all, and doth create;
Thy splendor fills all space with rays divine.
Thou are and wert, and shall be glorious! great!
Life giving, life sustaining Potentate!

Thy chains the unmeasured universe surround;
Upheld by Thee, by Thee inspired with breath!
Thou the beginning with the end hast bound,
And beautifully mingled Life with Death!
As sparks mount upward from the fiery blaze,
So suns are born, so worlds spring forth from Thee!
And, as the spangles in the sunny rays
Shine round the silvery snow, the pageantry
Of Heaven's brightest array glitters in Thy praise.

A million torches lighted by Thy hand,
Wander unwearied through the blue abyss;
Just on the boundaries of the Spirit Land.
They own Thy power, accomplish Thy command.
All gay with life, all eloquent with bliss.
What shall we call them? Piles of crystal light!
A glorious company of golden streams!
Lamps of celestial ether burning bright!
Suns lighting systems with their joyous beams!
But, Thou to these are as the moon to night.

Yes, as a drop of water in the sea,
All this magnificence to Thee, is lost;
What are ten thousand worlds compared to Thee?
And—what am I, then? Heav'n's numb'r'd host,
Though multiplied by myriads, and array'd
In all the glory of sublimest thought,
Is but an atom in the balance; weigh'd
Against Thy greatness—is a cypher brought Against infinity! What am I then? Nought.

Nought! But the effluence of Thy light divine,
Pervading worlds, hath reached my bosom, too!
Yes! In my spirit doth Thy spirit shine,
As shines the sunbeam in a drop of dew—
Nought!—but, I live, and on hope's pinions fly
Eager towards Thy presence; for in Thee
I live, and breathe and dwell; aspiring high,
Even to the throne of Thy divinity.
I am O God, and surely Thou must be!

Thou art directing, guiding all, Thou art!
Direct my understanding then to Thee:
Control my spirit, guide my wand'ring heart:
Thou but an atom 'midst immensity,
Still I am something fashioned by Thy hand!
I hold a middle rank 'twixt Heaven and earth,
On the last verge of mortal being stand,
Close to the realm where angels have their birth,

The chain of being is complete in me;
In me, is matter's last gradation lost,
And the next step is spirit—Deity!
I can command the lightning, and am dust!
A monarch and a slave; a worm, a God!
Whence came I here and how? so marvelously
Constructed and conceived? Unknown?
This clod
Lives surely through some higher energy,
For, from himself alone, it could not be.
Creator! Yes! Thy wisdom and Thy word
Created me! Thou source of light and good!
Thou spirit of my spirit and my Lord!
Thy light, Thy love, in their bright plenitude
Filled me with an immortal soul, to spring
Over the abyss of death, and bade it wear
The garments of eternal day, and wing
Its heavenly flight beyond this little sphere,
Even in its source to Thee—its author, there.

O thought ineffable! O vision blest!
Though worthless, our conceptions all of Thee,
Yet, shall Thy shadowed image fill our breast,
And waft its homage to Thy Deity.
God! Thus alone my lonely thoughts can soar;
Thus seek Thy presence—being wise and good!
'Midst Thy vast works, admire, obey, adore;
And when the tongue is eloquent no more,
The soul shall speak in tears of gratitude.

SOCIETY

Opening Party of the Season of the Assembly Last Evening.

Miller-Bradley Wedding Announced This Week to Take Place Oct. 9.

Ushers Party at the Masonic Temple on Oct. 7---Other Affairs.

The Assembly gave a dancing party at the Masonic Temple last evening. This was the opening party of the fall and winter season. The Assembly was organized about a year ago by a number of the young men of what is known as the "younger set." For a time the membership was almost entirely confined to these, but of late a number of those of the "older set" have been admitted to membership. This Assembly is now the only organization which gives dancing parties at regular intervals. Occasionally a subscription party is given under the name of the Assembly party, but there is really only one Assembly at present. The membership is at present limited to forty and has been full ever since the club's organization. So popular has it grown through its delightful parties that there are a number of applications for admission upon the resignation of present members.

The party last evening was probably the most successful the club has given. The attendance of young ladies from abroad always makes a gay party, and there were about a dozen at last evening's. The number of handsome gowns was also noticeably large. The floor was perfect, and Hoare never played better, so that the party was in every way a charming one. The chaperones were: Mr. and Mrs. Clark Fagg, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Wall, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Dowse, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. James and Mrs. Huntress. Among those present were:

Misses De Coster, Kalman, Saunders and Clarke, of St. Paul; Glass, of Minneapolis; Greatsinger, of Elmira, N. Y.; Hands, of Ashtabula, Ohio; Bradshaw, Britts, B. Britts, of Superior; the Misses Figarty, of Minneapolis; Austin and Bessie Austin, of Toledo, Ohio; Smith, Comstock, McLaren, Barber, Poirier, La Vaque, Chapin, Minnie MacLean, Fitzgerald, Phillips, Eaton, Dickinson, Frazer, Sellwood, Martha Peyton.

Messrs. Potter, Coburn and Dowell, of West Superior; Sanborn, of Saginaw; Minot, of St. Paul; Dalrymple, Miller, Williamson, F. Leach, D. R. McLennan, Baldrick, McDougall, Cooke, Macdonald, Bywater, Walbank, Draper, Leslie, Tudor, Phillips, N. Leach, C. McCormick, Sellwood, W. McCormick, McLaren, Tuman, Murray Peyton, Barber, Gilbert, Parker.

Y.; Miss Bradley, of Cleveland; Miss Parker, Miss Magoffin, Miss Gertrude Markell, Miss O'Keefe, Miss Josephine Peyton and Miss Sharp.

Miller, Jr., brother of the bride, will be the best man, and the ushers will be Edgar MacPherran, of Marquette, Mich.; Oscar Nelson, of Stillwater; Walter Lyder, Jr., of Akron, Ohio; Frank Deacon, of St. Paul; C. D. Shepard, Martin Watrous, H. T. Abbott, William Dalrymple, H. F. Williamson, Jr., G. G. Dickerman.

After the wedding there will be a reception from 9 to 11 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, 417 West Second street.

The tour of Miss Rebecca McKenzie, Duluth's popular soprano, will begin here at the Temple Thursday evening, Oct. 10, when she will bid her many Duluth friends a hearty farewell. Miss McKenzie's popularity is so well established here that it is needless to say that she will be greeted by a large house. It is not alone a fact that a Duluth singer begins her professional career here, but the music lovers of this city will also have an opportunity to listen to one of America's greatest lady violinists, Miss Elsie Fellows, of Boston, who comes from the East to join the company. Miss Fellows is a young artist with a splendid reputation. She returned from Europe last spring, where she for several years studied under the great Joachim, and at the Imperial Conservatory of Music, at which place she was afterwards awarded first prize at the examinations.

The pianist of the company is Miss Bertha O'Reilly, from the Canadian College of Music, Ottawa, Ont., where she had charge of the piano department, and was instructor to His Excellency Lord Stanley's family. She is said to be an artist of the highest standard, and has during her stay at Ottawa given many recitals to the elite of the city. A program of great artistic merit will be presented here.

From Duluth the company will make a three weeks' tour of Minnesota and Manitoba, and then go East. Mr. Renard, the manager, who is now out booking the company, has already made a number of good dates, among them two nights at Winnipeg and other cities in the West.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The Freshmen Organize---First Meeting of Olympics.

On Friday the first month of school closed with the daily routine of work running in a manner complimentary to both teachers and pupils.

On Monday morning, Mrs. Snapp, leading soprano in the Episcopal choir, favored the school with a solo entitled "The Holy City." The plan is to have a solo every Monday morning and so far it has proved very pleasant and entertaining.

During the week the freshman class organized and elected the following officers: President, Hugo Halling; vice president, Kate Boyer; treasurer, Walter Hudson; secretary, Grace Gilbert; marshal, Clinton Markell.

The sophomore boys met Tuesday to organize a foot ball team and there will probably soon be a game between the sophomore and freshman teams.

The general committee on athletics held its first meeting on Monday to arrange for the fall sports, to discuss athletics and the functions of the committee.

All the officers of all societies and classes held a meeting at which they were instructed in their duties.

On Friday morning Superintendent Denfeld conducted the morning exercises and addressed the school. He spoke in a complimentary manner of the month's work and urged every pupil to guard against the evils of "self deception" and "half heartedness."

In the afternoon the first regular meeting of the Olympic society for the school year was held and the following program rendered:

Piano solo.....N. Josephine Carey
President's address.....Charles Morris
Question—"Browning"...George Raymond
Essay—"Old Greek Myths"...Ethel Birch
Piano solo.....Hilda Willoughby
Recitation—"Marmion".....Richard Close
Humorous selection—"The Drummer,".....Ralph Davis

The program was not what the committee had hoped to have, several of the participants failing at the last minute, but all who took part did well. In his address the president spoke of the advantages to be derived from participating in the programs, before an audience as critical as only schoolmates can be, declaring that there is not a man in America who speaks the English language perfectly. He said that the most essential elements to good society were law and order and urged upon the society the necessity of living strictly up to Robert's rules of order.

At the business meeting Richard Close was elected treasurer, the former one having left the city. William Morrison was elected captain of the Olympic Foot Ball team. Red was chosen for the Olympic color and "Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rix! We belong to the Olympics!" adopted as a yell.

Say, why don't you try De Witt's Little Early Risers? These little pills cure headache, indigestion and constipation. They're small, but do the work. S. F. Boyce.

LOOKS LIKE A DEAL.

Speculations as to the Sauntry and Clark Mine.

Special attention in mining circles has been directed toward the Sauntry and Clark mine during the past few days by reason of a supposed move on foot by some of the great companies evincing an interest in its development, which looks very much as if a deal was in the wind for the lease of the property, says the Virginian. Whatever may be the outcome of these investigations, it is only too certain that Messrs. Sauntry and Clark will not personally operate the mine. Notwithstanding the magnitude of this property and the rich ore deposits that have been brought to light during this season's operations it is certain that these gentlemen can afford to play a waiting hand until satisfactory arrangements may be made for placing the mine on a shipping ...t.

Although the capabilities for shipping great quantities of ore from this property are unquestioned, it is believed that, in case the property it leased, the minimum will not be so high as to preclude the lessees from reaping a rich harvest from its operation. Within the past week representatives of big mining corporations have been looking over the property, taking samples from the various pits and in other ways discovering an interest in its development that may be construed to mean something more than a mere "posting" expedition.

THE VERMILION RANGE.

The Work at the Pioneer and Chandler.

Shipments from the Pioneer mine at Ely now reach 30,000 tons and will be concluded next week. The Miner says that active operations are being carried on to place the mine in a good position for work before snow flies. The foundation for the new hoisting plant will be put in shortly. The boilers for the compresser plant will be moved and set probably next week. An air pipe line is being laid connecting the underground workings with the compressers. The pipe is being laid in a trough through which water from the shaft will be constantly run, thus precluding the possibility of frost. The mine has at present about 230 men on the payrolls, a great many of whom are busy on the surface.

At the Chandler the stock piles have nearly disappeared and would have been sent forward long ago had not the lack of cars hindered shipments. The steam shovel has been idle, more or less, for about a week. Lake carriers are not as plentiful as during the middle part of the season, owing to the resumption of Michigan range shipments and the large number of vessels engaged at this season in the wheat traffic. A good week of active work would clean up the Chandler shipments. A few men are daily being hired at this mine, or enough to fill vacancies.

Although not definitely known as yet, there are strong possibilities that the Zenith property will be worked the coming winter. Several parties have their eyes on the same, and as soon as the matter of royalty is settled the mine will be worked.

According to all accounts there are strong possibilities of the Whiteside property being worked in the near future. The Miner is informed that a committee is negotiating with Robert Whiteside for the exploring of the lands by means of a diamond drill.

THE PRIZE BABY OF KANSAS CITY MO.

Cured of Disfiguring ECZEMA By the CUTICURA REMEDIES

Our baby when three weeks old was badly afflicted with Eczema. Her head, arms, neck, limbs, and nearly every inch of her body was raw and bleeding when we concluded to try Cuticura Remedies. We began with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap and Cuticura, the first application we could see a change. After we had used them one week some of the sores had healed entirely, and ceased to spread. In less than a month, she was free from scales and blemishes, and to-day has as lovely skin and hair as any child. She was shown at the Orange Fair, and took a premium as the prettiest baby, over sixteen others. MR. & MRS. PARK, 180 Bellevue Ave., Kan. City. Sold everywhere. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston.

A LARGE FREIGHTER.

A New Steel Monster on the Atlantic.

The Victoria is the name of a new steel steamer of the Leland line which astonished the staid Bostonians the other day by steaming into the "national tea pot," guided to her dock by the skillful hands of Capt. Thomas Cooper, the veteran pilot who has chaperoned all sorts of craft in and out of Boston harbor for the last forty-three years. By the way, Capt. Cooper and Mayor Lewis used to be great chums in the days when Duluth's mayor used to sail the briny, and he and Capt. Cooper had a big time recalling old marine experiences on the occasion of the latter's visit here on the North Land some few weeks ago.

But to return to the Victoria. When the Bostonians saw the humense vessel in port she became almost as big an attraction as the White Squadron, and Hon. W. H. Lincoln, for twenty years the Boston agent of the Leland line, was kept busy pointing out her cavernous recesses, her points of beauty and her enormous size. She is 535 feet over all in length, 50 feet beam and 28 feet molded depth, and draws when loaded between twenty-eight and twenty-nine feet of water, and in this latter connection it may be well to mention that there are only two harbors on the Atlantic coast—Boston and Portland, Me.—which this ship can find water enough in to move about without grounding. The North Land, now in this port, is a pretty big vessel, but she could easily go inside the Victoria, and she would have 139 feet of room to advance or retreat in, and fifteen feet leeway, besides a trifle of thirteen feet under her keel.

The Victoria rates *A1 in English Lloyds, and will hold this rating for twenty-one years, and perhaps longer. She carries 16,000 tons measurement cargo or 10,500 gross tons dead weight. The Leland line has a number of big steamers, but this latest addition is just double the size of any other vessel of their fleet. She only carries a single screw, the owners having decided, after years of experience, that it is the most economical and best in many ways. Her time is ten days between Boston and Liverpool and she has four masts and can carry fore and aft sails when necessary. She is by all odds the largest freight vessel ever built, and she has special fittings for the carrying of live stock when such a cargo is offered. She has accommodations for carrying fifteen first-class passengers, and she has considerable sheer and is of handsome model.

Hon. W. H. Lincoln, her Boston agent, who is one of the most successful steamship agents on this side of the water, used to be agent for Mayor Lewis' vessels when he dallied with Neptune's domain.

DID YOU EVER FALL OVER A PRECIPICE,

Or hold up the Washington monument on the pit of your stomach—in a dream? Did you ever wake up in a cold sweat caused by some horrid phantasy? If so, the wisest thing that you could have done to renew your slumber undisturbed by the nightmare, would have been to take some Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which would have tranquillized you and relieved the indigestion, which was, perhaps, the author of your hideous dream. Insomnia, nightmare, indigestion are easily remedied by the Bitters. Resort to it, also, if you are troubled with chills and fever, liver or kidney trouble, constipation, neuralgia or rheumatism. If you have lost your appetite don't go to the expense of advertising for it, but take the Bitters. Then will "good digestion wait on appetite and health on both." Just before retiring is a very suitable time to swallow a wineglassful.

FOR RHEUMATISM.

Paine's Celery Compound a Sure Specific.

No Well-Informed Person Suffers From It.

The Disease No Longer an Incurable One.

Greatest of All Remedies Prescribed by Doctors.

A Long, Brilliant Record of Remarkable Cures.

Neuralgia and rheumatism—two diseases no longer incurable.

Physicians today get rid of rheumatism and neuralgia, as they do sleeplessness, melancholy, hysteria and other results of nervous exhaustion, by building up the system and supporting its delicate nerve parts by the use of Paine's Celery compound.

Paine's celery compound attacks the disease by getting the system back to its properly nourished condition. It stands alone in the history of medicine. It is a certain specific for the cure, not only of rheumatism, but also of all diseases due to impoverished nerves and blood.

The close connection of well-fed nerves and brain with health, is the solid rock upon which Paine's celery compound stands. The thousands of men and women all over the country who have been cured of rheumatism once and for all, by Paine's celery compound, have made good all that the medical fraternity first predicted for it.

That it restores health and strength to the body made weary, listless and despondent from nervous debility needs no proof today in thousands of homes.

The list of those it has freed from rheumatism is a long one. It contains a host of well known men and women at home and abroad. Every city and town in the United States and Canada is represented.

Paine's celery compound was first prepared by Professor Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D., of Dartmouth college. Ever since its first appearance it has been the most recognized nerve and brain invigorator among medical men. Its constant use by physicians where an active nutriment is urgently needed, speaks volumes for its efficacy in diseases of nervous origin.

Strength, buoyant spirits and freedom from pain comes with its use.

SMITH'S SIDE OF IT.

The Ticket Trouble Related From His Standpoint.

Otto Smith, the young man who lost his situation at the Spalding because of the purchase of some tickets at reduced rates at the St. Paul & Duluth office, as reported in yesterday's Herald, wishes to give his side of the story. He says:

"One of the men from the Eastern office, I do not care to say who, but it was not Mr. Harper or Mr. James, came into the Spalding and asked me to do a favor for him. He gave me $10 and told me to go over to the St. Paul & Duluth office and buy two tickets to St. Paul. He told me to say that they were for a couple of friends and pay $7 for them. If they were refused at that rate I was told to go to a broker's office and get them.

"I went over and told Mr. Ross that I wanted two tickets for $7. He asked who they were for and I said for two friends of mine. He asked if they were stopping at the hotel and I said no. After some hesitation he issued them. I never mentioned my mother or sister to him, nor said anything about the Spalding or Mr. Frisbee. I took the tickets to the Eastern office and returned the change. I had no idea of what the Eastern office was up to and simply thought I was doing the man a favor. I was unaware until afterward that a road was not supposed to sell tickets at cut rates."

Contract Let for the Material for the New Ore Dock.

Jacob Zimmerman, the Duluth Contractor, Will Furnish Piling.

Marshall-Wells Company Secures a Portion of the Iron Contract.

Nearly all the contracts for materials for the new Missabe ore dock have been let during the week. The coast timber, consisting of 1,700,000 feet of Washington fir, has been let to Prescott Van Ess & Co., of Windlock, Wash. The contract for native timber will be let to Duluth parties, but the contract has not yet been closed.

The hardware contract has been divided between the Tudor Iron works, of St. Louis, and the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, of Duluth, the greater part going to the former. The contract for furnishing the piling was let to Jacob Zimmerman, of Duluth. The piling is to come from the Missabe road, between Wolf and Pine Land Junctions.

The work, as The Herald stated some time ago, is to be done by day labor, and during the winter it will furnish a good deal of employment.

The Missabe road has prepared plans and specifications for 200 new ore cars to be completed about April 1. The plans are to be submitted to car manufacturers for bids.

In view of the preparations being made by the Missabe & Iron Range roads for ore business next year, it would appear that an immense movement of ore is looked for. A prominent railway official said this morning that owing to the immense demand for structural iron and the number of railroads that are replacing old rails with new and heavier ones, the demand for ore would be greater next year than ever before. While this year's business is a surprise to many, next year's will be a greater.

TODAY'S DRUNKS.

Several of Them Up Before His Honor This Morning.

Andrew Wilson now wishes he had not dallied with too much liquor yesterday. In the afternoon Andrew pranced into the central station accompanied by a jag, and dragging a woman whom he claimed had robbed him. After inquiring into the matter the woman was released by the police. Andrew, however, hung around the station sufficiently long to make himself obnoxious. Capt. Thompson led him to a cell, and this morning in the municipal court Judge Edson inflicted a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of drunkenness.

James Ransom had nothing to say to the court on a drunk charge. Yesterday he was voluble enough to secure a suspended sentence. Like the cat, he came back bearing with him a second edition of yesterday's jag. His honor rewarded James' want of perspicuity with a fine of $20, with an alternative of thirty days on the hill.

Day before yesterday Paul Huff had a man arrested on a charge of assault, but failed to appear yesterday to prosecute. He was found drunk and brought before the court this morning on a $15 fine for contempt.

Ed Welch received a suspended sentence for drunkenness, and James O'Brien, who was less plausable, got $10 and costs. Mat Gustafson pleaded not guilty and his case was set for trial this afternoon.

It was pride in his personal appearance that led Patrick Hughes into the municipal court yesterday. He was arraigned before Judge Edson late in the afternoon charged by William Beaton with the theft of a shaving mug and brush. Patrick pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Monday. He was released on his own recognicance.

Harry Gertzke, the 12-year-old lad charged with taking $20 from his mother with which to buy an Indian hunting outfit was discharged by Judge Edson. The boy's mother, who made the charge, failed to appear, having decided to give Harry another chance.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

Clifford Case Against the Water Company About Closed.

Judge Moer's court continued in general term this morning on the case of Lord Clifford against the gas and water company. The last of the testimony and the closing arguments were made this morning, and Judge Moer's charge was to be made this afternoon.

Meantime Judges Ensign and Morris held a short and unimportant special term, which was finished by 11 o'clock. In the matter of the assignment of the Duluth Cash Grocery company, an order was made fixing the time for filing proofs of claims. A motion for a new trial in the Crowley case against the C. N. Nelson Lumber company was heard and submitted.

An order to show cause why the case of H. P. Barbour against J. H. Upham et al, should not be reopened was submitted.

PUGILISTIC CHALLENGES.

Two Men Who Are Anxious to Arrange Matches.

Tom Norton, who was to have fought Danny Needham last night, but was prevented by the absence of a sufficient house to warrant a fight, has authorized the sporting editor of The Herald to publish a challenge to fight Jimmy Murphy for not less than $200 a side, the fight to be twenty-five rounds or more and to take place on neutral ground. Norton is apparently making this challenge in good faith, and as an evidence of that he has deposited $50 in the hands of the sporting editor of this paper as a forfeit for his appearance, as he expects to go away soon unless he gets this fight. He desires Mr. Murphy to answer promptly.

It was through no fault of Mr. Norton's that the fight last night did not take place. He was present and ready to fight, but Danny Needham would not go on because of the light house.

Gene Hanna, the Minnesota Chicken, wants to meet any lightweight for $50 or upwards. The challenge is good until Monday.

ELEVATOR BURNED.

Daisy Mill Suffered a Heavy Loss This Morning.

At 5 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the cupola of the Daisy mill elevator, located in the center of the East End group of mills, and although the entire department responded promptly the elevator and its contents are a total loss. The structure was the finest mill elevator in the Northwest. It is owned by the E. P. Allis company, of Milwaukee, and contained 80,000 bushels of wheat. The loss on wheat will be about $50,000 and the same amount on the building, fully covered by insurance. It will doubtless be rebuilt at once. The fire was caused by an explosion of flour dust.

The fire burned brightly until after 9 o'clock and could be plainly seen from Duluth. At 8 o'clock the flames were still rising to a great height. The mill is situated about sixty feet from the elevator, but fortunately the wind was blowing away from it and the mill was not damaged.

To the Authorities.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Last fall there was passed by the Duluth council an ordinance directed against itinerant merchants, those dealers from other places who come in here, display their goods for a few days and then slip out leaving nothing but the amount of their hotel bill and taking away a large amount of trade which rightfully belongs to the home merchants. This ordinance provided for a license fee for all such merchants of $50 a year, $300 for six months, $200 for one month and $50 per day. Now, I want to ask the city authorities why nothing has ever been done to enforce this? During the past week there have been several of these outside dealers here displaying fur goods, millinery, etc., all to the great detriment of the home dealers of whom I am one. There is not a merhant in the city who does not pay heavy taxes, large store rentals and many other expenses and I think they are entitled to the protection of the city government. Why do not the city authorities give these visiting dealers to understand that the ordinances of Duluth mean something?

RIGHT OF WAY.

Important Railroad Decision by Secretary Smith.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Secretary Smith today rendered an important decision regarding railroad right-of-way. The road affected is the Montana Railroad company. This company applied for right-of-way over public lands, under the act of 1875, making such grants. This act provided that the road should be completed within five years after the map of location was filed.

The Montana company did not complete its road in that time, but subsequently offered the maps of location. The commissioner of the general land office recommended that the maps be not approved because the road was not completed within five years after the first map of location was filed.

The secretary says there is no reason why the company should be denied the right to file a new map of location even after the expiration of the five years, the new map to operate upon such lands as are free from claim. He therefore approves the new maps for the Montana Railroad company.

A RUMORED LYNCHING.

Chadron, Neb., Sept. 28.—It is reported here, at a late hour last night that "Alabama Kid" who is supposed to have set fire to the town of Belle Fourche, S. D., has been lynched. Although it is not authentic, it is believed by many who are conversant with the facts in the case. His hearing was to come up tomorrow.

RANSOM'S SALARY O. K.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Acting Comptroller Bowers after some days' deliberation has countersigned the warrant issued by order of Secretary Carlisle in payment of the draft drawn by ex-United States Senator Ransom, on account of salary as minister to Mexico. This action seems to dispose of all question affecting Mr. Ransom's right to receive his salary pending his confirmation by the senate.

Fall Race Meet Was Successful Except in Point of Attendance.

Probability That There Will be a Track at Oneota Next Year.

Steps Toward Organizing a Yacht Club Are Already Being Taken.

The fair race meet has come and gone and it was the first horse event in three years in this city. It was successful and enjoyable beyond the anticipations of everybody, although the public did not attend so multitudinously as it should. The events were very interesting and all that, and those who did come were not sorry.

There is a difference between races now and races a few years ago, when pool selling and bookmaking was allowed. There is no question but that the abolition of these adjuncts has crippled racing here as well as elsewhere. But the state has, figuratively speaking, put down its foot,so there is nothing to be gained by drawing comparisons and wishing for the exciting times before the new law went into effect. Perhaps after the people get used to it the sport will recover from the blow.

* * *

There is one other good reason why the attendance was not larger at the races and why horse racing has never been successful here, and that is the location of the track. No fault could be found with the street car service. The cars were run often enough. But they cannot be made to run fast enough. It takes forty-five minutes to make the trip, so that one is compelled to start early and get back late.

It has been reasoned, and wisely too, that a track down town, out in the West End somewhere, where ground is plenty, would be much more successful than the one at Woodland, and it is probable that before another season rolls around we will have a track and grounds out in Oneota. It will take only about twenty minutes to make the trip, and it is safe to say that three people will attend there where one will at Woodland.

The West Duluth people, and there are quite a number of sportsmen, among the inhabitants of our western suburb, it is practically an impossibility to attend races at Woodland. Grounds in the West End will be convenient to all, and they will undoubtedly be successful. A movement is now on foot to secure them, and if satisfactory arrangements can be made for property work will probably begin this fall.

* * *

The movement to organize a yachting club for next season, which has been touched upon in this column several times, is gaining ground rapidly and inside of a week or two it will probably assume definite proportions. The object is to organize a strong club and to build a suitable clubhouse for the housing of sailboats. Next season the club will be ready for a series of events which will be a prominent feature of the summer's sports. A cup will be secured, and it will be the object of the season's races.

The advantages of this plan are too many and too obvious to require a great deal of comment. Yachting has never been given the important position here that the natural facilities afford it. The only way to bring it out to its proper position is to strongly organize. Everyone who is at all interested in such matters should join the club and add his energy to the effort to bring yachting to the position it should occupy.

The object is to organize the old yachting club, which has been defunct for a number of years. A large number have signified an intention of joining, and prospects are bright for a successful organization. A meeting will be called in a short time. All those who wish to join will send their names to Samuel V. Gilbert, 317 Lyceum building, who was the secretary of the old Duluth Yachting club.

* * *

By next season there will be half a dozen new boats, all speedy, plying the waters of the head of the lake. Mr. Neff, of Neff & Hartley, has a boat on Minnetonka which he will bring up and enter the club races.

* * *

Spalding's Official Foootball Guide for 1895, edited by Walter Camp, is published today. It contains in full the only official rules that will govern football this season, also the amendments to the official rules as adopted by Yale and Princeton, and under which rules they will play, and also the amendments to the official rules as adopted by Harvard, Pennsylvania and Cornell, and under which rules these three colleges will play. To a certain extent, the football situation, so far as it pertains to rules, will be much mixed this season, and in Spalding's Official Guide the announcement is made that all schools, colleges and athletic clubs not affiliated with the five above can use the official rules, if they so desire, or they can use the rules of Yale and Princeton, or the rules as amended by Harvard, Pennsylvania and Cornell, but in each instance the manager and captain of the opposing team must receive two weeks' notice as to what rules they will play under. Besides the exclusive publication of these rules, the Guide contains the pictures of all the leading players of Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Cornell, and nearly every other institution of learning in the United States, as well as the official record of each and every game played. The book is larger than heretofore, containing 128 pages of well edited matter.

* * *

The next thing for consideration is football, which, while it is generally associated with Thanksgiving turkeys and good cheer, comes in with the earliest fall weather and should be well under way long before brown October is done. And with it will come the annual crop of jokes, so-called, about the fatal nature of the game from alleged humorists who, if their muscles are as flabby as their wit, could not get the ball over the 5-yard line unless the opposing side would obligingly walk around a block.

Duluth is to have several teams this fall, and the first game was to take place this afternoon at Glen Avon between teams from the Adelphic and Olympic literary societies, who extend their rivalry from the rostrum into the fields of athletic sports. These two teams are as follows:

Olympics.	Position.	Adelphics.
Lettau	Left guard	Richardson
R. Bailey	Center	Smith
Lefans	Right guard	Brewer
Palmer	Right tackle	Tennis
Connell	Right end	Talbois
Morrison	Quarter back	Goodmansen
Bailey	Half back	Steward
Kelly	Half back	Herman

* * *

Next Saturday comes the game between the Duluth Boat club team and the Minnesotas, of St. Paul. The latter club is an especially strong one, having among its members a number of ex-collegiate players who were well known during their school days. Among these are McClung, Hoffelfinger and Winter, all old favorites at Yale. The full makeup is not yet decided upon, but it is safe to say the team will be worthy antagonists.

Heffelfinger in now training the 'varsity team and gets out regularly to play with them, so that he will be in excellent shape. The others are training also, each in his own manner. This showing is good, but the result of the game with Duluth is by no means a foregone conclusion. Duluth is going to have a strong team too, as the following list will show:

Will Bailey, Guy C. Calhoun, G. E. Vincent, C. P. McCormick, T. J. McKeon, H. D. Ballou, F. E. Thompson, R. M. Sellwood, Will Dalrymple, Martin Watrous, Rufus Raper, Edson, Warren. The latter is lately from the Boston School of Technology, where he was a prominent member of the football team. These men are all experienced in the game, and nearly all are well known as active participants in amateur sports.

The boys are practicing with a will, and almost any day they may be seen on the High School grounds about 6 o'clock. The return game with the Minnesotas is to be played in St. Paul Oct. 26. Secretary White, of the Boat club, has written to Hamline university and to the university of Minnesota for games.

* * *

Well, Duluth's race meet is over, and in most ways it was a thorough success. If the people had attended as they should it would have been so in all respects. There was an excellent class of races, and all events were of great interest. Yet those who arranged the meet were compelled to go into their own pockets to pay the purses. Paid they were, however, every one, and the visiting horsemen were more than pleased with the results.

One and all they express themselves in decided terms regarding their treatment here. Tim La Pere, Two Strike's driver, said to The Herald's sporting editor yesterday: "The association never had a better show. The public evidently did not appreciate good racing. Although away behind on receipts, the association paid every purse in full, and we are greatly pleased with our treatment."

L. C. Tatro of New Richmond, Wis. said: "We have been used in elegant shape. If you ever have races here again I'll enter. After treatment of this kind Duluth's horsemen will get a reputation for square dealing that will be a credit. You can't say too much about it. Say all you will and all the boys will endorse every word of it."

* * *

J. H. Herman, the St. Paul sporting man, has again matched his man to fight Jimmy Murphy and then matched him with someone else, and this notwithstanding the fact that Herman told the sporting editor of The Herald the night of the fight between Williams and Shepard that he would match Williams against Murphy for $500 a side, and that he was not in the habit of breaking his agreements. We don't care to hear any more of Mr. Herman.

* * *

Today and tomorrow the Duluth and Brainerd teams were scheduled to play the last games of the season. The weather today is not at all propitious, but it was hoped that the games could be played.

* * *

The Needham-Norton glove contest advertised to take place at the Parlor theater last night failed to materialize. It was a complete frost. Needham went to the box office and after looking over the house refused to go on. Then until nearly midnight the small crowd of disgruntled sports waited in vain for an announcement of the cause of the delay. The idea of refunding the money paid to see the contest struck the management where it lived. A scrub fight was hastily arranged between Billy O'Donnell, whose principal claim to distinction lay in the allegation that he had once bested Oscar Gardner at Nashville, and "Frenchy" Gillett, who was heralded as a fighter from way back. The argument was a ten-round one for what was left in the house after a majority had departed. O'Donnell weighed about 130 pounds, while his opponent was a good ten pounds lighter. The fight was a funny one from start to finish and everybody laughed when Referee Madden announced a draw.

This is what "Fitz Hugh" has to say in his special corespondence from Dallas in answer to the query "Will Corbett and Fitzsimmons fight Oct. 31?"

"This is a question that has been asked a million times during the past six weeks by those interested in the coming event in fistic circles. Many of the answers have been ambiguous, others doubtful, and still others evince a total lack of knowledge of the situation and all the environments and circumstances surrounding the Florida Athletic club and its program of sports. One who is on the ground, who has the entree to avenues of information, and who has an intimate acquaintance with the officers of the club, the officials of the county and the governor and the attorney general of the state, is better qualified to speak authoritatively and to give an unbiased and correct opinion than purely sporting writers and doubting Thomases within and without the state. James J. Corbett and Robert Fitzsimmons will meet in the arena at Dallas, Texas, on Oct. 31, and battle for the championship and the largest purse ever offered by any athletic club in this country or England. Last Wednesday morning Contractor Grigsby and a force of 200 men began work on the great building, which covers over four acres of ground and will have a seating capacity of 52,600. Supervising Architect Earl H. Silvan is positive that the building will be ready to turn over to the club on Oct. 20, or eleven days in advance of the meeting of Corbett and Fitzsimmons in the fistic ring. The battle royal will take place between the hours of 10 o'clock and high noon on the morning of Oct. 31, and all indications point to the largest assemblage that has ever witnessed a championship contest in the civilized world. There will be three events, Corbett and Fitzsimmons, O'Donnell and Maher, and Ryan and Smith, the greatest array of pugilistic talent ever engaged for a glove carnival by any one club. The double event, O'Donnell and Maher, and Ryan and Smith, will take place Saturday, Nov. 2. The carnival is as certain to take place as the seasons come and go and the frosts of winter succeed the flowers of spring. There are no legal obstructions to block the fight. There is an open road and no snags. Chief Justice James M. Hurt, the veteran jurist of the court of criminal appeals, has spoken and from his decision the state has no appeal."

LIBRARY

Some Interesting Features in Connection With That Popular Institution.

Many Odd Characters Are Regular Frequenters of the Reading Room.

The Aim of the Board is to Furnish Standard Works.

There is no institution in Duluth that is more popular or accomplishes more good than the public library. Well stocked with the choicest of literature, its doors are open twelve hours a day, and there is never a moment without patrons. And it is to broad-minded, public-spirited ladies that the library owes its inception.

It was in 1890 that a number of prominent society leaders began to urge on the council the necessity for a public reading room, and in August, of the same year, one was opened in little rooms in the Masonic Temple, which was then a new building. Olin S. Davis was placed in charge. The patronage of the reading room became so large that the need for a circulating department became apparent. Accordingly in October the council was prevailed upon to purchase 3000 books, the rooms were enlarged and Miss Angie Neff, the present librarian, was engaged as assistant.

Since that time the library has grown to its present proportions, with 19,000 volumes and six attendants, besides a branch which has been opened in the Duluth Press buildings, at the West End, and which is meeting with general patronage. Mr. Davis remained in charge only a few months before Miss Neff succeeded to the position of librarian, which she has held ever since. Miss Lydia Poirier was the first assistant engaged, and then Miss Elizabeth Seldon, Miss Olive Gray, Miss Anna Heisler and C. D. Campbell followed in the order named. Since the library started, there has never been an attendant discharged.

THE READING ROOMS.

The reading room is a popular feature of the institution, and it is here that the contents of some eighty different magazines and periodicals are mentally devoured. Among its most frequent patrons are some decidedly unique characters. There is one old man who is regularly on hand when the doors are opened in the morning, and is the last to leave at night. At first he used to go home to his meals, but lately he has grown so attached to the place that he brings his lunch rolled up in a paper. This he devours at leisure, to the edification of the children, with whom the place is always filled outside of school hours.

Then there are the workingmen sometimes with dinner pails, who drop in during the evening to look over the latest magazine or perhaps to enjoy the bon mots in the comic papers, and it is a noticeable fact that the attendant can never tell the class of literature a patron will call for. Sometimes a seedy individual, whose mental capacity, judging from the outside, is about equal to a proper understanding of an old fashioned dime novel, will ask for the Arena. There is one man with a laugh that parodies that of "Old Hoss" Hoey, who sits afternoons with the comic papers in his hand and indulges in cachinations that startle the attendants with their loudness and abruptness.

A CRAZY FREQUENTER.

About a year ago there was a mentally deformed individual who made lots of excitement for the young lady attendants. He would come every afternoon and although he never read would sit in the reading room and cast languishing glances at the attendant who happened to be at the desk without distinction as to personality. Finally he brought down the house one day by proposing to one of the young ladies in loud and impassioned tones. He was promptly ejected with force. Unlike the cat, he never came back for he was incarcerated by his friends.

Unlike the Chicago public library, where the attendants find the books in accordance with the catalogue numbers, the Duluth readers are permitted to prowl at will among the volumes. This is considered in the nature of an education, and many persons will spend hours over the selection of a volume and hesitate in delicious indecision over which to choose. Each of the library patrons who is reading the works of a favorite author learns the niche where the books are to be found, and makes a rush in that direction immediately after passing through the turn-style. Permitting the public to select its own books has the additional merit of dispensing with attendants.

KEEP THE STANDARDS.

"Our books are mostly standard works and we do not aim to furnish the latest works so much as the best," said Miss Neff to The Herald representative. "For instance, we have only three copies of 'Trilby,' while at Hartford, Conn., which is a city of about the size of Duluth, the public library contains forty. 'Oliver Optic, 'Horatio Alger, Jr.,' and 'C. A. Henly' are still great favorites with the juvenile readers, and it is surprising how often the children call for 'Robinson Crusoe' and 'The Swiss Family Robinson.' The younger element are especially fond of historical novels and devour them with avidity.

"With the older people there is always a rush for the newest popular author. The works of S. R. Crockett, Stanley J. Weyman and Conan Doyle are taken out the minute they come in. Standard works are never long on shelves, and Dickens, Bulwer, Charles Reade and Thackeray have lost none of their popularity. In the heavier matter the book for which there is probably the most call is Max Nordau's 'Degeneration.' As in all public libraries the greater proportion of the call is for fiction, and fully 90 per cent of the books which go out are of the light order. By the way, the death of Stevenson, the novelist, caused such a run on his works that we were compelled to have many of them rebound."

We thought first of giving the flag and public school question a rest this week, but it will not down. It is a great big question, alive all over, and will not even rest. It is first, the flag on every school house in all the land, north and south, east and west. The future prosperity of the republic, yea, the future existence of the republic, even, depends on the better and purer patriotism of the next generation. The power of money, power of corporations, the power of selfish men and the corruption that is permeating every department of government from village and city to state and nation, is alarming. The only remedy or remedies that will avail must begin at the fountain head; must begin in the individual, in the voter; must begin at the ballot box. Patriotic and incorruptible men must must vote for and elect to all offices of trust and power pure, honorable, incorruptible and patriotic men. The reason we do not have all the best kind of officers now is the fault of the people. Everything, then, must be done to raise up a better generation of American citizens, and that can best be done in the schools. The raising of the flag is only one thing to help in this line. It is an object lesson; an illustration that will ever be before the eye of the child and will serve as a text and to impress lessons of patriotism. The work must not even stop with the raising of the flag or the singing of "America," or the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," but it must permeate every department of school work from the kindergarten to the high school. And probably the last lesson to be taught, but not the least, is the imperative duty of every one who is entitled to vote to always vote at every election. That there can be no excuse that will release him from this responsibility but the physical impossibility to go or be taken to the polls. Carelessness and indifference to the duties of citizenship are little less to be condemned than venality. This is the problem and the work before us. "Up with the flag" is the first step. It will enthuse us for all the rest. If we follow its lead, victory, honor, prosperity to the nation and happiness to the people will be the inheritance we shall leave to posterity. Comrades, our years yet are few, but as our eyes become dimmer with age we will be able to look towards the school houses of our country and sing:

What is that which the breeze o'er the tow'ring steep,
As it fitfully blows, now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream.
'Tis the star-spangled banner, O long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

The country has resounded with praise and gratitude to the Hon. Henry W. Watterson for his eloquent and masterly address of welcome to the veterans, which was delivered at the opening of the late national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Louisville, Ky. It was worthy of the highest praise, and not only every soldier who wore either the blue or the gray, but it should be read by every citizen of the republic, and should be read and reread year after year to the children in our schools. By request of Commander-in-Chief Lawler, Past Commander-in-Chief William Warner replied on behalf of the G. A. R. It was also a splendid address and was in every way a worthy reply to the eloquent address of welcome. We have only room for some brief extracts from Comrade Warner's address. Our readers will see that that which we have been trying to advocate in the past few weeks is in perfect line with the best patriotism not only of the G. A. R. but of the country:

"But I am expected to speak about the Grand Army of the Republic. I advocated coming to Louisville, and I am not sorry for it. At our camp fires we boys sing the old army songs as we used to sing them as we marched from Atlanta to the sea, with feelings of comradeship toward you, sir, and the other brave men who wore the gray. We therefore in that feeling recount the suffering of frozen camps, the hardships of forced marches, the dangers of battle, and again drink from the old canteen. The Grand Army of the Republic has had no predecessor and can have no successor. It was born when the first Union recruit enlisted in 1861; it will die when the last survivor of the Union army shall be gathered to his fathers. It is an organization into the warp and woof of which are woven fraternity and charity, and in its ranks the strong and the weak, the rich and the poor the black and the white, the Jew and the Gentile, the general and the private touch elbows as comrades. * * * The Grand Army of the Republic demands that the rights of the American citizen shall be protected, at home and abroad, and in every land and in every clime. It demands respect for Old Glory wherever found. It demands obedience to constitutional authorities. It believes in the reformed woman of the law. It believes in liberty without license, in religion without bigotry. It demands honest elections and purity in public affairs. It demands a loyal support to the free public schools, the colleges of the people, and demands that they shall be forever maintained non-sectarian. (Applause.) It demands from the government a fulfillment of its pledge to him who hath borne the battle, and to his widow. * * * But, sir, over and above all, the Grand Army of the Republic is a patriotic organization. Our hearts have swelled within us, and we have thanked God that we are Americans, and that we have come to this great Southern city to see flags enough to girt the universe, and loyal hearts enough behind them to maintain the liberties of the people. This organization knows but one flag—a flag it has sworn to maintain unsullied, a flag which I trust ere long, through the patriotism of the whole people, shall be kissed by the breezes of heaven as it floats over every public building and every school house throughout the land. When that day shall come, as come it will, the old veterans, full of noble exultation, may exclaim: Thank God, I helped to put Old Glory there."

* * *

Among the resolutions that were adopted by the late national encampment at Louisville we notice the following as bearing directly upon the question of teaching patriotism in the public schools: In favor of placing the flag on every school house and introducing the military drill; recommending legislation to compel the flying of the flag on every public school house, and the introduction of military drill; in favor of a resolution recommending that in every school in the country, at 9 a. m., local time, on the Friday next preceding Memorial Day, the pupils sing "America."

* * *

Well, the Catholic parochial schools of Duluth have the opportunity of taking the lead in the matter of raising the flag over their school houses and thus putting to shame our much-boasted public schools. In fact we are not sure but they have already done so. We remember that last year we frequently saw the national flag flying over St. Thomas' school, but do not know whether it was so every day or not. Just recently the question of raising the flag every day over the parochial schools of Chicago was raised among those having charge of the management thereof, and the matter was referred to Archbishop Riordan. His reply was brief, but was clear and patriotic: "Let the flags wave," said he, and they do wave. The public schools of Chicago will in due time come poking along afterwards. Shall the Duluth board of education bring up our public schools after a while in the rear rank, allowing the parochial schools the honor of first place? It looks that way.

Marcus W. Bates, representative from this congressional district to the national encampment, G. A. R., at Louisville, and who subsequently attended the Chickamagua dedicatory ceremonies, will tell what he saw and heard on Tuesday evening next at Post hall in Masonic Temple. All comrades and friends are invited.

* * *

Senior Vice Department Commander J. J. McCardy will visit Duluth next week, in company with the city officials of St. Paul, and will be pleased to meet as many comrades as possible.

* * *

We have heard the question frequently asked within the past week or two, Why is it that Mr. Cobb voted against having the flag raised over the school houses daily because of the expense that would attend it, yet advocating the purchase of the water plant at $1,000,000 more than it is worth? We give it up. Ask us something easy. We have heard of one other case of the kind that occurred some centuries ago about straining at a knat and swallowing a camel.

* * *

We are pleased to note that Comrade S. W. Higgins has been granted a pension of $8 per month for partial disability received while in the service. He was too gritty to make an application till some time in 1892, hence his pension only dates back to that time.

* * *

And what a glorious time there was at Louisville at the national encampment. Those who were able to attend will ever bear with them the hallowed memories of the occasion. Hundreds and thousands of those who marched out into the tented and bloody fields as boys and beardless youths, and who touched elbows and closed up ranks as shot and screaming shell swept down their comrades upon either hand, met again, now gray and grizzled, lame and bent with age, to recall and talk over the past and answer to each other the question of "How goes it with you, comrade?" Although shattered and broken in body, the fire of patriotism flashed from their eyes as brilliantly as in 1862 to 1865.

EOS (Elixir of Soap)

A LEADING NECESSITY.

That is What the People Think.

The Proof of This Is What is Said About This Great and Wonderful Preparation.

READ WHAT THEY SAY.

What compound on the market will hold colors in printed goods from running or fading? What compound on the market prevents flannels or woolens from shrinking, leaving them white and soft, also prevents bluing from curdling in water? That is what Eos will do, and the world is challenged to produce its equal.

READ WHAT THE PEOPLE OF THE COUNTRY SAY.

RECOMMENDS IT HIGHLY.

Mrs. Williams, wife of W. Williams, the tailor, and residing at 129 Thirty-seventh street, Omaha, said: "I have tested Kirk's Eos in many ways and find it a most excellent preparation. We have had much trouble in getting something that would break the water without being injurious to the clothes and hands. This fills the bill exactly, and I am pleased to know there is something on the market which is so badly needed by the people who are compelled to use hard water. It does just what is claimed for it, and I am pleased to have the opportunity to recommend such a valuable preparation."

Order a package from your grocer for next wash day; they all keep it. Price, 5 cents.

Nothing to complain of—the woman who uses Pearline. Nothing to complain of in the washing and cleaning line, anyway. And certainly the proprietors of Pearline can't complain. If you only knew how many women, every day, are making up their minds that the old, wearing, tearing, tiresome way of washing doesn't pay!

It's growing bigger than ever—the success of Pearline; though it has to fight not only against all kinds of poor imitations, but against a sort of superstition that anything which can save so much labor must be harmful in some way.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 480 JAMES PYLE, New York.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic for Sunday, Sept. 29: "Progress in the Christian Life," 2 Peter 1, 1-11. By Arthur W. Kelly, in the Golden Rule.

It is one of the blessed features of the Christian life that one can never reach the end of its possibilities. There always remain much land to be possessed, new joys to be felt. The joy at accepting Christ may be great; but, however deep it may be, it may grow with every day life. One of the greatest mistakes that can be at made is to fancy that the beginning is all that there is of following Christ. The choice to serve the Lord is the chief step, but it means a continuous future change as well as an instantaneous change. The true believer obeys the order, "Right about face," but he does not simply stand still; he keeps marching, though in a new direction. The great change is described as a new birth; one must grow to the stature of a full grown man in Christ. No one is condemned to remain the child that he is at the start on the new life.

The thought of such possibilities and the longing to gain them are conditions of one's gaining them. It is those that hunger and thirst after righteousness that are filled; it is those that ask for the spirit to whom God gives abundantly. It is dwelling upon the riches that God offers and that he has granted to others that quickens in one the eager seeking that is sure of a reward.

The growth may show itself in numberless ways. At the first, there is the joy over forgiven sin; to this is added the increasing joy over an ever fuller knowledge of the Savior and clearer consciousness of his presence. The pleasure of human friendship does not reach its height the moment one has made the acquaintance of the friend; the same is true of fellowship with Christ and his followers. The Bible may have given knowledge of sin and of the promise of forgiveness and help; but that has not exhausted its depths. There are virtues to be cultivated, weak points to be strengthened, victories to be won over besetting sins. The Christian life is a constant addition.

The goal is to be reached partly through doing the same acts again and again. Daily habits little by little shape the character more nearly to the model. The act today may seem the same as the act yesterday, but if done with earnestness, and not as a form, it will be not the same, but better. Growth must come moreover, through doing new things, attempting duties that before had been too hard, entering doors of usefulness as fast as they open, turning one's thoughts from one's own growth, even in spiritual things, to that of helping others that is none the less sure to cause the progress of any one that gives himself to it.

'A TALK ON THE TOPIC.
(By William T. Ellis.)

We must grow to live. The most perilous moment in a Christian's life is when he thinks himself "good enough," when he becomes satisfied with his work and with his life. God alone is the goal, and Heaven is situated so high that it must ever be above man's best. Let a tree stop growing, and that instant it begins to decay. Just as soon as a Christian ceases to go forward, he begins to make race-horse speed backward. From beginning to end the Bible is eloquent with exhortations to advance; the pilgrimages of the patriarchs, the words and lives of Kings and prophets, the commands to "grow in grace," to "shine more and more," and to "press forward to the mark," all point forward. Life is a journey, a well defined course of progress.

God never means that his disciple shall take a backward step. None of the discouragements, disappointments, failures, or circumstances that life holds for us are meant to be setbacks. Everything, absolutely everything, that God sends into our lives is sent to help us onward. All of God's providences are stepping stones. The trouble is that we want God to cast his stepping stones in man's mould, and that he will not do. Christian souls are torn and racked by discontent because they will not believe that God is a better guide than themselves; because they cannot accept his gifts as good gifts; because they do not realize that the Father knoweth that they have need of "all these things," the dark things as well as the bright, the things that cannot be understood as well as the things that are plain, the things that try their faith as well as the things that fill them with rapture.

God wants you to progress; he will help you to progress. "He which began will perfect." But he will perfect in his own way. There must be many falls before the Christian can realize that he is not to climb on the world's ladder. There must be sore strivings before he understands that his crown is not of man's laurel, but of God's gold.

The verdict of the world has nothing whatever to do with the Christian's progress and success. When men have turned from him as a failure, when he sojourns in the dark valley of hopes unfulfilled and of efforts overthrown, when the chain of temptation galls his neck, when the flinty rocks of criticism cut his feet, then it is that the Christian pilgrim often makes mere rapid strides toward perfection. God works in the darkness as well as in the light.

God has placed milestones all along the Christian highway. It is possible for a soul to know of its own progress. "Grow in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord," is one command. If you find yourself doing more of the things of grace, if it is easier to say the good word than the bad, if the angry sentence is not as much at home on your lips as it used to be, if your thoughts are more of Christ and of the righteousness than they once were, if your smile is brighter and more abiding than in the other days, if friends come to you for counsel and help, if your hand is filled often with deeds of love, if your heart sings with the joy of the redeemed—if these things of grace mark your life, know that you are passing the mile stones toward God.

You can determine your progress also by your "knowledge of the Lord." Is the Bible more luminous to you? Do you see more of Christ therein? Have you found new joy and strength in communion with him? Has the prayer hour become the best hour in each day? Have you learned to perceive Christ in the good deeds and better lives all about you? Is the blessed Holy Spirit a personal revealer of Jesus to you? Do you find that all the things of this life are coming to center more and more about the Lord himself? Then rejoice with great joy, for each of these signs indicates marked progress toward the great consummation of your journey. These are the fruits by which the Master bids us test.

Read the lesson in the Revised Version, and see the great difference in the texts, only to God himself. Is not ours a "high cludes his enumeration of steps in Christian progress with "love of the brethren" and "love." Only the original can make plain the degree of progress conveyed by the Scripture here. It was with a purpose that the sacred writer went beyond "love." But even this is not enough. Peter enthropy, benevolence, good works. Good deeds are not the chiefest thing in life. With them the progress of the worldling must end, but the Christian goes an inconceivable length beyond. Peter says that the culmination of the disciple's growth is "love," agape, the highest word in all languages, the one synonym for God. "God is agape," John tells us; not merely eleos, compassion; not merely philadelphia, love of the brethren, but agape. Thus our advancement finds its extremity of the brethren," philadelphia, philanthropy?" Nothing this side of the great white throne ought to satisfy us. To God we press on in our endeavor.

Growth before God is not always advancement before men.

Every step of Christian progress brings a new supply of refreshment.

Often God must cast us down before he can lift us up.

There is nothing but progress for the one who follows Jesus.

It is progres to stand still at God's command.

Through the first Adam we fell to hell itself; through the second Adam we may rise to Heaven's highest.

The end of the Christian's journey is only when he stands complete in the presence of the Redeemer.

CONVENTION NOTES.

As was announced last week the two union meetings were held Sunday evening, and although the equinoctial storm was against us those present enjoyed exceedingly interesting meetings, especially the latter one. Miss Holbrook, the state secretary, reviewed the program for us in her usual happy way, and impressed us with the fact that this year's meeting will be unusually interesting. Hon. C. A. Towne will give the address of welcome on behalf of the city, Rev. W. W. Dawley for the clergy and Chairman Newell for the committee of 185, Rev. C. H. Patton has also a place on the program. President Hunt spoke a little while on the subject "What Seek Ye," asking us whether we would attend the convention for personal gratification or to advance and magnify the cause of Christ. He told us of the impressions that the meetings would leave with us and urged the assistance of all. It is the intention to hold noon prayer meetings in all parts of the city, in short to carry on a systematic crusade for the salvation of souls. We anxiously await their return.

The printing committee has been instructed to order 1000 badges for the convention and what beauties they are. Everybody will want one.

At the business meeting of the local union on Monday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Miss Mary A. Lucas, of the Christian church; vice president, Miss Annie M. Hicken, of the Lakeside Presbyterian church; secretary and treasurer, T. F. Upham, of the First Presbyterian. After the convention is over the union will take up immediately as many of the lines of regular Christian Endeavor work as possible and Duluth will awaken to the fact that she has a lively corps of Christian workers among her young people.

FOUND.

At Max Wirth's drug store, a marvelous cure for all kidney complaints, nervous exhaustion and female weakness. It is the Clinic Kidney Cure.

In a recent letter to the manufacturers, W. F. Benjamin, editor of the Spectator, Rushford, N. Y., says: "It may be a pleasure to you to know the high esteem in which Chamberlain's medicines are held by the people of your own state, where they must be best known. An aunt of mine, who resides at Dexter, Iowa, was about to visit me a few years since, and before leaving home wrote me, asking if they were sold here, stating if they were not she did not like to be without them." The medicines referred to are Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds and croup; Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the side and chest, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. These medicines have been in constant use in Iowa for almost a quarter of a century. The people have learned that they are articles of great worth and merit, and unequaled by any other. They are for sale here by all druggists.

Paul Potter's Dramatization of "Trilby" at the Lyceum Next Week.

Chicago Marine Band Led by T. P. Brooke Coming to the Temple.

"The Defaulter" at the Temple Next Week---Sandow is Coming.

Paul M. Potter's 4-act dramatization of Du Maurier's novel, "Trilby," is eminently successful in two ways; it not only presents a play which is perfectly comprehensible and effective in itself, and which would be a powerful drama if Du Maurier's novel had never seen the light, but he has also succeeded in presenting to those familiar with the book an accurate and striking dramatic coloring of its sentiment and a terse and vigorous treatment of its plot. The text is by no means servile in its adherence to the language of the original author, but dialogue and situations are so handled to meet stage needs as to present an atmosphere remarkable in its fidelity to the novel. The interest is cumulative and the pathos at times is so intense that the quietness of the death scene in the last act in no measure serves as an anti-climax. As far as the personal appearance of the principal members of the cast is concerned, Du Maurier's ideal as portrayed by both pen and pencil is fully met. Each character stands forth to the eye of him familiar with the novel as a creation worthy of the strong characteristics of the several originals.

A. M. Palmer's company takes ample care of Mr. Potter's play, and under the direction of William A. Brady the scenery and mounting are all that can be desired. "Trilby" will be seen here for the first time at the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday, Oct. 4 and 5.

The Boston Transcript, upon the first appearance of "Trilby" in that city, said of it: "The skill with which Mr. Potter has done his task can be called nothing less than remarkable. He has shown astounding skill in retaining well nigh everything in the way of incident that made the novel interesting. As a piece of dramatic workmanship it is truly admirable; and you should have seen how it took hold upon the audience; everyone's attention was held fast from beginning to end, and through each of the four acts you could have heard a pin drop. 'Trilby,' both as a play and as a performance, is one of the best, most interesting and exciting things that have appeared on the stage this season. The success was unquestionable, an undoubted 'success d'enthousiasme.'"

BROOKE'S MARINE BAND.

Some years ago, when T. P. Brooke was furnishing the theater orchestra music in this city and causing applause between the acts, it could be seen that his musical ideas were way beyond his surroundings, and when with a few ordinary musicians he gave some really delightful band concerts, it was evident that his abilities were worthy of much more favorable opportunities. The little complimentary speech made by P. S. Gilmore, which created some astonishment at the time, may be regarded now as a matter of prophesy. He said that Mr. Brooke not only had a thoroughly musical soul, but all the elements of popularity as well, and that he was bound to make his fame in the musical world. All of this is rapidly coming true. Brooke's marches are selling all over America, and in Chicago especially they are quite the thing.

Mr. Brooke has been residing in Chicago for some three years now, and about a year ago he was selected to organize a band for the Illinois state naval militia, which took charge of the large war ship that was exhibited at the World's fair. This was "Tom's" opportunity. He was so highly regarded that he was given carte blanche to get up a band that would do credit to the amateur navy, and he did it. When the first concert was given, quite a pretentious society affair at the First regiment armory, not only the marines, but all Chicago was surprised. They heard something strikingly new in popular music. Brooke made an emphatic hit, and his progress has been rapidly upward from that hour. A regular series of concerts was organized and run in Chicago all last winter with the greatest success. The Schiller theater was packed at every concert, and the band caught everybody's fancy. Amy Leslie, the famous Chicago critic, wrote that nobody in America could write and play such exhilarating music for bands. The people stood up and shouted. The success, artistically and financially, was one of Chicago's last season wonders. The fame of the Chicago Marine band and T. P. Brooke, its conductor, has spread to all parts of the land.

Howard Pew, who has been connected for about ten years with such organizations as Gilmore's and Sousa's bands, and with Theodore Thomas' orchestra, has been secured to manage the new band, and after hearing it he says it is the greatest band in the world for popular music. Mr. Pew is pretty good authority on bands, having been so long associated with the very best in this country, and two years ago he traveled over all Europe to hear the famous bands of the old world.

The band has been engaged to play at the Aberdeen, S. D., grain palace, and it will come here about the same time for a concert at the Temple theater on Monday, Oct. 7. Mr. Brooke's old friends in Duluth will give him a warm welcome.

"THE WAR OF WEALTH."

"The War of Wealth," which will be seen at the Temple shortly, was produced last season and was voted a great and emphatic success, and it is admitted by competent judges to be one of the truest examples of American dramatic work that has been given to the stage in many years. The author, C. T. Dazey, has skillfully told a powerful story and has dealt in an intelligent way with vital questions and live issues in American affairs. It is a capital, clear and convincing play that appeals to intelligent theater-goers, and bids fair to rank among the best efforts of American dramatists. Manager Litt has done much to aid the author. He has lavishly mounted the play, giving it a scenic environment which is in perfect taste and complete even to the minutest details. The great run on the bank scene is a marvel of realism, employing over 200 people. This great number of auxiliaries are handled, it is said, with consummate skill and admirable effect. Hundreds of clamoring depositors are seen crying excitedly for their money, while the banker stands in the doorway making one last desperate appeal for a little time. It is said that no more animated and exciting scene was ever introduced into a play.

"THE DEFAULTER."

Every Friday and Saturday evenings the scale of prices at the Temple will be popular. The attractions that have been secured for that theater regularly each week on those particular evenings are those that appear throughout the country at high prices. It is therefore a particularly fortunate thing for the theater patrons of this city that such an arrangement has been made. One of the attractions that will be seen at the Temple under this arrangement will be Lincoln J. Carter's latest melodrama, called "The Defaulter," which recently made such a great success in Chicago.

The story of the play hinges on the defalcation of a young bank manager in England, who had recently married a charming girl who was loved by a baronet, the head of the bank, and also by a clergyman. He tells his wife that he is innocent, and that his enemies have conspired to ruin him. She believes and clings to him. He is convicted by proofs indisputable, and sentenced to the penal settlement for life in Australia, with his confederate, leaving his wife broken hearted, with their child, a girl of 6 years. Twelve years roll by, and he has written her to come out and bring with her a certain box of papers which will help him to prove his innocence. She complies. In his interview at the prison he tells her to hire a house and apply for two convicts to act as servants, as it is the custom in Australia, by permission of the English government, to lease convicts to the best families as servants. She does so and designates her husband and his ally in crime. He demands the box she brought, and to her dismay she finds it contains the proceeds of his robbery instead of proof of his innocence. She still adheres to him with undeviating love. They live in luxury, and he and his companion sink deeper and deeper into the mire of debauchery. The wife bears it all, until the husband insists their child shall marry his partner in crime, and then the long suffering woman rebels. He insists, and she is driven to desperation. But one resort is left to her. She can dismiss her convict servants, and send them back to the galleys, and her daughter is saved. The denouement is strong and well brought out.

The company is said to be well balanced and with his well known liberality Mr. Carter has spared no expense in mounting the piece. The scene of the prison wall, with Sydney and the harbor in the distance is said to be very fine. The piece will undoubtedly be very successful and add another laurel to those already won by the author.

"ON THE SUWANEE RIVER."

"Down on the Suwanee River" was the attraction at the Temple last evening and in spite of exceedingly bad weather there was a goodly sized audience to witness the—well, call it a production, for it is not a play. The affair consists of three acts, the first, the royal village of Bakuba, Africa, showing the natives in all their gorgeousness of undress and headdress. The cast includes about twenty-five people—three or four whites, a dozen male negroes, and nine comedy wenches, of altogether too great varying shades of blackness to successfully pose as pure bloods from a jungle, uncontaminated by white contact.

The second act transports all these people to the Suwanee river and consists principally of a very good plantation shuffle dance, in which a dozen men participate, a piebiting match and quite a bit of plantation melody. The third act takes the party to a dance hall in New York and there is some more singing and dancing, that by the nine women being quite pleasing. The whole affair winds up with a cake walk in which the audience is expected to pick out the best couple. They did so last night and No. 20 took the cake. The performance will be repeated tonight.

SANDOW COMING.

The Lyceum theater will have a strong attraction on Oct. 18 and 19 in the "Trocadero Vaudevilles," headed by Sandow, in which the marvelous athlete is of course the central figure. This will be Sandow's first appearance in this city and already much interest has been manifested in his appearance. His tour of the country thus far has been nothing less than a continuous triumph. He is undoubtedly one of the wonders of his time. Eminent scientists have declared him to be the most perfect man physically who has ever lived, and he has been acknowledged everywhere as the strongest man in the world. His offer of $10,000 and the gold belt, emblematic of the championship of the world, to any man who would duplicate his marvelous performances, has thus far remained unaccepted. History does not record, even among the great gladiators of ancient Rome, a man of such wonderful muscular development as Sandow. It is not only in extraordinary feats of strength that Sandow stands without a peer, but in his exhibition of his marvelous control over his muscles he presents a feature such as never has been shown by another human being.

Manager Ziegfeld makes the positive announcement that this will be Sandow's farewell tour of America. The new "Trocadero Vaudevilles" will this season comprise the greatest music hall artists from Europe and America, and for strength and completeness eclipse any previous attempt at the production of vaudeville in this country.

SOL SMITH RUSSELL.

"An Every-Day Man" is the piece in which Sol Smith Russell has made his latest success. In it Russell takes the part of John Empty, bank cashier, who, unlike many men, being happily married, does not care to run about, but remains quietly at home and enjoys life. He is considered lacking in brilliancy by his relatives, however, and a trip to New York is prescribed for him. He proves himself an adept at acquiring city ways, and soon becomes to all appearances a veritable rounder. It turns out that he only assumed drunkenness that he might frustrate a plot to rob a bank with which he was connected, and, crowned with glory, he again resumes his desired position of an every-day man. As a matter of course there are many opportunities for the display of Russell's talents, and the play as a whole is said to be bright and wholesome.

FORTUNES IN LITHOGRAPHS

Used to a Great Extent by Theatrical Managers.

It is quite amazing to note the extent that lithographs have come into use during the last few years by theatrical managers for advertising purposes. A man of figures and knowledge in such matters recently estimated that American theatrical managers each year spend nearly $5,000,000 for the purchasing of lithographs and lithographed posters. Many of the mercantile houses throughout the country are also now adopting more or less this means of advertising their wares. A few years ago a gayly emblazoned poster on a billboard or dead wall, advertising some particular soap polish, shoe or other salable article was a rarity indeed, but now the gorgeous theatrical poster on the dead wall is here and there intermingled with an equally gorgeous bill advertising the goods of some commercial house. Lithography and its origin is a subject rarely treated of, and one that at this particular time might possibly be of exceptional interest.

The discovery of this art was a rather strange and purely accidental one. It occurred in the year 1796. It was after the first triumphant performance of Mozart's opera, "Don Juan," at Munich, that the theater had been deserted by all except the watchman, Alois Sennefelder, who, after making a tour of inspection of the building to see that no sparks had ignited anything, retired to a room to stamp the tickets for admission for the following day. He had in his hand when he entered this room three things, a polished whetstone, which he had secured for sharpening razors, a ticket stamp, which was moist with printing ink, and a check on the treasurer of the theater for his weekly salary. Laying them all down, a gust of wind blew it into a basin of water. Sennefelder dried the check as best he could and then weighted it down with the whetstone, upon which he had, just previously, carelessly placed the printing stamp. Returning to this apartment the next morning, he was surprised to see the letters printed with concise accuracy upon the dampened paper. An idea occurred to him. He wondered if by such a method he could not simplify his work in the future of continually copying the songs of the chorus. This led him to purchase a large stone, with which he commenced making experiments, and from which was finally discovered the art of printing from stone lithography.

It was the development of Sennefelder's discovery that led to the observers of fences and dead walls in after years being furnished with a free picture gallery. Improvement in theatrical posters has been continually growing from then, until now it has reached such a certain artistic degree that they have attracted serious attention both at home and abroad, and have really risen to the dignity of pictorial art. While photography has, of course, lent its aid to the development of the theatrical poster, it neither plays nor has played such an important part as many might believe. The remarkable advances made in this line of work in this country has been due mostly to the improved process of lithography, the characteristic Yankee spirit of competition and to the large number of young American artists who do not consider it beneath their artistic importance to draw a show-bill, providing they draw it well, and who have turned the lithographers' apartments in Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati, New York and Boston into veritable ateliers. In the old woodcut days such theatrical posters as we see nowadays were never dreamed of.

It is generally understood in an unwritten history of show posters in this country that the first of these were printed from the grain end of mahogany blocks, the lines being first marked out with gravers and then the heavy spaces cleared away with a chisel and mallet. Barnum and the circus managers were responsible for the inclination towards larger bills of this nature. By means of pine-wood planks and routing machines printers were able to get out posters of such an area as had never been thought possible, until now not only the circuses, but the theatrical attractions are using "stands" of immense sizes. Manager Jacob Litt recently gave an order to a prominent lithograping firm to advertise his sumptuous production of Charles T. Dazey's new American drama, "The War of Wealth," to the print the largest ever gotten out for a theatrical attraction. This stand illustrates the animated and thrilling scene presented at the end of the fourth act of "The War of Wealth" where the exciting run on the bank of Warfield & Co. is in progress, and where the hero of the play, Philip Norton, drives into the midst of a horde of excited bank depositors with an express wagon, drawn by two fiery steeds, and containing $500,000 in gold, which saves the bank from financial ruin. In this stand over fifty figures are shown, and the view of the street is illustrated with quite amazing faithfulness.

The art of lithography applied to poster printing revolutionized that industry, as the artist at once became his own printer, for the stone on which he drew was the direct medium of transference. Nearly all of the lithographic stone used for poster work in America is imported from Bavaria, and good specimens of this stone have a market value of all the way from 8 to 25 cents per pound, or in other words, from $160 to $500 per ton. When first received these stones are somewhat roughly-shawn, thick slabs, and the first things to do in preparing them is to plane both sides to a true level, and the stone to the thickness approximating four inches. Then these stones are "grained" by being rubbed down by a sand of varying conditions of grittiness, the correct condition of the grain being left to the artist, who usually has his particular favorite surface on which to draw his designs. Then the stone is ready for the draughtsman.

It is the custom of a large purchaser of lithographs like Manager Jacob Litt to spend an hour or two with a draughtsman, giving him a rough idea of his forthcoming production; informing him how the characters are situated in a certain scene which he wants illustrated, and also handing him a number of photographs of the actors and actresses who are to appear in his play. When this large sketch of the artist is accepted by the manager, it is ruled off, checkerboard fashion, into as many blocks as there are to be stones and sheets, the sheet being generally 20 by 40 inches.

The lithograph and theatrical poster has its own particular mission to fulfill in attracting the attention of the public to some particular stage production that cannot be exactly effected through any other means. Americans are so busily engaged that an advertisement to be effective must be placed before them in such a manner that "he who runs may read." This item of expense in a thoroughly alive and progressive theatrical producer's itinerary, however, is quite amazing, as it is altogether probable that Manager Litt, with his seven companies continually touring this country, pays out annually alone for lithographs and posters a sum not far from $50,000.

Sickness Without Symptoms.

A Disease That Doesn't Make You Feel Sick Until Too Late.

Symptoms Are Nature's Danger Signals. Bright's Disease is Dangerous, Because Its Danger Signals Are so Weak—Kidney Troubles and How to Cure Them.

Bright's Disease has no symptoms.

That is, of course, it has some symptoms, but they are so common that everybody suffers from them more or less.

And yet we have not all got Bright's Disease.

We nearly all have headaches. Headaches are a sign of Bright's Disease, Nervousness, Thirst, Hot Skin, Loss of Flesh; these are other symptoms.

Who would suppose he was dangerously sick when he simply had these symptoms?

Yet Bright's Disease often has hardly any others, outwardly, and is still one of the disease most dreaded of physicians.

If it is allowed to run on too long it is incurable. Even in the beginning, ordinary drugs are often unable to help it.

But Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills will cure all cases of Bright's Disease if taken before the kidneys are so worn out that renewing them is impossible.

Most sicknesses are caused by the kidneys, because it is the kidneys which are supposed to keep the blood pure.

When the blood is impure, it causes just the same symptoms as mentioned above for Bright's Disease.

If, when we are sick, we would take Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills, we would cure Bright's Disease if we had it, and in any case we would purify our blood and relieve the symptoms which made us feel sick.

Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills are made from the roots and stalks of the Asparagus Plant under a special process.

They have a tonic and healing effect upon the kidneys. They repair the effects of overwork, worry, excesses, etc. They strengthen and nourish the organs and give them new vitality.

Kidney troubles caused by wounds or bruises can be cured with Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

The kidneys filter our blood. They keep it pure and free from poisonous matter.

When our blood is impure we suffer from Bright's Disease, Diabetes and other kidney diseases, and from Rheumatism, Gout, Anaemia, and other blood diseases.

The cure would be to take Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

By curing the kidneys we would make them purify the blood diseases from which we might be suffering.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills are for sale by all druggists, or will be sent to any address by mail, prepaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box.

Secretary Lounsberry of the Federated Trades Assembly Resigns.

No Material Change Reported in the Labor Situation in Duluth.

President Debs, of the A. R. U., Unable to Come Here at Present.

There was little business of importance transacted at the Federated Trades assembly meeting last night. Secretary Fred Lounsberry tendered his resignation and compelled its acceptance, and two matters concerning the relations of two local unions with the American Federation of Labor were taken under advisement.

President McCallum called the meeting to order promptly at 8 o'clock. The attendance was comparatively light and a large number of the unions were not represented. The reports showed no material change in the labor situation in Duluth. The Superior Trades assembly is in much the same situation, with the unions neither gaining or losing in strength.

Then President McCallum sprung a sensation in the shape of Recording Secretary Fred H. Lounsberry's resignation. There was a storm of protests, but after Lounsberry had declared his private affairs compelled the resignation, it was accepted and a vote of thanks tendered. There was no action taken in regard to choosing a new officer, and the matter was laid over until next meeting. E. J. Meaghar can have the position if he wants it. Fred A. Schulte was elected financial secretary pro tem. for a term of three months.

Professor Meier, of the Duluth City band, was present to explain the status of the National League of Musicians, of which he is a member of Local 43. He made a long speech and roundly scored Local 6516. At the conclusion of his remarks a committee, consisting of McDowell, McMann and Findlay, was appointed to investigate and report.

Thomas McCallum, of the committee to visit the Lehigh Coal and Iron company to assist the men who recently went out on strike and were not taken back, reported that they had not been able to find the manager. The recording secretary was directed to communicate with the head office across the bay.

The national secretary of the Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators of America made an inquiry into the source of the charter issued to the local union. The matter was referred to the union with a request that it join the body affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

W. H. Havey, of Chicago, in response to an invitation to speak, announced that he would make an address here on another invitation, Nov. 6. E. V. Debs presented a communication declaring that he can not speak because of the press of A. R. U. business he must attend to on leaving Woodstock.

Ex-President McDowell read an Addisonian report of the reception tendered the visiting labor commissioners, and a vote of thanks was tendered Alderman Howard for his kindness in the loan of his yacht Nautilus for a lake trip.

The unions who won prizes Labor day are slated for reward and Robert Haire, F. A. Schulte and Thomas McCallum were appointed a committee to attend to the matter. Charles Gustafson was obligated as a delegate from the Retail Clerks association.

* * *

Mrs. Akin, of the assembly committee appointed to assist the striking miners at Ishpeming and Negaunee, reported having raised $80 by subscription from the unions.

* * *

Hereafter the rule prohibiting a member from speaking longer than ten minutes or more than once on the same subject will hereafter be strictly enforced in the assembly.

* * *

The painters and decorators will hold an open meeting Wednesday evening at G. A. R. hall in the Hayes block. Addresses will be made by J. W. Nichols, James Findlay and James McDowell.

* * *

The Trades assembly music committee reports that Professor Muhlbauer's "Trades Assembly March" is printed and in the hands of the committee. An earnest effort will be made to give the march, which is very pretty, popularity enough to sell.

WILL NOT EXCHANGE CARDS.

The recent vote on the four propositions before the International Typographical union has resulted in the defeat of the fourth proposition by a vote of 3129 for and 6968 against. The proposition was to ratify an agreement with the International Association of Mechanics for the exchange of working cards. In speaking of the result of the vote the Typographical Journal says:

"The defeat of the fourth proposition was not unexpected. Those who had given the subject any thought felt that it would be impossible to draft an agreement allowing our members to take charge of machines unless we reciprocated by permitting machinists to become operators. This was a stumbling block to formulating an agreement in the winter of 1892. Though the machinists were anxious to enter into an agreement, neither the old or new executive boards would do so without a reciprocal section, even after being warned that such a proposition meant defeat for the measure. They argued that to go into any 'jug-handled' arrangement would be unfair to their constituents, though admitting that under the compact finally agreed upon their members would gain little or nothing. Much has been said—and it was anticipated—about machinists flooding the operators' market.

"These fears were to a very great extent groundless. It takes more than a knowledge of mechanics to become an expert operator, and some of those who were most vociferous in announcing their views and denouncing the propositions are living demonstrations that, even under the most favorable conditions and with the kindliest-hearted of employers, all men cannot become successful operators. This was one of the humors of the controversy. Another is that some machinists object to the proposition on the ground that it requires so slight a degree of mechanical skill to oversee a machine plant that such situations would be in the hands of old-time printers. They argue that publishers and foremen would naturally prefer to employ those acquainted with the ways of printing offices than novices. And we think more weight attaches to their contentions than those of us who reasoned on similar lines. The result of the vote is to allow subordinate unions to enter into such agreements as they see fit. If any do so they should be careful not to enter into an alliance which will bring them into conflict with the great labor organizations, and see that the other contracting party has a sufficient bank account or the means of obtaining one to discharge its financial obligations under the agreement. This is the time for business, and not sentiment."

SKILLED WORKERS ARE SCARCE

The increasing activity in the iron and steel trades is developing a scarcity of skilled workmen, says the Iron Age. Thus far no serious difficulty has been experienced in securing the men needed, but the supply is seen to be steadily growing smaller. Fewer applications are now being made when vacancies are announced or when employers advertise for additions to their force. Only a few months since the reverse was the case. A manufacturer could then make a selection from an enormous number of men of the highest grades of skill in almost every line. Crowds congregated about the gates of an establishment on the day when operations were to be resumed. The rate of wages was not seriously questioned, but employment at some kind of wages was the first consideration with those who had perhaps been long idle. It then seemed as if many months would be required to take up the slack. But the activity in the iron and steel trades has been so pronounced that the supply of capable men has been practically gathered in, and the workmen now available are not to any extent of a desirable class. In some branches of the trade considerable uneasiness is now felt over the outlook for the future. Next year, it is apprehended, the lack of a sufficient supply of good men will be felt quite severely. Especially is this the case in the lines in which a long apprenticeship is essential for the development of the practical skill required.

It might be supposed that the introduction of so much labor-saving machinery in iron and steel works, which has been a conspicuous feature in recent technical progress, would go far toward throwing on the labor market an oversupply of workmen; but these changes, after all, have not been so far-reaching as the plaints of labor leaders would have us believe. Like all other movements in the direction of progress, their effect has been temporary, and the displaced workmen have evidently found other occupations. Not only are skilled workmen scarce, but an absolute dearth exists of thoroughly qualified experts to direct department work in large manufacturing establishments. Our mechanical progress appears to be developing at a rate of speed out of proportion to the conventional methods of preparing men to fill the exacting duties now required of them. Within the past few years new industries have grown at a marvelous rate, which have made heavy drafts on the ranks of those who either were or were apparently destined to become leaders in the older industries. Opportunities for more rapid advancement or for better financial returns have been seen in the electrical business, in the tin plate trade, or in the manufacture of bicycles or some other comparatively new line. Again, the growth of old works has advanced men of ability in department work to positions of more general supervision and vacancies have thus been created which are hard to fill.

NO WORK IN THE FUTURE.

Mr. Edison predicted the other day that work would be altogether abolished in the next generation, and that our only labor would be to press a button and start the machinery going, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. Mr. Edison may be slightly wrong as to the generation—that is, it may take longer, a few more generations than he imagined, but that the drift is in the direction he indicates, and that actual labor will become a very small element in all industries, is self-evident. Steam did a great deal to free us from the curse of labor, but electricity is a far more potential instrument, and its uses seem almost limitless. We have made it do our lighting, our transportation and a thousand small jobs, but we have only just begun to use it.

Hitherto this mighty genie has been brought into play mainly in the field of manufactures, and man is still compelled to labor hard to grow crops, but there is a disposition to use electricity more and more in agriculture, and it seems to be even better suited for the field than the workshop.

In Saxony they are now plowing by electricity with great success, using an ordinary dynamo, and doing away with horses and man to a large extent. In the department of Tarn, France, a water wheel is made to give sufficient force and to develop enough electricity to cultivate the farm, so that the little brook that runs through it saves the farmer nearly all labor. In Moravia a single dynamo furnishes three adjacent farms.

Plowing by electricity is much cheaper and better in all respects than plowing by steam. With a waterfall handy—and there is one handy to nearly every farm in the country, save in the southern lowlands—and ordinary intelligence, there is no reason why all hard work of the farm, from butter-making to the threshing of grain, should not be economically done by a well distributed electric plant. French experiments have further shown that the distribution of electricity through the soil by means of ordinary current-bearing wires stimulates the yield.

It is not necessary to go into further particulars. We have mentioned the work done on the farm as a sample of the electrical development going on in a field of which we hear very little—agriculture. The farm as well as the city is to be benefited by this new force, and the farmer, as well as the city merchant, will simply touch a button and have electricity do all his plowing for him. Edison is not a dreamer, and no one can seriously doubt his prediction, but the only question is, when will we enjoy that laborless world which he promises us?

ENGLISH WORKSHOP ACT.

The new factory and workshop act of Great Britain which will go into operation Jan. 1, 1896, has a number of provisions not included in any previous factory legislation. A brief mention of some of these features will not be out of place, as all the factory legislation in the United States is modeled after that of the mother country. The need of this class of laws is now generally conceded, and its possibilities are more readily appreciated when it is noted that ever since the time that Pell, prime minister of England, first initiated this class of reforms in that nation in 1840, improvements and additions have been made in the factory acts by each succeeding parliament. The latest amendments require that at least 250 cubic feet of space be provided for each factory worker, and in case of overtime, 400 cubic feet must be provided. In some occupations the amount of space must be even greater, if the factory inspector so decides. The new act forbids the employment of all young persons more than the regular working day, while the maximum working time for women is reduced from five to three days in any one week and from forty-eight to thirty weeks in one year. In view of the fact that parliament is the highest authority these provisions, unlike similar ones in Illinois, are sure to be sustained by the courts. In the case of accidents the new act provides that they must be reported whether caused by dangerous machinery or otherwise, and the home secretary may direct a formal investigation in any case. The new act will also apply to laundries, docks, warehouses and building operations, which formerly were exempt from its operations.

In the Federationist for September is an interesting article on the condition of the Japanese worker written by their countryman, Fusataro Takano. In Tokio, he says, where the labor conditions are best, the wages are ridiculously small, while the hours are long. The carpenter trade is considered one of the most important. The workmen receive 50 cents a day, Japanese money, which at the present rate of exchange equals 25 cents in the United States. In other trades the condition is still more deplorable. A tailor working from 8 in the morning to 12 at night earns about 18 cents. An umbrella maker will earn from 8 to 10 cents a day. A glass worker, working seven hours a day, will earn from 8 to 12 cents. House workers receive still less. The earnings of a whole family making paper boxes amount to about 3 cents a day. He compares the conditions of those workers to the employes of sweat shops in American cities, except, however, that the same class in Japan is better housed and fed. Thus, for example in Tokio a workingman can get three meals and a night's lodging for 12½ cents, or a good meal for 2½ cents. A person earning $20 or $40 a month is considered well-to-do. In order to improve the conditions of the workers he believes a great deal of patient education, agitation and organization is necessary.

TO JOIN THE FEDERATION.

The Granite Cutters' union of Washington, D. C., has decided to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor. The granite cutters were formerly affiliated with the federation, but for some reason not clearly understood they were not represented in the annual convention of the latter organization. There seems to be some dissatisfaction with the Federation of Labor as it exists in Washington city. There are a good many local assemblies of the Knights of Labor in that city. Most of these assemblies have small memberships, but with each assembly having one delegate to the federation the Knights of Labor are practically able to control the federation as against the delegates representing the trades unions in the city, although some of these latter organizations have a larger membership than is represented by the Knights of Labor assemblies.

COTTON CROP CONDITIONS.

The condition of the cotton crop always proves interesting to the laboring as well as the business man, and perhaps no better authority could be quoted on the subject that the Manufacturers' Record, which says: "The large falling off in the cotton crop as compared with last year will be more than counterbalanced by the great increase in prices which this crop is bringing compared with last year's. In addition to this the South has raised a remarkably large corn crop and an abundant supply of provisions and diversified products, thus putting the farmers of the South in better condition than for many years. Cotton mill interests continue active, and during the week several new enterprises have been reported. The Union Mills company, now running 12,000 spindles at Union, S. C., will build a new mill to be equipped with 46,000 spindles and 1200 looms, at an aggregate cost of over $500,000. A New York company is figuring on the building of a $1,000,000 mill in the South. A company has been organized at Goldsboro, N. C., with $60,000 capital, to purchase and re-equip an old mill. A $75,000 company has been organized at Winnsboro, S. C. A $100,000 cotton press company has been organized in Louisiana, and a cylindrical bale cotton compressing company in Tennessee.

ARBITRATION IS REFUSED.

Almost the first overtures made by the new Illinois state board of arbitration for the settlement of a long and serious strike have been refused. Last week Thomas I. Kidd, general secretary of the Woodworkers' international union of America, received a letter from James Malcolm, secretary of the arbitration board asking that full information concerning the strike of the woodworkers of the Royal Mantel factory at Rockford, and further asking that the matter be placed in the hands of the board for settlement. To this Mr. Kidd replied in part as follows: "I fear that the strikers will refuse to act upon the matter and I could not conscientiously advise them to suggest to the Royal Mantel company that they submit the matter under dispute to your state board of arbitration. Such a suggestion coming from our people at the present time would be taken as an indication of weakness and might probably prolong the contest rather than shorten it. At the present time the strikers are masters of the situation and are likely to remain so until the strike is terminated. Had the proposition come from your board when the difficulty between the Royal Mantel company and its employes first arose we would have no hesitation in requesting the Royal Mantel company to submit the matter to arbitration, but as I have said, I fear that it is now too late."

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Eugene V. Debs has written a letter to the strikers at the Rockford, Ill., mantel factory in which he gives advice as to the conduct of the strike. It is said that Debs will take charge of the trouble.

Typefounders' union, No. 3, International Typographical union, is the only one of its kind in the country. The union is about to adopt a label, which will be a part of the matrix and be cast on each type made by a member of the union.

A telegraph operator named Sibley has sued the Southern Pacific Railroad company for $50,000 damages for blacklisting. Sibley was employed at Carlin, Neb., during the strike and is accused of carrying railroad messages to the strikers.

Two hundred helpers in the nail department of the Consolidated Steel and Wire company's works at Joliet are on strike for an increase of wages. They receive 12½ cents an hour and want 15. This shuts down the nail room and throws 500 men in other departments out of employment.

The grinders and polishers of Deere & Co., of Moline, Ill., who struck against the introduction of machines to dress down the grindstones, have won that point, but are still holding out for an increase in wages. The strikers have decided to call in the services of the state board of arbitration.

It is reported in Pittsburg that the Bessemer steel manufacturers have held a meeting and decided to form a gigantic combination. All of the principal firms were represented. The object of the move is to have such a working agreement made that orders may be distributed to the different factories in proportion to their output.

The International Typographical union has issued new charters to the following new unions: Dayton, Ohio, Typefounders and Electrotypers, union, No. 15; Chicago Hebrew, No. 21; Rome, N. Y., No. 44; Fremont, Neb., No. 234; Fort Worth, Tex., Pressfeeders', No. 1; Knoxville, Tenn., Pressmen, No. 10; and Springfield, Ohio, Pressfeeders', No. 2.

Progressive lodge, No. 126, International Association of Machinists, of Chicago, is about to start a system of co-operative buying for its members. The first article which will be bought under the proposed plan will be coal. If this proves satisfactory the scope of the co-operative plan will be extended gradually until a general store will be established.

It is said that the pope will shortly issue an elaborate essay on the subject of socialism, which will be addressed to all Christendom. It is asserted that he will seek therein to prove from the non-success of the state socialism advocated by Prince Bismarck and Emperor William that church socialism is alone able to bestow peace and happiness among the masses.

Two hundred workmen have been given employment at the blast furnace of the Calumet Iron and Steel company, at Irondale, which has resumed operations after a shut-down of nearly three years. Within the next sixty days, it is believed, the negotiations for the lease of the bar and nail mills will be completed and then 1000 men will be added to the list of employed.

A Washington correspondent says that congress at its next session will be asked to enact a law compelling contractors to pay union or maximum rates of wages to workmen employed on government contracts if the local assemblies succeed in extending to the various labor organizations throughout the country the agitation already inaugurated and secure their co-operation and influence upon their representatives.

ONLY FOUR DAYS TO CALIFORNIA.

In response to popular demand, the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad enters into its sixteenth year of Phillips Personally Conducted Excursions to California. Elegant upholstered tourist cars run through to all California points without change, leaving St. Paul at 7 p. m., Minneapolis 7:35 p. m., Oct. 3, and every Thursday thereafter, and reaching California in less than four days. In this age time is an important factor in the selection of a route. The Albert Lea Route is the quickest and most popular. The price of double sleeping car berths is only $6 through. A gentlemanly conductor accompanies the car, and a colored porter accompanying the car performs the usual duties. Passengers may take meals in dining cars, or prepare them on cooking ranges provided for the purpose.

JIM VERNETTI DEAD.

Jim Vernetti died last Friday evening of typhoid fever, after a month's illness, says the Mesaba Range. Vernetti was injured in the Canton mine a year ago last June by falling down a raise, and has been going on crutches since. He sued the company for $25,000, was defeated, and appealed the case to the supreme court. He leaves a wife and six children.

THE RHINE

Travelers From Duluth Visit Flanders and go Down the Rhine.

A Stop at Heidelberg and a Visit to the Famous Castle.

They Declare Lucerne is the Most Beautiful Spot on Earth.

Lucerne, Switzerland, Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nearly everyone who goes on the continent from London goes by the Harwich route to Antwerp, so we did the same, leaving Parkston quay at night on one of the Great Eastern company's steamers, arriving at Antwerp in the morning. Of all the cities we have since been in, this is the worst. The streets swarm with dirty children and the roads are full of garbage. But Antwerp has a number of beautiful churches. The cathedral is the largest church in Belgium. We visited it during service, and the music was very fine. It consisted of an organ, an orchestra and surpliced choir. Here we saw many of Rubens' pictures; one, the "Ascension," attracted many admirers. The wood carving here was superb, as in all the other churches in Belgium. We were fortunately near to hear the chimes of the famous silver bells from the cathedral tower, which have rung for 350 years. The stained glass in all these churches was beautiful. At St. Paul's there were more beautiful paintings and the famous model, Calvary. From there to St. Jacques, a short distance, we find the tomb of Rubens, with his two wives, and the painting of Rubens by Van Dyke. The residents show with pride the house where Rubens lived, and every cigar store or restaurant in the vicinity has Rubens over the door. In fact the place is Rubens. There is a very fine collection of paintings at the Gallery, where the famous artists may be profitably studied for any length of time.

We left Antwerp, without a regret, for Brussels, "the Paris in miniature." It is certainly a beautiful place. The beautiful Hotel de Ville, Palais de Justice, Royal Exchange and King's Palace are all to be seen here, and that which is still dearer to the feminine heart, lace—beautiful Brussels lace everywhere. Peasants who have worked on lace lifetimes make it in the shops. You cannot resist buying quantities of it, even though you know you will be counselling with yourself later on extravagances and how to avoid them; you will purchase some in spite of yourself. There are some beautiful parks here, galleries and churches. The field of Waterloo can be seen from the dome of the Hotel de Ville, but it is only a barren field now. Still, by using a little imagination, it can become very densely populated with soldiers in their famous battle. Most of the people in Brussels talk French, and I would advise anyone coming abroad to be sure and learn something of French, for the sign language may be a good thing, but it is not a dignified way of communicating your thoughts, especially if you are hungry. It requires patience, too.

AT COLOGNE.

After our visit to Brussels we went to Cologne, which we liked very much. The cathedral here is beautiful, with most beautifully colored windows. The spires are said to be the highest in the world. The carving is wonderful, both inside and outside. The chimes are also very good. We were much impressed by the magnificent altars here. While we were sitting in the church a little German girl came in, and seeing we were somewhat different, proceeded to take an inventory of our wardrobe, looking us over in the most careful way, and finding us of a different order and worth observing, followed us with the most admirable persistence for blocks. We have not yet been able to reason out any lucid explanation for this proceeding, and we looked ourselves over for an hour to see if we were so different or travel-stained. The church of St. Ursula was being repaired, so we did not see the bones, which was a great disappointment, as there are so many here. We took a tram car out to the floral gardens and the "zoo," which are very good indeed. A bicycle tournament was held while we were there. Hundreds of bicyclists from all over Germany took part in the contest. The states are not alone in having the bicycle fever.

Europe in Italy. Even as Brussels is the place for lace, so Cologne is for eau de Cologne. It is sold everywhere, and sold at good prices, too, for all tourists must take one bottle at least away with them.

To take a trip on the Rhine we left Cologne, went to Bonn, where we remained one night and just caught an early boat, the Freida, for the day on the Rhine. And such a day! A warm day, soft breeze blowing, very blue water and beautiful scenery, castles on either side like tents on the St. Marie river. A good day for reveries. At Coblenz, a short distance from Bonn, we passed a very beautiful fortress. A fete was in progress here, and houses were decorated with flags and banners; music everywhere, and everyone in holiday attire. Two very fine bridges span the river at this place. We noticed these particularly, as most of the bridges here are pontoon. From this place the vineyards begin. Either bank is covered with vines and hops, and many distilleries are along the river. Among the castles we passed are the Royal castle of Statzenfels, more than 400 feet high, on a rock, built in the thirteenth century, and then destroyed by the French in the seventeenth, and now completely restored. A chapel connected, facing the river, looks quite Italian, as the front is covered by a huge painting. Coming to Bingen we see the famous mouse tower and the statue of Germania opposite the town, erected at the restoration of the German empire. But at St. Goar is the most imposing ruin on the river; being on a very high rock it overlooks all the others and all the country round. The rocks of the Lorelei, 447 feet high, are beyond.

Coming into Mayence at dusk we drove around the city until our train left for Heidelberg. It is a clean, pretty city with a few statues, parks, and music halls and many good buildings. But at Heidelberg we see a good German town. Even at the station, no one seems to speak anything but German and woe to the traveler who comes just on time for his train. Going through the gate his ticket is duly looked at and punched and he is turned loose on a platform filled with unsympathetic guards, who say "yes" or "no" as they happen to know to any question asked them. To get on the right train at Heidelberg is a question of luck purely. But the castle makes up for the little ruffling of temper. It is situated on a hill overlooking the Rhine and surrounding country. It was visited the day we were there by people from several countries. The guide taking us through explained things to us quite satisfactorily but rather hurriedly, the one trouble always found in going with a guide. There is an old and new part to the schloss or castle, the first being built by Rupert in the fourteenth century, the new part in the sixteenth century by Frederick and Elizabeth. We were conducted to the banquet hall in which the students of Heidelberg gave a banquet in 1886. The flags and wreaths and leaves for this still remain and will be left to show future generations. Everything here is carefully kept. From here we climbed the lookout and it was a look around. The view is fine. The octogen room, library, reception rooms were then shown, but the kitchen was quite interesting as the large fireplace is still in the center and chimney still standing. The wine room still has the original wine barrels. One holds 60,000 bottles, the other 300,000. A pump from this to the floor above saved the servants the trouble of going down often and from indications they would have had to without. A figure of the king's jester with glass in hand was in this cellar, on account of his boast while living that he drank eighteen bottles of wine daily. The powder room overlooks the moat and one side was blown into by an explosion. The wall being twenty feet thick looks like a huge monument all covered with English ivy. The prison we did not see—but had it pointed out to us—a very gloomy looking retreat, dismal enough for any poor prisoner. The grounds around the ruins are carefully kept, and the ground is nearly covered with English ivy, and holly is in abundance. A statue of Sheffer, the romancer, is in the gardens and is shown with much pride by the Germans. The castle has three decaying walls around it of different heights, used in fortifying the castle. Now it keeps a large force of men busy repairing it. An incline takes passengers up and down, mixing the modern and ancient in a very unpleasant way, to the lovers of the ancient, though they all prefer to ride we noticed. There was really nothing else in Heidelberg to see, so we went to Bazel, the terminus of the German road, on our way to Lucerne, and if any one wants to see the most beautiful spot on earth let him go to Lucerne. No picture however highly colored can do justice to this beautiful lake and these mountains.

BEAUTIFUL LUCERNE.

It is a veritable fairy land with the great purple snow capped mountains and blue sky, deep blue lake dotted by white boats, the shore with many pretty white villas and hotels, and the green trees which line the shore abundantly give one a combination of colors not often seen and make one long to remain there for—some time at least. The Rigi and Mount Pilatus are easily seen from the town and easily reached by boat and tram. Going up on one of these trams the view of the country is superb and the country looks like a relief map from the great distance above. It was a wonder to us how the peasants managed to have their houses stay on the mountain or keep their children from falling off, but all look well and are out selling violets and roses, from the toddlers to the old men and women, and the prices they ask give the traveler that Americans are not the only people who can bargain and ask good prices. The people of England say Americans have spoiled Switzerland and Italy by telling them how cheap everything was until these sturdy people have come to ask good American prices for everything. And the Americans are here in abundance. The lion of Lucerne carved from a huge rock from a model by Thorwaldsen is admired by more Americans than any other nationality. The fountain in front of the lion played very few minutes making it a delightful place for a hot day, and it was very hot in Switzerland this year. At Geneva we only stayed a short time, for we were disappointed in it. Mt. Blanc was beautiful of course, and so were the mountains, but it was too much like a city. The Swiss carving is everywhere, in every store like the cologne in Kolon. The beautiful little Swiss clocks and watches decorated all the shop windows. We had never seen such beautiful little watches as we saw here. Then the music boxes and music dishes are a great attraction at Geneva to lure the traveler, but we could not make any satisfactor arrangements about purchasing, so did not indulge in this little luxury, though every hand-organ or other equally melodious instrument sorrowfully reminds us of our lost opportunity of surprising our friends by mysterious music.

The peasants in Switzerland are fast leaving off their picturesque costume and imitating the foreigners. A few in their costume we saw, however. One girl we noticed particularly, with her black hair braided with white cloth and silver ornaments put in at the back in the shape of a fan. She wore the dress, apron and bodice of the peasant with wooden shoes covering her foot at the toes, but staying on by magnatism or something else at the heel. They certainly are marvelous shoes for as she ran after some children clattering along the road, both shoes stayed in their respective places with a tenacity which was truly wonderful. The goats are used here instead of cows and at sunset they come as peacefully home as the cows do in our country. Switzerland is certainly beautiful, but then, America is so much better. We are thankful every day that we are Americans. Our next trip is from Lucerne to Italy, where we expect sunny skies, music, beautiful painting and statuary and—maccaroni.

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA.

Alderman John Dever Advises Use of This Grand Medicine.

Boston's Popular City Official Says Dr. Greene's Nervura Makes You Strong and Well. The Best Medicine You Can Possibly Take.

BOSTON'S POPULAR ALDERMAN HON. JOHN F. DEVER.

The most popular and widely-known official in Boston's city government is Alderman John F. Dever. A prominent leader of his political party, he is essentially a public man, and has long served the city of Boston in positions of the highest trust and honor. The word of a man of such public prominence and standing, can be taken by all as the earnest utterances of one who always has the good and well-being of the people at heart.

Hon. Mr. Dever is connected with the New England Piano company, 200 Tremont street, Boston, Mass. The following letter from Mr. Dever will be read by everybody with the utmost interest, and command the wide-spread attention which the high standing of the writer justifies:

"I was induced to try Dr. Greene's Nervura by a personal friend who has known Dr. Greene as a physician of high standing for many years, and it gives me great pleasure to give to the public my unqualified endorsement of its curative properties as the great nerve and blood remedy.

"It is particularly helpful in neuralgia and rheumatism, and it is the best remedy I know of to tone up and strengthen the nerves and invigorate the blood. When from over-work, or strain upon the brain and nerves, one becomes weak, nervous and sleepless, this grand remedy is, I believe, the best medicine which can be taken. I unhesitatingly recommend its use.

John F. Dever."

Such an unqualified endorsement, and the fact that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is in fact the very best medicine that can possibly be taken to get well, if information for the people of especial value. Such true and positive information in regard to what is the best and surest remedy to take, to make people well and strong, will be heeded and acted upon by all.

This excellent remedy must not be classed with ordinary patent medicines as it is the prescription and discovery of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone, at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

PATRIOTISM IN SCHOOLS.

An immense impetus was given to this movement by the W. R. C. contingent of the national council of women in their late meeting at Washington. They celebrated Washington's birthday in a manner never to be forgotten, by addresses and patriotic songs. Louise Barnum Robbins on "Patriotism as an Element of School Government," said: Patriotic instruction should begin in the home where the influence should be one breathing the great poet's injunction. "Be just and fear not; let all the ends thou aims't at be thy country's, thy God's and truth's." Under the care of the best of teachers, a good mother, the elements that go to build up a patriotic spirit will be instilled. She will teach her children the national hymns and patriotic songs, she will tell them the story of that sturdy band of Puritans who planted the seeds of American civilization, and upon Plymouth's sacred rock laid the cornerstone of the nation. She will tell them of the supreme patriot, and of that distinguished line of patriots down to our day. Every child should be taught that the origin of the flag, the emblem of liberty and national supremacy, when it was adopted, what trials it has encountered, and what blessings preserved. It should be in every home to be cherished, loved and honored.

There is a grand literature inspiring a lofty patriotism and embalming the names and deeds of heroes and patriots. These are the books that make boys and girls high-minded men and women, who are faithful to the duties of preserving the liberties and blessings that they have received as a priceless heritage.

Next to home comes the school influence, that of the teacher and the books studied. As in the home, so in the school the highest aim should be to develop character that will understand that freedom means opportunity, not license; opportunity to be great, useful and matchless, or weak and degraded. The text-books on American history are being severely criticised by loyal and awakened citizens. They should contain a true record of the history of the nation, its founding, its perils, and its victories. Let a few Jeffersons and Websters be found for the noble task of compiling in our school books the high thoughts of man on God, liberty and patriotism, to be absorbed by the out-reaching hearts of children. Place in the schools teachers with lofty ideas of integrity, honor, country and patriotism; place in the schools the starry flag, that the children shall learn to do homage to it as well as to grand ideas.

Teach the inspiring "Star Spangled Banner" and "Rally Round the Flag," and the children will learn to love the flag whose folds protect them. By patriotism in forming the character of American citizens we do not mean the cultivation of the war spirit, but the cultivation of the highest attributes of liberty, honesty in government, self-sacrifice, watchfulness, lest liberty degenerate into license, and license into oppression and degradation. It means imparting a just estimate of constitutional government, a hatred of anarchy, mob rule, and all disorder. It means an impersonal and unfailing loyalty to principles, high courage, unremitting vigilance, presence of mind in emergencies, sagacity to see and the superior power of wisely guiding public sentiment, remembering that. "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war." To such principles it seems to me that all can subscribe.

Lincoln's Apprehensive Distrust of Marriage in Letters Just Published.

Account of Stevenson's Home Life in Samoa Given in Scribner's.

The friction which continually exists between the Hindoo and Moslem factions of British India is well described in Harper's Magazine for October by Edwin Lord Weeks, who has embellished his paper with fourteen illustrations of Indian life. These include some interesting pictures of fakirs, the Hindoo ascetics who put to shame all other religious devotees by the continual and relentless mortification of the flesh. Only a lover of woods and streams could have written "At the Sign of the Balsam Bough." Rev. Henry Van Dyke, the author, spends his summer vacations in the Canadian forests and among the salmon waters, and his description of the careless, open-air life makes the reader wonder whether, after all, much of the so-called civilization is worth while. Dr. Van Dyke's article is illustrated by Charles Broughton. "Alone in China," by Julian Ralph, is a new departure in fiction. The heroine is the daughter of a wealthy Pittsburg manufacturer, who marries a Chinaman engaged in a diplomatic mission at Washington. The story concerns itself chiefly with the troubles of the American bride in her Oriental home, and is based upon Mr. Ralph's observations of the domestic customs of China during his recent journey. The story is admirably illustrated by C. D. Weldon. The British royal family is never so much at home elsewhere as it is in the Scottish estate, Balmoral, purchased by the late Prince Consort, and greatly beautified by the queen. An article describing the royal pleasures at Balmoral appears under the title "Queen Victoria's Highland Home," with illustrations by Joseph Pennell.

One would scarcely expect the story of the making of a pair of equestrian statues of Lincoln and Grant to be as interesting as a piece of fiction; but this it truly proves to be in McClure's Magazine for October, where Cleveland Moffett describes the long and patient labors of the artists O'Donovan and Eakins, first in the collection and study of documents and the discovery of suitable living models for horse and rider, and then in the actual modelling of the life-size statues lately completed by them for the Brooklyn memorial arch. A description is also given of the work of the founders in casting the models in bronze; and a succession of pictures, from special photographs, exhibit the entire operation of modelling and casting, from the very beginning down to the finished bronze casts. A grand-nephew of the poet Keats, John Gilmer Speed, takes note, in the same number, of the centenary of the poet's birth, in a paper written from original letters and manuscripts in his possession. He presents Keats in a new and what one feels is a much truer light than some of the biographers have shown him in. The paper is illustrated with portraits from originals made from life and now owned, most of them, by Mr. Speed. James R. Gilmore ("Edmund Kirke") tells how the office of the New York Tribune was armed against the mob that assailed it at the time of the New York draft riots. It is a dramatic history and written from personal experience, for Mr. Gilmore himself procured the arms and conveyed them into the Tribune office.

Lincoln's apprehensive distrust of marriage is revealed in some extremely interesting letters from the great president in the October Ladies' Home Journal, in which John Gilmer Speed discusses "Lincoln's Hesitancy in Marry." The letters are given publicity for the first time, and are addressed to Lincoln's most intimate friend, Joshua Speed. Edward S. Martin presents a review of the various theories advanced by scientists in the effort to definitely locate the Garden of Eden site, and shows how far from solution is the problem. Dr. Parkhurst's October article treats of "Religion in the Family," and is one of the most forcible arguments that has come from his pen. "The Woman Who Most Influenced Me" series of papers is enriched by a contribution from Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

Edward W. Bok editorially discusses "Where American Life Really Exists," and outlines those communities where its best and purest phases are found. Robert J. Burdette contributes "The Strike in the Choir," a humorous article in his brightest vein. How to fit up and furnish "A Japanese Room" is told and illustrated by F. Schuyler Mathews, and Nancy Houston Banks writes of "A Painter of Miniatures." Mr. Bangs has another report of "The Paradise Club," and Elizabeth W. Bellamy's serial, "The Luck of the Pendennings," is increasing in interest. "Early Autumn Costumes" are described by Isabel A. Mallon, and "Novelties in Dress Designs," by Emma M. Hooper. Miss Underwood illustrating both. In the same issue are suggestions for evening parties and church festivals, helpful, practicable papers, a guide to scrap-book making, etc.

Ruth Ashmore discusses "The Girl and Her Church," and Maria Parloa "The Science of French Cooking," while the usual attractive departments are complete. In its offerings of poetry the October Journal is unusually engaging. Eugene Field's "Dream-Ship" is, perhaps, his best effort along the more ambitious lines of verse-making; W. L. Taylor has exquisitely illustrated the poem. The best work of such artists as W. L. Taylor, B. West Clinedinst, Frank O. Small, Alice Barber Stephens, Abby E. Underwood and F. Schuyler Mathews are shown in the current issue. The October Journal blends interest, entertainment, instruction, usefulness and artistic excellence, and is the magazine par excellence for the home. It is published by the Curtis Publishing company, Nos. 421-427 Arch street, Philadelphia, at 10 cents per copy; $1 per year.

Among the articles and stories announced for the November number of Harper's Magazine are "A Pilgrim on the Gila," by Owen Wister, a longer tale of the West than he has hitherto written; a paper by W. D. Howells on "Literary Boston Thirty Years Ago;" a description of his involuntary exile at a Central American port by Richard Harding Davis, called "Out of the World at Corinto;" and short stories by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Brander Matthews and Julian Ralph.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for October is an exceptionally beautiful number pictorially, without any sacrifice of that quality of timeliness which makes it unique amongst illustrated magazines. The opening article is an idyllic description, by Mrs. Leicester-Addis, of a summer holiday visit to old England's loveliest county, Surrey, with a description of the stately manor of Deepdene, upon which the present American duchess of Marlborough has spent large sums of money to good purpose. Apropos of this year's tercentennial Tasso celebration, there is a sympathetic and elaborately illustrated paper on "The Last Days of Torquato Tasso," by Marie Walsh. Another Italian contribution of rare artistic interest is Miss E. C. Vansittart's description of Monte Oliveto Maggiore, to which are appended some "Souvenirs of Siena," by the late John Addington Symonds. Other picturesque features are: "Women as Athletes," by W. de Wagstaffe; "Burmese Women," by H. Fielding; "Light-Givers," by Mary Titcomb; "Town and Cloth Halls of Flanders," by Alexander Ansted; "Widowed Sovereigns," by A. Oakey Hall; and "Alpine Soldiers," by Henry Tyrell. This number also contains some unusually interesting short stories and poems.

Much of Robert Louis Stevenson's best work appeared for the first time in Scribner's Magazine, the only periodical to which he was an habitual contributor during the last ten years; and it is therefore peculiarly appropriate that the first account of his home life at Vailima, written by a member of his household—his stepson and co-worker, Lloyd Osbourne—should appear in Scribner's pages. Mr. Osbourne's account in the the October number, of the home which Stevenson created, of his extraordinary influence throughout Samoa, and the interesting household of Samoan servants and dependants which he built up around him, is most picturesque and entertaining. The whole article is an intimate personal account of a remarkable genius by one who loved him.

This issue also contains the first adequate account that has been published of the University of Chicago. Its author, Robert Herrick, is one of the faculty. Having been a Harvard man he is able to contrast the oldest and the youngest university. This article is not the usual description of big buildings and equipment, but it is a most effective account of the actual university life that has been created out of nothing in three short years. The reader will realize that a tremendous educational force has grown beyond a doubt of success in the middle of the continent, and that it is dealing with a class of students, men and women, and with social conditions that are seldom met in Eastern universities. Mr. Orson Lowell has made a remarkable series of pictures from life to illustrate this article.

Another paper of unusual personal interest is George W. Smalley's estimate of Mr. Huxley. For many years they were neighbors in London, and Mr. Smalley was a participant in the social life of the Huxley household that brought together many of the most eminent men in England.

Harper's Bazar, issued on Sept. 28, will be characterized by a breezy outdoor feeling. A hunting-costume, easily adaptable for bicycle use, will have the place of honor. Beautiful house gowns from Paris will be illustrated by Chapuis in her charming manner, and a variety of toilettes for the autumn will meet every requirement of the moment. Interesting stories and miscellany will make the number very attractive. Notes from the several women's colleges will outline plans for the season.

The September Home and Country, New York, is a veritable picture gallery. Among other illustrations are individual portraits of thirty-eight beautiful women which are taken from painting in the Royal Gallery at Munich. They comprise the "Favorites of the King," and it is said that Ludwig I., king of Bavaria, left no greater monument than this famous gallery—the counterpart of which can nowhere on the earth be found. Certainly he was an excellent judge of feminine beauty. You will say so when you have consulted Home and Country, for September. Published by Joseph W. Kay, 149-153 Leonard street, New York. Subscription, $1 a year.

The September number of Tales from Town Topics, which appears in a tastefully designed cover of which an undeniably pretty girl is the principal feature, presents as its piece de resistance a snappy and dramatically-told story, by Harold R. Vynne, entitled, "A Marriage for Hate." It has striking situations, crisp dialogue, and tells in a clever manner a story of a young man and woman who marry while detesting each other very cordially, but who eventually come to their senses. There are several interesting characters in the story that afford an interesting study in the workings of the human affections. Bright sketches, poems and witticisms from the old numbers of Town Topics make up the rest of this very entertaining volume.—Town Topics Publishing company, 208 Fifth avenue, New York.

A novel by Robert Buchanan, "Diana's Hunting," is to be published shortly by Frederick A. Stokes company. It is a spirited and truthful picture of Bohemian London. The hero and the quarry is a successful playwright. The huntress, Diana, is the beautiful leading lady in his play.

The October Atlantic Monthly is rich in good fiction. Mrs. Ward's powerful serial, "A Singular Life," is concluded. There is a further installment of Gilbert Parker's "Seats of the Mighty," which increases in interest with each succeeding issue. Further chapters of Charles Egbert Craddock's "Mystery of Witch-Face Mountain" also appear. One of the most striking contributions is another Japanese study by Lafcadio Hearn, entitled "The Genius of Japanese Civilization." The third of Mr. Peabody's papers, "An Architect's Vacation," tells of "The Venetian Day."

Among other features is a paper by Susan Coolidge, on "The Countess Potocka," and an unusually readable paper of travel by Alvan F. Sanborn, entitled "The Wordsworth Country on Two Shillings a Day." Bradford Torrey's paper on Lookout Mountain is of peculiar interest in view of the memorable gathering there this summer. The book reviews, which constitute so important a part of every issue of the Atlantic, treat of a group of six stories much read and discussed at present. The poems of this issue are by John B. Tabb and Michael Field. The latter contributes "Second Thoughts," which, with "Tiger Lilies," in the September issue, are the first poems of this popular English writer to be printed in an American publication The usual departments complete the issue.

Harper's Weekly will soon contain a large and handsomely illustrated supplement devoted to the forthcoming revival at Athens of the ancient Olympic games, which will be attended by an immense concourse of athletes from all countries. The article is written by Demetrius Kalopothakes, Ph.D., the correspondent at Athens of the London Times. The article will contain a description of the restored Stadion, in which the games will be held, and views of many other examples of modern Greek architecture, and an interesting account of the circumstances leading to the re-establishment of the ancient sports.

Herbert Spencer will show in his next paper on "Professional Institutions" how the man of science and the philosopher are derived from the priest. The oldest science, astronomy, was first employed to fix the time for religious rites. The roots of mathematical science can also be traced down to the ancient priestly vocation. The article will appear in the October Popular Science Monthly.

The September Arena opens with a vivid description of the wordy battle now being waged in the legislatures over the agitation for raising the age of consent. The facts are marshalled in order by Helen H. Gardener, the well-known contributor, novelist, and deal this month with the arguments pro and con on the recent legislation in Nebraska, Colorado and Missouri, where the age has been materially raised. Professor Joseph Rodes Buchanan, whose portrait forms the frontispiece of the number, contributes a striking and valuable article on "The Marvels of Electricity."

In his paper called "After Sixty Years" B. O. Flower, editor of the Arena, touches upon the disillusions of the career of the reformer, and tells of the career of one who in a lifetime of sixty years' service has not lost faith in humanity. James J. Clark, of California, and Rev. Minson Jarvis tells "How Evolution Evolves." Henry Wood, the author of "Natural Law in the Business World," and other popular metaphysical works, writes on "Omnipresent Divinity." Professor Frank Parsons, law lecturer at the Boston university, contributes his second study of the "Economy of Municipal Electric Lighting." He shows the enormous saving to the taxpayers and diffusion of public benefit which would result from public ownership of electric lighting. His comparative statistics cannot be refuted.

A symposium of clergymen and other writers deals with Professor George D. Herron and his work. Dr Herron has created a great stir by his teaching in the West, and he has been bitterly assailed for some of his views of social Christianity. These gentlemen defend his position.

"Above the average" is the verdict on the September issue of the Canadian Magazine. Our national writers seem to have surpassed themselves, and no patriotic citizen who wishes to keep pace with the culture and thought of our best people can neglect this charming issue. O. A. Howland, in reviewing Mr. Hopkins' "Life of Sir John Thompson," sets the author right on one or two points, and also adds some very bright remarks of his own concerning this lamented statesman's career. To criticize the financial and banking systems would, according to custom, be fool's work. Yet a banker ventures to do it by showing that Canada's weakness lies in her lack of "Cash Reserves." "The Financial Incidents of War" is an article which opens up a new line of thought for Canadian politicians and statesmen. A. C. Galt has written a most startling—to peaceful citizens—article. William Lewis Edmonds and E. Dowsley contribute good fiction. Three well-illustrated articles brighten the issue, while lengthy book reviews by well-known critics, a few poems and several pages by the editor complete this excellent and instructive number.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward's new novel, upon which she has been at work for the past two years, will be called "Sir George Tressady." It will appear as a serial in the Century, beginning with November.

Several years ago I was taken with a severe attack of flux. I was sick in bed about ten days and could get nothing to relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured me and has been a household remedy with us ever since. "HELP!"

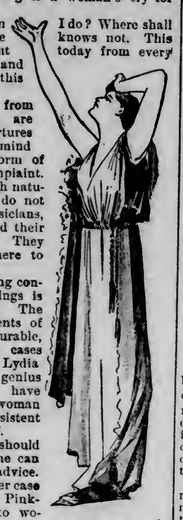
A WOMAN'S DESPAIRING CRY.

It is Heard. A Prominent Actress Escapes Great Danger.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

How startling is a woman's cry for help!

"What can I do? Where shall I go?" She knows not. This cry goes out today from every city, town, and hamlet in this country.



It comes from women, who are suffering tortures of body and mind from some form of female complaint. Many, through natural modesty, do not consult physicians, for many dread their examinations. They know not where to seek for help.

This alarming condition of things is simply wrong. The peculiar ailments of women are curable, and in most cases very speedily. Lydia E. Pinkham's genius and liberality have given to every woman a sure and consistent means of relief.

No woman should suffer when she can obtain free advice. She can state her case fully to Mrs. Pinkham, woman to woman, without reserve, and the answer will come from one of her own sex. Be one of the vast army of women who write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and preserve your health. "Only a woman can understand a woman's ills."

A prominent actress, in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:—

". . . You cannot imagine the fearful condition I was in when I first wrote to you. I was simply of no use to myself or any one else. I had worked hard, and my nervous system was shattered from womb trouble and travelling constantly. I ran the gauntlet of doctors' theories, till my health and money were rapidly vanishing. . . . I'm all right now, and am gaining flesh daily. I follow your advice faithfully in everything. Thank you ten thousand times for what your knowledge and Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me."

Mr. Thomas Eggers, 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a terrible cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. THERE IS NO DEATH.

"The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be, and that which is done, it is that which shall be done, and there is no new thing under the sun." So spake Solomon whose wisdom surpassed the wisdom of all the men of his time, and whose precepts and proverbs have been handed down to us, and are still quoted as the acme of wisdom; and perhaps nothing he has ever said possesses the very essence of truth as does that statement, for he covers the entire ground in a very few words.

In the researches of scientists it is found that all matter is subject to the law of mutation, and that which we call death in nature is not annihilation, but only a changing of form, so that terrible word called death which comes to our ears with such appalling sound is only a synonym for change.

In the spring when nature is in the throes of birth we walk over hill and meadow and woodland, and everywhere we see coming into existence young and tender shoots; all over the fields and meadows the bright green grass is springing and covering the naked ground, on the hillsides the shrubbery is taking on the appearance of life, and putting forth tender buds; in the woodland the earth is covered with a soft green carpet of moss, and the trees which through the long drear winter waved their naked arms in the cold north wind are dressing themselves with a mantle of green, tiny leaves are unfolding their graceful forms, and all nature is replete with glad new life. As day follows day the warm sunshine and the gentle rain gradually but surely do their kindly work, and when the long bright days of summer come, again we make our way to the hills and fields. The billowy grass waving its graceful lengths in the summer wind; the rippling brook whispering love messages to the beautiful flowers that bend their pretty heads to hear its musical tones, and shyly droop and coyly nod in answer while gazing at their own graceful forms mirrored in its depths; the ruby-throated songster singing love songs to his mate; the slender graceful trees in their stately beauty which nod and wave and beckon with their graceful branches, the green and glossy foliage which stirs with every passing zephyr; the straight stemmed poplar and drooping willow, whose silvery leaves quiver and dance in the sunlight, all speak of life, glad joyous life; but bye and bye the chill breezes and hoar frosts of autumn come, and the leaves wither and droop and fall, the glad smiles of beautiful blossoms no longer greet us, and where before the earth was made bright with their luxuriant profusion, nothing but brown bare stalks appear; the brook murmurs in a lonesome way for it misses its bright companions, the flowers, the singing birds are gone, and all nature has taken on an air of mourning, while through the song she ever sings, our ears detect a minor strain, and we say nature is dying, bright, glad, beautiful nature is singing her death song, and when the winter comes down upon us we say nature is dead, and the pitying angels have covered her with a soft white shroud.

But it is not so, "the thing which has been it is that which shall be," and when the bright, warm days of spring come again nature will smile upon us with all her old-time beauty; the leaves and flowers which made the world a gay and glad place did not die when we sadly mourned for them, they but dissolved into their natural elements and were again absorbed into the great reservoir from whence they came, from which they will again take form to gladden us with their brightly beautiful and joyous life, for the infinite universe is full of life, and nowhere is there any death, but that which is, has been, and that which has been shall be. Everything that is, always was, and there is not anything new. When God undertakes the creation of a world He but gathers from the universal ether the rarified matter there diffused, and calls it into solid form; we can form some conception of this when we see the skilled chemist take a block of solid ice, change it into liquid form, and watch it dissolve in vapor from the spout of a boiling kettle till it all disappears from our sight, and then see him call it back into solid form again.

To the uninitiated this would certainly seem supernatural, but the scientist who understands natural laws knows it is nothing at all marvelous in it. And this solid earth which appears to us as if it must endure forever, will surely, in the ages to come, be dissolved and diffused throughout space, as was the vapor from the solid ice, to again, coupled with like elements, form a new planet. In all the universe nothing is unchangeable but God, He changeth not, and we are of Him a part; He is pure spirit and we are spirit clothed upon with matter which by its nature is subject to the law of change, but whilst it will dissolve into the elements from whence it came, to be again called forth in particles to build up some other form of life, perhaps human, perhaps animal and perhaps vegetable, the spirit which inhabited it, the imperishable ego will again clothe itself with a body of more rarified matter to journey through fresh fields of research amid better conditions for unfoldment in its endless search for knowledge.

Since the beginning there is neither more nor less of anything, in the endless changing of matter nothing is lost only the form it assumes which gives place to another; when you reduce to ashes the block of wood which boils your morning coffee, you have not put it out of existence, but merely changed its form, and perhaps in the blushing beauty of the rose you wear in your button-hole, if you could but see it, are some of the particles which composed the body of the dearly loved friend you buried a year ago; for in the great economy of nature nothing is lost but everything is turned to account. The new-born infant which comes to your home, comes not with new material in its body, "that which is, has been;" the spirit working under favorable conditions for growth, has gathered from the great storehouse of nature the matter with which it has again clothed itself, to unfold its latent powers under higher and better conditions than it has hitherto enjoyed. For as in the realm of matter so in the realm of spirit, (though properly speaking, they are one realm, spirit being life, and matter the manifestation of that life) "that which is has been" for that spirit which manifests through the body of the babe, has existed since the beginning, it is not new, it is a part of the universal spirit, the being you call God, but since its first existence in a carnal body, it has inhabited many bodies of various forms, which have, one after the other, as time has gone by, gone through the change you call death, but that spirit working intelligently in its various conditions has always been building for itself, out of the materials it could gather a new body in which to clothe itself, when it has outgrown the old, or as is so often the case when it is robbed of it by an accident which must always cause it to commence in new conditions under unfavorable auspices, and the spirit knowing this, clings to life most tenaciously in order to grow to its highest capabilities in its present environment, so that it may begin the new life, under the most favorable conditions for its further growth and development.

Hence the law handed down on Mt. Sinai "Thou shalt not kill," it is a terrible crime to send a soul out into a life whose conditions it is not prepared to meet; and under the Mosaic law when

AUTUMN

Fashions in Every Article Have Jumped Along Another Season.

A Little Revival of Some Old Styles Is Noticed Frequently.

Stylish Hints From Paris, Boston, New York---Autumn Fashion Notes.

In the way of styles likely to be carried over to the new season, at a leading dressmaker's it was learned that there will be doubtless the Redingotes and short "court" coats, that have already received their catchet from elegant Parisiennes. Round bodices will also continue, in gauzy instances, hanging sometimes over the belt, back and front, in a complete blouse effect; and with the round bodies, especially in the case of evening gowns in stiff silk for slight figures, flared peplum tails shaped like the shorter ones of the jacket, will frequently be added, says Nina Fitch in the Indianapolis News.

Again, this peplum effect may be made by squarish tabs of lace, slightly wider at bottom than top, and hung at intervals all round.

One "fetching" evening gown had a paniered look and brought about the wonder whether, in some misty future day, these dainty hip draperies were coming back to please and torment us. The gown, a plain flared skirt and low bodice, was made entirely of pompadour brocade in "Trianon" pink, a sweet, dim hue, like that of the painted ribbons which sometimes garland old French ceilings.

Its main feature, however, was a fichu of white silk muslin, with long ends, and edged with a narrow kilting of the same. Only at the back it was fastened anywhere to the bodice, and there it was caught down V shaped and secured with a black velvet bow; in its adjustment, the fronts were drawn simply down over the bust; the ends, after passing under belt and looping over the hips in little paniers, being caught up at the belt in the back, and then allowed to fall in long sash ends to the skirt bottom.

The belt, which was very narrow and made a perceptible downward curve in front, was of black velvet. With this toilet, one was told, a dog collar of black velvet, that fastened in front with a miniature brooch, would also be worn.

A FRENCH FANCY.

By a miniature brooch is not meant one of those huge ovals painted on ivory of our grandmamma's time. Nor yet must you picture it one of those little French things, seen everywhere now in jewelers' windows, and which are charming in spite of being imitations.

It is a genuine Louis XVI, representing a lady in a sentimental attitude against a gray sky, a rim of black enamel thickly encrusted with big pink and black pearls surrounding it. This precious heirloom had come down to the girl of the pompadour frock straight from a long line of ancestors, who, it is said, have bequeathed their descendants a fair share of slim, blonde beauty as well.

In direct contrast to this flowered toilet was an evening costume in ivory satin. The train and sleeves of this gown were all in one piece, being formed by a great Watteau plait that, after slipping through a square buckle, divided at the shoulder blades, the two ends draping the back and then looping low over the arms in short 1830 puffs. The bag front of the low bodice was of white gauze, pearl embroidered, and two tiny straps of the pearl beading alone kept it on the shoulders. The princess effect of the back is declared one of the latest French methods for the evening draping of figures molded on too short and too generous lines. Young, delicate shoulders would look very pretty, of course, peeping between the shoulder straps and low-hung sleeves.

MORNING AND STREET WEAR.

In the way of autumn and winter suggestions for street wear, the only new things as yet to be seen were at the smart dressmaking establishments, the importers of confections. At one of these places some fine samples in novelty wools, in splendid autumn tints, seemed to indicate that plaids were coming in again.

The choicest tints in these were rich reds and browns and butter and October leaf yellows; the patterns were broken bars in different shadings, and then squared with black, which gave tone to the whole.

In no instance was the faded string color of the summer seen, but a bold plaid in strange blues, webbed over with black, and was so familiarly creponated that one would have called it crepon had he not known that this word was now forbidden in polite fashion circles.

"Of course, crepons will be worn," said the modiste who was showing off the samples. "Too many have been made for the manufacturers to be willing to shelve them entirely."

Only they will be called by a new name, perhaps, simply nouveutes—and the great general of fine clothes smiled cunningly in the way of stuffs for evening wear some pompador silks, grotesquely hued, and of a board-like thickness, were simply awesome in their magnificence. A green brocade, which shades in movement like a lizard's skin, was patterned with great gold beetles that stood out like the figures on Chinese draperies.

In plain coth, a brave blue that hinted of bugles and battle fields, was novel and elegant. It was just the tint of the trousers worn by the United States soldiers; and when later on it was discovered in part composition of a dashing visiting toilet, one was not surprised to hear that it had been dubbed "soldier blue."

BLACK SATIN AND SOLDIER BLUE.

All the dark portion of it is black satin, the light, the soldier blue cloth; the buttons are wooden molds covered with the satin, the outline embroidery being in copper and jet on the blue. The bodice next it is a carriage zouave in "faded" peacock blue cloth, with square revers in white brocade, the figures of which are superbly outlined in black and gilt. The wide border and smart, square lapels are in the same gold and black embroidery. The gown worn under this very elegant corsage will be of black peau de soie.

Apropos, however, of the tall stock and "cabbages" that ornament the throat of this design, and which were of black chiffon, the oracle of modes declared that this sort of thing was not worn at all now. It had only she, declared, been put there at the express command of the dame for whom the zouave had been imported.

The newest neck finishings are to be on the valois order, dainty collars in fine lace or silk muslin that turn in shaped tabs over a velvet or satin stock.

The other toilets given were all gathered at different but equally reliable houses, and all may be accepted as trustworthy indications of what some of the autumn and winter styles will be.

A promenade costume in a thick, brown, hairy wool has decorations of white Russian embroidery, very open and placed over black satin. The chemisette and deep valois colar are of tucked batiste and yellow lace, which dainty garniture, to judge from indications, will, in the near future, be as popular as ever.

A useful home gown is composed of a plaid skirt in novelty delaine, and a blouse in old red, of liberty satin with gilt buttons.

The last design is a fichu effect for a house gown, and is especially suited to tall, slight figures. The fichu proper and deep shoulder frill are of white point d'esprit, white guipure over butter yellow satin, forming the stiff revere.

There is every indication that fine qualities of broadcloth and ladies' cloth will be in great use during the fall and winter for street redingotes, capes, jackets and entire costumes, says the New York Evening Post. The finish of these textiles is the finest that has ever been produced. Amazon cloth is another fabric that will again be in great use, rivaling the crepon goods in favor for skirts and gowns. These materials differ from broadcloth in having a semi-twilled surface which is not distinct and which does not permit of the lustrous finish characteristic of the high grade broadcloths. They are from fifty to fifty-four inches wide and cost from $1.25 to $1.75 a yard. The taste for soft, declicate woolens like Henrietta cloth and India cashmere is never entirely lost, although their attractions may be temporarily obscured by the more pronounced novelty of rough, shaggy or crinkled fabrics that are rather deceptive as to durability, as many have discovered.

SOME PARIS STYLES.

A Few Novelties Gathered From Fashion's Center.

The whole world of gayety and vanity is again revolving madly about Paris, which at any season is never dull, even when Trouville and Dieppe and no end of other fashionable spots are in full swing. Paris, the heart of all that is delightful and wicked, and the attracting magnet for all ages and times and all classes of people, says a Paris correspondent of the Cleveland World.

Oh, but the shops are giddy in their new early fall deckings, for here the well-dressed mondaines indulge in two distinct sets of fall toggery—the early fall costume and another for a bit later, when a mite of fur may be introduced into the trimmings.

The great modistes are struggling bravely over the multitude of lovely designs which have presented themselves, and there is an almost unwarrantable clamor of indecision as to just what oddities of modes shall obtain; but with all their struggling and bickering, the real decision will be when the modes are displayed to the public, depending solely upon the choice of the great leaders in fashionable clothing. Not all things that are designed are favorites with the public, or, in fact, ever see the blessed sunshine of the streets shine upon them, being left to die in seclusion in the closets and packing cases of the designer; that is, when they have failed to find favor.

The "well-dressed" public is not to be imposed upon by no matter how great a wig; they must do more than to merely declare "this is the fashion," or "this you must wear." Madame studies her figure, her "pose," her lovely features, to see whether such a costume will well become her. If she decides to the contrary, she crushes the mighty man with one of her haughtiest frowns and chooses just what best pleases her. And it is she who sets the fashions. The world is watching her and waiting just such a decision.

SUCH LOVELY HATS!

The Rue de la Concorde was never more fascinating than now. Mon Dieu! but beauty reigns everywhere; one has only to peer into the milliner's windows between the funny puffed curtains and lose one's heart in the creations that meet the eye—"early fall millinery," it is called—and the hats lovely enough to make one forget the approaching season is winter and long to be able to wear them all through it. In the first place, feathers rule supreme; not the short tips of the past few seasons, but graceful, long plumes, showing a gloss of dressing and a softness of curl quite different from the stiff Prince Albert affairs so long worn.

And they are in all colors, though, of course, black still remains very much in the foreground. Lovely shades of palest ecru are immensely swell, and adorn hats of the same color very effectively. A chic hat, in sailor effect, has a peculiarly broad crown, built of pale ecru straw of a satiny braid (which is the popular weave at present), is twisted about the same with a bit of brownish lace, with two large choux of the same, set broadly apart in front; from these spring tall, nodding plumes of the very same ecru tint, all thickly sprinkled with jet.

Another strikingly odd chapeau is perfectly flat in shape, though quite broad as to brim. The wire frame is smoothly covered with dove gray velvet, finished about the edge with glittering jet ornaments. It is caught up squarely at the back, and over the crown nod two very long soft gray plumes, held in place by a mass of violets and pink roses and glittering jet ornaments.

A feature of the fall millinery is the direct turning up in the back of all hats regardless of shape. The effect is not always happy unless the hair is worn becoming to such a mode, still it is jaunty as ever on youthful people. It seems so absurd to write to you of fall frocks and of fall wraps when the sun is shining as hot as in July, and with the leaves yet green and fresh on the trees; but the modes are creeping out and fall is most certainly approaching, counting by months and not sunshine, and we must keep step or be left in the first general rush after things to wear when people awaken to the fact that fall is upon them. I do not think even the first fall things bring the delight that the spring toggery does; a fact due, in part, to the season, I am sure, and to the fact that the fall designs are never as strikingly new as those of the spring time.

ELABORATE WRAPS.

Many of the maisons are showing elaborate wraps of diminutive lengths, but costing none the less for that, as they are mostly a perfect mass of richness, either in lace, jeweled stuffs, velvet, or all combined. But this elaborate mode, while being wonderfully lovely and very dressy, obtains very poorly generally; the really chic sort of women preferring a plainer style, as they are infinitely more swagger in the end.

A modish little wrap is fashioned of palest fawn melton and black chiffon ruchings. It is cut circular in shape, with no seams whatever; the lining is soft black taffeta, and it is bordered with a full pleated ruche of black chiffon, making one of the smartest capes yet seen. It was exhibited on the person of a gay Parisian belle who can order from her modiste just whatever she will, regardless of price. The frock worn with it was of lighter weight mellon in the same soft neutral tint, smartly plain, and decorated about the foot with rows of broad black silk braid. The skirt flares in the smartest kind of a way, owing to the stiff interlining of fibre chamois and the rows of reeds about the foot.

The young mondaine who tripped along the avenue in this latest confection was slight and graceful, possessing a riant face full of bewitching color, and smoothly dressed coal black hair. She was an intensely feminine picture with all her pretty, fluffy dressing, and infinitely preferable to the mannish creature imposed on us all summer.

The smart little coats are the most fetching things I have ever seen on either side of the water. They are short, coming just below the hips and flaring absurdly at the back; they are loosely cut in front, and though double-breasted, are fastened with only one row of the largest buttons, like huge plates, and so smoothly polished! Fig. One of these chic affairs is in cream broadcloth, having peculiar sleeves and an immense collar, which is an especial feature of many of the new coats. The two side-back seams are broadly strapped and fit to the figure with the utmost grace.

The collar is sailor in shape, corded about with thick cream silk cord and having one large button of pearl in the corner.

The sleeves are larger than ever (what did I tell you?) and bishop shape, gathered into a deep loose cuff well stiffened. This smart bit of a jacket on the blonde-haired swell, with an "air," and frock of tobacco brown crepon and hat of tobacco brown, cream color and black, and the picture is before you.

SEASIDE COSTUMES.

Pretty Things Now Worn On the East Shore.

For this month's wear at the seaside or at the larger mountain resorts, there is a decided tendency in the direction of less simple styles, even for morning wear. Soft muslin blouses, with big collars and lace trimmings, do much to take off the severe effect of a plain coat; and ribbons of various hues, folded round the throat and tied in a bow at the back, are far more popular than the linen collar; while lace, or the frills which finished off many of the blouses at the wrist, takes the place of the starched cuffs that were extensively worn only recently, says that stylish authority, the Boston Beacon. The blouse is an important article of attire by the sea, and it is fashioned of such rich materials, trimmed so expensively, and fitted so exactly that it is worn regularly by women and girls of all ages, generally with skirts of black crepon.

The muslin blouses are dainty looking, and they are seen in almost every hue—pale blue, yellow, pink, white, etc. A graceful, fair-haired girl in mourning has been wearing one in snowy-white spotted muslin, which looked as though hands had never touched it. Her hat, gloves and skirt were black, and cool and comfortable she looked compared with others who, also in mourning, had kept entirely to black. The bishop sleeve is almost universally adopted for cotton and muslin fabrics, and also for chiffon and silk crepes. When well cut it is effective, but there are some ugly examples of it on view. The sleeves of glace and chine silk blouses are made to stand out stiffly by means of interlinings. For coats and skirts undoubtedly the most popular and newest color is a sort of blue gray. This is well worn, though it is doubtful if it is altogether a suitable color for the sea air.

An immense quantity of black crepon, chiefly of the coarsely crinkled kind, is seen. This is decidedly not serviceable, as it collects the dust and does not brush clean readily. It is often sad to see beautiful gowns of it with the skirts laden with dust for a quarter of a yard deep round the hem. A great many bodices are still veiled with chiffon; lace and ribbon are plentifully used. Grass cloth is popular as ever. It makes lovely blouses in holland color, and it is also utilized for collars and cuffs for black gowns. A somewhat uncommon kind of blouse made its appearance on a dark girl recently. It was composed of yellow silk, covered all over with cream-colored gauze, having solid satin-like stripes in cream, edged with yellow.

Black satin waist-bands and collars are seen on bodices of every imaginable hue, and they are generally finished off in both cases with bows or outstanding ends. A lady in slight mourning wore a serviceable blouse lately. It was in a pretty lavender tint of a sort of alpaca material, with a curious pattern of lavender silk, composed of irregular interlaced lines, some of them plain and the others zigzag. This was finished off with black satin ribbons, and worn with a black hat trimmed with black chiffon and osprey and rosettes of white net. A rather noticeable costume had a skirt of heliotrope crepon, with a bodice of pale-hued crepe gauffre with a pattern in heliotrope on it. Round the waist was an extraordinary arrangement of wide black satin ribbon, put on in a sort of basque fashion. The hat worn with this was a big, handsome black one, plentifully adorned with black feathers.

A COMBINATION TOILETTE.

A strikingly handsome toilette, worn by a tall and good-looking lady visitor lately, was an example of the present fashion of making a gown of several different fabrics. The skirt was of rich black silk crepon, with a narrow ruching of black satin ribbon at the edge, and a frill inside of pale green silk, which showed slightly as the wearer moved. The sleeves were of black satin, and the bodice of pale green, covered with black embroidered chiffon. Round the shoulders there fell a beautifully shaped collar of large size, made of white muslin, with insertion and trimmings of yellow lace. The throat was encircled by a wide ribbon in pale green, with a blurred floral design upon it, and a narrow pink satin edge. The hat worn with this costume was of magenta straw, with soft pink chiffon rosettes under the brim behind, and trimmings of ribbon and lace. The various colors harmonized so beautifully, and were toned down so much by the black of the gown that the effect was charming.

A tall and slender girl looked extremely well in a skirt of black crepon, worn with a bodice of a delightful shade of pale blue chine, the silk being veiled with black chiffon, except on the sleeves. The hat worn with this gown was certainly one of the loveliest that has appeared this summer, being of white fancy straw, with the wide brim covered with billowy looking clouds of pale cream tinted chiffon, and finished off at one side with a cluster of erect black tips. The brim of the hat was tilted very slightly at one side, where a pink rose was visible beneath. Light colored hats are more popular than they have been for years, a great many all white ones being adopted, generally with white lace veils. A favorite style is a sort of sailor shape in white straw, with two big rosettes of white net, chiffon, or gauze in front, from which rise white wings. Toques and large hats are equally well worn, the latter being laden with trimming, without, however, looking top heavy.

Black satin bodices are often trimmed with uncrushable frills of accordion-pleated black chiffon, edged with creamy lace. A rather novel vest was worn by a lady resident, composed entirely of these lace-edged frills of black chiffon, placed one above another, and remarkably well it looked. Vests are composed of all manner of soft and delicate fabrics, plentifully trimmed with lace. Plain neck-bands are very rarely seen, most of them being provided with folds and "wings." With gowns of all kinds, and also with coats and skirts, the neck ribbon (often in black satin, but frequently also in blue or pink or white) is worn tied in a bow behind. White gloves, stitched with black, are accompanying toilettes, both light and dark. Parasols are many of them exceedingly pretty, but owing to cloudy skies they cannot be taken out as often as their owners would like. A great many English girls are carrying walking-sticks this year, some of them slender and feminine-looking, but others substantial and masculine.

SOME FALL CAPES.

Capes are a good deal worn, some [illegible] and vests, but rather longer, though not so long as the old-fashioned ones worn last summer. The longer ones are frequently made of fine box cloth, dark blue and fawn being favorite colors, and on the whole they are more becoming than the shorter ones. Velvet collars to match are seen on the cloth capes, but ruffles, rosettes, bows, and ornamentation of all kinds are found on those composed of silk, crepon or velvet. By the way, green straw is fashionable just now, sometimes adorned with fine white lace and geraniums, sometimes with green and blue short ribbons, and occasionally with black. To sum up, then, those who are contemplating a visit, and wish to know what it is advisable to supply themselves with in the way of attire, should have a black crepon skirt, with blouses of chine silk, muslin and grass lawn; a good coat and skirt, either of alpaca, serge or coating, tweed being by no means fashionable this year; a white hat, a big picture hat, a toque and a sailor hat; white veils and gloves and chiffon ruffles; a mackintosh, a cloth cape, and one of silk or crepon; and thus equipped they will be ready for most occasions when only ordinary day dress is required.

FALL MILLINERY.

The hats, bonnets, and toques for the fall are so different from those that have been worn recently that about the only resemblance is that they are large, says the New York Sun. Immense breadth seems a necessity, and flowers seem to be one of the important features. In addition to velvet poppies and dahilas, and roses of silk and velvet, are gilly-flowers and carnations. All seem to come in exaggerated size. This is also the case with the fancy feathers. Many are taken from the larger birds, like the osprey, heron, and owl, and are used flat on the hats.

Some of the bonnets have a close-fitting skull cap crown, with a turned-back coronet-shaped piece resembling the caps worn by the Breton peasants. One truly gigantic hat has a pleated chenille brim with three large bows turned downward from the edge to produce width. It is finished with a large cock's plume, four small birds, and plenty of steel ornaments. It is an imported hat and considered very fine, so that one can see that hats must be loaded with trimming to be fashionable The felt hats are of good proportion. One exhibited is folded over so as to form a double brim over the face, and above this rises an enormous osprey feather and four ostrich plumes.

A great deal of royal purple velvet is to be used this season. A hat of this is bordered with a fringe of ostrich feathers and has for trimming very large upstanding bows of black satin. The bonnets have strings, but not the toques, and the strings are often the only distinction. A kilted bonnet is very becoming because it nestles down upon the head. One among the imported novelties was of velvet. The crown was of the kilting, and a ruche of the same served for the brim, which had soft silken popples here and there hidden in it.

One hat is of felt, with a chenille brim. The crown is of green and the brim green and blue intermingled. It is trimmed with fanciful double bows of corded ribbon and clusters of blade grass and foilage. Another is a black felt trimmed with royal velvet and black ostrich feathers. A cut steel buckle holds the velvet band in place. Still another, a gray felt, has fullings of velvet and satin ribbon bows about the flat crown. It is turned straight up at the back and the ostrich plumes stand up aggressively against the large gray satin bow.

Fashion decrees that this year only black or white hats are to be worn by stylish dressers, who are now avoiding tinted straws as much as they patronized them only a few months ago. In shape the Louis XVI style rules the day, and both black and white straws of this shape are trimmed with fluted ribbon and lace, with seasonable flowers mixed with the ribbon and lace, and sometimes feathers fall gracefully at the back. A hat which is much admired is of cream white straw, with pleated lace around the crown, and white feathers falling at the back.

A white fancy straw has white taffetas bows in front, with a pearl and strass buckle in the center. At the sides and back lovely white feather tips curl in all directions; under the brim at back a tuft of green leaves and roses. Hortensias and roses are seen together on many of our newest models, whether hats, toques, or capotes, which are still worn. A wreath of roses with a large spangled butterfly in the center is about the prettiest capote I have seen for many a day. An entire wreath is much more becoming than those side bunches, than which nothing can be conceived to be more ungraceful. The eye has become accustomed to these "donkey basket" trimmings, as it becomes accustomed to everything, however monstrous it may seem at first, but nothing can possibly be more hideously ungraceful and inartistic.

The ribbons used for hat trimmings are nearly all in Louis XVI. Others are simply of shot silk or pleated taffetas. Trimmings are not quite so stiff as they were, nor are flowers crushed together so much. They are placed more gracefully and harmoniously together. It requires a real artist to place flowers on a hat or bonnet, and they should never be placed in too great a quantity together. The present fashion of allowing a few flowers and leaves to droop at the back is pretty, much prettier than placing them in stiff bunches about crown and brim.

Black lace and red roses always form a pretty trimming for hats, but avoid, for all good taste's sake, those stiff, tall plumes which stick up in the center of the hat, looking for all the world like chimney-sweep brushes stuck on the crown. High, stiff flowers are equally ungraceful and inartistic. Really, really, some of the hats we see are curiosities. Fortunately, we see exaggerated monstrosities only on "Nobodies." The really great lady is always as simple as she possibly can be without being out of fashion. Their most picturesque hats, however large they may be, are always trimmed with harmoniously blended colors, and their flowers are so natural that they look as if plucked then and there from a hothouse. When they adopt ribbon bows also, these are not distorted into sharp angles; they are made to curve gracefully, whatever may be their direction. Everything, in fact, is placed gracefully and naturally, and gives beauty to the head instead of making it a hideous exaggeration of fashion's folly. A becoming hat always looks pretty, even if not becoming in itself, and the prettiest of hats looks ugly when it is not becoming. Ladies, remember this, and you will always be well headdressed.

REDFERN'S LATEST.

Hail Columbia! What a charming show of models is already to be met with at the Redfern establishment, some from Paris and London, while the most elegant are the original designs built on the premises. The coats during the fall are, it appears, to be composed of rather bright-hued cloths, but then be it remembered that the furs tone them down very considerably. Black, of course, is always fashionable and extremely becoming. A pretty, ladylike coat in black bison cloth was made with a tight-fitting fan back and loose front fastening from the shoulder and very simply ornamented with three large Redfern dog's head buttons in black smoked pearl and white pearl dog's heads. Going from one thing to another, silk crepon is going to be very much worn all through the winter for dresses, and in many cases the ornamentation will be fur arranged in a score of different ways.

A delightful gown of this material is shown as a model at the Maison Redfern. In this instance the crepon is dark green and striped black silk so dark as to appear all black at the first glance. It has a white satin yoke almost covered with lines of gold braid, and a stand flare collar, cut open back and front, edged with sable; fur decorates the neckband. A somewhat wide black satin sailor collar comes over the shoulders edged with sable, above which is an inch-wide band of satin and two rows of braid; full gigot sleeves finished with a satin cuff to match collar—and blouse front—makes a charming waist, while the skirt is immensely gored all round and the front is trimmed with a row of fur, a band of white satin and braid down either side of front gore, with ribbon bows on lower corners. A strictly tailor-made gown, and one that is very original in all the details, is made of gray and white heather tweed made into a plain gored skirt and tight-fitting waist buttoned down the side almost under the arms, with flap pockets on either side of pale gray velvet corresponding with the quaintly shaped revers; step collar and demi-vest of white, braided in silver, and gigot sleeves with originally shaped cuffs of velvet complete a most becoming toilet for walking purposes.

An elegant little cape displays a touch of Redfern braiding on the flare collar and lapels, and held in place by bows of ribbon velvet. The material employed in the development of this natty little garment is strawberry pink faced cloth, while the braided lapels are in white and gold, the bows being also white. The gown is grey with black trimming.

FASHION NOTES.

Foliage tints are to be seen in many of the season's choicest fabrics. Wood brown, cinnamon brown and other shades of that sombre hue are favorites greens and queer russets being also much worn. Changeable effects are as stylish as ever, blue, greens and reds mixed with black being most chosen.

Vertical and horizontal effects are much seen, and plaids in clan colors are worn by a number.

Goat's hair crepons and mohair crepons are to be very largely used this fall, the crinkles in them being very marked and the weaves new.

Camel's hair goods are to be revived, the colors in them being softly blended, making the effect tasteful and pleasing.

Fleece back diabonal cloth is to be used for tailor-made costumes, and traveling gowns of this material are serviceable and natty.

Jet is to be much worn, an extensive variety of designs being seen. Sometimes jet and spangles are combined, and often beads are also to be seen. Jetted yokes and other accessories are used largely on dressy gowns. Vandykes are as popular as ever and some of the new jetted ones are remarkably beautiful. Colored spangles are in vogue and form elaborate designs in flowers, scrolls, etc.

Ribbons, especially double-faced satin, are to be much used for the adornment of gowns. Persian ribbons and delicate moire ones will be used for stocks, etc., in place of Dresden.

Feathers have the place of honor as far as the trimmings are concerned, bands of ostrich feathers being well combined with jet on many swagger autumn gowns.

Among the fashionable hues included in the French color card for the season are: Horizon, goelette and gabier, three medium shades of blue; mistral and matelot, darker shades, approximating navy blue; coree, formose and kola, light brown tones; tabac, marron and loutre, dark brown hues; genet, ebenier and paradis, shades of yellow; margotin and fuchsia, magenta tints; sevres, chine and Japon, greens of the emerald order; roseau, a dark nile, and phenix, a dark leaf tone; clematite, volubilis, iris and petunia, graduated shades of purple; rubens and van dyck, orange hues; rose, grazilla, magda, manon and reine, pinks that shade from the palest tint to a light cerise; Sedum, Latiania and Yucca, shades of green approximating myrtle; jacinthe, a light tone of blue, and bluet, liseron and campanule, two lilac shades; duchesse and Victoria, purple hues; Moskowa, a vivid green, and Russe, an invisible green. Then there are these nacre colors—peche, peach and green; oriental, shaded blue and cerise; Nicobar, green and red; Miroitant, blue and yellow; Ecossais, green and red; punch, navy and red; Ara, blue and green, and Malgache, blue and gold.

Diagonal suitings in illuminated designs are much admired. Meltons and faced cloths are also to be much worn, and will be developed tailor fashion for street wear.

As regards silks, corded varieties are to be la mode. Moire antique and plain black satin are seldom to be seen, and fancy silks take their places nicely.

Mohair, Sicilienne and such fabrics will receive much patronage, especially for dresses that are required to be durable and useful.

There are a few new shapes in sleeves. A long, draped one, suitable for crepe, crepon or silk, expands over a closely fitting arm let into a melon form, and is further draped to simulate creves, through which a wide ribbon of contrasting color is drawn, fastening in a jaunty bow on the outside. Another pretty one has been made in Ondine crepon and Bengaline silk, crossed crescent wise, with a double fell of either silk, muslin or China silk in a lighter blue tint.

A dressy tailor-made gown, suited for almost any occasion, is of fine faced cloth, either of the new port wine shade or a deep cornflower blue, with white facings. The white waistcoat is double-breasted and shows large buttons. The jacket has a short, full basque and no fastenings; small pockets on either side with a laid-down collar of a new shape which reaches quite to the full sleeves. These are so diminished at the wrist that they fit it closely, fastening with some four buttons outside the arm and two rows of white rouleau. It is just as trim and smart and jaunty as a gown could well be.

A stunning costume is well developed in the perennially popular blue serge, with the pointed revers giving again the effect of the long shoulder seam whose advent among us is coming slowly but surely.

Long gauze scarfs, first introduced by Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, have taken the place of the ruche in the favor of Parisian ladies. The are worn drawn round the throat in voluminous folds.

A walking gown peculiarly becoming to blondes or to pale, clear-complexioned brunettes is of watercress green soft face cloth, made with a gored skirt opening at each side of the front, over panels of green velvet in a slightly darker tone, the top of the opening being finished off with a row of tiny French fancy buttons. The bodice has a yoke and quaintly-shaped bretelles of the velvet, covered with string-colored guipure, including a full vest of the new shade of reddish mauve silk. The whole is finished off at the neck and waist by a flat bow of the silk, fastened apparently in the center with a jeweled buckle. The turned-back cuffs are of the velvet, covered with guipure. Buttons similar to those on the skirt fasten the cuffs and join the shoulder lapels or epaulettes with those outside the bretelle fronts. This gown would be most becoming to a slight figure, the lapels giving width and dignity just where required.
